Not even close! Teachers ratify 2-year pact

It wasn't even close

Plymouth-Canton teachers overwhelmingly ratified a new two-year contract with the Board of Education Monday afternoon

About 72 percent of the Plymouth-Canton Education Association (PCEA) membership attended the ratification meeting. The contract was approved 439-94 - much to the surprise of Candi Reece, the union's chief negotiator. The two-year pact includes a wage freeze for 38 percent of the membership at the top of the salary scale. Incremental wage increases built into the previous contract will be paid under the new agreement. The wage freeze is for the 1982-83 school year only. The pact includes an open-ended agreement to bargain for salary changes in the second year. "I think what really decided it more than anything else is that they (teachers) thought with their heads rather than their pocket books," Reece said. Plymouth-Canton board members face many hard budget-cutting decisions in the next few months. School officials project an estimated $3.5-million deficit on the district's $40-million budget for 1983-84.

Central administration personnel, including Superintendent John Hoben, took wage freezes for the 1982-83 school year.

THE BOARD IS expected to ratify the teacher pact Feb.

14 during the regular meeting, according to Hoben. "It's just a formality," Hoben said. "There won't be any question of board ratification."

The freeze-incremental package was the original only - salary proposal offered by the board.

School officials placed this same freeze-incremental schedule into initial 1983-84 budget projections. This budget must be balanced by the end of June, according to state law. Negotiations with the teachers' union on 1983-84 schoolyear salaries will begin in April, Hoben said.

The two-year pact includes the same contract language as the previous contract. The board wanted - but didn't get revisions in contract language.

Schools approve 2nd tax collection

Formal action was taken Monday night to bring Plymouth-Canton Community School residents one step closer to dual tax collections.

The school board voted 7-0 to approve a formal resolution declaring its intent to implement dual tax collections in 1983.

Dual tax collections involve half of the school taxes being collected in the summer and the other half in December.

The school board also authorized the mailing of letters to clerks of the governmental units within the district informing the units of the board's intent to implement dual tax collections.

The action is made possible by a new state law which allows school boards to . approve, if they wish, dual tax collections. Municipalities may continue to collect school taxes or the taxes can be collected by the county or by the school district itself.

The administration plans on asking each governmental unit (Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton, Superior Township, parts of Salem and Northville townships) to collect school taxes twice a year.

The school board has expressed its willingness to pay for the reasonable cost municipalities will bear for the second collection.

The letter being sent to municipalities indicates that if they do not agree to collect summer school taxes within 30 days the board will request that the county treasurer collect the taxes or will consider collecting the taxes itself.

SUPERIOR TOWNSHIP has asked the school board to delay implementaof summer tax collections until 1984 but the school board did not grant. that request.

Canton Township informally has asked the board to consider collecting all of the school taxes in the summer, instead of splitting the collections be-tween July and December. Monday night the school board indicated that option would be impossible to justify. The city of Plymouth already has informally expressed a willingness to collect summer school taxes and is negotiating to recoup its added ex-

Kay Williams, Superior Clerk, said her township's added cost will be a half-time employee plus the extra fringe benefit expense. Superior now employs a half-time employee to collect taxes in December.

Superior Supervisor David E. Rutledge said that "township taxpayers will be required to pay 18 to 24 months of local school district and intermediate school district taxes within the period Dec. 1, 1982 to July 1, 1983 without the opportunity of planning for the change.

Taxpayers who normally pay into an escrow account with their mortgage payments, as well as the financial institutions themselves, may be required to make major adjustments in their respective payment schedules," said Rutledge.

Two off-duty Canton police officers, vanLith and Gordon Stever helped nab two suspected armed robbers at a Dearborn Heights restaurant Tuesday Police said a total of nine shots were fired - seven from the two officers' guns and two from guns confiscated from the suspects.

Police said one suspect was injured by flying glass from a car and treated at Wayne County General Hospital. No other injuries were reported.

"Those Canton officers did a nice piece of work," said Capt. Edward Pilate of the Dearborn Heights police.

After taking about $800 from the register, police said, the gunman grabbed the employee by the neck and dragged her across the room.

Drunk drivers beware-cops join to battle problem

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

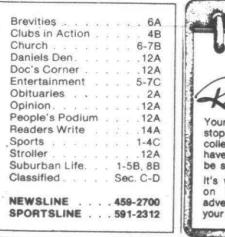

The Downriver and Western Wayne County Traffic Officers Association is taking Michigan's new drunk driving laws seriously -- and hopes all drivers will do the same.

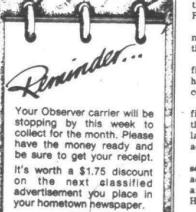

In recognition of the legislation, which takes effect April 1, the group has planned a drunk driving seminar and demonstration.

The March 16 event in Allen Park will include a dinner, slide and talk presentations on alcohol-related issues and enforcement, and a driving demonstartion showing the effects of drinking

Officers from 37 communities, including Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, what's inside

Westland, Garden City and Redford, will be taking part in the event and later participating in a saturation patrol for drunk drivers

The invitation list for the event includes such notables as President Ronald Reagan, Attorney General Frank Kelley, and Secretary of State Richard Austin. District court judges and other local leaders also will be receiving invitations.

Yet, underneath the pomp and frills of the event lies a definite dedication to curbing the drunk driving problem.

'Drunk drivers have become a national problem," says Plymouth officer Robert Henry, event coordinator.

'Even President Reagan calls it a major problem - he listed it as his third priority for 1983," says Henry.

During 1982, four people died in traffic accidents in Plymouth. Two of them had blood alcohol contents of .10 percent or higher, says Henry.

'That means 50 percent of our traffic fatalities were alcohol related. And that doesn't talk about other injury related accidents and property damage accidents." he says

"Fifty percent of four deaths doesn't seem like a lot, but those percentages add up when you're talking about an area like Livonia or Dearborn Heights," says Henry.

Apparently the Michigan legislature realizes the importance of the problem.

It passed the new drunk driving laws and approved passing some $96,000 in federal grant monies to the group.

The new laws provide several stiffer penalties for drunk driving, while making enforcement easier. The changes include:

• Establishing a per se law which makes it illegal for anyone with a blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of .10 percent or greater to operate a motor vehicle.

This change is expected to increase convictions because officers only will have to prove a driver had a .10 BAC instead of proving the driver was "un-der the influence" of alcohol.

· Allows for the use of preliminary roadside breath testing equipment (PBTs) by law enforcement officers.

This change is expected to increase the number of arrests for drunk driving. While the results of a PBT can't be used as evidence, they can be used for validating an arrest. Refusal to submit to a PBT will result in a civil infraction

• Increases license suspension penalties for operating under the influence of alcohol (OUIL) convictions and creates such penalties for operating while impaired (OWI) convictions.

In some cases the suspensions have been made mandatory. Many of the suspension-period maximums' have been raised.

 Allows for offenders with a previous OUIL conviction to be subject to second or subsequent offense penalties when charged with OWI.

Part of the $96,000 given to the traffic officers association will be used to buy each of the participating communities six PBTs.

"These units cost about $350 a piece. Because of the cost, many of the smaller departments would probably only buy one or two units," says Henry.

Because of this grant money, we will be-providing six of the portable breathalizers to each of the departments. They will go right in the police cars," he says.

The other part of the money will be used for putting on the March 16 seminar

During the seminar, six subjects will be instructed to drink until they reach a .10 BAC. Using driver education cars, they will try to negotiate an obstacle course while drunk.

GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

"The Wayne County Sheriff's Department will be setting up the course based on information from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (which has an alcohol task force)," Henry says.

Persons attending the seminar will view video tapes showing how the six subjects drove the course before drinking. They then will watch in person as the subjects try to drive the course after drinking.

"You'd really be surprised at the difference it makes," says Henry.

On April 1, the group plans to initiate a saturation patrol for drunk drivers.

"The Michigan State Police ran back over the years with the computer and came up with stretches of road with high alcohol related accidents and violations," says Henry.

Crash kills Canton man

A head-on collision on Ford Road claimed the life of a Canton Township man early Thursday morning.

The accident occurred at 6:45 a.m. on Ford Road east of Lilley, police said. Killed was Lawrence Konkol, 33, of Canton

Konkol apparently was driving eastbound, when his car collided with a westbound car driven by 37-year-old Jeannette Koziarski of Turtlehead, Plymouth Township, according to police. She was taken to Wayne County General Hospital.

New discipline project sparks battle for room

A new program will start next week at Central Middle School to deal with students who have been disciplined or are behavioral problems. But before the program can be implemented an agreement must be negotiated on where it will be

A dispute surfaced Monday night at the school board meeting between the Central Middle PTO and the central administrative staff.

