

Christianity Marks Many Easter Rites

An invitation is extended to all residents of the area to attend the special Tre-Ore Service to be held this Good Friday from noon until three o'clock. Sponsored by the Ministerial Association, many protestant churches will cooperate with this service, to be held this year at the First United Presbyterian Church on Church Street.

Three Plymouth ministers will officiate, each at a different hour during the three-hour long service.

Rev. Clarence Long of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will hold the first hour service.

Rev. Mr. R. Newman Raycroft of the Church of the Nazarene will officiate for the second hour.

Rev. Mr. Norman J. Stanhope of the First United Presbyterian Church will have the third service.

The St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church will hold a Good Friday Service from 1:30 until 2:30 p.m. with Rev. Edgar Hoenecke presiding.

Special services will be held at Our Lady of Good Counsel on Good Friday from 12:30 until 3:00 p.m. and again at 7:30 in the evening.

A listing of all other special Easter Services held by the churches in the Plymouth area may be found on page two of this section. Many of the churches are opening their doors for extra services to accommodate the worshippers for this holy Easter season.

Crusade On Cancer Opening

"Kick-off Day" for the April Cancer Crusade will be observed April 8, when the Southeastern Michigan Cured Cancer Assembly will be held in Detroit. Mayor Harold Guenther and a cured cancer patient from Plymouth have been invited to be a part of this assembly at the City-County Building, according to information released by Mrs. Clifford Caldwell, Plymouth Crusade chairman.

Vaughn Monroe, for many years a favorite among music lovers across the nation, will be guest of honor at the meeting and will launch the month-long educational campaign with an address stressing the high curability rate of cancer.

April 16 is the date set by the Ladies Auxiliary of the V.F.W. for the film showing in this area. Mrs. Rodney Nash, chairman of the film program, announces that two films, "Breast Self Examination" and "Time and Two Women" will be shown at the Penn Theater at 1 p.m., April 16.

At 8 p.m. on the same day "Time and Two Women" will be shown at the V.F.W. Hall on Mill Street. Doctors will be present at both meetings to discuss the films and answer questions.

The goal of this month-long crusade is the education of the public concerning the Research program which is aimed at the prevention and treatment of cancer; the Education program which attempts to help people understand the nature of cancer, its detection and cure; and the Service program which helps to bring greater comfort to those being treated for the disease.

Some Stores Open Tonight

Fourteen Plymouth stores will remain open Thursday night to afford shoppers extra hours before the Easter weekend. The stores will remain open until 9 p.m.

Most all stores will be closed for a three-hour period Friday starting at noon so that employees are free to attend Good Friday services. Stores will have their regular Friday night hours, open until 9 p.m.

The 14 stores remaining open tonight are Davis & Lent, Fashion Shoes, D & C Store, Famous Stores, Linda Lee, Willoughby's, Minerva's, Pixie Shop, Papes' House of Gifts, Kresge's, Hubbs & Gilles, Stop and Shop, Kroger's and A & P.

Spring Must Be Here - - Beauty Queens Needed

Snow has melted away and rains are returning - so it is no surprise that already there is talk about July 4th and beauty queens.

The developers of the Symar Building project in the Junior High School area learned at the meeting of the Planning Commission last Thursday night they were going to have to begin all over again. They must re-work and re-submit their plans for tentative approval, and hold another hearing and request for final approval.

A point of law was brought up by Commissioner Eleanor Hammond regarding the legality of having turned down approval of this development twice at their special meeting of two weeks ago (see story March 12 issue). "It was highly irregular to even look at the plans if they had not been changed."

THIEVES SMASHED a hole through an office wall at Allen Elementary School sometime Tuesday night to gain entrance into a walk-in safe. Principal Donald Rank, shown here examining the hole around a cold air duct, reports $180 in petty cash was stolen. The thief crawled through the hole. Nothing else appeared missing. This is the third time that burglars have done this and school authorities say that it usually happens to several schools during a short period of time. (P.S. The thieves have nearly always been eventually caught too.)

Quick-Acting Resident Wins Company Citation

Action by a Michigan Bell installer in guarding a 4,800-volt power line that had fallen across a Plymouth Township road last August has gained him an award at a dinner in his honor.

Gordon E. Champion

Gordon E. Champion, 23-year-old employee of Michigan Bell for five years, was presented the Theodore N. Vail Award for his meritorious act of last August 6. Champion lives at 493 N. Harvey St.

The dinner, held at the Hillside Inn, was attended by his parents and company officials. It was at 2:30 p.m. on the August day that Champion was driving south on Northville Rd. during a

Burroughs to Keep Growing

Plymouth Shows It's Proud

Their knee-britches may not have been custom tailored and the 30-degree breezes while marching down Main St. may have been uncomfortable, but officials of the city, township and Chamber of Commerce played their roles with authenticity Saturday to pay honor to the community's largest industry—the Burroughs Corp.

And perhaps already compensating for their efforts was an announcement by Burroughs President Ray Eppert that the Plymouth Division of Burroughs will need to be enlarged and more people employed.

"Plymouth's Proud of Burroughs" was the theme of the day and those involved in the program did all they could to let Burroughs know just how proud.

