The Canton Connection

MARK WEDNESDAY, July 25 on your calendars if you'd like to learn about the platforms of prospective township officials. The League of Women Voters' local chapter is sponsoring a forum for local candidates at 7:30 p.m. at township hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

IN A PRECEDENT-setting move, Canton firefighters are endorsing a candidate for township supervisor. Former Supervisor Harold Stein, a Democrat, gets the nod from Local 2289, according to union president and acting Sgt. Jim Davison. Firefighters also are supporting Robert Greenstein for 35th District Judge (a non-partisan office) and Democrat Ed Rasmussen for trustee.

FREE CLASSES are being offered for high school credit in journalism, genealogy, needlecraft, visual arts, woodcarving, foreign language and Michigan culture by the Wayne-Westland Adult Community Education Department. Registration is under way for the six-week sessions. Summer term begins Tuesday, while fall classes begin Sept. 10. For more information, call the Canton Senior Citizens at 397-1000, Ext. 278.

TURNING 50 is enough to give some folks the blues on the golden anniversary of their birth. Not where Capt. Art Winkel of the Canton Fire Department is concerned, though. Also known as Canton's Cow Chip Fling chairman, Winkel was wished a happy birthday by fellow firefighters, friends, and family from Florida at a gala affair over the weekend. "All the guys (from the fire department) wish our illustrious captain a happy 50th," said acting Sgt. Jim Davison. The birthday guy nearly received a strip-o-gram. "We found a 375-pound one we were going to send. But we decided we better not. Capt. Winkel said he'd throw her off the property."

TWIST FOR TWINS: The Michigan Twins Association, organized by and for twins, has an action-packed 1984 schedule planned. Twosomes are invited to the Cassville, Wis., Twin-O-Rama July 27-29, the 9th Annual Twins Day Festival Aug. 4-5 in Twinsburg, Ohio, and the 50th Anniversary of the International Twins Association Aug. 31 to Sept. 3 in Fort Wayne, Ind. For more information, call (616) 456-8946.

THREE CANTON residents were among those attending a one-week "Chemical Dependency and Youth" workshop at Livonia's Madonna College recently. Ruth Davis and Linda Groat, both Field School teachers, and Colleen LeBlanc were enlightened about assessment and intervention and school-based programs for early recognition of drug and alcohol problems. Henry Ford Health Care Corp.'s Fairlane Health Services Corp. offered the workshop.

DENISE Rooney, of Canton Township, was crowned Ms. Michigan Big and Beautiful of 1984. The annual pageant, sponsored by D.M.E. Enterprises, took place last week in the Sheraton Hotel in Southfield. Rooney was awarded several gift certificates from area merchants and a trip for two to Toronto. Rooney will make public appearances throughout the year to promote the pageant.

TWO Canton students received grade points of 3.5 during the spring quarter at the Michigan Technical Institute in Ann Arbor. The honor students were Sara Barnhill and Marlene Bridge. Both study travel and tourism.

Duo get life in teacher's slaying

Woman weeps at sentencing

Machele Pearson is led out of the courtroom in Washtenaw Circuit Court after being sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying of Nancy Faber.

By Margaret Neubacher
staff writer

Life sentences were handed down in Washtenaw County Circuit Court Friday for Machele Pearson and Riccardo Hart, both convicted of murdering Nancy Faber, a Plymouth-Canton schoolteacher.

Judge Ross Campbell sentenced Hart, 21, and Pearson, 17, in separate hearings, to solitary confinement in prison and hard labor for "the rest of their natural lives."

In addition, each was sentenced to 20-40 years for armed robbery and two years for possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony. The sentences are to be served concurrently according to Judge Campbell.

"The sentence could be commuted only by a pardon from the governor," Prosecutor William Delhey said. "From my experience that never comes before serving at least 20 years."

THE SOLITARY confinement and hard labor are not enforced anymore, Delhey said.

Pearson, dressed in tan slacks and a black and white sports shirt, stood before Judge Campbell with her arms folded during the sentencing. Tears trickled down her cheeks as her sentence was read. She was offered a tissue by the bailiff and escorted out of the courtroom by sheriff's deputies. Hart stared straight ahead and showed no emotion during his sentencing. Dressed in jeans and a sleeveless white shirt, he held his hands behind his back while Judge Campbell spoke.

Hart and Pearson, who lived together in Ypsilanti, were allowed 15 minutes together after the sentencing Friday.

Hart and Pearson were found gully of first-degree murder, armed robbery and possession of a firearm in separate trials held in early June.

Defense attorneys Thomas Quarterman, of Detroit, and Don Ferris, of Ann Arbor, joined in a motion to have the defendants' armed robbery charges dropped.

Conviction of both armed robbery and first-degree felony murder could violate the defendants' constitutional right not to be placed under double jeopardy, argued Ferris.

Judge Campbell waited till after sentencing to grant the motion to drop the charge and the 20-40 year sentence he had ordered.

Hart and Pearson have 60 days in which to appeal their conviction, Delhey said.

"It's an automatic appeal process available to anyone given a life sentence," said Delhey. "Transcripts of the trial will be reviewed. If an error in the proceedings is found a retrial could be called."

BOTH DEFENSE attorneys indicated their clients would file for appeal.

Faber, a mother of two, and wife of Don Faber, chief editorial writer for the Ann Arbor News, was shot with a .38-caliber revolver Nov. 22. She died three days later without regaining consciousness.