The PTO would like the new program to be housed in Room 105 near the principal's office and counselors. Room 105, however, is now being used by the Talented and Gifted (TAG) program coordinator and central administration did not want to move TAG from its office.

Because an agreement could not be reached on where to house the new program an appeal was made Monday night to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education by Larry Markiewicz of Canton, president of the Central PTO.

The new program involves setting up a "planning room" supervised by an adult aide where a student in trouble can go to "cool off" before returning to the classroom.

While in the planning room the student would work out a "contract" to change behavior and would then take that contract to a counselor for approval before being allowed to return to the

Markiewicz says the only room near the office and counselors available for the planning room is the TAG office

Markiewicz says the TAG director, Cheryl Johnson, only uses Room 105 about 20 percent of the time because much of her work is done outside her office and she could be moved to another room at Central without any great disruption. He said that the PTO was willing to pay to redecorate the TAG office wherever it was moved.

The problem, said Markiewicz, is that it had been proposed to locate the planning room on the third floor far away from the counselors.

"We recognize the possible inconventence of moving two individuals (Johnson and secretary), but find this more acceptable than the disruption of 150-plus students from the third-floor classroom presently being considered for this project," Markiewicz wrote the board.

Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction, said it was not essential or mandatory for the success of the program for it to be housed near the central office but admitted that Greg Ownes, Central principal, preferred the planning room be near his office.

Homes said that some days Johnson uses her office 50 percent of the time, and that the space also is. used for student testing, interviews with parents and other purposes.

Trustee Roland Thomas pointed out there could be problems moving a student who is incorrigible from the third floor to the counselor's office. Trustee Sylvia Stetz said she felt decisions about use of space should be made by the building principal and not by central administration. Homes said he preferred to use the third-floor space to house the planning room for the balance of the semester to avoid disruptions and then conside a change at the end of the semester

One skill taught to Rock and Chief squads is mounting - and mounting is something that some schools have discountinued in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) for safety reasons. Jodi Overholt, Canton's cheerleading coach, and Ellen Curtis, Salem's mentor, both support teaching ounting skills. They believe their squads poss the athletic ability and safety knowledge to learn

How long? How big? Thursday, January 27, 1983 O&E Lawmakers take up Blanchard tax plan

By Tim Richard staff writer

Even before Gov. James Blanchard asked for a two-part increase of 1.75 percent in the state personal income tax rate, the issues were jelling in the committee rooms of the Michigan Legislature.

In a grim, 22-minute speech laced with such terms as "bankruptcy," "ever-deepening deficit" and "the threat of insolvency," Blanchard asked for a 1.5-percent increase for current operations and. another 0.25-percent "debt surcharge" to pay off the state's $800 million in bills accrued over the last seven years.

Blanchard also offered a program of $225 million in spending cuts, promising today to release "a list of 30 programs, boards and commissions which we will abolish.

But he rejected the suggestion to cut the welfare subsistence level of $1.81 a day, calling it "unwise to think of reducing state-financed help" at the same time the state is encouraging private contributions of food, clothing and aid to the unemployed.

THE ISSUES:

• Will $225 million in cuts be enough? No, said Republican members of the two appropriations committees. They plan to prepare a "hit list" of $900 million in cuts - a list that would be long enough not to require an increase in the current tax rate of 4.6 percent

• Are his revenue projections accurate? Blanchard estimated 1.5 percent will bring in $675 million, which, with his $225 million in cuts, will correct a projected $800-million budget imbalance. He figured a 1-percent tax increase to raise $450 milon. Sen. Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek, the minority's acknowledged taxation expert, said 1 percent would bring in $500 million. Negotiations are

• Which 30 programs, boards and commissions does he want to eliminate? "Long overdue," said Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, noting that many of the governor's proposals would require egislative action. Then Geake, a member of the Appropriations Committee, reflected a moment and added, "But not race-track aid to Northville and Livonia.' · How many votes will the Democratic leadership in the Legislature be able to deliver? Democrats hold a bare 20-18 majority in the Senate, for example - and that's assuming perfect atten-

 How long does Blanchard want the 1.5-percent increase to remain in effect? His state-of-the-state speech mentioned no time limit. Last March, then-Gov. William Milliken asked for a 1-percent inrease and had to settle for a six months hike Many legislators will insist on a time limit so that the state doesn't realize a "windfall" when the conomy recovers But about one point there appeared to be no con-oversy - at least not yet: the 0.25-percent surcharge Blanchard asked for the budget stabilization fund to pay off accrued liabilities. "As soon as that debt has been entirely erased and Michigan's financial integrity restored, this surcharge will expire," Blanchard promised.

"IF TODAY'S unemployment were equal either o Michigan's rate in 1978 or to the average national rate today," the former Oakland County conressman said, "we would have a balanced budget or a manageable deficit. "But today, in spite of systematic cuts and reduced benefits to people in public assistance programs, the sheer volume of those on relief is driv ing our state budget into an ever-deepening defies introduced by Milliken, Blanchard's message dealt only with economics: the deficit and programs to create jobs.

der survey of local governments and communities identify immediate public works and construction needs that can provide work for our people, he said

'If I laid off every single state employee for the next seven months, we would be barely half way to solving the problem. In addition. we face an accrued deficit of more than $800 million, created by bookkeeping deviations which date as far back as 1975.'

Gov. Blanchard "At the same time, I have instructed the Department of Transportation to bring to my office a list of immediately buildable projects whose construct tion can serve not only as a short-term source of jobs but also as a long-term improvement to our transportation system

Tax-hike negotiations will be 'another Chrysler'

By Tim Richard staff writer

They won't say "no." Nevertheless suburban state senators say Gov. James J. Blanchard will have to do a lot of negotiating and selling before they will approve the state income tax increase proposed by his Michigan Fiscal Crisis Council.

The panel proposed the tax rate be raised from the current 4.6 percent to at least 5.6 percent and perhaps 6 percent through 1986

But two Republican senators from Wayne and Oakland counties found fault with the panel's methods, and a Democrat says Blanchard must seek a tax hike because he inherited "fudged" figures from the Milliken Administra-

"I WAS disappointed in the report of the Crisis Committee," said Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, who again will be a member of the Appropriations Committee

"First, it did not recommend elimination of any state programs. That is not very definitive planning. It's hard to believe, after all the gravy years, that there is no program which can't be eliminated. The committee recommended only across-the-board cuts.

"Second, it doesn't take into account the Headlee (tax limitation) amendment, which requires that 41.8 percent of the state budget go to local government. Obviously, we've got to take that into account.'

Geake has his own candidate for a program that can be eliminated: MIOHSA, the Michigan Occupational Health Standards Act. "Its bureaucracy duplicates the federal government's, and it harrasses small business," the 10-year legislative veteran said

"IT WILL be a political decision, based on a lot of negotiating," said Sen.

Jack Faxon, D-Southfield, who will be Oakland County's member of the Appropriations Committee.

"The governor intends to negotiate to see how far they (lawmakers) are willing to go. Right now we're in a precarious situation. There's going to need to be increased revenue, reduced spending or both.

"Poor Blanchard! He got hit from both ends," said Faxon, explaining:

"Jerry Miller, Milliken's budget dipector, accrued a tremendous number of bills in one year and piled them into the next year's budget. That's what Milliken did every year. Medicare it's millions and millions out of balance. To Blanchard's credit, he's been straightforward and hasn't tried to fudge it

"We finished last year (September) by not making payments to universities and shifted all those bills to the next

Milliken's revenue predictions were high, Faxon said, because economists edicted a nine million car year and 12 percent unemployment, but Michigan had a five million car year and 17 percent unemployment

Of Blanchard's staff, Faxon said, "This is another Chrysler. They're geared for the biggest fight of their

"NO DOUBT there is a crisis," said freshman Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy, "and possibly there will be a tax increase. But a couple of things concern

"First, my understanding was that the Financial Crisis Council was to be an independent committee. Instead, they worked exclusively with figures from the governor's office. It was not totally independent. They came up with the conclusion Blanchard wanted.

Second, there's going to be concern for the windfall income the government gets when the economy rebounds." A 5,6 or 6 percent income tax may bring in more revenue than necessary by 1986, and the question of what to do should be answered now. Cruce said he would present a bill on the subject, perhaps by the end of this week.

Cruce has been assigned to the Labor Committee, where he will be minority vice chairperson, and to the Commerce Committee, parallel to the committee assignments he had during his two years in the House.

MEANWHILE, A panel of college presidents came out against one portion of the Crisis Committee's recommendations - a $325-million cut in the state budget.

State colleges and universities would absorb $60 million of the cuts, community colleges $10 million and private colleges $5 million

"An attempt to solve the entire state problem through reductions alone would render existing state services totally inadequate to the current and fu ture needs of Michigan citizens.