Dressed in Puritan regalia, the band of officials marched down Main St. along with a representing several tribes. President Eppert, along with Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay and Mayor Harold Guenther, rode in a carriage while hundreds of spectators lined the street.

At the Hotel Mayflower, proprietor Ralph Lorenz had duplicated the first Thanksgiving menu ("with liberties").

Rounding out the program following the luncheon was Chamber President Sy Cooper was at the hotel to greet Eppert as he alighted from the carriage. In the parade was a colorguard, the Detroit Edison caliope, cars carrying Burroughs officials, the "Pilgrims" and Indians and township and city fire trucks.

The buffet luncheon offered was much more than a plate could hold. There was spiced cider, turkey, cornmeal dressing, red flannel hash, salt brined beef and salted

While Eppert spoke praises of Plymouth and its friendship, the audience was especially intrigued with some last-minute remarks added to his speech. Eppert stated that the local plant has taken on 1,200 additional employees in recent months and with Burroughs now growing at the fastest rate in its history, the Plymouth Division is due for further enlargement and many more people employed. There is not the slightest doubt about that. The only question is when.

(Other excerpts from the addresses are found elsewhere.)

The Mayflower's lobby was turned over entirely to display of Burroughs products, and many merchants also devoted their store windows to the firm.

WE DOUBT that the real Pilgrims ever traveled in a rig such as this during their lifetime in Massachusetts, but it proved effective in taking Burroughs President Ray Eppert and Plymouth's Pilgrims down Main St. Saturday

Millage Carries In Record Vote

"You can smile," Superintendent Russell Isbister told the board of education members Monday night as he was handed the results of the three-mill levy issue that had been before voters earlier in the day.

The board, in session for a special meeting, heard that the millage question had passed by 286 votes in what had been the largest vote ever in school election history.

There were 1,882 voters turning out during the day at the school district's two precincts. Of this number, there were 1076 approving the levy, 790 against it. There were 16 spoiled ballots not counted. Approval of the question means that the school's voted millage will continue at its previous 21.95 mills ($21.95 per $1,000 of valuation).

The three mills represents a sum of $257,718 annually to the school district. This money is used only for school operation, such as teacher salaries, administrative costs, maintenance and other operating costs. The levy will run five years.

Members of the board of education were frankly worried about the millage renewal. They had done much speechmaking in behalf of the levy and room parents from each school conducted a house-to-house campaign. But many voters across the nation are jumping at any chance to lessen taxes, and Monday's election was that chance here.

Renewals of expired millage are usually routine elections. But enough interest was generated in Monday's election to move 1,882 people to the polls — the largest in the school district's history.

Probably the most amazing illustration to come out of the election was the comparison of Monday's turn-out with that of March 28, 1955. That was the date that a $3,000,000 bond issue was on the ballot to finance the junior high, two elementary schools and buy sites.

Only 682 voters turned out at that election!

The largest previous turnout was on Oct. 8, 1956 when 1,357 voted on the controversial question of whether to build additions onto present elementary buildings, or to follow a previous plan of constructing new buildings. (Voters overwhelmingly decided to not build additions.)

Monday's election saw about the same ratio voting in the two precincts. Precinct 1 in the high school had 1,237 voters. Of this, 713 approved the issue, 517 disapproved. There were seven spoiled ballots.

In precinct 2 at Gallimore School, 645 voted. Of this, 363 voted "yes" and 273 voted "no." Nine ballots were spoiled.

Paper ballots were used this time because the simplicity of the question did not warrant the time needed to set up voting machines.

Although the question required only one mark on the ballot, there were occasional lines at the polls. Between 5 and 7 o'clock at the high school, the line wound out into the hallway.

Local Composer Wins Coveted Gershwin Award

One of the highest honors that a composer for symphony can achieve will be received by a young Plymouth resident who has won the Gershwin Memorial Foundation Award.

Announcement was made in New York City last Friday that Grant Beglarian, 563 Maple St., Plymouth, had won the 14th Annual Gershwin Award for the best orchestral composition by a young American composer.

The 32-year-old resident, who is also assistant conductor and a viola player with the 90-piece Plymouth Symphony, will receive a cash award of $1,000 and will have his work performed by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Beglarian will be in New York to hear his work, "Diversion for Orchestra," played by the New York Philharmonic under the leadership of Leonard Bernstein. The number will be on the Sunday, April 12 program. (It will be heard in the Detroit area one week later on Saturday night, April 18, over WJR.)

Grant Beglarian

Brith, also means that the composition will be added to the rental library of Chappell and Company with the customary royalties for the composer.

Probably the greatest reward for winning the competition, according to the young composer, is the public

Police Close Books On Tragic Deaths Of Three In Family

Plymouth police this week closed the books on perhaps the most tragic of all cases in its history — the deaths of Mrs. Geraldine V. Town and her two daughters, Cynthia Lynn and Deborah Joan.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon for the three, all victims of carbon monoxide poisoning. Police and the county medical examiner, Dr. Edward Zawadzki, concluded that all evidence points in the same direction — that Mrs. Town took the lives of her two children and then committed suicide on her 31st birthday.

The Towns had moved into an attractive tri-level home at 717 McKinley Ave. only six months ago.