The Washtenaw County sheriff's office and the Ann Arbor police began an exhaustive hunt for Faber's killer.

Auction bails out committee

If organizers have their way, you'll soon be sold on the upcoming Canton 150 Fund Auction. Save the last weekend in September for this community affair. It promises to offer local residents a rare bidding opportunity on a variety of donated goods and services. Money generated from this first-time fund-raising event will go into the Canton 150 Fund, a non-profit fund set up by the township's Sesquicentennial Committee. Currently the committee is $10,000 in debt and is looking to the fund-raiser to put its finances in the black. Raised money in excess of $10,000 will stay in the Canton 150 Fund and be used for recreation, historical and education purposes in the township. The auction, slated for Sept. 28-29, will be produced by Omnicom Cable's Channel 8 as a public service. Suzanne Skubick, community affairs and program director for Omnicom Cablevision of Michigan, is serving as auction chairperson. "We hope to raise $20,000 after expenses with this auction. We will be looking for donations from individuals and businesses in our viewing area," Skubick said. Omnicom serves Canton Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township, Belleville and Hamtramck. The Auction Committee is looking for items or services with a value of at least $25 or more. The committee will not accept used goods, unless they are antiques or collectibles. "Services of course can run the gamut from the practical and useful to the whimsical such as having your house dusted by a local service organization or an afternoon on someone's sailboat," Skubick said. For items donated in the $500-$1,000 range, Omnicom will produce a 30-second spot promoting the item donated and business making the donation. Donated items valued at more than $1,000 will be highlighted in a 60-second spot produce by Omnicom. In addition to items and services, the auction committee also is seeking cash donations that will entitle the donor to become an underwriter for the Canton 150 Auction. Underwriters will have their business name and logo displayed on the auction set. "We hope we have a good response from both businesses and individuals," Skubick said. Organizers of the auction plan to in-

Developers will stick by housing plan

By Margaret Neubacher
staff writer

A peaceful 79 acres of undeveloped land in the southern end of Canton Township continues to be the focus of a lot of talk and little action. But that may change if developers, who have repeatedly asked to build on the land, make good on intentions to bring legal action against the township. Huntington Woods developer Jack Winshall wants to build a manufactured housing project on the parcel, provided it is rezoned for residential use. The land in question, on Geddes Road between Canton Center and Beck, is presently zoned for agricultural use. A divided board — currently lacking a seventh and tie-breaking member — has been debating the fate of the parcel for months. (Treasurer Maria Sterlini is on an extended medical leave). "The township board is stalemated on this project. They have left us in a state of limbo," said Michael Schmidt, a real estate broker. Schmidt and Winshall are partners in R.C.M. Investors Group, a corporation they founded. "We're going to use legal proceedings to get this thing done," Schmidt said. "I'm sure we'll get it, but we have to go another way to do so."

THE TWO currently are negotiating with several attorneys to determine their legal standing in the matter, said Schmidt. The developer claims that at one time trustees approved his project, but since changed their minds without offering an explanation. In May, trustees did give Winshall the go-ahead by rezoning the land for residential use and approving the site plan for the manufactured housing project. Those board actions were later rescinded because of technical matters, according to James Kosteva, former township planner and now a consultant. Unaware of the zoning snafu, the developer made arrangements to start building. Two loans were secured with separate lending institutions, and purchase commitments were made with four different builders, according to Schmidt. Kosteva told developers in early June the township would promptly resolve the zoning problem. "We were told we'd have final approval within two weeks," Schmidt said. AS OF TODAY, final approval has not been granted for either the rezoning proposal or site plan. "Interest rates are going up," said Schmidt. "At one time we thought we'd be in and started by now."

Fee hike eyed for cable TV

Omnicom of Michigan Inc. is getting ready to request a rate increase from the municipalities it serves. Rick Collman, general manager, has notified the city of Plymouth that he soon will be coming before the city commission with a formal rate increase proposal. Collman will be appearing before the commission tonight to give a general progress report and will return at a future date with the rate increase hike proposal. Omnicom has franchise agreements with the city, Canton and Plymouth Townships, Northville and Northville Township, Hamtramck, and Belleville. OMNICOM HAS been operating in the city since 1980.

"Now that we are about a third of the way through our franchise," said Collman, "we need to apply for a rate increase." The request will be $2 on basic service and 50 cents on additional outlets. If granted, according to Collman, the increase will reduce Omnicom's 1984 operating loss from a projected $556,000 to about $393,000. Over the past four years, he added, Omnicom has an accumulated operating loss of about $3.8 million. "Omnicom needs this rate increase to reduce losses and to get closer to a position where we can make a fair return on our investment," said Collman. In a series of financial statements furnished to support the rate hike, Capital Cities Cable Operations Manager

Tim Trenary points out that Capital Cities Communications (Omnicom's parent company) has advanced almost $15 million to Omnicom during its first three years of operation to finance the construction and start-up and operating losses of the system. OF THE TOTAL number of homes in Omnicom's service area with access to cable, some 45 percent are subscribers and these customers take an average of 1.98 premium services, notes Trenary. "Based on generally accepted industry standards," said Trenary, "we cannot reasonably expect marked increases in these penetration levels in the foreseeable future." Please turn to Page 4

NEW & MARVELOUS Summer Desserts

pie shell ever...

