Chelsea Fair Continues Through Saturday With Many Popular Features

The 53rd Annual Chelsea Community Fair opened yesterday under cloudy skies and a threat of rain as children walked, rode their bicycles, and pulled their friends in wagons in the annual Children's Parade.

Many of the most popular events of the fair are yet to come as organizers hope more than 40,000 people will attend the five-day event.

Wednesday is a day for livestock, horses, and demolition derby fans. Judging of goats starts at 9 a.m., a western performance horse show starts at 10 a.m., judging of beef is at 1 p.m., the judging of swine is at 7 p.m., and the second night of the Cavalcade of Thrills Demolition Derby starts at 7:30 p.m. A Powder Puff heat is also planned.

Thursday's activities start at 9 a.m. with a horse show for draft horses and mules and an antique tractor pull. At 10 a.m. is the judging of dairy cattle, at 4:30 p.m. is the ever-popular Kids Pedal-Power Tractor Pull, at 6:30 p.m. the Mud Bog begins, and at 7:30 p.m. country kids learn just how much area businesses are willing to pay for their steers, lambs, and hogs at the annual Livestock Auction performed by Price Brothers.

Friday is for ladies as Ladies Day activities start at 8 a.m. At 9 a.m. are a Gymkana horse show and a lightweight-tractor pull, at 7 p.m. is the Fair Queen Program, and at 9 p.m. is the Livestock Showmanship Sweepstakes.

The final day of the fair, Saturday, begins with an Open Horse Show at 8 a.m. A fun run, sponsored by the Chelsea Family Practice Center, was scheduled but had to be canceled, and a compact tractor pull starts at 9 a.m. Chelsea Fair Parade starts at 1 p.m., horsehoe pitching begins at 2 p.m., a concert featuring local bands The Holy Cows and The Opossums, as well as a 4-wheel and 2-wheel drive pulling contest begin at 7 p.m., and the Livestock Raffle Drawing starts at 10 p.m. to close out the fair.

There are a host of midway activities all week long for people who like carnival games and rides, run again by Pugh Shows. In addition, there are numerous displays ranging from items for sale by area businesses to crafts created by area children.

Plenty of food is available on the midway, ranging from basic carnival food such as caramel apples and elephant ears, to sausage sandwiches to full meals at the Fair Service Center.

The service center also has a diaper changing area downstairs.

Daily charge of admission is $3 for anyone over 12 years old. Children under 12 are admitted free. Senior citizens get in free on Thursday, and ladies get a reduced rate of $2 on Friday.

Season passes are available for $10 for the general public, $7 for high school students with school identification, and $6 for senior citizens.

Soil Under Bus Garage Polluted With Gasoline

Soil contamination has been detected under the Chelsea School District's bus garage, according to superintendent Joe Plasecki.

However, the discovery apparently will not delay the renovation of the entire Elmer Lindow Service Center.

The contamination was caused by gasoline that leaked through valves connected to underground storage tanks. The tanks themselves did not leak, which explains why soil samples from around the tanks showed no contamination.

"None of our options are very good," Plasecki said.

"We're going to go ahead and finish the project and discuss the clean-up with the Department of Natural Resources."

Plasecki said consultants have suggested that the best way to deal with the problem is to install a vapor system that will force air into the contaminated soil, which will vaporize the gasoline. He said the system can be installed simply by boring through the new concrete.

The other options were to tear down the garage or prop it up while contaminated soil is excavated. Both options are extremely expensive.

The situation is virtually identical to the village's problem at its own garage. However, one major difference is the content of the soil. The high clay content in the soil around the village garage will not allow the same kind of clean-up and is forcing the village to tear the structure down. Plasecki said that virtually all of the school to start. For a day or two the district may be forced to refuel its few diesel buses in town.

Census Bureau Says Village Lost 140 People in '80s

Preliminary U.S. Census Bureau figures show that the population of the Village of Chelsea has dropped by 140 people since 1980 but the surrounding Chelsea area has grown during the same period.

According to the figures, the village has dropped from 3,816 to 3,676 residents, or 3.7 percent. Sylvan township has grown from 5,524 to 5,722 or 3.6 percent, Lima township has grown from 2,544 to 2,577 or 1.3 percent, Dexter township has grown from 3,872 to 4,157 or 7.4 percent, and Lyndon township has grown from 2,057 to 2,123.

The final figures will determine the amount of money each governmental unit receives in state revenue sharing funds. Village manager Robert Stalker said the village would check the accuracy of the count and appeal within two weeks if the figures are incorrect.

"We want to make sure the new building developments were taken into account," Stalker said.

Stalker said the drop may be due to the fact that the state uses a lower number of people per household to determine the final numbers.

By comparison, the situation in the Village of Dexter is far worse, where figures show a drop in population of more than 20 percent, from 1,524 to 1,213.

Scio township had an increase of 23.8 percent, from 8,029 to 9,927.

Washtenaw county grew 5.8 percent, from 264,740 to 280,222.

Fire Department Wants To Build Second Station North of Village

Chelsea Fire Department has proposed that a second fire station be built north of the village in the next two or three years.

The proposal did not have an estimate cost of the project, but said the major expenses would be land, a building, recruiting, and training of personnel, and protective clothing. New trucks would not be needed because trucks could be shifted to another station without any compromise of current protection, the report claims.

"A majority of our calls are in or south of the village," the report states.

"Approximately 20 percent of our calls are in the north portion of our fire district. Response times in the northern areas are quite long. This area is also growing rapidly, with many planned subdivisions for the near future."

The report suggested locating the station on North Territorial Rd., west of Stoffer Rd., based on information about roads, current call volume, projected growth, and recruitment possibilities.

Although the fire station would be located in Dexter or Lyndon township, the Chelsea department wants to manage it because central management "is the most efficient and economical way to run a fire department."

Lima Board Says Golf Course May Open

An attempt to keep the Reddeman Farms Golf Course from opening last Friday was rebuffed by the Lima Township Board last Tuesday, Aug. 14 during a special meeting.

Earlier in the week, township zoning inspector Richard Ritchie was told by interim supervisor Carol Stenfenson to red tag the golf course if it tried to open last Friday, Aug. 17 as planned. The township and golf course are still arguing about the details of site plan approval, as well as a liquor license for the clubhouse and approval of a restaurant.

In addition, there is even disagreement as to whether the township has approved the site plans.

After the matter was discussed at last Tuesday's special meeting, the board voted to allow the golf course to open for golf only, which was the substance of a motion passed by the township's planning commission earlier this summer.

The 18-hole golf course, at Dancer and Jerusalem Rds., is in one of the most rural sections of the township. It has been the subject of some controversy since it was first proposed.

An unsolicited legal opinion advised the township that it should not allow a restaurant or bar at the golf course, which is in an agricultural zone.

However, planning commission chairman David Bacon said he believes the primary question is whether a restaurant and bar are considered usual parts of a golf course. He said the developers have made no secret of their intentions. He favors amending the golf course's special use permit but does not favor rezoning an area to accommodate a lounge and restaurant, he said.

School Bus Stops Will Be 20 Min. Earlier

To coincide with the Chelsea School District school times for the 1990-91 school year, the school buses will arrive at bus stops 20 minutes earlier than last year.

For the beginning of school, routes will remain the same as the previous school year. Route changes will only be made after giving the students ample notice to prepare for any changes that may occur.

Kindergarten routes will be scheduled during the first week of school. Information regarding these routes will be available on Friday, Aug. 31.

If you have bus route questions or concerns please call transportation manager Sally Proctor, 475-7647.

Fair Parade Starts Saturday at 1 p.m.

Chelsea Fair Parade, which seems to grow longer every year, gets underway this Saturday at 1 p.m. downtown.

The parade runs from downtown to the fairgrounds along Main St.

Participants in the parade should be in position by noon. However, floats should be in position by 11 a.m. Any floats arriving after noon will not be judged.

Floats are to line up on the north side of Park St. between East and Madison St. facing west.

Marching units should form on East

St. between Harrison and E. Middle St.

Horses and horse-drawn vehicles should line up on Park St. east between Main and East St., facing east, between 12:15 and 12:30.

All farm machinery should line up on the east side of East St. from Park St. south, facing north.

Antique vehicles should line up on the south side of Park St. from East St. to Madison St., facing west.

Trucks should line up on West St., from Park St. south, on the east side.

Post Office Lobby To Stay Open 24 Hours

Chelsea Post Office lobby will be open 24 hours each day beginning Saturday, Sept. 1.

The move will give the public access to the box section, vending machines, and copy machines around the clock.

The window hours will not change. They are 8 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Currently the lobby is open from 6 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 6 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday.

PUGH SHOWS employees worked through the drizzle Monday afternoon at the fairgrounds to put together this year's midway attractions for the Chelsea Community Fair. Above, workers assemble what will become the motorcycle ride for young children.