Police Chief Kenneth Fisher stated this week that many details of the case will never be known. "Our job was to establish that there was no outside criminal violence involved," he added. Trying to pinpoint the tragic sequence of events in which Mrs. Town took the lives of her daughters and then her own life would serve no useful purpose, the chief indicated.

The final report, filed by Lt. William Guldner tells the story briefly. "The solution will never be known," the report states, "but with the information we have, we have arrived at the conclusion that Mrs. Town decided to do away with herself and her three children.

"The youngsters were all dressed in their night clothes and taken out to the car for some time. Mrs. Town seemed to have had a charge in heart and then took the boy (Webb, aged 8) out of the car first and put him in bed in the house. The youngest girl (Deborah, 5) was taken out of the car and she was placed in her bed where she died.

"The oldest girl (Cynthia, 7) was the last one taken out of the car, was placed in the hall ... At this time Mrs. Town realized that the oldest girl was dead ... She then went back out to the car where she was found."

The husband and father, Howard W. Town, an electronics engineer, had recently left RCA for another job

2 Horses Perish, 12 Rescued in Barn Fire

Two saddle horses perished early Saturday morning while 12 others were led to safety in a fire that swept through a Canton Township barn early Saturday morning.

The fire was on the property of Bill Campbell, 39740 Warren Rd. He calls his farm and stable of riding horses the 20-A Ranch.

Destroyed in the fire was a registered quarter horse owned by the Campbell daughter, Lauren, and a Palomino mare. The horses have been shown at 4-H Fairs, horse shows and been ridden in Plymouth parades.

Campbell had left his family in Detroit for the weekend and had just gone to bed Friday day night. Shortly after 1 a.m. a passerby pounded on the door, saying that the barn was on fire.

Three passersby and Campbell entered the burning barn and led out 12 horses but were unable to reach two. Also dead are two calves.

Canton Township firemen were unable to fight the blazing barn but stayed until a day break to successfully keep the fire from spreading to the house and other buildings.

Also destroyed were 18 saddles and bridles, a horse trailer, tractor, boat and haywagon.

Two of the horses are being treated by a veterinarian for smoke inhalation injuries.

Camp Training For Young String Players Offered

Do you know a youngster interested in playing a string instrument? Are you such a youngster? If so, the American Federation of Musicians is starting a program to encourage young musicians of string instruments.

Starting this summer, and for as many succeeding years as necessary and possible, the Federation is sponsoring a music camp for the express purpose of training qualified young string players. The Federation will provide instructors of high caliber, the site, and continuing encouragement. The camp will operate for eight weeks each summer and will be directed by the eminent composer-violinist, Dr. Roy Harris.

The camp idea came about because the Federation has found a startling lack of qualified string players for the nation's large symphony orchestras.

The details of the camp program are available from members of the American Federation of Musicians. One such member, Mr. George Haeskaylo, will be happy to give any necessary information. He can be reached in Ann Arbor by calling either NO. 3-3875 or NO. 5-5202.

Extension Groups To Hear of Herbs

The next meeting of the Hough Extension Group will be April 13 and the project will be using herbs for flavor. The meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Orville Henning, 9204 S. Main Street at 8 p.m.

March 1 was the date of the lesson of Trees and Shrubs at the home of Mrs. James Allor on Haggerty Road. Mrs. William Sempliner and Mrs. George Kennitz were the project leaders.

MRS. PAUL WIEDMAN OF North Territorial Road, to the delight of her two grandchildren, is making preparations for Easter with a coconut lamb cake, beautiful pink carnation Easter Trees with colored eggs beneath it and a basket for her nine year old granddaughter to take to school with brightly colored eggs, purple grapes and a lively bunny perched on top.

Directions for Easy To Do Table Arrangements

Wouldn't the food you serve your family and guests this Easter just naturally taste better if you served them on a green satin cloth with two stately pink carnation trees surrounded by gaily colored Easter (hard-boiled) eggs used as centerpieces and in the middle a coconut lamb looking good enough to eat, cause he is.

Good food is always a matter of interest but the extra 'fixins' that accompany a holiday or party are also important and make any dinner party a success. Our guest today, Mrs. Paul Wiedman, is an expert on both. Many Plymouthites can testify to the good food that comes from her kitchen. Her talent for flower arranging and the art of setting a beautiful table is outstanding too.

From the very first tulip and daffodil in Spring until the last hardy mum in the fall Mrs. Wiedman has lovely flowers to work with and arrange from the many flower gardens surrounding her home on North Territorial. Mr. Wiedman, too, is a garden enthusiast and keeps the surrounding acreage cut down and mowed all the year, so the view from any window of their lovely home is worth duplicating on canvas.

From the time of a severe illness years back, Mrs. Wiedman has worked artistically with her hands and has even done some oil paintings of scenes and still life.

An avid gardener (hands in the soil kind) she and several other dedicated Plymouth women organized the Women's National Farm and Garden Club. They started Branches all over Western Wayne County. She is still very active in the Plymouth Branch of this organization and is looking forward to their Flower Show in August.

Many of Mrs. Wiedman's arrangements would be difficult to duplicate without her natural God-given talent, however, a few Easter ideas she gives us today to brighten your home this Easter season (and may be adapted for other holidays too) she assures me anyone can do.