"Nor will the state's long-awaited reovery be sufficient to generate revenues to support an appropriate level of state services, including a quality system of education." they said.

The report was issued by Harold T Shapiro of the University of Michigan, Anthony J. Diekema of Calvin College, Eugene Gillaspy of Mid Michigan Com munity College, Richard Norris of St. Clair Community College and George

One of the first things Judge Dunbar Davis did when elected to the 35th District Court 14 years ago was to set up a work program, a branch of the probation department which served as an alernative to going to jail.

"No American," one modern biography begins, "is more completely misunderstood than George Washington." A sweeping statement, yes, but one most historians would quickly second. Over the years, they concur, layers of legend and myth have obscured Washington "the man," leaving little today but a blurry likeness of the nation's first president.

The cherry trees, the ice on the Delaware, the bitter winter at Valley Forge, the portraits, the image on the dollar bill - all have played a part in forming an oversimplified popular conception of Washington as steadfast military leader, Founding Father and benevolent president - an icon, in effect, that didactic 19th-century writers and, some believe, Washington himself helped create.

"All through his adult life Washington was to be closely concerned with his reputation," the eminent Washington biographer Marcus Cunliffe has written. "In part this was simply an aspect of his canniness - a matter of taking care that here was a written record of what was done to him as well as by him." Beyond this, Cunliffe, the author of "George Washington, Man and Monument," contends, "Washington needed the solace of public approval less perfect and monumental than we know him, a man more "real" and interesting in character

"HE IS A NEVER-ending source of interest," says historian Margaret Klapthor, curator of a major Smithsonian exhibition at the Natural Museum of American History commemorating the 250th anniversary of Washington's birth. The exhibition opens Feb. 23 and continues through the rest Washington, D.C. "We are still learning things about him. He respect of his peers, but also a personal sense of self-esteem. is still full of surprises for the researcher and is endlessly ascinating. He is multi-faceted."

WASHINGTON WAS ever alert to styles and appearances - the props and costumes, so to speak, needed for his roles. These concerns, coupled with his sense of duty to self, family and community, continued throughout his life in the Army, on the frontier, at his farm, during the Revolution and as "He was always ambitious, but not in the negative sense of the word." says Christine Meadows, curator at Washington's home, Mount Vernon. "He wanted to do the right thing at the right time and was keen - as he put it - on acquiring things that were "neat and fashionable." After his marriage, for example, the young squire ordered many luxuries from England, always of the latest style furniture, rugs, art, china, glass, silver, fabrics and even a parrot for the children.

way he personally presented himself would help the young nation become legitimate in the view of other nations, Klap thor points out. "Washington realized that the respect he attained as an individual would overflow to the nation as a whole

But there would be a price to pay for Washington's concern - some historians call it obsession - for duty, form and the recognition he always sought. It was exacted in the 19th century and is still paid today. Washington "has become entombed in his own myth," Cuntiffe concludes. "Surely no one else has been so thoroughly venerated and frozen in leg-

SY AND TSY are two acronyms which will leave everyone's vocabulary next month probably forever.

461 S. Main

Plymouth, MI 48170

(313) 459-2700

In a cost-cutting move, Plymouth-Canton Board of Education's is expected to eliminate Extended School Year (ESY) scheduling from Field and Eriksson elementary schools in Canton. Both schools will be the last buildings to switch to a ninemonth Traditional School Year (TSY) schedule next fall. This move will save the district more than $250,000

It is just one in a series of program-cutting decisions that the board must make as it wrestles with a projected $3.5-million deficit in the $40-million oudget for the 1983-84 school year

Future board members, 10 or 20 years from now, will recall the ESY-era of the 1970s and early '80s and commend the administration for the program. But when ESY finally ends in August, the only tears you will find are tears of joy and happiness from parents and children on this unusual schedule

These parents and students also should be commended for living with this unpopular - but necessary - scheduling system.

ESY TRULY was an innovative way to control rapid enrollment growth in the district. Year-round school was a long-term, money-saving system that absorbed the short-term population rise in Canton It started as a pilot program at Miller Elementary School in the early 1970s and expanded with population growth to many other elementary schools and to one middle school throughout the decade. The system used school buildings 50 weeks per year. Students attended school year-round on four. mine-week sessions separated by three-week vacation periods Many believe ESY helped students retain more learned information because review periods were shortened because there were no long summer vacations. Student achievement was not hampered by the ESY schedule, test scores indicate. A one-fourth enrollment growth was absorbed at each building because of ESY, rather than having schools sit empty during the summer months.

Consequently, the district avoided the financial agony of building more schools and then the emptional struggle of closing them during periods of population decline. Money, therefore, was used to finance learning programs and services instead of paving construction and interest costs.

THIS ISN'T TO SAY, however, that all suffering was eliminated with ESY. We sympathize with parents who had elementary children on an ESY schedule and middle school or high school students on a TSY schedule - at the same time. We also recognize that many students were forced to shift from one school to another - and sometimes to still another - during this growth period. Both situations were disruptive to family lives.

And it seemed unfair and unjust that many of the same families constantly were affected by these changes, while other families in this large district never experienced such disruptions.

Recent enrollment declines bring an end to ESY, and short-term savings to the district. The $250,000 savings includes reduced utility costs and less in . salaries for teachers, administration and clerical workers because schools will be closed for the summer months.

Now it seems fair that all families will be on similar schedules next fall.

The board should remember the sacrifices made "ESY families" in future decisions that may shift students from one school or schedule to anoth-

If these disruptions should occur again, then the headaches should be spread throughout the district - and not to families that lived with ESY. Dennis O'Connor

Slowing inflation 'swings away' from employment

HE MAJORITY OF AMERICAN voters got what they wanted - unemployment. During the Carter administration, the hue and cry of the public were against the burden of inflation. The desire to bring inflation under control was shared by everyone ... almost everyone; or at least the desire was shared by enough voters to bring Ronald Reagan into office. The president did bring inflation under control. Predictably, we entered into an era of high unemployment. But that's the trade-off for curbing infla-

Personally. I'm not sure the majority of voters upset with Carter and high prices were really voting for joblessness. I don't believe most voters recognize the relationship between unemployment and inflation, but were voting for a hoped-for "normal" economy of low inflation and low unemployment the so-called middle ground.

Unfortunately, the American economy passes through the middle ground very quickly, and so we annot for long enjoy moderate inflation and moderate unemployment at the same time. Instead the conomy spends most of its time on extreme paths high inflation or high unemployment

Economists complicate the path our economy travels by constructing a lot of complicated graphs with a myriad of curves, dotted lines, colored lines. bars, dips, peaks, etc. Other economists understand these hieroglyphics but most people, including myself, don't:

I find it easier to comprehend the ways of our economy by envisioning the picture of a pendulum. In so doing I will be guilty of gross generalization and over-simplification which my econo friends quickly will point out, but a layman doesn't need specific, sophisticated understanding of the economy

SO LET'S see in our mind's eye the path of the pendulum The pendulum swings from right to left. After reaching the extreme point to the left, it swings back until reaching the extreme position to the right, and reverses its path. The pendulum's path can be measured with a protractor.

In my own mind, I envision a period of inflation ccurring when the pendulum is swinging on its left path, and unemployment occurring on the right path. As the pendulum travels along the inflation path. employment increases. In turn, as the pendulum swings to the right, inflation drops proportionately. In theory, there would be no inflation and no unnployment at the moment the pendulum arrives at bottom. But that is a single point, and we pass ver it so quickly that there are no practical effects. In fact, I believe the mid-point is an ideal never reached. The American people err in thinking of the economy by assuming that "normal" is a period of both low unemployment and low inflation. But that is not so, and the pendulum's path demonstrates why 'normal" really is "extreme."

For the sake of discussion (the line must be drawn omeplace), assume the middle ground is between 170 and 190 degrees on the compass. Anything to the left of 190 degrees represents a period of high inflation, and anything to the right of 170 degrees

daniels' den Emory Daniels symbolizes a time of high unemployment If we assume the economy is cyclical, then it spends most of its time travelling along "extreme" paths. The vast majority of the time the pendulum is travelling along the left-extreme or the rightextreme path.

wing it in this manner, we can easily under-"normal" occurs when the pendulum is travelling along one of the extreme paths and that the middle ground is really an abnormal period of adjustment - a fleeting moment which doesn't remain long enough for anyone to really adjust to the change of direction.

That analogy, hopefully, is simple enough that I should stop right at this point. But I cannot resist the temptation of a short observation before closing.