Dogs had been disappearing on and around Boyce Rd. and area resident Joy Franklin thinks it was no accident. Franklin had all three of her 10-month-old mixed breed dogs disappear at the same time. The Franklins also lost two dogs earlier that year, one on March 7 and the other on March 21. Joy became suspicious when she realized that the dogs all disappeared either late Friday night or early Saturday morning. Joy speculated that an unscrupulous laboratory is using the dogs for research purposes. Joy's dogs weren't the only ones in the area that turned up missing. A mixed breed puppy belonging to Bonnie Howard, also a Boyce Rd. resident, disappeared under much the same circumstances early on a Saturday morning.

A helicopter was forced to make an emergency landing in a field off Dale St. after an engine exploded shortly after take-off. The helicopter was being used to demonstrate the University of Michigan's survival flight operation at Youth Appreciation Day at Chelsea Lanes. After the demonstration, the helicopter took off to return to Ann Arbor when the incident occurred. According to police, the helicopter was about 400 feet off the ground when there was an explosion followed by black smoke billowing from the engine. They said the pilot then turned the engine off and glided to safety. Pilot of the helicopter was Dean Pote of Pinckney. Flight Nurse Specialist Deborah Stoll of Ann Arbor was also on board.

Seven American flags were stolen in Chelsea since May. The latest one, taken from Veterans Park, had been donated by Chelsea VFW Post No. 4076. Chelsea Police Chief Leonard McDougall said he believes kids are stealing the flags for pranks. He urges all area parents to be suspicious of a sudden interest in patriotism on the part of the child, especially if flags begin appearing at home. "I think somebody is out there with a large flag collection," McDougall said.

Christian Fellowship Church was vandalized by someone with spray paint on Aug. 24. Chelsea police said the words, "Preacherman your a liar rape rape" was written on a wall. The incident was reported by Pastor Eric Hansen.

Harold Rickerman, owner of Rick's Market was the victim of an early morning break-in which occurred at the grocery store Aug. 14. According to Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department reports, the thieves gained entry by breaking a front window about 4 a.m. They absconded with a 150-pound floor model safe containing $300 in cash, a Colt detective pistol, ammunition, 3 TV lenses, some blank checks, and miscellaneous items. Also taken was a blue 1974 F-100 Ford pick-up truck used commercially by market personnel. It was recovered later the same morning, some distance away from the break-in. A week earlier, burglars had broken into the same building but were unsuccessful in removing the safe.

Charles Cameron acted as master of ceremonies for the burial of Chelsea's Bicentennial time capsule on Aug. 21 at McKuna Memorial Library. Speaker for the occasion was Dennis Petsch. The article was buried on the south side of the library and will remain there until it is unearthed 50 years hence or in 2026. The first baby born in the Chelsea area following the ceremony holds the key that will unlock the capsule.

McKuna Memorial Library has received a grant of $700 from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation at Battle Creek. The money was used for the library to become part of a state-wide information program over a two year period. The foundation provided more than $1,500,000 in grants for this purpose.

The Scio Township office building on Zeeb Rd. was broken into for the second time in a week. The office personnel were just recovering from a break-in on Aug. 4 when the vault was tampered with and papers and files strewn about. In the latest break-in the thieves walked off with several typewriters, two calculators, an adding machine and about $3 in cash from a desk drawer. Entry was gained by breaking a window. The thieves apparently walked out the front door when they were finished. Township officials have reason to suspect the same persons were involved in both break-ins. More and better precautions are being taken to prevent further break-ins.

Showdown Nears on Waste Compact Future

The seven-state low-level radioactive waste compact is in near danger of dissolving, undoing years of work trying to find a regional site. Michigan's continued search for a site is destined for failure, a compact consultant said, because of overly restrictive criteria.

The executive director of the compact recommended not to give Michigan $1.9 million for a study of the only 78 remaining potential sites unless the criteria is eased. If members adopt this recommendation the compact could collapse, Michigan Low-Level Waste Authority Commissioner James Cleary warns. Cleary, who also doubts whether any site can be found given the criteria, said, "We are at a very serious juncture in the whole compact. We have no intention of doing anything to the criteria until the process has run with the 78 areas. That's firm." He said it is important to have sufficient data on why and where the criteria is a problem before changes can be considered.

Cleary, who has spoken to all but one of the other states' commissioners, said he does not know if they will adopt the recommendation against giving Michigan more money. "I think this compact will dissolve within six months if they hang tight," he said. "We don't want to see that. It would work against what everybody's working on at the national level because it adds one more site and that is not what we want."

Gregg Larson, executive director of the Midwest compact, said he made the recommendation because "I believe there is enough evidence that the criteria is too restrictive." His recommendation, contained in a memo, also would reduce the money the compact states give Michigan if it has not begun site characterization work on three potential sites by April 1. "If the criteria is not changed, Michigan will not find a site. If that is the real bottom line, then everybody will be better served by Michigan indicating it will not go forward with its responsibility," Larson said.

An exclusionary screening process eliminated 97 percent of the state. Three remaining large sites were eliminated, mostly because of wetlands problems. The criteria is more restrictive than federal standards.

A report by L. Lehman and Associates, a consultant hired by the compact to review the request for additional money, said they virtually guarantee that a site cannot be found in Michigan. They said the authority should first apply the most restrictive criteria dealing with water problems to determine if any of the areas are still viable, instead of applying the entire range of criteria to all 78 at once.

Cleary said it is unrealistic to expect the Legislature to make such a highly-charged political decision before the November election. When he eliminated the last three large sites earlier this year, Cleary had said the additional studies would mean no other potential sites would be identified until after the election.

Michigan has asked for $1.9 million for both this year and 1990-91 from the other states for the site studies, most of that for contracted experts. Cleary said it is not possible to conduct the review with his existing staff and dollars appropriated and he has "no intention" of asking for more from the Legislature.

Larson said Michigan has an obligation to continue the search regardless of whether the compact states provide additional money. The other states are unwilling to give Michigan more funds without a guarantee it will be returned if it does not come up with a suitable site.

William Lukens, executive director for the Michigan Coalition of Radioactive Material Users, said it is reasonable for the compact to begin to withhold funds if Michigan is not doing the work promised, but said specific deadlines are "not productive." Additional pressure on the Legislature will make changes even more difficult to achieve, he said.

Larson said failure of the state to identify a dump area would mean on-site storage of waste in 200 sites in the seven states—50 in Michigan beginning as early as Nov. 11 and 150 in the other states as of 1993 when the federal compact requirements on storage kick in. The three states now accepting waste — South Carolina, Nevada and Washington — have indicated they will not accept waste from Michigan as of Nov. 11 unless site characterization has begun for a likely dump site.

Lukens agreed with Cleary that the Nov. 11 deadline set by the states now taking waste is politically unrealistic. He said it would make sense to seek changes in the criteria in the lame duck session while legislators are still organized. He said two changes — reducing a second buffer line now at 3,000 feet and permitting a site in an area with an earthquake fault line if the line does not go through the site itself — could be enough to facilitate location of a site.

Larson said if changes in criteria cannot be made until after the election, the Legislature should do so as soon as possible.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Old sayings get old because they're good. We keep telling ourselves that everything that goes around comes around because it does. How many times, Zeke Grubb wanted to know at the country store Saturday night, have we been told the fountain of youth has been found. As regular as a big cosmetic or drug company changes ad agents, Zeke allowed, which works out about ever two year on pritty much the same schedule as when we are told when the world is going to end for sure this time.

So, Zeke told the fellers he has managed to hold down his excitement over this latest wonder drug that slows aging and actual restores the look and feel of youth. He said he will wait for the fine print with the yes but. The record of these miracles is full of yes it will do this, but you got to watch out because it will do that too. And enough of whatever it is to do you any good will cost more than the average farm is worth.

Practical speaking, Zeke went on, the only new, true medical breakthrough he has heard of lately is one of the oldest around. He had saw where doctors have discovered again that smells perk up memories of old folks. Anybody that didn't know that ain't done much aging or smelling, was Zeke's words.

Actual, Zeke said, the piece he saw talked about using familiar smells as therapy in rest homes where confused residents lose track of who they are and were. The idea, he said, is association, and by offering certain smells the doctors can help the patients relearn events in their lives and use them like building blocks to jog their minds.

General, the fellers showed interest in Zeke's report. Ed Doolittle said he knows everybody associates certain smells with certain places and events, and he understands the recent report has to do with actual medical use of odors. Ed said he likes to go in shops that stock all kind of coffee in open bins. The smell takes him back to his Ma's kitchen where she baked coffee beans in the oven and run them through a grinder mounted on the wall beside the woodbox. And Ed said he never smells coal smoke that he don't think of his first winter in the Army at Camp Atterbury, Indiana.