LA CREME CRUST in Snowy Lime Pie

Our trio of smooth, chilled (and frozen) citrus desserts are just right for warm-weather entertaining. But they're so easy to prepare — with frozen whipped topping — there's no need to wait for a special occasion to add one to the menu.

Actually "easier-than-pie" is Snowy Lime Pie, a dazzling dessert that introduces for the first time an almost foolproof frozen pie shell. All you need to create this excitingly different, exceptionally easy "crust" is a pie plate and spoon, some freezer space and one container of frozen whipped topping with real cream. To prepare, simply spoon thawed whipped topping into the pie plate, then spread and shape into a shell and freeze. To complete preparation, spoon the refreshing lime sherbet, mini-marshmallows into the shell and freeze until firm. For filling variations, be as imaginative as you like. You can create countless combinations of sherbet and/or ice cream... adding candies, ice cream toppings, preserves and fruit.

Two more great "do-ahead" party dishes are Dreamy Orange Mold and the Refreshing Chilled Lemon Soufflé. Plump, colorful and juicy mandarin oranges provide a perfect texture/flavor complement of the whipped topping's smoothness in Dreamy Orange Mold. An elegant addition to any summer buffet, the dessert — or sweet salad — takes only a few minutes to assemble, requires only four ingredients.

For the cook with just a little more time to spend in the kitchen, Refreshing Chilled Lemon Soufflé is that very special "showy" dessert to serve for a bridal shower or anniversary party. Cream cheese and whipped topping blend to give this regal no-bake soufflé a light and rich flavor.

Snowy Lime Pie

- 1 container (3 cups) whipped topping with real cream, thawed
- 1 cup miniature marshmallows
- 1 pt. lime sherbet, softened

Spoon whipped topping into 9-inch pie plate; with back of spoon, spread and shape into a shell. Freeze until firm. Fold marshmallows into sherbet. Fill shell with sherbet mixture; freeze.

Variations:
Substitute 8½-oz. can crushed pineapple, drained, for marshmallows.

Substitute ½ cup lemon yogurt for marshmallows.

Substitute raspberry sherbet for lime sherbet and 8-oz. container raspberry yogurt for marshmallows.

Dreamy Orange Mold

- 2 11-oz. cans mandarin orange segments, drained
- 1 3-oz. pkg. orange flavored gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 container (3 cups) whipped topping with real cream, thawed

Drain orange segments, reserving 1 cup liquid. Dissolve gelatin in water; add reserved liquid. Chill until thickened but not set; fold in whipped topping. Arrange 1 cup orange segments in lightly oiled 1-quart ring mold. Carefully pour gelatin mixture over orange segments; chill until firm. Garnish with remaining orange segments.

Refreshing Chilled Lemon Soufflé

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1 cup water
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 1 container (3 cups) whipped topping with real cream, thawed

Soften gelatin in ½ cup cold water; stir over low heat until dissolved. Add remaining water, ¼ cup sugar and beaten egg yolks. Cook, stirring constantly, 3 minutes over low heat. Gradually add to cream cheese, mixing until well blended. Stir in juice and rind. Chill until thickened but not set. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add remaining sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Fold egg whites and whipped topping into cream cheese mixture.

Wrap 3-inch collar of foil around top of 1-quart soufflé dish; secure with tape. Pour mixture into dish; chill until firm. Remove collar before serving. 6 to 8 servings

JANE MOEHLE died of cancer Sunday morning in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after a long illness. Services will be Wednesday, 10 a.m. at Our Lady of Good Counsel. There was a great lady — a woman who made you proud of your sex.

When Jack and Jane moved to Plymouth with their two youngsters, Bill and Liz, it was an immediate love affair with the town. And they didn't just sit back and admire. They pitched in and became active members of the community.

Jane's energy made us all feel as if we had been sitting on our hands. Her background was education, and she saw the need for a community college. Her commitment in the planning and organization of Schoolcraft College was extensive. Investigating the background of Henry Rowe Schoolcraft became a family project.

They went to the Upper Peninsula on their vacation, talked to old-timers, examined records.

Jane was like that. Her enthusiasms were contagious, shared with family and friends. Schoolcraft College owes its name to Jane. She was to see the community college grow from an idea to a farmland site to a fine institution. She later served as president of the college board.

JANE WAS PRESIDENT of the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women.

The whole family staunchly supported the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, and Jane was president of the Plymouth Symphony Society. How she hated to give up the free admissions to the Sunday concerts. She wanted everyone in the community to be able to enjoy the music. But symphony finances dictated that the change had to come.

Jane was involved from the first in the symphony antique mart during the Plymouth Fall festival and strived to maintain its reputation of excellence. She chaired the show and served on the antique mart committee for many years.

She had an amazing capacity for work.

AND WITH ALL her community activities, she was a homemaker. Their charming home reflected her love of old things and her wonderful eye for collecting. She had scads of plants, and there always was a beloved dog or two in the family.

Jane was a fantastic hostess and cook. Entertaining was a family affair.

She did a lot of knitting for her family, hung wallpaper, exchanged recipes. She baked Christmas cookies with the rest of us and hosted a Christmas cookie exchange. She was a relaxed partner in a bridge game and enjoyed an evening of chitchat with "the girls."

She belonged to the "old" Plymouth antique club, and her taste was exquisite. Antique mart dealers will remember her as one of their best customers.