THE ECONOMY can change direction by deliberate action. It's almost as if we had two little men on ground level with ropes tied to the pendulum. The little man to the right goes into action as the pendulum passes the mid-point and enters the inflationary path to the left. The little man on the left swings nto action as the pendulum is travelling to the

Each little man can choose when to pull on his rope and change direction. He can pull gently when the pendulum is passing out of the middle ground or he can wait and tug fiercely when it approaches the top of the swing.

Traditionally, the rope which pulls the pendulum away from extreme inflation is incentive for consumer savings or increased taxes. A traditional rope to pull back from unemployment is increased government spending. Right now, both little men are fiercely pulling on their ropes - at the same time - and no real change in direction is occurring.

We are increasing spending with the deficit rising fast, offering incentives for consumer savings and increasing taxes.

And so the path of the pendulum is flattening When it becomes a straight line, the economy will come to a standstill because there is no natural momentum, and something drastically different will be needed to make adjustments.

My preference is to endure high inflation because I don't like the trade-off of high unemployment. You may feel more comfortable on the other path. That's OK. Where we as voters err, though is when we ask our leaders to produce the middle ground or when we believe politicians who promise to deliver that portion of the pendulum's path.

We need to learn to tolerate a bit of each evil because we cannot adjust quickly enough to avoid

Inconsistencies don't improve walk to school

(The following guest column, submitted by Lynn S. Hoehn, deals with providing a safe route to Allen Elementary School for the child of Dee and Ron Krueger, as discussed at previous school board meetings)

The route for the Krueger child is composed of two elements — the location of the crossing and the location of the walk path.

The present school district safety committee rec ommendation is that the child be crossed in front of Allen School and then walk north on the unsidewalked side of Haggerty Road. The parent desires hat the child walk on the sidewalks on the east si of Haggerty and be crossed at the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Haggerty.

• The crossing in front of Allen: This recommendation must have been predicated on the fact that the mid-block crossing is as safe or safer than the corner crossing. What documentation backs this premise? If the mid-block crossing is safer, why are we allowing children to cross at the corner in the morning and afternoo

• The flashing light Mention also was made at the school board meeting of the school zone flashing lights. When parents at West Middle School requested similar lights for their no-light crossing at Ann Arbor Trail and Beacon Hill, they were informed that flashing lights had no effect on the safety of a crossing - they merely made parents feel better.

• The actual walking path: The existence or use of sidewalks never has been a criteria of our present safety committee in determining a safe walking route however sidewalks often have been a determining factor with the school board. The record indicates that the school board used sidewalks as a etermining factor for at least seven decisions since August 1981

If the school board approves a route requiring a kindergarten child to walk three-tenths of a mile on the unsidewalked side of Haggerty, then does the board also intend to review immediately all of the earlier seven decisions in which the lack of sidewalks were a determining factor?

On Aug. 24, 1981, board member Tom Yack is quoted in the school board minutes as saying this about the Gallimore decision. "The main issue was whether there was a safe walkway or not." On Sept.

14. Yack stated ". . that standards must be the same across the district.

• The safety committee's decision-making process: It is my understanding that the safety committee made this new recommendation without thoroughly reviewing certain documents which deal with the moving of the crossing from in front of Allen to Micol, not from Ann Arbor Trail to in front of the school. The report from the Wayne County Sheriff's office has Tom Workman, Allen principal as the complainant - not Mrs. Krueger.

Both statements reaffirm the present crossing as best located to serve the Gold Arbor and southbound its However both officers were con cerned with the lack of sidewalks on the west side of Haggerty. Neither officer seemed to address the question of what was the best walk route for a child in the Krueger location. Some additional concerns are

• Timing: The Krueger child has had a route and crossing location change midyear. The parent was happy with the prior location and did not request this change. Will there be other unrequested changes for other students midyear?

• One-way busing for kindergarteners: A kindergarten child north of Ann Arbor Trail and west of Haggerty (almost directly across Ann Arbor Trail from the Krueger child's home) walks to school and is bused home. I have never heard of our district having this practice before. Is this a new busing service available to all parents? If so, who authorizes and chooses which children receive this

• Crossing guard's presence and statement at Plymouth Township Board meeting: Who authorized the Allen School crossing guard to speak about the Krueger child's route at the Jan. 11, 1983, Plymouth Township Board meeting? Was she speaking as a citizen or as a school district representative?

· Prior bad experience: Mrs. Krueger has reason to distrust the Allen crossing location. Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen at the township board meeting assured her publicly she had been right in her prior concerns, that the situation had been rectified, and that reprimands had been given by the school district. He also informed on Jan. 13 that the repaid in full for the disputed period.

As a citizen, and as president of the School Council. I always have been able to assure parents that. in this district, citizens can speak to issues voice objections, and make public criticisms and that no actions would be taken against their children.

It truly is unfortunate that, through a combination of probably very unrelated and thoroughly explainable events, the Krueger child appears to have been singled out for an unsolicited midyear change to a unique route.

Knowing the high integrity level and outstanding reputation of the staff involved, I am sure their npassionate understanding of Mrs. Krueger's justified distrust of the Allen crossing will cause them to recommend reinstatement of the Krueger child's original route. Otherwise it would seem logical that at least some of the other questions raised here should be answered publicly by the board or its representatives

Newspaper jargon: 'Bulldogs' and 'blue streaks'

It may come as a bit of a surprise to learn that the folks who strive to use proper English in making your home-town paper enjoyable have a language of their own inside the plant, and the origin of most of it is lost in antiquity

For instance, what do the terms "bulldog" and 'blue streak'' edition mean to the average reader? And why do printers of the old school refer to pictures or "cuts"? Why do writers signal the end of their stories with "30"? And what is a newspaper "morgue" and a "red ball?

Well. The Stroller has done a bit of research, and he has learned some surprising things.

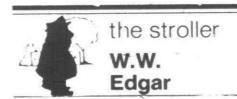

THE BULLDOG edition had its origin in New York City when the Tribune was fighting with its many rivals for circulation. With the tenacity of a bulldog, the Tribune sent out editions a bit early and beat all rivals to the suburbs. The earliest edition of a paper today is referred to as a "bulldog" edition. When The Stroller came to work at the Detroit Free Press years ago, a paper called the Canadian Bulldog was a Sunday paper printed on Thursday — in time to have it sent to Canadian outlets to compete with the Canadian Sunday papers.

Years later, The Detroit News, in a circulation battle with the Free Press, issued a later afternoon edition to compete with the early Free Press editions. Because of the speed with which it was put out, it was referred to as the "Blue Streak."

In the old days, too, pictures that appeared in the papers were printed from zinc plates. These were cut out of larger pieces of zinc and naturally were referred to as "cuts.

IN EVERYDAY life, a morgue is a place to store or place dead bodies. So it is with a newspaper. The morgue is a place where old editions, pictures and clippings are kept for future reference. And the ending of a story with "30" is a throwback to the days of the old Morse code telegraph operators. When they finished sending a story over the wire, they signed off with three dots and seven dashes - 30. Meanwhile. The Stroller, in his research, was informed the term "red ball," which meant a story was to be rushed into type, came from the red fire of a cannon as it goes off. Newspaper delivery trucks used a red ball to symbolize their speed and urgency.

IN THE OLD-TIME composing rooms where the type was set, the word "take" acquired a strange meaning. Today when a story runs more than a sheet of paper, the second sheet is called an "add." But Hank Witherspoon, boss of the Free Press composing room, discarded the word "add" andsubstituted "take." When a story came to him that was rather long, he would cut it into sections and pass it out to several linotype operators, in order that it could be set in type more quickly. And the term "take" became a byword. So there are some of the odd terms and how they came about making a mistake is OK as long as we learn from the experience. Yes, there are common errors that viewfinder before taking your shot photographers make, and all too often Look at all corners of the screen thor they're repeated. But learning from a oughly for any distracting objects. Ofmistake will result in photographic growth that will in turn lead to better or position will vastly improve you Today I'm going to point out the center or using a wide apeture ot mininore common mistakes photographers make and then suggest how to correct and learn from them.

• "Film didn't advance through camera?" This mistake probably has happened to everyone, and how disappointing it can be when you have no hots of that special event.

This problem is simple to correct. Just make sure the sprockets are engaged when loading the film and then keep an eye on the rewind knob. If the knob turns in reverse as you advance the film, everything will come out OK. • "Only getting partial pictures with flash?" This is common mistake when using strobe units, and don't blame your flash, either. You simply didn't set the shutter speed dial as the correct synchronizaion speed, usually 1/60 sec. A mistakenly set speed of 1/125 or 1/250 sec will produce a black band over your finished print

 "Subject blurred in picture?" You didn't use a fast enough shutter speed. A speed of 1/125 sec. will stop minimal movement such as walking or slow head movements but will not freeze fast action such as sporting events. Us- but to learn from the experience is ing a fast shutter speed of 1/500 or "Composition not right?" Are = your subjects too centered, have you grown a telephone pole in Aunt Tilly's head, or, worse yet, have you decapitated her in the finished print? The solution is to take a few extra seconds for a careful look through the ten, a slight ajustment in camera ange composition. Placing the subject offmize depth-of-field will help, too.