The truth is, Bug Hookum noted, our sense of smell and taste are tied close and they do more for us than we realize. He had saw where doctors at Duke University Hospital found that adding smells and flavor to food helps old patients eat more. They know that as folks lose their taste and smell they lose interest in food.

Bug said he allus has been a firm believer in the line about the smell of perfume doing a feller a heap more good than the smell of liniment. But he didn't know til recent that perfume testers in France don't lose their sense of smell as fast as the rest of us, so use it or lose it.

As fer sayings, Bug said he thought of the bloody mary that builds you up while it's tearing you down when he read about a reserch project in San Francisco. Social workers that see drunks in a shelter there say the big problem is getting them to eat. So they are trying to fortify them with vitamins and minerals on some of em.

Bug said he sees a quick end to this project, even in the mad California. There's somepun crossways about starting the day by drinking a nuring breakfast of Hair of the Dog.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Thursday, Aug. 23, 1956—

Anticipating the opening of a youth center under the sponsorship of the Chelsea Junior Chamber of Commerce in September, three Jaycees attended a meeting of a youth group at Whitmore Lake school and witnessed that group's election of officers and other orders of business. The five young people are Joanne Ghidotti, Edward Walker, Ron Branham, Jim Mshar and Jerry Slusser.

Rogers Corners Herdmen 4-H club competed for the state 4-H softball championship on the campus of Michigan State University, East Lansing. Having already won the county championship, they also became district champions when two teams scheduled to play in finals here defaulted. Robert and LeRoy Heller were leaders of the Rogers Corners Herdmen 4-H club.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY: Madeline and Clyde Martin of Chelsea observed their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday, Aug. 4 at the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds Service Center. The party was given by their daughter, Anita Spears, and her husband, Mike, and their grandchildren, Michael and Joyma, all of Chelsea. On display were Madeline's wedding dress and shoes, as well as many photographs from the early days of their marriage. The couple was married Saturday, Dec. 14, 1940 in Leoni township near Jackson. Madeline was born in Royalton, Ky., and Clyde was born in Howell. They've lived in Chelsea since their wedding. Clyde retired in 1977 from Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. in Jackson after 40 years. The celebration cake was served by Virginia Bergey, their son-in-law's sister. Crossroads provided the entertainment.

Milk Jug Recycling Ends at Polly's on Saturday, Aug. 25

Saturday, Aug. 25 will mark the final summer collection of plastic milk jugs at Polly's Market by Chelsea Girl Scouts.

The scouts took over the project when the school year was through in June. The village is looking for a way to continue the program, which has been widely successful. However, as of press time, it was not known what the village's final plans are.

The final pick-up will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The site is clearly marked. The scouts ask that recyclers do not leave jugs inside Polly's Market or next to the Boy Scout's newspaper recycling bins.

"Polly's was generous in allowing us the use of their parking lot, but they have nothing further to do with the recycling," said scout leader Lynn Haas.

"The Boy Scouts take newspapers only, but have a problem with people leaving their milk jugs." Jugs should be cleaned with a drop of dish soap, and flattened, before being brought to the recycling station. In addition, plastic shopping bags can be recycled by using them to bring jugs.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Consulting Editor, Better Investing

Q. A great many fourth quarter reports showed declines in earnings. Do you think those drops are an indication to sell stocks? For example, both IBM and Digital Equipment had very steep declines.

A. There is no question that some well-known companies have reported earnings declines. On the other hand, some corporations had very nice increases, too. If you're concerned about the economy, projections I have seen still look for expansion this year, although at a lower rate than we have experienced in the past few years.

Both companies you mention operate in the computer industry and the demand has been soft in that sector. The decline for IBM, in part, is due to a write-off because of a cut in the workforce. Digital Equipment has always been known as a company which manages for the long term and will have some bad quarters to set the stage for future growth.

As investors, I think that is what we should also do. Too many times we get carried away with quarterly figures instead of looking at the total picture. We shouldn't be so naive as to think there will never be an interruption in earnings growth in even the finest of growth companies.

Trying to time the market can be dangerous to your portfolio. Concentrate instead on the long-term outlook for the computer industry and the stocks you hold in that field. I have a strong feeling that both IBM and Digital Equipment will be around for many more years.

Mr. O'Hara welcomes your questions and comments, but will answer them only through this column.

VFW Ladies Auxiliary Notes

The August session of Ladies Auxiliary No. 4078 to Veterans of Foreign Wars was held Monday evening at the Post Home with eight members in attendance.

It was announced the yearly inspection will be held at the October regular meeting by the District President, Bernice Davis. Also, the next District meeting will be on Sept. 9 at Hanover Post and Auxiliary No. 1155. Reservations for the dinner should be in by Sept. 1. Call Lois Speer at 475-2017, to make reservations.

Gold Star Mothers Day program is set for Sept. 30, to be held at District 5, by orders of Kay Rodebough.

Lucy Platt reported on the hospital party held on July 20 in conjunction with the Post, serving 50 patients. Eleven Auxiliary members, three non-members and three Post members served the 50 patients and provided entertainment as well. Mrs. Platt also reported on the cancer program, stating $2 or more per member is requested to fund the cancer aid and research program. She reported the sale of the new cancer pins, being of the design of the Mackinac bridge are selling well. Proceeds of the pin sale also goes to the cancer aid and research fund. The newly appointed department chairman is Shirley Wade.

Bessie Sharp reported on the renovations in progress of Michigan cottages number two and three. The department requests donations of cash to help make the cottages bright, sunny and cheerful for the house-mothers and the children occupying them. She also reported 13 Post and Auxiliary members plus some guests from Chelsea attended. The Post and Auxiliary entered our flags and banners in the sale of colors, for which a ribbon was given to the Auxiliary to be placed on the banner. Mrs. Sharp also reported on purchasing and dedication of the flag presented to the village for the depot.

Virginia Boyer reported on safety, stating school is soon to reopen, children will be out earlier in the morning, and reminded all to look out for the children. She also read do's and don'ts for personal safety in the home. Under youth activities she asked $20 be allowed to purchase dolls to be given to the department for distribution among the unfortunate children.

Legislative chairman Lois Speer reported Senator Levin has answered her letters and stated more funds have been appropriated for the veterans, and are working on reopening some wings at the veteran's facilities which are badly needed. The date of Dec. 1 has been set for the local Auxiliary's annual Christmas bazaar and bake sale—more details later. The next meeting will be Sept. 10 in the local VFW Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Blueberries Are For More Than Just Baking Muffins

Crepes, muffins, pies, puddings or cobblers... no other fruit makes so many desserts so delicious and simple as fresh Michigan blueberries.

The first blueberries are believed to have been harvested by the Indians along the shore of Lake Huron in 1615. From that time on, blueberries became a favorite of Indians and settlers, and their popularity still continues today.

Both wild and cultivated blueberries grow in Michigan. The wild lowbush varieties grow on 6- to 18-inch-high bushes, while the cultivated highbush plants can grow as tall as 12 to 18 feet. The biggest difference is in the way they are harvested. Lowbush berries are picked mostly by hand, while the highbush varieties can be picked by hand or harvested mechanically.

Michigan-grown blueberries are a low-calorie, high-carbohydrate snack that can be eaten out of the hand or mixed with other fruits for a nutritious salad. Michigan blueberries contain just 82 calories per cup and are a good source of potassium. Full of vitamins A and C fresh Michigan blueberries add color and taste to any bread, salad or dessert.

Fresh Michigan blueberries are available at farm markets, U-pick operations, grocery stores and roadside stands in your area. For information about where to buy fresh Michigan blueberries and other produce, contact the Michigan Department of Agriculture Center for Agricultural Innovation and Development at 1-800-877-PICK.

AIDS UPDATE

On July 26 the Centers for Disease Control reported the possible transmission of the HIV (AIDS) virus to a patient by a dentist during an invasive dental procedure. The report indicates that an HIV-infected dentist may have transmitted the AIDS virus to a patient during the removal of third molars (wisdom teeth).

This is disturbing information since, of the 140,000 documented cases of AIDS, this is the first incident of possible HIV transmission from a healthcare provider to a patient. According to the American Dental Association (ADA), while the dentist is considered to be a possible source of infection, other means of transmission cannot be ruled out.

Now the good news: All evidence gathered to date indicates that properly utilized barrier techniques provide an effective defense against pathogenic microorganisms. These techniques include the use of masks, gloves and eye covering, proper sterilization of instruments, disinfection of office surfaces and careful disposal of contaminated materials. To date officials have found no conclusive link between the transmission of the disease from the dentist to the patient in this case.

John Mellinari, PhD, of the University of Detroit School of Dentistry and national authority on infection control, states that "all of the accumulated data over the years indicates that proper infection control techniques provide an effective barrier from infectious diseases."

QUOTES

DONALD A. COLE, Director

"Show me the manner in which a nation or community cares for its dead and I will measure with mathematical exactness the tender sympathies of its people, their respect for the law of the land, and their loyalty to high ideals..."