The Easter tree that resembles a palm tree takes very little time. You need for two:

1 dozen and a half carnations (more or less may be used depending on how thick you want it—color according to your scheme).

Several pieces of Flower Fern.

1 roll of green florist tape (you will have a lot left and many uses for it).

2 candles (one for each size depending upon how tall you want your tree to be).

1 brick of solid oasis (this you soak). It will hold 35 times its weight in water and will last at least five days. Mrs. Wiedman suggests you wrap the oasis in aluminum foil—it looks pretty that way and retains the water.

As much green grass and as many colored eggs as you would like to use.

You hold the candle horizontally and place the stems of the flowers, (9 for each) all around it, plus the fern and beginning at the top just keep wrapping until you reach the bottom. When you stand it up you can see the results for yourself.

If you want to get really fancy you can use the styrofoam eggs you can purchase in the five and dime (or make) and collect all those millions of sequins you have around the house. With straight pins make lovely designs on the eggs, of flowers, or bow knots—or anything—your own artistic talents suggest, (who knows what work of art may develop?) During the Yule season this same treatment done with red carnations and pine branches makes a striking centerpiece too, Mrs. Wiedman says.

The traditional lamb of Easter may be purchased at the local hardware stores and a regular white cake recipe may be used.

The basket shown in the picture is made from straw place-mats. Mrs. Wiedman purchases at the Mayflower Hotel, and ties together with satin ribbon. She says she uses these for different holidays and sometimes uses the foil wrapped oasis with roses in it or different flowers. It makes a pretty centerpiece for luncheons when you use the place-mats too.

Democrat Women Celebrate Spring

Western Golf and Country Club will be the setting for 'Spring Accent On Fashions' to be presented by the 17th Congressional District Democratic Women on April 4.

Co-Chairmen of the luncheon and fashion show are Mrs. Robert Knox, 15801 Sussex and Mrs. Lawrence Gubow, 20100 Braille. Mrs. William Brown, 19240 Gainsborough and Mrs. Joseph Wizan, 13800 Pembroke are ticket chairmen.

Mrs. Philip Hart will narrate the Fashion Show which will follow luncheon. Among the models showing Furs by Dittrich's and spring and summer wear by the Jacqueline Shop will be Mrs. John B. Swainson, 44524 Governor Bradford Road, Plymouth, Mrs. Harvey Beadle, 19467 Wakenden, Mrs. Hugh Smaile, 19708 Fielding, Mrs. Raymond Dzendzel, 18501 Shawassee, State Representative Josephine Hunsinger and Congresswoman Martha W. Griffiths. Highlighting the afternoon activities will be the awarding of the door prize, a mink scarf donated by Dittrich's. Mrs. Patrick V. McNamara will draw the lucky name.

The Decorations committee are making red and pink geraniums in white pots for the table decorations.

Undampened Spirits SOUTH VANDALIA, N.Y. (UPI) — Norman Romaine, 68, and Charles Bennett, 76, were finally persuaded to abandon their home here after spending the preceding night watching television while seven inches of flood water covered the living room floor.

Osen-Mogendorff Rites Said in Toledo, Ohio

A candlelight ceremony, the Aldersgate Methodist Church in Toledo, Ohio, was the setting of the marriage of Miss Meta Susan Mogendorff, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Nicholas Mogendorff of Toledo and Mr. James Lynn Osen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Osen of Plymouth.

The bride approached the altar, on the arm of her father, gowned in embroidered dupioni silk, floor length gown, with a french illusion fingertip veil, attached to a Bishop Crown of tiny seedpearls, carrying a cascade bouquet of white carnations with pink sweetheart roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Janet White and bridesmaids, Mrs. Howard Brown and Mrs. Delbert Ackerman were gowned alike in ballerina length, princess-waist gowns of Romance aqua taffeta. They carried cascade bouquets of pink carnations and sweetheart roses.

The altar and church were decorated with cathedral baskets of white gladioli and white carnations. Rev. James A. Thompson officiated at the wedding, with Miss Avril Finch, organist, accompanying the soloist, Miss Janet White.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue chantilly lace gown with a small blue velvet hat. Her corsage was a pink orchid. Mrs. John K. Osen, the groom's mother, was gowned in a dusty-rose lace dress, with matching flowered hat and wore a lavender orchid.

The best man was Robert Nulty and the ushers were Stewart Olford, Jr., Phillip Rotche, and Norman Ruehr.

The wedding reception was held at the Parkland Hotel, Toledo, Ohio, with 200 guests from Ohio, Michigan, Massachusetts and Indiana.

For her wedding trip, the new Mrs. Osen wore a red wool jacket-suit, with a full length white coat and a corsage of roses.

Mr. and Mrs. James Osen will make their future home in Ypsilanti.