Shoot a roll at the wrong ASA? With black and white filmm, overde velop if you've underexposed the film, * and underdevelop if you've overexposed. Chances are you'll get satisfactory negatives.

With color film, tell your photo deal-er of the error, and with his special instructions to the processing lab, you should get OK pictures. In the future pay close attention to each roll of film you shoot, making sure you've set the ASA correctly. Also, tape the end of the flim box to the camera as a constant reminder of the film you're shooting.

 "Pictures under- or overexposed?" If you've set the ASA correctly and exposure still isn't right, chances are you're shooting under abnormal lighting conditions such as extremely oright or dark backgrounds.

Solution: Move in close to the subject, take a meter reading, and use this setting when you snap the shutter. Another solution: Use a meter reading taken off the paim of your hand to neutralize the effects of light extremes. To err in our photography is human Marge Langendam visits with Julia Czako, manor resident.

Marge promises she'll be back

By Elinor Graham staff writer

Marge Langendam's retirement party at Whispering Willows Manor was a bittersweet affair. Residents and staff of the small nursing home on Warren Road in Canton Township, hated to see her go. Her promise to remain involved was reassuring to Mischa Kahn, owner and director of the manor

'There couldn't be a nicer person, Kahn said

The residents know she can't forget them. For years she has been closer to them than members of their own family. In fact, for many of them, she has been family

This is Marge's second retirement. Her first was almost 25 years ago. "I went for two weeks to cover until they found a nurse. I had retired, I wasn't going to work any more planned to stay home and keep house. I began my 25th year at Whispering Wil-lows in December," she said.

HER EXPERIENCE in nursing had been in surgery and obstetrics, which she enjoyed

"I had no experience in geriatrics and at first it was such a change. But it became a very, very important part of my life. I took a six-month leave of absence to upgrade my nursing skills and I missed the people at the manor. They had become so important to me. I kept going back to see the people."

At first she was director of nursing at the manor, then she served as administrator, and for the last two years director of nursing. In more than 24 years, she worked for four owners.

She said many of the people are very depressed when they first come to the home. "Many don't need medication. They need personal contact.

Langendam said her first concern What can I do to brighten their was. day? You get them interested; encourage them to engage in activities.

SHE ALSO encouraged relatives to visit them in the manor.

"Families experience a feeling of guilt when a member of the family goes into a nursing home. I talk to them and tell them there is no reason for guilt. There comes a time when a family can't take care of a person and they can't take care of themselves.

"I tell them entering a nursing home is not the end of it. Many are better off and happier in a nursing home situation. But I do tell them that I expect them to come and visit their relative. And if they can't come, at least write to them, drop them a card." She said the guilt feeling does keep families away Every little gain in a new resident's response gives a lot of satisfaction, she said You cannot be negative.'

VOLUNTEERS can play a major role in building morale, according to Langendam.

Some individuals come in just to talk to the residents. A former Plymouth teacher will come in to talk to them, or take them for a little ride and buy ice cream cones. Or read to them.

She said Cub Scout troops and church groups plan activities for the residents. "The Canton Township Senior Citizen's Kitchen Band came to entertain them. They loved the music and their colorful costumes.

Some groups choose the Christmas season as a time to remember nursing home residents. The staff would prefer to have the foods and favors spread out over the year instead of a seasonal windfall.

"Mr. Kahan, who has a master's degree in social work, sometimes rem-inds the groups that there are 12 months in the year," said Langendam.

You know in a small nursing home like Whispering Willows, each one is a an individual. You spend person more time with them than with your own family. You know their moods, their likes and their dislikes. It becomes a very personal relationship." Marge will now be free to travel with her husband, John Langendam who retired two years ago. Former Plymouth residents, the Langendams w live at Whitmore Lake.

And Mischa Kahn is planning on taking some time off, too. Marge, who has a director's license, has promised to fill in for him when he goes on vacation.

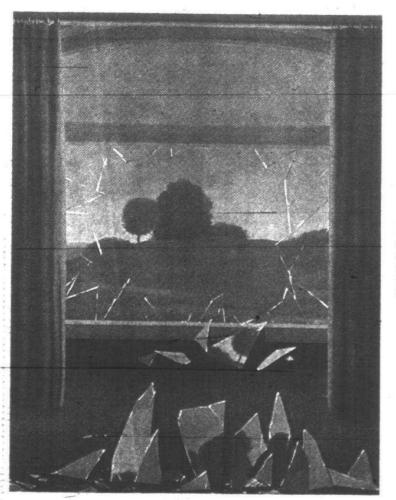

Elaine Winkelman, secretary at the manor said, "We all love her. We're like one big family here."

Marge Langendam, who put her retirement on hold for almost 25 years. will not forget her family at Whispering Willows Administrator Mischa Kahn takes Marge out for lunch the day before her farewell dinner party.

Toledo art trips feature amazing private collection

Rene Magritte's "La Clef des Champs" is in the collection on exhibit at the Toledo Museum of Art. The French artist, a member of the surrealist generation, painted the oil on canvas in 1936

Two bus trips are planned to the Toledo Museum of Art to view the Thyssen-Bornemisza collection of 20th century masters. The major exhibition of 66 European and American masterpieces will be at the museum until Feb. 20.

The exhibition represents 57 of the foremost artists of this century selected from the greatest private art collection in the world, owned by Baron H.H. Thyssen-Bornemisza.

Following its closing in Toledo, the exhibition will travel to the Seattle Art Museum, the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art, and the Metropolitan Museum of Modern Art.

The bus will leave St. John's Episcopal Church on Sheldon Road at 9:15 a.m. Feb. 8 and 15. Cost of transportation and guided tour at the museum is $14.50. Lunch is not included but is available at the museum.

"They serve a lovely luncheon there," said Gae McCord, who is arranging the tours. "And diners may have a glass of wine if they choose.

FOR RESERVATIONS call McCord at 453-1559 The Feb. 8 tour is just about filled. There are more openings for the Feb. 15 tour. Bus will return to Plymouth between 3 p.m. and 3 30

The Thyssen-Bornemisza Collection is considered the most important private art collection in the world, with the exception of the Royal Collection inherited by Queen Flizabeth II of England.

The collection was started by the first Baron Thyssen-Bornemisza, father of the present baron, who fled his adopted Hungary during the revolution of Bela Kun. The family moved to Holland and then settled in Switzerland where the baron built a gallery next to Villa Favorita on the shores of Lake Lugano.

The collection was divided among the Baron's four children after he died in 1947. The present baron believed the works should remain together as a memorial to their father. He began by purchasing pieces from his siblings

Today the collection represents an impressive cross-section of European art from the 13th century to the present day and also of American paintings from the late 18th century to the present

PAINTINGS in the exhibit span more than 70 years — a diverse collection that reflects the wake of Impressionism and the period after the two world wars

Among the artists represented are Marc Chagall. Salvador Dali, Stuart Davis, Charles Demuth, Max Ernst, Richard Estes, Juan Gris, Georgia O'Keefe, Pablo Picasso and others

Included are masters of major movements in 20th century art such as German Expressionism. Cubism, Russian Constructivism, Futurism, Surrealism and the New York School.

The baron began to form the modern collection in 1960. The works in this current exhibition usually hang in the baron's private apartment in the villa and in his other residences around the world. The baron divides his time between his European steel mining, manufacturing and banking interests and building his collection. He has fesidences in England, Jamaica and St. Moritz

The baron's grandmother was an American from Delaware and nearly half his companies' employees are now in the United States. He spends a lot of time in the United States and visits shows, museums and private collectors on business trips.

He says his affection for American Western art is a remnant of his youth The American West was a fabulous dream for me, this wild life and Indians with strange habits.

WHAT IS AN EQUI-LOAN?

An Equi-Loan is a second mortgage secured by the equity in your home. By using your home equity, you can borrow $3,000 or more with liberal repayment terms at simple interest rates. * An Equi-Loan is not a remortgage, but a second mortgage. it will therefore not alter your present mortgage or its rate

The amount of equity in your home. by the way, is the difference between its appraised value and your first mortgage (if any). This equity provide the basis for borrowing a large amount of money at established simple interest rates with the naximum amount of th oan being determined by the size of your equity

WITH A SIMPLE INTEREST EQUI-LOAN YOU HAVE THE OPTION OF SIGNIFICANTLY REDUCING THE AMOUNT OF INTEREST YOUPAY. The earlier you pay back a simple interest loan, the less you'll pay in interest charges. So every time you make an early payment, or an additional payment, you are actually reducing the amount of interest you pay for your loan.