JANE WAS A good friend and neighbor. She had a special caring for and rapport with children and the elderly.

When she cooked up a batch of old-fashioned (fish eye) tapioca pudding, she always brought over a bowl for my husband, Don. He loved it. I never made it — couldn't stand to even look at it.

And when Don died suddenly, Jane came over as soon as she heard the news. She kept us on an even keel until the family arrived. She kept track of telephone calls and telephone numbers. She kept daughter Martha, 13, occupied by having her organize and clear up the refrigerator. It seemed a mundane task at the time but turned out to be a wonderful idea when friends brought food and everyone was into the refrigerator.

Some time later, I told Jane that she had done all the right things, that she must have had previous experience in a like situation.

"No," she said. "It was the first time."

I will be forever grateful. She was, indeed, a lovely lady.

Premenstrual Syndrome is focus of 2 seminars

By Marie McGee
staff writer

Dr. Edward Lichten didn't start out specializing in Premenstrual Syndrome.

He began his medical career fresh out of Ohio State University med school as an obstetrician-gynecologist.

It was, however, an easy transition. He was in the medical ballpark, so to speak.

It came about because of his compassion for a 26-year-old woman who had already been to six or seven other doctors. It led him to begin serious research on the problem that is as old as womanhood itself.

Upshot of it all was that Lichten is now considered one of the leaders in the field of research of PMS that has led to the establishment of a Premenstrual Treatment Center, which he operates in Southfield, and a gynecologic pain clinic in conjunction with Hutzel Hospital/Wayne State University research facility.

IT ALL BEGAN with Jody Kohn of Southfield.

Kohn had a long history of premenstrual discomfort. Before she came to Lichten, she had been to several endocrinologists, a gynecologist, two internists, one allergist and a psychologist. They all told her essentially the same thing — the pain was all in her head.

"That's because a majority of doctors still believe the problem is psychological," Lichten said.

Lichten, on the other hand, was the first person to believe her story.

"I can't prove it. There's nothing in the book on it, but I believe you," he recalls telling her.

The problem with treating PMS, Lichten said, stems from the fact that there is so little information on the subject in medical books.

KOHN'S PREMENSTRUAL problems and how Lichten was able to help her are chronicled in a story, "The Many Faces of PMS" in Dimensions, an informational publication published by Hutzel Hospital.

The Dimensions article pointed out that in 1842, a French scientist wrote there was a relationship between "low grade psychotic tendencies and the menstrual cycle." However, the article noted, the finding wasn't altogether correct. Theorists continued to study the problem as more than 20 papers on the subject were published in 1930 alone.

Finally, in 1931, Dr. Robert Frank, a New York endocrinologist, described the scope of premenstrual symptoms that women had experienced. But it was not until 1953 that a British physician, Katharina Dalton, published the article, "The Premenstrual Syndrome," in a British journal that fully called attention to the subject.

While PMS is not new, researchers and physicians are still looking for the cause or causes of the disorder that manifests itself in many different ways: abdominal cramps, breast tenderness, fatigue, depression and crying spells, cravings for certain foods, nausea and vomiting, diarrhea, constipation and difficulty concentrating, to name a few.

LICHTEN IS ONE of those researchers. Rather than psychological, Lichten now believes most of the less severe problems are caused by a hormonal imbalance.

His research began with Kohn. By the time she came to Lichten, Kohn was in such a state "that she begged me for a hysterectomy," Lichten recalls. She was 23 at the time.

Kohn's discomfort began when she first started menstruating at the age of 11.

"I WAS SICK RIGHT from my first period," she said in the Dimensions article. "Things got progressively worse as I got older and I would lie in bed with three heating pads and take Demerol for the pain."

"I felt so sick the week before each period that if anyone even spoke to me at times, I would go just crazy," she added. Kohn said she tried a number of physicians and therapies over the next several years. One of those was birth control pills to control the hormone levels in her body. She took them for 2 1/2 years, but stopped when she suffered some side effects.

"I was 17, and when I told my gynecologist how much pain I was in every month, he just told me it would go away when I had children. Having children at that age would have been a high price to pay to get rid of my cramps," Kohn said.

She came to Lichten's attention at the height of one of those severe attacks of pain.

"DR. LICHTEN WAS the first person who said to me 'there is something wrong with you,'" Kohn said.

After a series of unsuccessful treatments, Lichten told Kohn about an experimental procedure that he had been working on. He called it LUNA — an acronym for Laparoscopic Uterine Nerve Ablation — "named after Luna, the goddess of the moon." It involves an incision at the navel and severing of the uterine nerves.

Five weeks later, Kohn had her first post-surgery period. She felt no pain and the premenstrual discomfort never came. The procedure had worked.

LUNA, Lichten explained, is used to relieve women who have dysmenorrhea or painful menstruation. Dysmenorrhea is only one of several manifestations of PMS.

Lichten believes strongly that only through education will the problem of PMS be solved. He believes that the first place to start is with the medical profession itself.

In that regard, he recently conducted a seminar on PMS for doctors, but the response was very poor.

Military exhibit at historical museum

Summer visitors to the Plymouth Historical Museum are greeted by a scene from the early 1940s — men in uniform dancing and talking to young women. The tableau is reminiscent of the USO centers of World War II, complete with homemade cookies and punch.