—Gladstone.

As the famous English statesman observed, a great deal can be learned about its people by studying the manner in which they conduct their traditional funeral ceremonies.

Flamboyant or extravagant rituals do not impress the student of human nature but a decent respect for the feelings of survivors and a desire to do honor to the memory of the departed tells much about the basic character of a civilization.

Please consider us as a friend in need. Our unstinting efforts on your behalf start with a phone call from you, at any hour of the day or night.

Michael Woods Recognized By Insurance Company

Account representative Michael Woods of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's Ann Arbor branch office, has qualified for the Leaders Conference distinction his first year with the company. The honor is based on his outstanding sales performance, professionalism and quality service to clients. He was recognized at the conference held in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Woods joined MetLife in May 1988. He is a registered representative with the National Association of Life Underwriters and National Association of Securities Dealers. Woods and his wife, Julie, reside in Chelsea with their three children.

MDA Telethon Needs Local Volunteers

The Ann Arbor broadcast of the 25th Anniversary MDA Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) needs volunteers, announced Paul and Ann Trapani, chairpersons of the Telethon in the Ann Arbor area. The 2½ hour entertainment spectacular will be aired on channel 2 starting at 9 p.m., on Sunday, Sept. 2 through 6:30 p.m., Monday, Sept. 3.

"Volunteers play a vital role in the Telethon's success," said Mr. and Mrs. Trapani. "Each year, they handle a variety of behind-the-scenes jobs, such as answering pledge phones and sorting pledge envelopes. The fantastic people of Ann Arbor have always come through for us in the past, and I hope we can count on them again this year."

The 25th annual Telethon, which will originate live from the Aquarius Theater in Hollywood, will be broadcast throughout the U.S. by some 200 "Love Network" stations. This year's star-studded spectacular promises to be the most exciting in the event's history, with three-time Emmy award winner George Schlatter heading the production.

Money raised through the telethon helps fund the important work being done by MDA-sponsored researchers seeking treatments and cures for 40 neuro-muscular diseases. One of the most promising experimental treatments now under investigation by MDA is "myoblast transfer therapy." This technique involves the injection of health immature muscle cells, called myoblasts, into diseased muscle in an effort to produce normally-functioning muscle cells. MDA-supported scientists have already begun human trials of this procedure.

"The people of Ann Arbor can take great pride in their contribution to this major research undertaking," said Mr. and Mrs. Trapani. "MDA scientists are closer than ever to developing treatments and cures for a number of neuromuscular disorders. If increased public support of MDA can be achieved, this vitally important work will continue."

In the Ann Arbor area, funds raised by channel 2-TV's broadcast of the Telethon help make possible MDA clinics at Michigan State University, MDA research projects at the University of Michigan, and MDA's summer camp at camp Tamarack in Brighton.

Mr. and Mrs. Trapani said that anyone interested in volunteering for the Labor Day Telethon should call the local MDA office at 1-800-886-2632 or call them direct at (313) 465-9612.

EDUCATION RESEARCH

Prepared by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASPP), Reston, Va.

*Parents are Still the Best Teachers...

Reston (Va.)—One clear indication that Labor Day is near is the sound of the school bell beckoning students back to the classroom. This month millions of students will return to schools and hopefully millions of parents will ask themselves how they might help their youngsters take the best advantage of their educational opportunities.

It has been said that "the child's first teacher is the parent," and that philosophy is valid throughout any student's first 13 years of schooling. Principals and teachers can provide a certain amount of education during the five to six hours students spend in the classroom, but what happens at home will determine the extent of success to a great degree.

If parents stress the importance of education, encourage their youngsters not to work an excessive number of hours during the school year, and provide other forms of support, students will have a higher chance for success.

That can be difficult during these times with the increasing number of single parent families and families where both parents are forced to work to survive economically. It's tough coming home from work and moving your attention directly to the night's homework assignment, but no one is suggesting that parents should have to perform an hour of calculus homework each evening. There are some relatively easy things to accomplish, and the payoff can be tremendous.

Here are some ideas on how parents can support students' education this year:

- Compliment your youngsters when they achieve successes in school. Recognition and moral support pay dividends.
- Discuss the value schooling will have to future employment. If your youngster understands that you place a high priority on learning, he or she is more likely to do the same.
- Ensure that interruptions to your youngster's class/school time are kept to a minimum.
- Limit the viewing of television on school nights.
- Make sure that your youngsters have an appropriate place to study and that they complete homework assignments.
- Offer to speak to students about your job, or any unusual skill you possess.
- Attend and support such school meetings as parent-teacher conferences, back to school nights, and open houses.

ferences, back to school nights, and open houses.

• Attend school programs: plays, sporting events, musicals.

• Determine ways you can enhance your child's education (e.g., museum visits, operas, political debates, travel).

• Know the principal and teachers where your children attend school. Check with them in an unthreatening manner regarding problems or rumors.

Scout Day Scheduled at Farm Museum

On Sunday, Aug. 26, the Waterloo Historical Society will observe a Scout Day at Waterloo Farm Museum. On that afternoon boys and girls who wear something that identifies them as a Boy Scout, Girl Scout, Cub Scout or Brownie will be admitted free of charge. Scouts are invited to come with their family or their leader. Family members will be charged the regular admission price of $2 adults, $1.50 seniors, 50¢ children 11 and under and children under 5 are free. Scout leaders who wear identification will be guests of the museum.

A Scavenger Hunt is planned and Scouts who complete the hunt will receive a small memento of the museum.

Hours at the museum are 1 to 4 p.m. Museum guides will be present in the 19th century farm house to provide information about the furnishings of the home, answer questions and help with the Scavenger Hunt.

The Farm Museum is located at 9888 Waterloo-Munith Rd.

"America has become a society in which everyone is expected to work—including women with young children. But many of society's institutions were designed during an era of male breadwinners and female homemakers. What is needed is a reform of the institutions and policies that govern the workplace, to insure that women can participate fully in the economy and that men and women have the time and resources to invest in their children."—from "Workforce 2000: Work and Workers for the 21st Century," a study by the Hudson Institute for the U.S. Labor Department.

'Taste of Michigan' Is Ladies Day Theme

"A Taste of Michigan" is the theme for the 1990 Ladies-Day Program at the Chelsea Community Fair on Friday, Aug. 24.

A three-segment show is designed to inform and entertain about various aspects of the state.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. with complimentary coffee and donuts.

During registration, native Michigan dance will be performed by the Dragon Fly Dancers, a group of young people from the Chelsea and Dexter area.

Prizes will be awarded for those who can answer Michigan trivia questions.

Tom Hodgson, director of the Dahlen Center in Jackson, will discuss recycling efforts in Michigan with his humorous anecdotes.

Laurie Honbaum, Miss U.S. Teen of Michigan, will review her year, especially her recent trip to the Soviet Union.

Former Michigan First Lady Lenore Romney will discuss Volunteering in the '90s.

Homemaker of the Year awards will also be presented.

Throughout the morning more than 130 door prizes donated by Chelsea and Dexter area businesses will be passed out by Chelsea Fair Queen candidates. All door prizes will be on display at Dayspring Gifts prior to Friday.

All ladies 18 and older must be present to win.

The first 500 ladies to register will receive a "bigger than ever" goodie bag, according to chairperson Kris Bergman.

New Catholic School Opening

St. Michael's Academy, in Ann Arbor, recently hosted an open house to introduce the school administration to the Catholic community. The opening of St. Michael's marks the first school in the area to incorporate individualized instruction based on a Catholic curriculum, taught in the Benedictine tradition.

The Benedictine tradition is based on the belief that faith should be related to all areas of study.

There are currently 25 students enrolled for the 1990/91 school year. The school will accept up to 40 students for the year from grades kindergarten through eighth. Five teachers, all Benedictine Sisters from Hammond, Ind., will be supervised by Mother Mary Regina, who will serve as principal for the school. Mother Mary Regina has an extensive background in teaching with experience in college, high school, and grade school level teaching.

Initial funding for the school was provided by the Domino's Foundation. The school will then rely primarily on tuition monies. St. Michael's Academy will utilize three classrooms of the Freeman School building.

Cocaine, Marijuana Abuse To Be Topic At Sept. 4 Meeting

The topic of Brighton Hospital's next Community Education Program on Sept. 4 is "Cocaine & Marijuana: What Everyone Must Know."

Stephen Bartholomew, PA-C, a member of the hospital's medical staff, will discuss the medical characteristics of these two drugs. He will also point out the treatment and self-help programs that are available for both the drug user and his or her family.

At the Sept. 4 program several helpful fact sheets and booklets will be distributed, including "Cocaine/Crack: The Big Lie," "Marijuana: A Second Look," and "When Cocaine Affects Someone You Love." The free publications are also available directly from the hospital's Community Relations Department.