In search of truth

Adoptee champions the right to know

By Marie McGee staff writer

Berbara Hall has a favorite saying: "The truth will set you free: The Livonia resident came across the slogan three years ago in seeking help from the Adoption ifeline of Altoona, Pa., a group dedicated to helping adoptive children establish their identity. It has also prompted her to speak up about a negative image she feels has been created by a re ent Detroit television news special involving the rights of adoptive children

Alred as a channel 4 "I-Team" investigative report, the story involved a young man who had been ven out for adoption at birth but who locates his birth mother, only to be rejected by her, and the mother's claim that her right to privacy had been violated The invasion of the mother's right to privacy was blamed on a clerical error on the part of an unidentified state employe

The result, the story showed, was a family torn apart "because someone made a mistake and typed her name on the birth certificate."

Background of the case is this: the Flint woman child as the result of a rape. She gave up the child for adoption at the time of birth and believed that she was protected by the adoption laws from further identity. She subsequently married, but never revealed to her husband the fact that she had the baby

AFTER reaching adulthood, the son suddenly contacted the mother after learning her identity and her life has been in turmoil ever since, the television news story said.

The segment showed the tearful and distraught mother and her equally upset husband. It also showed pictures of the son and gave details of his past, including the fact that he was a convicted felon who was wanted in California on a fugitive warrant.

By chance, Barbara Hall saw the story and several things about it bothered her - especially since she was trying to locate her birth mother and seek a reunion

"My first impression was that the story was very negative," said Hall."I began to worry about the impression it left, particularly from the point of view of the total rejection."

One of Hall's main concerns was that the episode would have a discouraging effect on other adoptees who might be considering looking for their fami-

"I was afraid someone watching it would be afraid to try and find out about their identity. The show made you feel like adoptive children have no right to find out about themselves or their birth parents," she said.

HALL, HERSELF was a child of rape, given up for adoption when she was 6 months old in Pittsburg, Pa. At the age of 21, she began to search for her birth mother and any facts about her identity that she could uncover. She did so with the full encouragement of her adopted parents, who had told her at an early age of the adoption.

"Most adoptive children have a certain amoun of curiosity. They want to know the truth. I wanted to know about my mother and anything she could tell me especially about my birth father," Hall said. 'It's important to our lives.'

She said the television news report was so disturbing that she contacted the reporter and asked him to present "the other of the side of the story" and show a reunion with less trauma and conflict Not all adoptees are an embarrassment to their families like the one in that story," she said. He refused, she said, but that didn't stop her from speaking out. "Not all reunions end up as horrendous as that story made them out to be," she said.

"That was not your typical case," continued Hall, the mother of two who has a degree in psychology. She said she told the TV reporter "if that son had beep white, shown up in a three-piece suit, driving a he you wo even have a story. It wa story because it aired someone's dirty linen."

SHE SAID THAT the TV story was misleading because persons watching the show could easily get the impression that adoptees legally are prohibited from finding out about their background or who heir birth parents are

"That's not the case at all," she pointed out. Most states have laws that allow adoptees upon reaching the legal age, to file a request for certain identify-

Then, if enough information can be released, the adoptee can proceed on his or her own in trying to cate members of his family.

In Michigan, the process is complicated and usu ally only general information is released by the ious agencies involved in the individual's case. Name of the birth mother or father is never r leased unless a letter of consent is on file in Lans ng stating that the name can be released.

Hall learned many of these facts on adoptees rights in trying to locate her own mother, she said ennsylvania law permits adoptees at age 21 to receive a copy of the original birth certificate showing the birth mother's name, age and place of birth. It made made her job of trying to locate her nother a whole lot easie Her quest for the truth, so far, has not turned out

as happily as Hall originally envisioned

AFTER SEVERAL years and a lot of letter writing, she finally learned that her mother lives in tattle Creek, but refuses to see her

"I've talked to her on the phone, but she won't allow me to come and visit her. She says I can write her letters. I've sent her pictures of my two uildren and she has told me about her family.

A 28-year-old half sister, for instance, lives in either Livonia or Redford, her mother told her. She also learned from her mother that she wore a girdle during the whole pregnancy. "It's a wonder I wasn't born retarded " she said A disappointed Hall says she will not force herself on her mother "even though I know where she lives and I could easily go there and knock on her Hall said she pleaded with her birth mother "to meet me just once. Then if she doesn't want to see me again, I promise in learning about her birth father and "what kind of man he was."

All adoptees "just want information" to help them understand their own families and any health oblems that could be related to heredity. Her own son, for instance, is gifted in math, but has a sigh problem. Hall said she learned that her birth mother was also gifted in math, so she can make the connection. "But I wonder about his problems with sight. Doctors are always asking you if something ran in your family.

SHE FEELS FATE played a big hand in helping find her mother. After writing to various agencies and all the schools in the small town where her mother was born, one school administrator happened to mention her request to a colleague. That person recalled the family had moved to Akron and also remembered the children's names. Through contacts in Akron, Hall was able to learn that her other had married and moved to Battle Creek shortly after Hall was born. It's ironic, Hall added, because in the 10 years she has been married, the Halls have moved eight mes in connection with her husband's job with the industrial credit division of Westinghouse Corp.

Finally, two years ago, they landed in Livonia. That's when she learned that her birth mother was ess than 150 miles away.

Wine has been interwoven in all the known civil zations of the world. Here are some facts about it you might not know:

 No one knows who the first winemakers were. Wine's origins have been traced to the days of the early Egyptians. · Poets have sung the praises of wine. Omar Khayyam immortalized the drink in his verse "A Jug of Wine, a Loaf of Bread. . . and Thou." Homer. Pliny and Shakespeare all wrote of the friendliness

• The Bible makes many references to wine and t has come down through the ages as part of religious celebrations such as the Roman Catholic mass, Jewish ceremonies and some Protestant Commun. ion services.

Detroit, Kyle suffers from a common. yet often unrecognized disorder called dyslexia. Dyslexics, many of whom possess normal and above average intelligence, encounter great difficulty with spell ing, reading and mathematics because of a neurological inefficiency. Most are unable to progress beyond

'the junior high school reading level. DR. JOHN G. FAUENHEIM of

"In adulthood, it's still in the closet. There's a lot of rejection out there, but it's something that has to be brought out into the open," said Fragenheim, d rector of clinical counseling at William Beaumont Hospital's Neuro-Education Center in Royal Oak

'A dyslexic who has a job working on cars may use the people he works with to avoid revealing his disorder,

Old assumptions fail in deciding values clarifies that governments are responsible to protect freedom for each citizen to change and develop.

Character is destiny. Criminal justice reforms keep challenging the as-sumption that character defects re-and to each other become a crucial perquire limiting the person. The new assumption is that people can change. Moral defects can be overcome. Of course, it doesn't always happen. But despite many horrors, we are trying. We are each responsible to balance Government has a responsibility to return a functional person to society in a place where we grow from roots each case where it is at all possible.

FAMILY IS destiny. Old assumptions sacrificed the young for the benefit of senior citizens or even ancestors. Now BIOLOGY IS destiny. The validity of there is a high value of each person in this assumption has been wiped out by worldwide opinion. Infanticide is virtu- medical science. Health defects can be ally wiped out. from the Lord. Why a child was conceived was an irrelevant question but now it must be faced. When abor tion was not a medical skill we had death, disease, and mutilation or we had extended family units to care for what we now call an unwanted child. Governments can be responsible for in suring adequate health care and nutri tion for pregnant women.

Responsibility to love a child into life falls on individuals, so society cannot rying a fetus to full term must be weighed by mother and doctor. The results of abortion or delivery are the responsibility of one person. Health in all its physical, psychological and soical meaning is determinative. A biological blessing or accident of conception is not the sole factor in assessing the span of the years a child needs nurture

Old assumptions don't guide us when the questions are so different. Rights and freedom of choice now locate responsibility differently Law defines which responsibilities are the burden of ernments and which rest on people The value of each person and freedom of choice to become better people is better than some centuries ago We imquestion.

Basketball, a non-contact sport? It would be hard to convince Franklin's Mike Johnson of that as he takes a dive after running into GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

Slow start, fast finish for Chiefs Canton catches fire, rips Pats

It was a nauseating start for Plymouth Canton's basketball team Tuesday. But the finish would remedy any ailment.

And how did the Chiefs spell "relief" in their 57-51 non-league win at home over Livonia Franklin? J-E-N-N-I-N-G-S, that's how.