Junior High Youngsters Show Science Know How

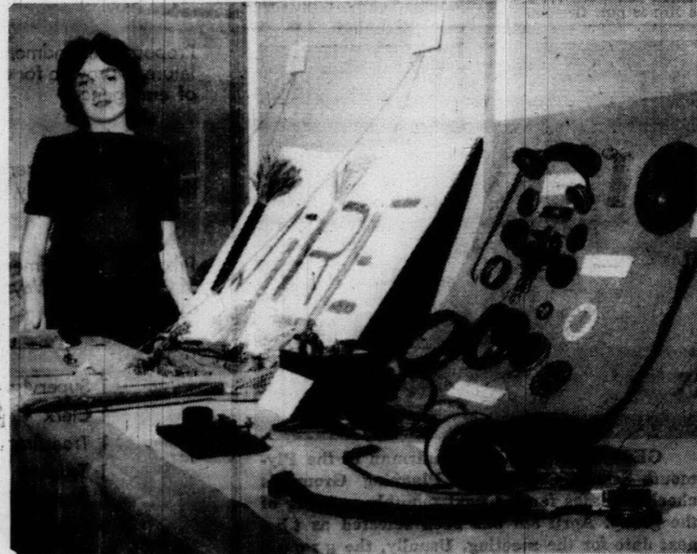

JUST HOW enthusiastically are young people turning to science is reflected in the science fairs that are being conducted nowadays. Even on the Junior High level in Plymouth, young people in the class of Carl Taylor set up two rooms of science demonstrations last week. Here, Mark Stephens shows the principle of parallel and series wiring.

ONE OF America's thousands of "ham" radio operators is young Byron Brown who brought his short wave radio apparatus to the Junior High Science Fair. There were 70 students participating in the projects.

INSTRUCTOR Carl Taylor demonstrates an oscilloscope, a mechanism on which one can see the sound wave. It belonged to the father of one of the girl students who loaned it for the fair.

HOW THE telephone operates and the many parts that go into the phone were shown in a large display assembled by several students. Evelyn Heidt is examining the display. All Junior High students were invited to see the display during its three-day duration.

Scroll Proclaims Plymouth's Appreciation for Burroughs

A hand-printed scroll was presented to Burroughs President Ray Eppert at Saturday's Burroughs Day affair. The scroll was a proclamation commending Burroughs for its being here. This is the text of the scroll:

PROCLAMATION
Hear ye, hear ye! Know ye all citizens at home and overseas, as well as within ye boundaries throughout this republic, within and hard by ye great commonwealth known as the State of Michigan, in, about and surrounding ye Township and City named Plymouth once bound by charter to the Crown of George Rex of England, Ireland and across the seven seas that:

Whereas in June, the year of our Lord 1937 ye industry Burroughs Corporation, Plymouth Division did break ground in these environs nearby and mightily raised their home and headquarters, And whereas, said citizen took to it many fellows of ye Plymouth citizenry, And whereas, said industry did prosper in its family and its coffers,

And whereas, ye Burroughs in Plymouth gave in full measure to the taxing governments whose by-laws and ordinances receive and thereby benefit,

And whereas, ye citizen granted without reservation by excess, not measurable, its talents, family concern, and various coins and monies to shore up the bonds and sinews which have helped its environs progress and prosper, as might a stalwart son gallantly extend his hand to help his blood kin in time of need,

And whereas, said Member Burroughs makes goods and renders services non-automotive in nature and hence belongs to that rare and much-sought body of industry known as "diversified"

And whereas, ye citizen Burroughs in Plymouth has committed acts and deportment of the highest moral order, And whereas, ye mayor of the Incorporated City of Plymouth, ye supervisor of the Township of Plymouth and their respective and combined citizens do conceive, love and cherish the supreme moral attitude evidenced by contributions and response to contractual agreements by ye citizen mentioned heretofore,

And whereas, we do ordain and encourage all those whom we address in the name of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce to express in each his own way individually or severally our sincere and deepest gratitude that Burroughs Corporation is among us, that we wish all who may be a part of Burroughs Plymouth long to live and prosper, and that we show forth our gratitude by honoring her President, his staff and Burroughs family in full sanction and without stint; Now, therefore, let all men know that we do hereby in this year of our Lord 1959 on the 21st day of March do jointly announce and proclaim in honor of Burroughs Corporation that this day and the week from this day forth be called Burroughs Week and set our hand and seal.

Symar Subdivision Controversy Rolls On

Whatever you (the commissioner) decided would be the end of that hearing. If this Commissioner decided against the developer then all the developer can do is pick up their marbles and go home."

Several citizens present asked to be heard.

John Truer of Maplecroft Subdivision quoted law to the commission on two points concerning the established plat. That no dead-end street may be approved if over 400 feet or over (Fairground dead-ends and is exactly 430 feet.) Also the lower level, because of height above the ground, must be considered, by law, as a first floor, and the law says a first floor must have an 8 foot ceiling. The one dwelling standing on the plat has a seven foot, six inch ceiling.

Resident Don Adams said his issue to be brought up was more moral than legal. He addressed his remarks to Chairman Sidney Strong saying if he were a judge on the bench he would be bound to step down if his son-in-law was in litigation before him. (Lawyer Cutler is the son-in-law of Chairman Strong) Also, since Commissioner Harry Larsen, a resident on Burroughs in the area, would be personally affected by the decision made, so he also should step aside. (Larsen was absent at the special meeting.)

Several residents brought up the value of the home being "below-standard." Chairman Strong was adamant, however, on the point of the value of the home stating that the commission had no power over this point as long as the homes complied with the code.

Plans of previous unsuccessful developers, Turk a n d

Ramsey, were brought before the board for study and discussion.