The program begins at 7 p.m. in the hospital's chapel. The meeting is open to the public, and reservations are not needed.

Brighton Hospital is located just off exit 151 of the I-96 freeway.

For additional information, contact the Community Relations Department at (313) 227-1211, ext. 276 on weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Eye Care

Ophthalmologist - Eye Physician and Surgeon

MACULAR DEGENERATION

One of the most common causes of decreased vision is macular degeneration. This is a deterioration of the retina, the layer of nerve tissue lining the inside of the back of the eye. Light rays entering the eye through the pupil are focused by the lens of the eye onto the retina, which transforms the light rays into electrical messages sent back to the brain for "processing".

In macular degeneration, the center of the retina gradually deteriorates. The older we are, the more likely this will happen, although we don't know why it affects one person and not the next. It may tend to run in families. Unfortunately, this blurs the sharp, central vision we use for looking directly at an object. The side, or peripheral, vision remains unaffected. Macular degeneration usually affects both eyes, although not necessarily to the same degree. The blurring of vision may be gradual, noticed as trouble reading small print for example, or the blurring may be sudden and profound. Some of these cases can be helped with laser treatment. There is controversy whether zinc, vitamin A, or ultraviolet blocking glasses may help prevent macular degeneration.

Man Charged With B&E Area Home

Officers from the Chelsea Police Department arrived to assist the residents of a home on Trinkle Rd. in the early hours of Saturday, Aug. 18.

Chelsea police units arrived prior to deputy Calmes of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, who was dispatched to the location after one of the residents reported a man wearing blue jeans, no shirt and no shoes had gained entry to the home's porch by tearing the screen, and was trying to enter the kitchen by raising a window to that room.

The suspect was charged, arrested and transported to the county jail for breaking and entering an occupied dwelling.

Shoes and a leather jacket were found in the driveway.

The suspect explained to officers, he and a friend had shared a bottle of liquor and were walking in the area when they had a disagreement and his friend left.

He indicated to investigating officers, he didn't at first think what he did was bad, but on thinking it over, he decided it was pretty serious.

Pinckney Man Back from Service In Western Pacific

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Dale R. Nickell, son of Clarence P. and Viola Nickell of Pinckney, recently returned from deployment to the Western Pacific and Indian Ocean while serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Carl Vinson, homeported in Alameda, Calif.

During the six-month deployment, Nickell participated in various military exercises including Exercise Team Spirit '90. He also visited several foreign ports in the Republic of the Philippines, Japan, Singapore, Australia, and Hong Kong.

Exercise Team Spirit '90 was designed to improve the defensive readiness of U.S. and Republic of Korea forces. The exercise involved more than 25 U.S. Navy ships and approximately 23,000 Navy and Marine Corps personnel.

A 1985 graduate of John Glenn High School, Westland, he joined the navy in September 1985.

In a Boston University study, married male parents reported that their wives (whether employed or not) spend two to four times as many hours a week on home chores and child care as they do, according to the U.S. Labor Department.

Free Immunization Clinics Offered By Health Division

Back-to-school immunization clinics, sponsored by the Washtenaw County Public Health Division, will be offered to children and adults beginning in August at various places around the county. No appointment is needed, just remember to bring along your child's previous immunization records to the clinic of your choice.

Adults, especially those working with children, also need to check their immunizations periodically. Diphtheria-tetanus boosters and TB skin tests are available for adults.

Clinic dates and times are as follows:

Wednesday, Aug. 22 - 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., Department of Social Services, 2850 W. Stadium, Ann Arbor.

Wednesday, Aug. 29 - 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., Eastern Subcenter, 555 Townner, Ypsilanti.

Wednesday, Sept. 5 - 1:30 to 7:30 p.m., Public Health Division, Washtenaw County Service Center, 4101 Washtenaw, Ann Arbor (off Hogback).

Although contagious childhood diseases don't occur as often as they once did they can still happen to children, and sometimes adults, too. So, be sure your children are up-to-date with immunizations and help prevent serious diseases from spreading.

If you have any questions about immunizations or scheduled clinics, call the Washtenaw County Public Health Division at 971-3993.

Higher Farm Expenses Will Not Cause Higher Food Prices

Consumers can expect an increase in food prices as the result of Iraq's invasion of Kuwait, but it won't be because of higher farm expenses, according to Michigan Farm Bureau's agricultural economist Bob Craig.

"Since the farmer receives only 24 cents of the average U.S. food dollar, consumers can expect to pay for increases in other energy-related expenses, added between the farm and the grocer's shelf," Craig said. "These include higher costs for refrigeration, manufacturing, transportation, and even lighting the supermarkets themselves."

The Food Institute, a food industry organization which specializes in all aspects of food distribution, has estimated that a 20 percent increase in petroleum prices will result in about a 1 percent increase in consumer food costs.

"That estimate is based on 'zero inflation' for labor, raw materials and packaging," Craig said. "Higher oil prices eventually could raise other costs in the food chain, including labor, the largest single expense in food prices, accounting for fully one-third of the consumer's food dollar."

The Farm Bureau economist said that farmers are concerned not only about higher production costs and lower commodity prices caused by the Middle East crisis, but also about the impacts of an economic recession.

"An economic recession caused by higher energy prices could spell more bad news for farmers," Craig said. "A recession could send bearish waves through commodity markets and would also hit livestock producers. Consumer demand for beef and pork are tied to consumer income, which usually falls with employment figures during recessions."

Humane Society Planning Charity Auction Sept. 15

Humane Society of Huron Valley will hold its third annual "Bid from the Heart" Auction at 7 p.m. Sept. 15 at the Ann Arbor Marriott to raise funds for the care of animals at the Humane Society shelter.

Over 150 items worth more than $30,000 will be up for sale. Among them will be a new Toyota Camry, digital piano, trips, jewelry, antiques, art and sporting equipment.

The event will begin with a silent auction, followed by a live auction.

Tickets at $25 are available by calling the Humane Society at 662-5545.

New Michigan School Bus Stop Law

When red overhead flashing lights are activated, approaching and following traffic must stop not closer than 20 feet from the stopped school bus and not proceed until signals are off. If a bus is off the roadway and only amber hazard warning lights are flashing, motorists from both directions may proceed with caution.

New School Bus Stop Law Affects Drivers

Legislation making Michigan's school bus stop law uniform on all roads and streets across the state and consistent with other states became law on Aug. 15.

Motorists should proceed with caution and be prepared to stop when they see yellow hazard lights flashing. When the red overhead flashing lights are activated all motorists approaching the bus must stop no closer than 20 feet from the bus and remain stopped until the red overhead signals are turned off. (The law previously required the flashing red lights to be turned on as the bus was moving and approaching the stop and allowed motorists to stop 10 feet from the bus when stopped.)

Buses manufactured after Oct. 1, 1990 will be equipped with two overhead amber lights in addition to and located next to the two flashing red lights. School buses throughout Michigan now use the hazard lights until new buses gradually replace the hazard lights with overhead amber lights that warn motorists of an approaching bus stop.

The new statute requires all motorists in Michigan to be ready for the changes. Previously the red light use was optional for cities, now all school buses will be operated in the same manner throughout Michigan.

Remember as in the past, WHEN THE FLASHING RED LIGHTS OF THE SCHOOL BUS ARE ON... STOP... AND REMAIN STOPPED UNTIL THE RED FLASHING LIGHTS HAVE BEEN TURNED OFF.

Civic Foundation Will Be Present at Community Fair

The Civic Foundation of Chelsea will be holding a 50/50 drawing during the Community Fair. In the past, grant monies have been raised almost exclusively through annual membership dues as well as occasional benevolent gifts or endowments.

Members of the board of directors of the Foundation will be on hand each evening from 5 to 9 p.m. at the fair to answer questions and provide chances for the drawing.

The Chamber of Commerce has been generous enough to provide space in its booth at the fair for this purpose.

Chelsea Community Fair Queen Will Be Crowned Friday Evening

Nine Chelsea and Dexter-area girls will compete for the title of Chelsea Community Fair Queen this Friday at 7 p.m. in the covered arena.

The program, hosted by former fair queen and Miss U.S. Teen of Michigan Laurie Honbaum, will also feature a visit by Charlene Powers Lange, who was fair queen in 1985. She is the daughter of Charles and Martha Powers of Chelsea and lives in Lodi, Calif. She'll crown the new queen.

As usual, each candidate will demonstrate her talent for the crowd, and answer a question posed by the judges. 1989 Fair Queen Holly Koscielniak will also be on hand.

For the first time, the winner will receive a $500 scholarship courtesy of the fair board.

Michelle Smith, Chelsea Community Hospital; Amy Trinkle, Rogers Corners Herdmen 4-H Club; and Lisa Brooks, Dexter High School Senior Class.