Canton just couldn't have gotten off to a worse start. Four minutes into the game the Chiefs trailed, 17-4.

"We had trouble with their press," said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner. Just last Friday Canton destroyed Walled Lake Western with a fast-break offense, shooting 70 percent from the floor, when the Warriors tried a full-court press.

* AGAINST FRANKLIN it was different. "We were just standing around," Van Wagoner said. He called two timeouts in those four minutes, then went to the bench and inserted junior forward Mike Jennings into the lineup. Jennings, one of the best outside shooters on the Canton squad, responded with four straight baskets that enabled the Chiefs to close the deficit to 23-19 after one quarter.

put the Chiefs in front by four at the half and it was a battle the rest of the way. With 2:30 left in the game and the score tied, Ron Rienas hit a short jumper and Mark Bennett canned four straight free throws to clinch the win.

"We worked the ball against their zone for some good shots," was how Van Wagoner explained the finish. "When it was winning time, we took charge. "We played one of our best games of the year, except for the first four minutes

IT WAS CANTON'S third victory in a row, lifting its record to 5-6 overall. If the Chiefs are streaking, now is a good time for it — they play at Plymouth Salem Friday night in a Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) contest.

Another streak remained alive for the Chiefs. In each_of their five wins, they have outrebounded their opponent. They beat Franklin on the boards by a 26-21 margin.

Rienas poured in 21 points to top the Chiefs' of-fensive effort. Jennings finished with 11 and Bennett added 10.

Stebbins bagging 14. The loss dropped the Patriots to 4-7 overall

PLY. CHRISTIAN 53 LUTH: NORTHWEST 35

Despite an ankle injury to starter Jim Koss. Plymouth Christian still managed to dominate Farmington Lutheran Northwest Tuesday at Christian.

The Eagles, now 2-8 overall and 2-6 in the Michi-gan Independent Athletic Conference, jumped to a 16-9 lead after one quarter and never trailed. Their advantage increased to 31-13 at the half and 47-21 after three quarters.

Brian Spicer's 20 points paced Christian. Sophomore Rob Cannon contributed 12. Mark Roehrs' 20 points led Lutheran Northwest.

Koss hurt his ankle in the first quarter and did not return. The extent of th injury was not known. It was Koss who topped Christian Saturday in a 43-37 defeat at Clawson Zion Christian. Koss finished with 20 markers. Last Thursday, Christian was belted by Detroit

Friday, Jan. 14 — Livonia Stevenson and Livonia Bentley meet for the first time since last February, when Bentley topped the Spartans to win the Suburban Prep Hockey League (SPHL) title.

This time, Stevenson reigns, battering the Bulldogs, 5-2. But the game is not without incident. Twenty-three penalties are called, and a fight erupts in the third period between a penalty box attendant and a Stevenson player on the bench in street clothes. A Livonia policeman and two reserves are called on to quiet the off-the-ice disturbance.

During the game, Bentley players skate precariously close to the Ste-venson bench, banging their sticks along the boards.

After the game, the Spartans celebrate their victory by batting a stuffed bulldog around the ice.

Tuesday, Jan. 18 — Birmingham Brother Rice faces Catholic League Central Division rival Detroit Catholic Central in a key basketball contest. Fans from both schools jam into CC's tiny gym, CC fans filling one end of the bleachers and Rice's the other, with parents and adults in the middle

The CC announcer calmly introduces the Rice starting lineup. Applause from the Warrior fans, while Shamrock backers mockingly ignore the process by reading newspapers. Lights at both ends of the court dim, leaving only the center of the court lit, creating a spotlight effect. The announcer's voice changes from lethargy to bubbling excitement as he blasts, "And now, for Detroit Catholic Central, the home of the Catholic League football champions

The entire CC team is introduced, then the starters. Both groups of fans are in a frenzy. None will sit during the next 90 minutes.

At halftime, Rice fans wander close to the CC end of the bleachers, cheering. Just before the resumption of play, Warrior supporters streak past the CC bench and tear down a banner.

Emotions continue to climb, with fans from both schools crowded right at the edge of the court. During a fourth-quarter timeout, it erupts.

A CC fan makes a wild attempt to abduct the Rice flag. There's a struggle, fists fly, CC Dad's Club members intervene, but the CC fan finally wrestles the flag away from a Rice supporter. The CC fan then, on the court in front of the entire Rice cheering section, bangs the flag on the floor and busts it. Rice fans pour onto the court, and CC supporters race to support their comrade. Some players join in the fracas. It's cleared up in a few minutes, with little damage. Some punches are exchanged but no serious injuries.

Tuesday, Jan. 25 - Redford Thurston travels to Taylor Truman for a non-league game, pitting a pair of once-beaten basketball teams

The on-court battle nearly turns into a slugfest. Truman's Kip Boynton bangs Thurston leading scorer George Sibel with elbows and forearms. When Boynton finally fouls out in the fourth quarter, he punches Sibel in the back of the head as he leaves the court.

The crowd behind the Thurston bench harasses and threatens the visitors, compelling Eagle coach Gary Fralick to request a police escort to the team bus. Before they leave the gym, a brick is hurled from the Truman side of the gym into the empty bleachers on the visitors' side.

Strong 2d half sparks S'craft win

Ex-Plymouth Salem ace Cheryl Sobkow scored 20 points and pulled down 17 rebounds to power Schoolcraft College to a 70-48 women's basketball win Saturday against Highland Park Schoolcraft's Eastern Conference record is now 4-2. The Lady Ocelots trail first-place Henry Ford Community College (6-0) and Oakland CC (5-1).

Sobkow, a 5-foot-9 center, sparked a second half surge as the Lady Ocelots pulled away from a 26-25 halftime lead Cathi Hengy, formerly of Redford Union, added 19 points and Deborah Johnson chipped in with 14.

Marie Doss netted 17 to pace Highland Park

ON MONDAY, Hengy and Johnson each tallied 15 points as the Lady Ocelots defeated city rival Madonna College, 63-37.

The win gives Schoolcraft a 9-4 over all record.

Schoolcraft, which led 25-22 at the half, also received scoring help from guard Kathy Peck who pumped in 12.

Madonna's Denise Cifaldi led all scorers with 18. 1

Cheryl Sobkow (51), a Plymouth Salem grad now playing for Schoolcraft, dribbles around a pick set by teammate Deborah Johnson (15).

Rocks sail by Eagles

Ashley Long and Tim Harwood each raced to a pair of first-place fin-ishes to pace Plymouth Salem to its fifth dual-meet win in six outings Tuesday, 79-46 over Redford Thurston at Thurston.

Long's wins came in the 200-yard individual medley (2.15.7) and the 500 freestyle (5.26.3), while Harwood captured the 200 free (1.57.4) and 100 butterfly (59.5).

Long teamed with Mike Harwood, Neil Dostie and Jeff Walker to take the 200 medley relay (1:55.2) and Tim Harwood combined with Walker, Tim Shaw and Chuck Eudy in grabbing the 400 free relay (3:44.8)

Other winners for the Rocks were Todd Riedel in diving (199.15 points), Shaw in the 100 free (54.2) and Mike Harwood in the 100 backstroke (1:03.4). Salem seconds went to Mike Harwood in the 200 individual medley (2:20.6), Walker in the 50 free (24.7), Bill Matthews in the 100 back (1 06 3) and Dave Workman in the 100 breaststroke (1:09.0).

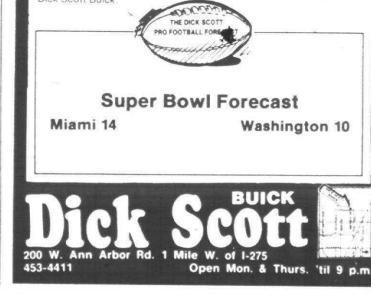

Matthews, Workman, Tony Atwood and Eudy teammed for a second in the 200 medley relay (1.57.9) for the Rocks.

Keep sport violence out of stands

Eggs splat on the windows of the Thurston bus after the team has boarded. The Eagles have won the game but find little joy in this road

VIOLENCE IS part of sport. It always has been and no doubt always will be. And that isn't all bad. 'Tis far better to compete on the playing field than the battlefield.

But when is violence acceptable and when is it intolerable? Fair play governs it on the playing surface. Violence within the rules. A good, clean hit is not only acceptable, it's appreciated by football coaches. Injuries are not considered in judgments like this. Violence on the playing field, what is acceptable and what isn't will be debated as long as there is sport.

No one, except perhaps the craziest of psychopaths, supports crowd violence. On the field of competition violence is confined by a 100-yard rectangle or boarded ice rink.