Three services — Army, Navy and Marines — are represented. Museum director Barbara Saunders said the special exhibits committee owes a vote of thanks to Martin Hinckley of Canton Township, local Marine recruiter. He supplied the Marine uniform for the display after they had despaired of finding one.

The photograph and the old 78 rpm records are authentic as are the women's dress styles and hairdos. The only false note is the long hair on the museum's male mannikins, none of whom have war-time, "skin-head" haircuts.

Old-timers enjoy the collection of sheet music of the times, displayed at the rear of the diorama.

THE MILITARY exhibit encompasses the Civil War, Spanish-American War, and World Wars I and II.

One showcase has drums, trumpets and memorabilia of encampments, dating from the 1870s to 1900.

The Civil War is represented by a drum, Union Kipi hat, a forage hat, uniforms, Confederate money, musket, bayonet, hard tack, a vest with a bullet hole and other items.

A Springfield breach-loading rifle is featured in the Spanish-American War showcase. The hats, canteen, mess kit, pack and so on are from the 31st National Guard, a local unit.

THE WORLD WAR I (or Great War) exhibit reveals man's progress in the art of waging war. There are, among other things, an Enfield rifle, a gas mask, a trench periscope and a camp lamp. The hat is from the famed Red Arrow Division, formed by Douglas MacArthur.

A small showcase contains A rations and K rations, medals and ribbons from different World War II theaters. And from the home front, there are some old ration books.

The Plymouth Historical Museum, operated by the Plymouth Historical Society, is open from 1-4 p.m. Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays. Special group tours may be arranged by calling the museum, 455-8940.

There is a small admission fee.

"EITHER THEY'RE not interested or not into it or they didn't have time," he said. "It's funny because I see the people after they see the other doctors. Quality goes up for wine in jugs

Most of us prefer to talk, and write, about the fine cabernets and chardonnays we have recently drunk, those $12-$15 bottles we can afford only infrequently.

To carry us between those bottles, a lot of jug wine is necessarily consumed. And that is not at all bad. The quality of wines in 1.5-liter bottles is increasingly and, sometimes, astonishingly good.

To help us stay up with recent developments in jug wines, mostly from California, this column will review the scene today.

"Mostly from California" because some of the finest jug wines of the world come from that land of the San Joaquin Valley. We will further restrict this exploration to those wines that retail for less than $10 the 1.5-liter bottle.

The most successful of the recent releases are the two bottlings offered by Riverside Farm, the second label of Foppiano Vineyards in Sonoma. The '82 colombard blanc is a clean, crisp yet fruity wine with none of the soggy features that sometimes comes in the big bottles.

THE '81 ZINFANDEL is a light and fruity thing, far superior to its predecessor (which is still about on some shelves and is to be avoided). In the middle price range at about $7, these both represent some of the best jug wines to be had today. They may be a bit hard to find but are worth the effort.

Just recently available in Michigan is Beaulieu Vineyards' issue of a 100-percent cabernet sauvignon wine called '92 claret. It is rare to see this old generic name used (unlike burgundy), but there is a sound rationale behind its selection.

The claret is a light, immediately drinkable wine with good cabernet character. Nearly $10 the bottle, it is not inexpensive, but to pay $5 for 750 mm of sound cabesneu is, today, a good value. Ceaulieu also continues to issue decent values in its chablis and burgundy jugs as well.

Best Value Award continues to be the 1979 San Martin burgundy at $4.49. Its white counterparts, chablis, rose and rhine, are less successful.

And then there are four large producers who continue to produce excellent wines in jugs for everyday use: Fetzer Vineyards (premium white and premium red), Concannon (chablis and burgundy), Inglenook (cabernet, chardonnay and burgundy) and Sebastiani Country Wines (gamay rose, chardonnay, French colombard, chenin blanc, pinot noir, cabernet and zinfandel). Any of these, all in the $7-$10-a-bottle range, offers sound drinking at reasonable prices.

wine

FROM FRANCE, Dourthe makes both a red and a white that are excellent. The Rudolf Keller riesling is an excellent choice for fans of that grape, which is rarely seen in large bottles.

The one grave disappointment in the market today is the issues from Robert Mondavi, usually a most dependable producer. Its 1983 rose is thin and simple, the 1982 white is also thin and tasteless, and the 1982 red is light and almost cherry-like. This is quite a change for Mondavi. Its earlier vintage-dated issues were quite good.

Also in the line of "new issues" but not wine are six new sets of excellent mustards made with a wine base. At $3.99 each, this represents an unusual marketing concept, one that must appeal to all mustard lovers.

There is one using Sutter Home zinfandel, one from Dry Creek fume blanc, two from Sebastiani, a chardonnay and a cabernet; a Martini Gewürztraminer, and a Kornell champagne mustard. All in all, a clever idea in a world already full of excellent mustards.

A dying man, a French Secret Service agent (Daniel Gelin), whispers an important secret to Dr. Ben MacKenna (James Stewart), a tourist in Morocco, in "The Man Who Knew Too Much."

Hitchcock thriller builds its suspense to exciting climax

Just about every moviegoer in town will enjoy "The Man Who Knew Too Much," the latest in Universal's rerelease of Alfred Hitchcock's masterful suspense films.

This 1956 espionage-thriller starts slowly in the matter-of-fact way in which Hitchcock always lures his audiences into dark rooms, the better to scare them.