The queen, and all the other candidates, will ride on floats in the Chelsea Fair Parade on Saturday afternoon.

Program co-ordinator is Sally Heil.

Jamie Hoffman Wins National Scholarship

Chelsea Police Department Explorer Jamie C. Hoffman was one of six recipients of J. Edgar Hoover 1990 Scholarships awarded at the National Law Enforcement Explorer Conference July 18-20 on the campus of the University of Colorado in Boulder.

Hoffman, 20, attends Michigan State University and is working toward a bachelor's degree. She is the daughter of Paul and Sharon Hoffman of Chelsea.

Hoffman has also been involved in Students Against Driving Drunk since high school, was involved in the Chelsea High School Mock Trial Team, the Special Olympics Fun Run, Future Business Leaders Conference, and was a member of the National Honor Society.

Hoffman said her enjoyment of the field of law enforcement and her respect for the judicial system led her to pursue a career in federal law enforcement.

Explorers are young men and women age 14-21 who are interested in law enforcement careers. Under the auspices of the Boy Scouts of America, they learn about law enforcement professions by participating in programs conducted by federal, state, and local law enforcement organizations.

Scholarships are for $1,000. Hoffman was also voted National Law Enforcement Exploring Chairperson for 1990-1991 while attending the conference. She campaigned for two nights to win the majority vote of the 3,000 explorers in attendance. There were two other candidates.

Hoffman's main responsibility will be to organize the 1991 National Academy. She will also work closely with Steve Higgins, national director of drugs, tobacco, alcohol, and firearms, and Stan Morris, director of the War on Drugs Campaign.

She will travel at least three times on all-expenses paid trips to Oklahoma and Washington, D.C. for planning sessions and general meetings.

Auction Slated To Help Restore Grass Lake Depot

Sept. 23 and the second annual Whistlestop Park Auction is fast approaching. Entitled "Floors, Doors, and More," proceeds from the auction will be used to help complete the interior restoration of the more than century old Grass Lake Depot.

The auction will be held at the Whistlestop Park in downtown Grass Lake.

With a preview at noon, the Auction begins promptly at 2 p.m. Beverages and food will also be available for sale. Those interested in donating auctionable items may call (517) 522-4984 or 522-8500.

Mike St. John will demonstrate brick engraving. These original bricks will be used in the walkways around the restored depot. A tax deductible donation of $50 will engrave your name on a brick and help complete the restoration project. Mark your calendars now! It's full steam ahead with the second annual auction fund-raiser for the depot!

Wendy Houser Employee of Month At BookCrafters

Wendy Houser proves her expertise daily. Among the machines she operates are the dust jacketer, the punch, the spiral wire, the flat knife, and the laminator. And when she's needed, she fills in on other machines as well. Wendy is a multi-skilled operator, the kind of employee BookCrafters can count on to get a job done right the first time. And it's no surprise that Wendy was chosen as BookCrafters' Employee of the Month for August.

During the 11½ years she has worked for BookCrafters, Wendy has gained the respect of her supervisors as well as her fellow employees.

Wendy stays busy outside BookCrafters as well, with her husband, Tom, and her three children, Sharri, 18; Candy, 16; and Tommy, 13. For recreation, she plays left and left-center for her church softball team; and to date, they have won every game this season. Wendy also bowls and participates in an aerobic workout twice a week.

When asked about her affiliation with BookCrafters, Wendy says, "I like the people; I like what I do; and I like my boss."

Let's Go Bulldogs!

CHS Girls Seek Third Straight League Title

Chelsea Bulldogs girls basketball will seek a third straight Southeastern Conference basketball title this season.

The Bulldogs open their schedule at class A Adrian next Tuesday in a tough non-conference tune-up.

This year's Bulldogs, however, have a huge hole to fill with the departure of all-league center Allison Brown, a mainstay for the Bulldogs the past three seasons. Brown, one of the team's top scorers, was also an aggressive rebounder.

With Brown gone, the team over-all will be shorter. However, coach Rahn Rosentreter says it will be quicker as well and "more offensively oriented," than past teams.

"We have a lot of ability on offense," Rosentreter says.

"We have three people, Colleen Scharphorn, Shawn Losey, and Christine Burg, who can shoot three-pointers and we have four people who handle the ball well. We also move the ball around well. We'll rely a little more on the outside shot and maybe our quickness and ball movement will get us a few easy shots."

Rosentreter is banking heavily on senior leadership from Scharphorn, Losey, Mercedes Hammer, Carrie Flintoft, and Kristin Bohlender, who all saw extensive playing time last year.

"Our seniors have been successful every year and we'll probably ride them pretty hard throughout the season," Rosentreter says.

"We'll be looking at our juniors and sophomores to play certain roles in each game."

Hammer, who made the SEC honorable mention team last year, will carry much of the rebounding and inside scoring load. She's essentially taking Brown's place inside, although Rosentreter says it's not really fair to expect anyone to take Brown's place. Hammer has worked on her outside shot and is capable of using it effectively, Rosentreter said.

Flintoft, a three-year starter, has been converted from guard to forward. Rosentreter says he's confident of her offensive skills and is optimistic about her ability to guard taller girls inside.

Scharphorn is projected, along with Hammer, to be one of the team's scoring leaders. She can score in a hurry from just about anywhere on the court.

"I'd like to see Colleen and Mercedes average about 12 to 15 points each and I'd like to see Carrie, Shawn, Kristin, and Christine combine for about 15-20 points per game," Rosentreter says.

Beyond the top six, there is no varsity experience. And that puts Rosentreter in a bind on defense. He says he'd like to play man-to-man defense more, and press a lot, but that strategy could cause foul problems, which the Bulldogs cannot afford.

"We'd like to play more man-to-man defense and we've worked on it, but we might not have the personnel," Rosentreter said.

"We might be better off in a zone to stay out of foul trouble. We will have to press more to take advantage of the quickness of our guards, but we're going to have to press under control."

Junior Sarah Devine will be called on to substitute for Hammer and Flintoft. Other squad members include junior Jenny Bobo, and sophomores Michelle Beeman and Heather McConeghy.

Rosentreter says the SEC should be more balanced than last year when Chelsea and Tecumseh were clearly better than the rest.

"Tecumseh should be good, Dexter should be extremely good, and Milan might be the dark horse of the league," Rosentreter says.

"We fit in there somewhere, but I don't know where. Two losses should win it outright, and three might get a share of the title. The balance will be good for the league."

Young Golf Team Opens at Tourney

Chelsea boys golf team had its first competition of the season last week when it played in the 24-team Jackson County Western Invitational at Burr Oak Golf Course.

The Bulldogs finished 20th with a score of 382 while Jackson Lumen Christi won the tournament with a score of 311. Scores for Southeastern Conference schools included Saline 318, Tecumseh 335, and Milan 397.

Senior Alex Hammerschmidt led Chelsea with an 84. Other Chelsea scorers were junior Chris White 90, junior Aaron Tanner 104, junior Scott Pacheco 104, and sophomore Nick McCalla 105.

Hammerschmidt and White are team captains.

Other members include juniors Rick Clouse, Dennis Clark, Jeff Dieing, Ben Manning, and Chris Walton, sophomores Matt Jachalke, Nathan Oake, and Sean Grafburg, and freshmen Jason McVittie, Cory Brown, Justin Huschke, Andy Wetzel, and David Seitz.

"This is definitely going to be a rebuilding season for us," said Chelsea coach Jim Tallman.

"We have only one returning senior and one junior with any extensive varsity experience. Things should improve steadily throughout the season as some of the younger players gain more experience. I'm really encouraged by this year's freshmen, which should provide a good foundation for some good teams in the years to come."

BEN HURST turns to make the handoff shortly before taking a hit during last Saturday's Blue-White contest at Niehaus Field. Hurst ran and passed the ball effectively and his White team led the game after the first half. Chelsea opens their season next Friday, Aug. 31 at Mason.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Looks like I'm in for another fun year on the Chelsea sports scene. The love letters started to come in more than two weeks before the beginning of school. When I mentioned this to one coach he said, "and you haven't even insulted anybody yet." At least not that I'm aware of, at any rate.

One woman sent me a dictionary definition of "journalism," just in case I had forgotten or never knew. Sort of like sending Gene LaFave a definition of "football." She doesn't like the fact that I express my opinions, among other things, in this column and said I should stick to the facts. All she has to do is look up the definition of "column" in a decent dictionary and bypass all those that discuss building supports.

Now that I think about it, though, how would you define football? Or better yet, explain it to the average Martian who lands here?

Back to the letters. Another one was an unsigned personal attack that called me "an overgrown hippie" and that I should "get a life." Excellent advice, I'm sure, if I only knew what it meant. At any rate, it beats those "fat-slob-with-ponytail" letters that Detroit Free Press columnist Bob Talbert gets all the time. And overgrown hippie? My hair is slightly longer than the top of my ear, I don't wear an earring, and my eyes only get bloodshot during hay fever season. I haven't even burned a flag. However, I do admit to being a Democrat.