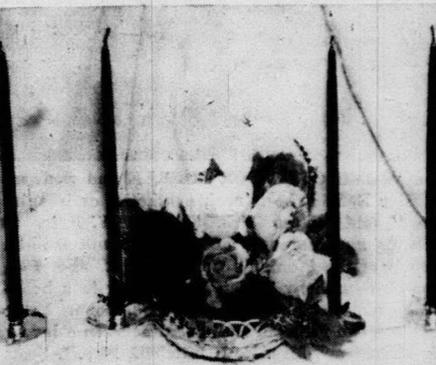

Also a letter from Melvin Blunk, administrative assistant of the school district, was read, recommending a six or eight foot access (walk) the length of a lot going from Virginia Avenue to the school lot.

A motion was made by Commissioner Robert Maurer and seconded by Commissioner Charles Engstrom. "That the Planning Commission request that the Planning Consultant (W. C. Johnson) meet with the subdivision developers and work out a satisfactory subdivision plat and a set of restrictions and that a special meeting be held April 2 to review the results. The motion carried unanimously. Notices of a public hearing will be advertised for April 16 if the plat is given tentative approval on April 2.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Giovanni Perona, an atomic scientist from Italy, was accused of turning in a false alarm, but the case was dismissed when Perona explained he merely wanted to make a telephone call. Italian street phones, it seems, look remarkably like New York City fire boxes.

NEWS BEAT

Public officials taking part in last Saturday's Burroughs festivities were somewhat apprehensive about wearing the Pilgrim costumes, but after seeing each other got a kick out of the role they were playing ... With over 30 costumes needed, two Detroit costume houses sent to New York, Boston, Chicago and other places rounding them all up ... The real Indians arrived at city hall long before the parade started. One impatient squaw finally declared: "We'd better get going soon or we're going to end the treaty."

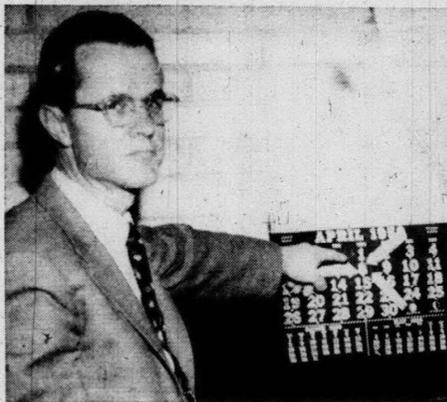

A WINNER: Happy winner of a new Ford is Kenneth Butterfield, 624 Arthur, who took a guess at the Shrine Circus of how much gasoline a certain service station would sell in a month. He came within 11 gallons. Mr. Butterfield is a tool and die worker at Burroughs.

TURNED DOWN: The board of education is holding to a previous policy of turning down carnivals for the high school property. The Plymouth Firemen's Association had a sked for the grounds. Just rides will be allowed July 4th, but no concessions of carnival variety.

FRONT PAGE: Daisy Manufacturing got an unfavorable mention in a front page story in the Detroit Times Sunday about Michigan and its "industrial climate." The article, condemning those who have run down the state, cited the Daisy move to Arkansas and Cass Hough's blast at the governor as the start of the wave of unfavorable publicity.

OPENS SOON: Opening its doors sometime around April 1 will be the Thunderbird Inn on Northville Rd. The all-new night club will be one of the most plush in the Detroit area.

IT'S THAT TIME: Grass fires are back again and all departments in the area have had them. Last year Plymouth Township had 60 grass fires, the city had 15 ... A burning roll of paper at Continental Can brought out city firemen last week ... If burning rubbish, stay with it until the fire is out, firemen plead.

GEORGE CONOVER, chairman of the Plymouth School Community Planning Group is checking dates for the next monthly meeting of the group. April 8th has been selected as the next date for the meeting. Usually, the group meets on the first Wednesday of the month; however, Conover wishes to remind everyone (all citizens are welcome to attend) that April 8th at 7:45 p.m. in the Plymouth Junior High cafeteria. Premiere of a motion picture made by Plymouth teachers about educational opportunities in the Plymouth school system will be shown.

Excerpts from Speeches During Burroughs Dinner

The three chief speakers at Saturday's "Burroughs Day" ceremony at the Mayflower Hotel were Burroughs President Ray Eppert, Mayor Harold Guenther and Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay.

The following are excerpts from their speeches:
Ray Eppert
"As a member of the Burroughs family of employees and a huge family it is I take a good deal of pride in the honor implied here for everyone at Burroughs. But it is only reflected glory for those of us who do not work in the Plymouth plant. It is the Burroughs people of Plymouth for whom this occasion was intended, and the rest of us would like to reverse our field for a moment and join Plymouth in applauding all of you for your outstanding participation in this community."

"This is as much an honor for Plymouth as it is for Burroughs. Plymouth has brought great credit upon itself by making such a gesture toward a member of its community."
"I deliberately have kept the word 'member' singular. As a corporate entity, we ARE a member of this community. We consider it an honor to belong."

"This matter of civic cooperation is worthy of the attention we are giving it today. The kind of relationship that we share here is not something of passing significance. Businessmen and civic leaders across the country have become increasingly conscious of the need of it in recent years, as the fruits of this kind of unity have become more obvious to both parties. It has not, however, always been this way."