Dr. Ben MacKenna (James Stewart) is "The Man Who Knew Too Much" because he, his wife Jo (Doris Day) and his son Hank (Christopher Olsen) are befriended by a French Secret Service agent, Louis Bernard (Daniel Gelin) while on vacation in French Morocco. Slowly, slowly, from this mundane beginning, Hitchcock draws us into a web of intrigue.

The French agent, Bernard, is murdered and as he dies, he whispers something to Dr. MacKenna. That information is so important to certain individuals that they will do anything to insure MacKenna's silence. They kidnap his son, and Stewart and Day are off on an international adventure to save the boy.

AS WITH MANY Hitchcock films, the tension builds from a relatively slow and mundane beginning. We are first enticed by exotic Morocco (if you can ignore Day's rather dippy and overdone, all-American-girl routine).

Once Bernard is murdered, we are drawn deeper and deeper into the plot. Once Day drops her wide-eyed wonderment at the African landscape and begins acting like a mother whose child is in danger, the tension builds to an exciting and entertaining climax well worth the film's two hours.

Hitchcock's casting and directing is excellent and every face tells part of the story with appropriately convincing visual impact. Most notably, Rien, the Assassin (Reggie Malder), with his thin, skeletal facial features is perfectly diabolical in the wry style Hitchcock uses to frighten his audiences.

Daniel Gelin is properly suave as the French agent and Brenda De Banzie and Bernard Miles are properly British and very convincing, playing several roles as agents of the diabolical plot.

Carolyn Jones has a small part as one of Jo MacKenna's old friends from her days on the musical stage.

THAT DAY'S CHARACTER had a musical background sets the stage for her performance of "Que Sera, Sera," which won the 1956 Oscar for Best Song.

"The Man Who Knew Too Much" (1956) is a remake of a 1934 Hitchcock film made in England. Hitchcock wanted to remake the film for many years and finally did so, opening production in May of 1955.

Hitchcock said of these two films: "Let's say that the first version is the work of a talented amateur, and the second was made by a professional." In any event, Hitchcock is clearly the master of suspense as he cleverly entangles his audience in a web of intrigue.

By the end of the film, the audience's emotions are deftly managed in an exciting climax between Day's tension over her son's fate and the outcome of the nefarious plot about which her husband knows too much.

Universal is to be commended for its current program rereleasing Hitchcock's films. The prints are good, and Hitchcock suspense is as masterful as ever.

Dr. MacKenna and his wife Jo (Doris Day) are accidentally drawn into international intrigue and espionage, and their son is kidnapped.

Like fine wine...

Canton's senior citizens weren't at all crazy about the prospect of playing softball after, for some, a 50-year layoff. But, according to their coach Louise Spigarelli, once they donned their mits and started putting the ol' apple around — well, it became a chore just getting them off the field. The Canton Senior Sluggers are currently in second place in the six-team Oldsters Softball League. Melvin Hising, swinging one at left, is one of the reasons the team has been rising in the standings of late.

Never too old

Canton senior sluggers play on in the Oldsters Softball League

IF YOU don't get a few bumps and bruises in life, you must not be having much fun.

That's what Louise Spigarelli says to her softball team when they are feeling a little squeamish about the game.

See, the team Spigarelli coaches is not your typical recreation softball team. The Canton Sluggers, comprised of men and women ranging in age 55-78, play in the six-team Oldsters Softball League.

"A lot of them didn't want to play at first," said Spigarelli, the assistant coordinator of senior citizens activities for Canton Township. "They say, 'we haven't played the game in 50 years.'

But, once they start playing they never want to stop."

The six-team senior citizen league was the brainchild of Sue Wisocki of Garden City. She started a similar volleyball league with the seniors, and three years ago, began the softball league.

"IT BEGAN with three measly little teams," Spigarelli said. "Now, it's grown to six full teams with 20 or more people on each."

Allen Park, Garden City, Canton, Livonia, Lincoln Park, and Dearborn currently make up the Oldsters League.

"It was started as a way to promote new friendships and as a new social activity for the seniors. We also wanted to provide something in a competitive environment," Spigarelli said.

The Canton Sluggers are having quite a season for themselves. Last Wednesday they pulled into second place by knocking off Garden City in a 16-15, rain-delayed thriller.

Bob Bloomhuff and Walt Dziegieleski led the Canton attack with a pair of home runs each. Ollie Carlson's sixth-inning single scored Joe Hunsick with the winning run.

Canton came back Thursday and knocked off Lincoln Park 23-16 to raise its record to 3-1. Allen Park, 4-0 is in first place. Garden City falls back to third with a 2-2 mark. Rounding out the league are Livonia (1-2), Lincoln Park (0-3) and Dearborn (0-4).

The Canton Sluggers play their home games at Griffin Park.

— Chris McCosky

Arguments are not limited to the Major Leagues. Canton's Frank Longhi and umpire Ed Jankowski engage in "discussion".

Third base coach Dan McNulty waves home Jack O'Callaghan with a run for the bad guys (Garden City).

Judy Bond crosses home plate with one of Canton's 16 runs against Garden City Wednesday. GC tallied 15.

Lally beaten in title chance

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

It may have been your classic case of too much too soon for "Irish" Brett Lally.

The Westland-born fighter now living in Plymouth was a fledgling, unknown junior welterweight two months ago.