It looks like we can blame it all on testosterone. I read a synopsis recently of an account in a medical journal that discussed moodiness in men. One interesting phenomenon is that football players and actors have more testosterone than the average guy. In addition, winning raises testosterone levels, and losing lowers them, which supposedly helps explain losing streaks and occasional thinning of chest hair.

Chelsea's varsity cheerleaders went to camp last week at Cedar Lake, joining Pat Clarke's cross country teams for a week in the wilds.

The young ladies were wearing t-shirts proclaiming, "Cheerleaders Are Athletes Too," which sounds as though they are on a different sort of mission this year.

It was fun to watch the blue and white football teams square off last Saturday during the annual Chelsea intrasquad game. For the first half, the only part I saw, the blue team spent most of its time going backward thanks to a slew of penalties. The white team scored first on a 25-yard field goal, but ended up losing.

For the first half, Tucker Steele's interception, while flat on his back, may have been the highlight for the blue team.

It's always tough to get a good feel for how the team might play based on these games. But it looks like there is good reason for optimism.

Everyone knows Jude Quilter can run and catch and should be the SEC's premier offensive player this season.

However, running back Sean DeSarbo ran extremely well the first half, Ricky Westcott showed some moves, as did Ben Hurst when he ran the ball as the white quarterback. Blue quarterback Steele engineered some nice plays, even though probably half of them were called back due to penalties. Steele also showed fine touch on his passes, especially on one sideline play to freshman Colby Skelton, who made a fingertip-grab. Adam Taylor again showed his pass-catching ability, and Mike Terpstra dominated the line. In short, the Bulldogs should be able to move the ball.

Defense may be the question mark. But, I was extremely impressed by the way new assistant Roger Cox—who is primarily responsible for the defense—instructed and related to his players during the game. Although it may take a while for him to feel entirely comfortable with the Chelsea system, just his presence has to be a big bonus this season. It's a big loss for the Lincoln Railsplitters.

Cox's presence, along with a couple of coaching deletions, has completely changed the mood on the sidelines as well, more good news for the varsity program.

SEAN DESARBO has nothing but open field ahead of day's Blue-White game. Desarbo was one of several running backs who showed he can run effectively.

ROGER COX, former head football coach at Ypsilanti Lincoln, was recently hired as an assistant coach at Chelsea High school. He's working primarily with the defense but his over-all knowledge of the game will be helpful for head coach Gene LaFave. He's teaching sixth grade at Beach Middle school this fall.

PAT TAYLOR, a 1990 Chelsea High school graduate who came within an eyelash of a state wrestling championship, recently wrestled in Australia in a program sponsored by the Michigan Wrestling Federation. Taylor wrestled eight matches, recorded six pins, one technical fall, and one loss in the 89 kilogram weight class. "They've only been wrestling about 10 years there, so they're not that strong," Taylor said. Taylor spent six days in each Melbourne and Sidney, and four days in New Zealand, which was all made possible by local sponsorship by individuals and businesses. Taylor plans to wrestle this year at Siena Heights College.

Thieves Take Checkbook, Tickets From Parked Car

A Fletcher Rd. resident reported the theft of a checkbook containing four concert tickets from his car parked at Chelsea Community Hospital on July 25.

The resident said he saw the men run from his car and get into another vehicle. He obtained the license number of the getaway car and called police.

The two Stockbridge men were interviewed but as of press time no arrests had been made.

JUDE QUILTER takes the ball during the annual Blue-White Intrasquad game last Saturday evening. Quilter, and the Blue team had problems moving the ball early in the game but picked up the pace in the second half. Chelsea won the contest.

CHELSEA ATHLETIC BOOSTERS paid for the construction of a new track storage building at the south end of the Chelsea High school track. The new building was constructed with booster-donated labor and will give the track teams about twice the storage space they had with the old building. The old storage shed is being moved to the baseball fields.

AMY WOLFGANG, a former standout runner at Chelsea High school and Alma College, recently traveled to Germany, Switzerland, Austria, and Italy as a cross country coach for World Sports Exchange. She helped supervise 43 high school athletes who ran in meets in Switzerland and Germany with European athletes. Amy also participated in the meets. The run in Switzerland was "straight up the Alps," which gave her a little different perspective on distance running. Wolfgang still holds track records at Chelsea High school. At Alma she specialized in the hurdles and 3,000 run. She was an all-conference cross country runner her senior year.

Ten Free Colorado Blue Spruces Given With Membership

Ten free Colorado blue spruce trees will be given to each person who joins the National Arbor Day Foundation during August, 1990. The free trees are part of the non-profit Foundation's Trees for America campaign. "Colorado blue spruces were selected for this campaign because of their many uses in the home landscape," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said. "They lend beauty to their surroundings with their silver blue-green color and compact conical shape. They may be used as individual ornaments, an energy-saving windbreak, a privacy screen, or as living Christmas trees." The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting in September or October with enclosed planting instructions. The six to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge. To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to Ten Blue Spruces, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, Neb. 68410, by Aug. 31.

In 1987 women made up 45 percent of the work force, according to the U. S. Labor Department. By the year 2000, they will account for nearly half of the work force and two-thirds of the labor force growth. With a shrinking labor pool and a thriving service sector economy, women's employment needs are becoming increasingly important in recruitment productivity and other bottom-line considerations.

Michigan Farmers Spared Some Expense

Michigan Agricultural Statistics Service reports that farm production expenses for Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin last year rose only 4 percent compared to 1988. That's not as bad as the nearly 5 percent increase that was seen nationwide, according to Bob Craig, economist for Michigan Farm Bureau, who says farmers in our state benefit from lower feed costs. "We are a feed surplus state," he said. "In fact, because we have a lot of feed grain production, we feel that we can increase our animal agriculture industry here in the state." Craig also credits the P.A. 116 program for helping farmers cope with higher property taxes, which went up 10 percent for the three Great Lake States.

Requirements Eased For Farm Truckers By New CDL Act

Life is a lot simpler for farm truckers since Gov. James Blanchard signed legislation recently that exempts most farmers from the Commercial Driver's License Act. "Trucks under 26,001 pounds Gross Vehicle Weight Rating (GVWR) on the power unit are now exempt, as are trucks over 26,001 pounds GVWR that do not haul hazardous material requiring placards," according to Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau. "So if you're driving just a truck or a pickup with a trailer, you're totally exempt. That's a major step forward over current law." However, Nelson notes that if you operate a semi or any truck with power units over 26,001 pounds GVWR and haul hazardous material requiring placards, you must obtain a full Commercial Drivers License. If you are driving these large semis or trucks with trailer but not hauling hazardous material, you must take a written Commercial Drivers License test and obtain an "F" endorsement. He also encourages farmers who currently hold Class 1, 2 or 3 endorsements to renew and obtain a Commercial Drivers License. Nelson said that, according to the Secretary of State's office, the new law will be implemented Oct. 1.

Due to Circumstances Beyond our Control the Annual "Fun Run to the Fair" Scheduled for August 25, 1990 Has Been Cancelled.

Pork Barrel Awards List Available from State Rep. O'Connor

Fifty-second District residents who want to know some of the many "pet projects" their tax dollars fund can get a copy of State Representative Margaret O'Connor's 1989-90 "Pork Barrel Awards," the lawmaker announced today.

"Once again, the big spenders in Lansing have earmarked tax dollars to projects, grants and programs the state has no business funding, and I believe people should know about them," said O'Connor, R-Lodi township. "While some of the projects may be worthwhile, they should not be funded at taxpayers' expense."

Items in O'Connor's 113-page booklet include:

-$100,000 to catalogue trees in Detroit.

-$8,000 for a Hanover man to take time off work to create clay hermaphroditic entities.

-$10,000 for a Redford man to take time off work to make a steel sculpture.

-$10,000 for a Dearborn man to take time off work to do a landscape painting.

-$21 million for Olds Plaza Hotel renovation for Gov. Blanchard's staff.

-$25,000 to the State Bottomland Preserves Council to increase awareness of diving opportunities in Michigan.

-$11 million to the "Say Yes to Michigan" campaign.

"These are just a fraction of the hundreds of items that have sent the state budget out of control," O'Connor said. "Since Blanchard has been in office, Michigan's budget has increased 58 percent."

"The governor recently vetoed several appropriations in the 1990-91 state budget, saying Michigan cannot afford them and citing hard times ahead. However, he did not veto any of his own costly 'pet projects' or the many others that will have contributed to the hard times we face. The fact is we would not face hard times if we had a lot less 'pork' in the budget."

People interested in receiving a copy of O'Connor's Pork Barrel Awards may call her Lansing office at (517)-373-1792 or write her at Room 220 1/2, Capitol, Lansing 48913.