WHEN IT SPILLS over those lines and into the crowd, violence becomes uncontrollable. And dangerou

Control is the key. And responsibility is the best weapon. Examine the three incidents and search for parallels. All three were important games. At the ice rink, a fight was started by a player-turnedspectator and an arena official. At the Rice-CC basketball game, an announcer helped get things bubbling. Indeed, in the Rice locker room after the game coach Nick Conti told his players, "Their mistake was that they announced that CC was the home of the Catholic League football champions. They forgot one thing

- who the Catholic League basketball champions are (Brother Rice)." Players, at all three contests, played a role in the violence. Bentley icers banging their sticks at the Stevenson bench, and Stevenson players slapping around a stuffed bulldog; CC and Rice cagers joining in a freefor-all; Truman's Boynton inciting the crowd with his overly aggressive play.

THERE IS NOTHING more senseless than crowd violence. At its worst, it can kill. In sports, it can cause cancellation of games or force them to be played in empty gyms, as has happened in the not-so-distant

Fan is short for fanatic, which means "a person inspired with excessive and bigoted enthusiasm." Another derivative of the word is fanaticism, which is defined as "violent enthusiasm". Limiting such emotion is a necessity and responsibility of everyone over-zealous announcers, players, coaches, school officials, the press and the people in the crowd. Whatever violence is connected with sport, keep it confined to the playing field. Within the playing field, violence is governed by rules. When it spills into the crowd, it's senseless.

Lines of reason must be drawn to keep fans from turning to fanati-

It's a hard road to travel, but cyclist keeps pedaling By Brad Emons

staff writer

The U.S. Olympic team is looking for a few good cyclists.

That's why 24-year-old Jeff Pierce of Livonia is going through "basic raining" at the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo. Pierce, a 1982 Michigan State University graduate, is a four-time state cycling champion and two-time U.S. National Team member. He was a pronze medalist last year at both the National Sports Festival and U.S. Championships.

"I'm laying the foundation down for the season," said Pierce, who will train at the site until March. "This is a good program for fitness. It's good for everybody because it's a long cycling season. "We do weightlifting, play volleyball and racquetball, attend aerobics classes and do light cycling (40-60 miles per day). The altitude is great because it makes the body work harder. It's a great place this time of year. There hasn't been any snow and the temperature has been in the 40s to 50s

PIERCE IS primarily an individual road racer, but also has competed in the four-man Olympic team time trial events. "I'm more suited to road racing," he said. "The distances are from 120-

125 miles whereas there's more strategy involved in team time trial and the distance is much shorter (60 miles) His 1983 goals are to race in the Pan American Games this summer in Caracas, Venezuela, then travel to Switzerland for the World Champion-

"I think my chances are fairly good," said Pierce. "The training here should really help because usually in the winter I've gone to school.

"Now I'm concentrating solely on cycling and training." Pierce, who graduated from MSU with a degree in business management, is sponsored in Colorado Springs by the Miller High-Life Brewing Co. When he's not at the camp, Schwinn, a well-known bicycle manufacturer, takes care of his living expenses.

"I'M RACING full-time - 10 hours a day," said Pierce. "I've also spent some time in Phoenix riding and training. I've been on the Schwinn national team for eight years and I'm the captain of a five-man team." The U.S. Olympic program is directed by Eddie Borysewicz, who is aided by 10 of the finest cycling coaches in the country. A native of Poland, Borysewicz is preparing Pierce and other promising cyclists for the Tour of Texas March 1 in Austin.

"Eddie likes everybody to do things his way." Pierce said. "It's his program. Mike Walden is my coach back home. He's coached Sheila Young and Connie Paraskevin. I do a lot of the things Mike taught me and mix them in with what Eddie's teaching."

Pierce has been able to handle the boot-camp type workouts, including a unique cycle-cross course.

"WE RIDE through mud and hills and have to carry the bikes on our shoulders," Pierce explained. "That's where the weightlifting helps. "But it (the training) really hasn't been that taxing so far." Pierce, who graduated from Stevenson High School, played five years of hockey in Livonia house leagues before taking up cycling seriously.

'Newsboy' participates in 1890s weekend

Westland resident Marc Gawronski will pass out free copies of the Edison Courier, a compilation of 1890s stories, at the Great Escape Weekend at Henry Ford Museum. The event is open to the public for the regular museum admission.

staff writer

WENTY-ONE-year-old Marc Gawronski of Westland will be dressed as a newsboy of the 1890s and distribute copies of the Edison Courier during Greenfield Village's Great Escape Weekend on Saturday and Sunday at the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

Gawronski, a senior majoring in psychology at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, is an actor by avocaion, and the appearance as a newsboy is his latest "role. at a different, nostalglc period in history.

For the 1890s weekend, Gawronski will be "handing around a compilation of articles from the decade 1890s-1900." "It's a good reflection of life in the 1890s," he said of the free, souvenir newspaper.

The tall, well-spoken young man added that the newspaper also includes for the visitor details of the weekend in the museum and of the museum theater, where Little Egypt (the belly dancer who gained fame at the New York World's Fair) will per-

"There'll also be a variety show featuring Jeannie Head, with songs from the 1890s, and readings from the 1890s including 'Casey at the Bat,' he said.

STROLLING CHARACTERS will impersonate Mark Twain, the Wright Brothers and Annie Oakley

Gawronski will be wearing knickers, white shirt, suspenders and cap. "Any costume you see at the village is historically accurate," he said. "All costumes are made by the period clothing department."

The broadsheet he will distribute includes some amusing old-fashioned ads One is for an umbrella-like canopy, to go on your bicycle. The shade was offered by the Bicyle Canopy Co. of Detroit.

Tidbits of information are passed along in shorts headed "Society Fads"

He was last seen on stage playing the lead in "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" at the Henry Ford Museum Theatre. It was his first role for the museum theater which holds open auditions for each

"I ALSO DO a lot of work with the Dearborn Civic Theatre," Gawronski said

This weekend's "Great Escape" at Greenfield Village is the first of three special weekends, each looking back or "Things Men Want to-Know," from Demorest's Family Magazine, and also items from the New York Times

Young women had taken to early rising. "No more lolling in bed until 10 o'clock," was reported as one fad. For men of propriety, loose change no longer would jangle in pockets. In stead it would be kept in a pocket book, and "even if only a newspaper is being puchased, the pocketbook must be brought forth."

WHEN THE WEEKEND'S over, i will be back to his studies for news boy Gawronski. He expects to go into clinical psychology or social work fo his career but wants to continue in theater

"I will probably do theater on the side. It's something I'll always be doing," he said.

He first became interested in the stage while a student at Divine Child High School in Dearborn. He started as an assistant director and spent three years as assistant director of musicals there before graduating in 1979.

Performing at the Henry Ford Museum Theatre in "A Connecticut Yankee" was an interesting experience he found. "It was fun getting the children involved in the fantasy," he said.

The Yankee is transported back to 528 A.D., the time of King Arthur, in the play, which was presented as the museum's annual family show. All the shows at the museum are historical ones, the actor said.

Gawronski enjoys his active life and, when asked, passed along a tip on how he manages it all. "The secre is to take one thing at a time. When rehearsing, not to study. When studying, not to run your lines through you head.

Blomstedt concludes with brilliant program

By Avigdor Zaromp special writer

Last weekend marked Herbert Blomstedt's third and last program with the Detroit Symphony this season. During his stay here, he endeared himself to udiences and musicians alike.

While speculations on the possibility of him being offered the post of music director would be prema-ture, such rumors are yet another indication of the high regard and esteem with which this talented conductor is held

Following the previous program, in which he in pressed audiences with largely unfamiliar composi ions, he demonstrated in this last concert that he can do as well with the standard repertoire without taking the music for granted.

The program consisted of the Overture to Oberon by Weber, the Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in minor by Mendelssohn and the Symphony No. Beethoven Guest pianist was Peter Orth, voung Philadelphia-born pianist who has already appeared with some major orchestras in this coun-

THE SPARKLING Weber overture was presented with remarkable polish and precision. It made the listener aware that this is a profoundly orchestrated piece of music, rather than a mere short overture

The one element in the program that didn't fulfull my expectations was Orth's performance in the Mendelssohn concerto. The first and last move ments, which are characterized by brilliant, fast passages, came out forced and unnatural.

It seemed that Orth was constantly struggling against the music, rather than immersing himsel in it. Phrases were awkwardly uneven, and changes of tempo artificial and impulsive nusicians and critics about the role of musicianship versus dazzling technique, it was clear in this instance that Orth's failure in the musical aspect resulted from the fact that he was still struggling with the technique. The exception was the second movement, in which Orth was unencumbered by technical difficulties. Having the time to catch his breath, he expanded on the intrinsic beauty and brought out the profound musical effect of the movement