Suddenly, he got an opportunity to fight Quint McKenzie, the No. 1-ranked European junior welterweight, in London. Lally, just in his third year as a pro, fought a great fight. In fact, most experts believed Lally won the fight, though the judges gave the decision to the hometown boy — McKenzie.

By virtue of his good showing, the United States Boxing Association ranked Lally in the top 20 of the world. Suddenly this unknown local boy has a name.

WITH THE name and the ranking came a championship fight. He took on USBA junior welterweight champ Gary Hinton in Atlantic City last Wednesday.

"Brett is very young," said Lally's trainer Dale Grable. "I don't know if it all didn't just come a little too fast for him."

Lally went the distance with the champ, but Hinton (23-2-1) won a majority decision.

"It was really a tough fight," said Lally from his Plymouth home just two hours after returning from Atlantic City. "I thought I stayed pretty even with him. I wanted to catch him with a bomb and put him out. But, by doing that, I kind of forgot about the other things."

"You just can't do that," said Grable of Lally's tactics. "You can't go out

looking for it (a knockout), it's just got to happen."

Lally is a punishing hitter — it's his trademark. "He can put anyone out on a given day," Grable said.

"I HAD HIM staggered in the third and again in the seventh," Lally said. "But, I just didn't put my punches together."

Against an experienced fighter like Hinton, Lally left himself far too open to upper cuts and body punches — the likes of which cost Lally the fight.

Grable said the loss would most likely knock Lally out of the USBA rankings. But, he added, he didn't expect his fighter to be gone long.

"His career is definitely not over," said the trainer. "He's got too much talent. He just has a lot to learn."

Lally agrees with his coach. "I guess I'll just have to go back to the drawing board again," he said.

Grable would like Lally to get four or five more fights under his belt and then take another crack at the title.

Lally's next major fight will be in mid-September in Hawaii against the Hawaiian junior welterweight champ Mark Ibenex.

"We may have one more fight before that," said Grable. "No pushover. I want him to fight somebody tough."

Lally, 15-4 as a professional, trains out of the Michigan Boxing Club in Waterford.

Comeback battles highlight MSHL

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Being the commissioner of a summer hockey league isn't a very glamorous occupation. Just ask Midwest Summer Hockey League commissioner A.J. Baker.

Baker, when he's not running himself ragged, is running perhaps the most successful summer hockey league in the state at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

His duties are numerous. He attends every game, keeping score, working the clock, arbitrating disputes, cooling off some of the league's hot-heads and, once in a while, is pressed into duty as a coach.

Away from the ice, Baker is busy tabulating league standings, statistics, and the accounting books. He also spent a fair amount of time tracking down a sponsor for the league — which he found last week in Apple Computers Inc.

One of the commissioner's biggest challenges is keeping his league competitive — that is, keeping an even balance of talent between the eight teams.

A CURSORY look at the standings and some of the recent scores will tell you that Baker has succeeded in this area. Still, some coaches don't agree.

After a close, hard-hitting contest a few weeks ago, Lakers coach Tom Norton expressed his dislike for the heated competitiveness on the ice.

"That's not what we're out here for," he said. "I think it's too competitive. This is summer hockey. The players are out here just to stay in shape and work on their game."

Said Baker: "I can understand the thoughts of the coach. The league is primarily for the players to hone their skills. We don't want it to get so competitive that it becomes a tooth and nail kind of thing."

"But, if we come out here, and there are one or two teams real strong and the rest real weak, that just wouldn't be any fun. You've got to have something for the players to come out here for."

So, what commissioner Baker has to do is strike a delicate balance between a good, competitive league and one that is not overly competitive to the point of being dangerous to the players.

The majority opinion is that Baker has indeed found such a balance in the MSHL. The three games played Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday offer proof of the league's balance.

ON TUESDAY, the Wolverines fought off a third-period charge to defeat the Lakers 6-4.

Phil Kaske was the hero for the hockey

Wolves. After the Lakers had erased a 3-1 deficit on third-period goals from Paul Norton and Dave Chiappelli, Kaske came back to register his second and third goals of the game to put his team back in command.

The Lakers' Chiappelli, a Michigan State University standout, scored two goals. Ron Ralston and Paul Norton also scored.

Tony Nilsson, from Glimakra, Sweden, and Darryl Moise and Shawn LaVoy scored the other Wolverine goals.

The win keeps Lou Isel's Wolverine's perfect, 4-0, in the Eagle Conference while the Lakers (3-2) remain on top of the Bakes Conference.

THE FALCONS busted out of a two-game losing skid Wednesday with a thrilling 6-4 win against the Spartans.

The Falcons built a fast 4-1 lead on goals by Mike Donnelly, Greg Stedman, Kerry Kennedy and Jon Doeher. But, the Spartans came roaring back in the third. Goals by Thomas Dow, Joe Lockwood and Peter Reed tied the game.

With three minutes left in the game, Michael Dolan scored for the Falcons. Two minutes later, Kennedy, a Bowling Green standout, scored his second goal into an empty net and the Falcons had cinched it.

Tom Dolan, a University of Michigan defenseman, scored the first goal for the Spartans.

Donnelly, from MSU, is the MSHL's leading scorer. He added two assists to go along with his goal.

The Falcons (3-2-1) are two games behind the Eagle Conference leading Wolves. The Spartans are 3-3 in the Bakes Conference.