Health Care Costs

This week's continues my series on health care cost. As the weeks go by, many reasons for soaring costs will be looked at, as well as ways to decrease the price tag for the nation's health care.

One of the biggest reasons for high costs is quite simply inappropriate therapy. All doctors of chiropractic hear daily accounts of long therapy regimens which did no good. Then chiropractic therapy (adjustments) is used and the patient gets better. The first therapy (the inappropriate one) still has to be paid for.

This doesn't mean health care workers are always going to know which therapy will work best, but there is room for great improvement.

Take for example the dramatic increase in carpal tunnel syndrome. This is due to using the hands daily for long hours in jobs such as typing, computer use, factory work etc. This is termed micro-trauma and fits very well with the universal laws governing health. Remember I said in earlier columns that structural stress was one cause of subluxations (misalignments of bones that cause nerve pressures and therefore health problems).

Carpel tunnel syndrome is due to pressure on one of the main nerves into the hand. There is a surgery to decompress the nerves. However, in many patients chiropractic adjustments will fix the problem for much less cost and with less disability.

Should the hand surgeon debate this, I would be happy to take the next 100 of his cases that are headed for surgery to prove my point.

Please address all comments and questions to Dr. J. Nicholas Koffeman, D.C., 138 E. Middle St., Chelsea, MI 48118, 313-475-2088.

MARGARET O'CONNOR WAS THE SUCCESSFUL BIDDER for the 239-pound individual grand champion among swine entries at the Livestock Auction, Thursday, July 26. The animal was raised by Michelle Jedele, daughter of Gary and Sheri Jedele, Saline.

Hodgson Honored for Environmental Efforts

Thomas Hodgson of Chelsea was one of six individuals and organizations to be recognized for outstanding contributions to projects sponsored by the Department of Natural Resources Nongame Wildlife Fund. The fund, supported by taxpayers, goes toward protecting and restoring nongame species such as the peregrine falcon, bald eagle, loon, and bluebird. Hodgson, director of the Dahlem Environmental Center at Jackson Community College, was honored for the development of the annual Bluebird Festival, now called Celebrate Wildlife! at Jackson Community College. He was also recognized for other projects such as the Bring Back the Bluebird campaign and a special fall week-end highlighting the sandhill crane migration. Others honored by DNR included James Kerwin, environmental reporter for the Detroit News; Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.; The Nature Conservancy of East Lansing; Michigan Civilian Conservation Corps; and Harry Miller, president of the Michigan Loon Preservation Association in Grand Rapids. Hodgson is scheduled to be one of the guest speakers at Ladies Day festivities at the Chelsea Community Fair this Friday.

Hospital Planning 2nd TBI Camp-Out

On Sunday, Aug. 26, a group of enthusiastic campers will depart for a week of "roughing it" in northern Michigan. Their plans include the usual camping activities of cooking out, boating, fishing and singing around the campfire. All of the activities one would ordinarily expect. But this was no ordinary camping trip for any of the campers. Up to 15 of the campers are survivors of traumatic head injuries, most of which resulted from automobile accidents. These campers will be accompanied by an interdisciplinary team of health professionals from Chelsea Community Hospital. The team will be among the most comprehensive offered for such an outing and will consist of physical, occupational, speech and recreational therapists, as well as social work and nursing professionals. This will be the second annual Traumatic Head Injury Camp sponsored by Chelsea Community Hospital. Under the leadership of Donna Murphy, director of the hospital's Recreational Therapy Department, a committee of professionals including Jan Collins, recreational therapist, Warren Clark, social worker, Pam Van Buren, occupational therapist, and Shirley Miller, RN, made all the necessary arrangements for the trip. The campers' destination is the beautiful Lake Louise Methodist facility located near Boyne Falls. "The supervised activities are geared to the camper's individual skills and further the camper's own recovery process towards independence," states Murphy. "Our camp provides the unique combination of therapeutic activities with the opportunity for socialization. This is not often available in the day-to-day life of the traumatic brain injury survivor. In doing so, the recovering traumatic brain injured patient develops the skills needed to reintegrate into the community." The campers will stay at the "modern-rustic" Lake Louise facility from Aug. 28 through Aug. 31. Chelsea Community Hospital's Auxiliary has donated $5,800 in scholarship funds to help pay camping expenses. Many patients would be unable to attend the camp without these scholarship funds. Palmer Ford-Mercury will again support the project by donating the use of a vehicle to transport campers and staff. Other Chelsea area businesses have expressed an interest in supporting the project. "The support for this project is growing," said Murphy. "Many people know the devastating effects of traumatic brain injury either through personal experience or through an acquaintance. Sharing the experiences of this project and seeking support can help to further educate others to understand the needs of traumatic brain injury survivors and their families."

Chelsea Fire Department Needs A Few More Firefighters

Chelsea Fire Department is in need of about three more volunteer firefighters. The department, which now has 23 volunteers, and expects to lose one soon to retirement, wants a pool of 25, according to Tom Osborne. The average firefighter spends about 300 to 400 hours per year on calls, Osborne said. "We encourage anybody in good health to apply," Osborne said, who emphasized the department would be happy to have women volunteers, which they do not have now. Firefighters are required to have 126 hours of training for state certification. In addition, there are monthly training meetings mandated by law. Hazardous-materials training takes another 24 hours. Firefighters are paid by the hour and may be required to make an emergency run at any hour of the day on any day of the year. "Employers in town are excellent about letting firefighters leave when they are called," Osborne said. "The major companies let employees go freely." On Monday through Friday during the days the department can usually round up about 10 or 11 volunteers in an emergency. Medical runs require about four volunteers while fires require a minimum of 10 to 15. Firefighters are paid by the hour for calls plus one hour of training monthly. Starting rate is $8.72 per hour. For more information, stop by the fire department on W. Middle street between 3-3:30 p.m. weekdays or 10 to noon on week-ends.

Economic Breakfast Club Hears Milling Company President

Howard Holmes, president of Chelsea Milling Co., spoke to the third monthly gathering of the Economic Breakfast Club of Chelsea.

Holmes' mischievous sense of humor was evident in his talk, which included the history of the mill and its Chelsea operations.

Holmes pointed out the family's seven-generation involvement in the milling business, dating from 1802. Milling grains is one of the earliest methods of food processing, he reminded his audience of 80 area business owners, professionals, organization representatives, bankers, Village Council members and administrators and School District trustees.

Chelsea Milling was established in Chelsea in 1900 and incorporated in 1901 a few years following the Holmes family's move to the area. Mrs. Holmes, Howard's mother, invented the first prepared mix, which she named "Jiffy" to reflect the preparation time needed. That was in 1930. Between 1947 and today there have been 19 more products added to the line.

Soft white wheat, a strain developed at Michigan State University and delivered from nearby farms, is used exclusively in "Jiffy" products. Truck transportation allows "Jiffy" to arrive anywhere in the country in under a week, relieving the company of need to have warehousing elsewhere. The familiar blue and white containers are produced at the company-owned Marshall facility.

Trade barrier reductions may allow Chelsea Milling to seriously explore some international business expansion. They will soon host several visiting Russians who will tour the mill and talk about some future arrangements.

The next Breakfast Club meeting is Sept. 19 at the hospital. For further information call the OAKEN TIMBERS were all over the John and Marlene Dusiber property off Conway Rd. last week as Riverbend Timber Framing of Blissfield held a workshop to teach the craft of timber framing to 25 men and women from as far away as Texas and Japan. The workshop taught the basics of traditional hand-cut mortise and tenon joinery to create an old-fashioned timber frame barn to go along with their timber framed home.

OLD FASHIONED BARN RAISING was the end result of a workshop at the Dusiber residence off Conway Rd. last week. It took a co-ordinated team effort by all of the workshop participants to raise the massive oak sections of the barn frame by hand. John and Marlene Dusiber planned to have a dirt floor in the barn in keeping with the rustic nature of their timber framed, salt-box style home.

RICHARD HAMPTON of Manchester works on the joinery for the Dusiber timber frame barn off Conway Rd. last week. Hampton was one of 25 people from all over the country to participate in a timber framing workshop sponsored by Riverbend Timber Framing of Blissfield.

Two Chelsea-Area Students Attend U.S. Space Camp

Two Chelsea-area students took part in U.S. Space Camp in Huntsville, Ala. recently. They also had a chance to see scientists designing the first space station.

Hillary Smith, 2150 S. Fletcher, and Melissa Williams, 522 Howard St., sampled astronaut training by using the camp's astronaut training simulators. They bounced high in the air while sitting in the microgravity training chair, which is similar to equipment used for training for moon missions. They also spun and turned in the five degrees of freedom trainer, which trained Gemini astronauts for early spacewalks. Smith and Williams wore space suits for a simulated moon walk and