"There is no question that the business institution has a moral responsibility toward the welfare of the community. It is the same obligation that faces the individual and for essentially the same reasons. In fact, the company may have the greater obligation of the two, because it is usually a source of livelihood for a good part of the population, and the economic as well as personal happiness of these people is inescapably tied to the good health of the company they represent. Management can no longer afford to think of its people just in terms of the working day, but must recognize its influence upon their lives, and the lives of those who share the community with them."

"I am sure that ... Plymouth and the Burroughs Corporation have the right to pat each other on the back. We can both say without shame: 'Look at the record.' Occasionally we have failed, of course, to fully understand one another's problems. We have not always been successful in solving the problems we did understand. But the facts are there for the world to see, and this remedy today is proof enough that we achieved some modicum of success."

Roy Lindsay
"The examples of Burroughs' contributions to the Plymouth community are legion. To mention a few, we can see a well-kept building in a productive enterprise; world-renowned serviceable products; we can see it in people who make their living building these products; portions of their income are spent in many ways and many places throughout the Plymouth community."
"We realize fully the positive impact of dollars and people that emanate from the Burroughs plant. This human effort is not only realized in homes and schools, but in water, land, police and fire protection, public works and private enterprise. Burroughs people are some of our leading citizens."

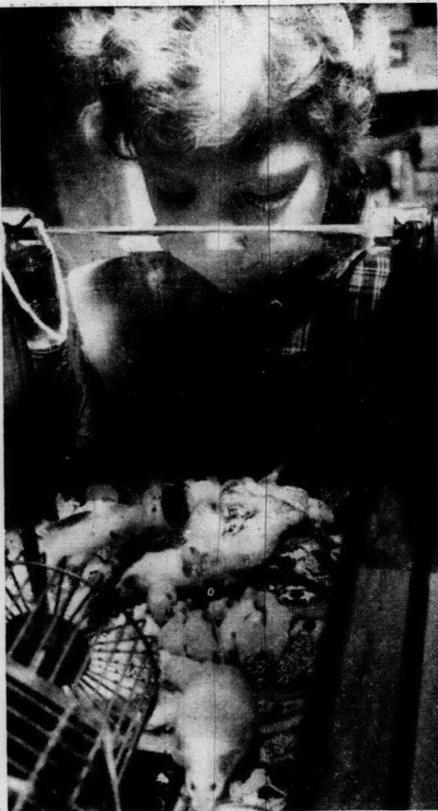

Harold Guenther
"We have in this community one of the finest school systems in our state. The Burroughs Corporation cannot be disassociated from our school system. Their contribution is clearly evident in professional plant facilities, the quality of our schools' professional personnel, the dedication and ability of our citizens who are attracted to the responsibility of guiding and determining its policies."

"We have a stable and healthy local business community that is not subject to the vicious fluctuations that plague many communities. Again, we see the influence of Burroughs, whose weekly payroll dollars find their way quietly and steadily into the tills."

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Next week we will have comment and recommendation on the partisan elections in Plymouth. Today we will speak briefly on non-partisan portions of the ballot.

For Municipal Judge, we urge the voters of Plymouth to return Nandino Perlongo to the office.

It always has been our theory that there should be no change on any Court bench unless there is discovered clear-cut evidence of inefficiency, indifference, corruption, or something similar. Other things being equal, the best judge (or lawyer, for that matter) is the one with the most experience.

Perlongo knows the job and has served Plymouth stoutly. Our city has a reputation for law and order which is the envy of other Wayne County communities. Judge Talbot Smith of the Michigan Supreme Court, visiting here last week, contended that Perlongo conducted "one of the best small Courts in the State."

There is every reason not to tamper with a well-functioning Court.

For Circuit Court, The Mail makes special mention of two men.

One is George Bowles, a Plymouth resident and neighbor of high reputation as to ability and character.

He should be able to anticipate a sweeping endorsement at the polls in his home town.

Another recommended candidate is Edward Piggins, a Detroitier seeking a place on the Circuit bench for the first time. He is a former Detroit police commissioner who resigned shortly after Mayor Miriani took office there.

When Piggins left his old post (under Mayor Cobo), he was lauded for his previous work from every corner of Detroit. He is a public servant with unusual firmness of mind, a high sense of ideals, and the respect of his associates. He knows crime and criminals and the use of the law as a deterrent to delinquency.

Piggins is too good a man for the public to pass up for any job such as the one he seeks.

LIFT THAT BAR, tote that bale and mind training rules. Baseball practice, which started Tuesday, consisted of many such exercises to get the players into shape. For the second year the Rocks are the defending league baseball champs and with the first game set for April 14, they are making every minute of practice count.

Spring Sports Underway

Spring is the time of year that more than one sport is held at the same time.

This makes the would-be athletes make up their minds as to what activity they feel most qualified to play. This can be a major decision if said student is versed in more than one of them.

This year is no different that any other one. Baseball, track, tennis and golf are all enjoying the normal turnout. The coaches now must make some happy and others sad as they make the selections to bring the squads down to the required size.