THE LAKERS and the Bulldogs capped the exciting week on Thursday battling to a 4-4 tie.

The Lakers, as on Tuesday, found themselves in a deep hole. At the start of the second period, they trailed 4-2.

The Bulldogs got goals from Steve Genyk, Patrick Marody, Jeff Dobek, Ray Chariter and two from Steve Shellman. The Lakers got goals from Paul Norton and Plymouth's Alan Carnes.

In the second period, the Lakers got goals from Dave Chiappelli, Carnes again, and Tom Torchia to pull within one.

Jeff Easley is one of several Michigan State University standouts playing in the Midwest Summer Hockey League.

Close contests lift the spirit of MSHL

Torchia's goal was amazing. He shot the puck from the deep corner, at an angle behind the net. His shot curved inward, catching the upper corner.

Catholic Central ace Eric Socia tied the game four minutes into the third period.
The tie dropped the Lakers (3-2-1) into a first-place tie with the Huskies. The Bulldogs are now 1-3-1.

Iceners ok after crash

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Mike Vellucci of Farmington and Al Iafate of Livonia, recent picks in the National Hockey League's (NHL) entry draft, are both recovering from injuries sustained in a July 7 single-car crash on Highway 401 near Brighton, Ontario.

Iafate, the driver, was treated and released after suffering two fractured ribs and a head cut that required six stitches.

"Al is fine," said Mrs. Alice Iafate, mother of the standout defenseman. "He's one lucky boy."

The passenger, Vellucci, remains in Belleville (Ontario) General Hospital with back and chest injuries, but his condition is good and his doctor reports "he's making excellent progress," according to a hospital spokesman. Vellucci's release from the hospital has not been set.

The accident occurred around 8 p.m. Saturday, July 7, as the players, both 18, were returning home from a team party at Belleville.

The two played together this season with the Belleville Bulls of the Ontario Hockey League (OHL). The two were also teammates on the Detroit Compuware squad that captured the national midget title two years ago.

THE ONTARIO Provincial Police report said that Iafate apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his 1984 Mustang, which was traveling westbound on Highway 401, northeast of Toronto.

Iafate lost control of the car, which hit the shoulder twice and careened across three lanes before striking a sign post and flipping. Both players were thrown out of the vehicle as the car came to rest on its wheels.

An OPP officer said that the cause of the accident was listed as "fatigue."

The officer added that there were no witnesses, visibility was clear and that the car was traveling approximately 60 mph. The estimated damage to the 2-door Ford was $10,000.

On Wednesday, Iafate settled out of court and was given time to pay $128 on a careless driving charge, according to a Provincial Court spokesman.

IAFRATE was the second youngest member of the '84 U.S. Olympic squad and finished out the year playing for Belleville. In June, he was the fourth pick overall in the NHL draft by the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Vellucci, also a defenseman, was taken in the seventh round by the Hartford Whalers.

Both players are expected to report to their respective training camps in September.

Old Mill Creek

94th and newest state park rooted in 1780s

A rush of water and the thundering roar of a 1780s sawmill signaled the opening of Michigan's 94th state park recently. Old Mill Creek State Historical Park, a nationally registered historic site, commemorates Northern Michigan's first industrial center and British colonial life at the Straits of Mackinac. Old Mill Creek is the first major new tourist attraction in the Straits area in 20 years. It is three miles east of Mackinaw City on U.S. 23 overlooking the Straits and Mackinac Island.

The most elaborate "craft demonstration" ever undertaken by the Mackinac Island State Park Commission, the 550-acre park features Michigan's only working water-powered sawmill.

The new park is on densely wooded land at the estuary of Mill Creek, a parcel known as "private claim 334." Deeded to Scottish immigrant-millwright Robert Campbell in 1780, Mill Creek soon became a thriving industrial community feeding the lumber needs of both the island's growing community and Fort Michilimackinac.

In fact, the Mill Creek sawmill furnished most of the lumber used in building the new British garrison, Fort Mackinac, and in building the Mission Church and the Mission House.

In addition to this vintage sawmill, housed in a 12-by-40 pine building perched 12 feet above the bubbling stream, the new park features extensive nature trails, a working beaver dam, mill pond, ramp to a bluff viewpoint, picnic areas and concessions.

An educational center offers continuous showing of a 22-minute audio-visual program describing colonial life on the Straits and the growth of the Old Mill Creek community from 1780-1839.

Discovered almost accidentally by Cheboygan high school teacher Ellis Olson some 12 years ago, the Old Mill Creek site is now about 50 percent complete.

Archaeological excavations will continue throughout the summer to expose building locations and habitation patterns through artifacts discovered. The project was financed by the sale of revenue bonds by the Mackinac Island State Park Commission and admission fees to other historic sites and by Federal grants.

The 550-acre Old Mill Creek State Historical Park includes a vintage sawmill (above, left) perched 12 feet above a bubbling stream, as well as extensive nature trails, a working beaver dam, mill pond, picnic areas and concessions.

A six-foot vertical blade in the Old Mill Creek sawmill bites through hand-hewn tree at 120 strokes per minute. Hourly demonstrations by costumed guides are provided in the new state park at the Straits of Mackinac.

Old Mill Creek's vintage sawmill once furnished lumber used in building Fort Mackinac, a British garrison. It's now Michigan's only working water-powered sawmill and a centerpiece for the state's newest park.