Jim Doyle will handle the tennis team with Mike Hoben watching over the baseballers, assisted by Bill Brown. Keith Baughman is the track coach and John Sandmann at the gentlemen's sport of golf. Here then is a run down of these sports:

Baseball Time

Baseball, king of the spring sports, got under way Tuesday afternoon as Mike Hoben called the first practice of the '59 season.

Would be diamond men reported for the first practice session that was held after school. As is the customary proceedings, the first meeting was devoted to the conditioning of the boys that turn out. Plymouth, the defending league champions for the past two years, will be hampered with the loss of the five starters that made the All League first team at the end of last year. The heaviest loss will be Ken Knipschild, who won seven games while losing none as a Rock pitcher in '58. Ken compiled a record of 17 wins as compared to no defeats in his three years as pitcher. Others lost were Jim Dzurus, Wayne Jordahl, Bill Hubert and Dave Walasky. These were mainstays of the squad that won 33 of the last 35 games. Randy Egloff will handle the pitching assignment this year. Randy was picked for the second All League team. For 37 innings of play he allowed seven runs, 16 hits, struck out 45 and walked 11.

Returning lettermen include co-captains Larry Wells and Pete Woodward, Al Runge, John Pope, Wayne Sparkman, and Randy Egloff. This year the league promises to be a "veteran" league as most of the other schools have the same men returning as they had in the '58 season. This will keep Hoben and men fighting all season long.

The Rocks will open the season as they travel to Thurston on April 14. They return home on the 20th to start league competition with Allen Park.

Local Boy Wins Swimming Honor

Robert Isbister, Plymouth, and Charles Lott, Lansing, have been elected honorary co-captains of the Western Michigan University swimming team, for the season just closed, it was announced by coach Edward Gabel. Bob, son of Supt. and Mrs. Russell Isbister, 50005 Ann Arbor Rd., was an outstanding swimmer while at Plymouth and went on to equal this record with the Bronco Colts. Although only a freshman he established a new school record in the 220 yd. butterfly event. According to mentor Gabel, the 220 butterfly is Bob's pet. The Western freshmen team closed the swimming season with seven straight wins.

Indian Giver RANDOLPH, Va. (UPI) — Village foreman Dick Hedding issued a public plea for the man who borrowed the village's water pressure pump two years ago to return the machinery so area water pipes could be cleaned.

RANDY EGLOFF is shown conditioning his wrists in the opening practices of the '59 baseball season. Randy will be called upon to handle the bulk of the Rock pitching assignments this year. Randy, a left hander, made the All League second team in the '58 season.

Golf Men Tops

The Rock golf squad, league title winner of last season, is making plans to capture the Suburban Six league handle again this year.

John Sandmann will have four members of last season's squad to pick from as the golfers take to the fairways of Brae Burn, before long, to play their elimination rounds. The opening meet is set for April 20th at Bentley. Last spring's veterans are: John Taylor, Steve Haykar, Del McAllister and Kurt Atchinson.

The Rocks have captured four league crowns that cover a span of about nine years. Last season they placed sixth in the State Class A tournament.

By LEE SECHLER

Mike Hoben tells me that the turnout for the Recreation softball was fair. As last summer, the idea was to include Wayne, but they were not present at the meeting. The badminton tournament held here last weekend was termed a success even if they did have a slight mixup in one of the events. It seems Tom Lock was to play a boy named Vicary. Jim Stevens, who called the matches at that time of the evening, called, "Lock and Vicary on the far court." After the match was over it was discovered that Tom had played the wrong one. There are two Vicary brothers. Oh, well, some days you can't win no matter what you do. Tom beat them both though.

In the same tournament Tom Lock took the title of 15 and Under State Jr. Champion. Linda Wall was runner up. The team of Lock and Wall captured the runner up spot in the 18 and Under mixed doubles.

April first is the date set for the United States National Open Championship to be held in Grosse Pointe. Bill Baker and Jim Stevens are two players going from here. This is the Open that draws badminton players from all over the world.

Jim Stevens tells me that he would like to thank all the parents that gave food to the concession stand at the Saturday night tournament. The money made from the sale of this food is used to help carry on the program next year.

This may be the season for spring sports but that doesn't mean that the fall activities are forgotten. Far from it. The coaches are already checking the football equipment that came in Monday.

The Harlem Magicians will be in the high school gym this Saturday night. They play the Boston Shamrocks at 8 p.m. Almost as important as the game is the pre-game warm-up which starts at 7:30. Again this year, the Jaycees are responsible for bringing the Magicians to town. Tickets can be purchased at the door or from any Jaycee member.

FOR HIS ROLE in assisting the Huron Valley Auto Racing group with its legal problems and his interest shown in the sport, Plymouth's Nandino Perlongo, (right foreground) was presented a bronze citation by its members. Andy Barto, impresario of racing in the Detroit Area and Flat Rock Speedway promoter, made the presentation last week. Others, from left, are: Clarence Fields, Flat Rock promoter; Larry Bate-man of Wayne; Dave Gardner, Taylor; Jack Goodwin, Birmingham; President Bill Douglas, Dearborn; John Hi, Inkster; Dick (Little Richard) Simmons of Plymouth, secretary-treasurer; Ken Horner, Wayne. The association, with 200 members, also presented Barto with a check for the cancer fund.

W. O. Allen is dead. Citizens of Plymouth were shocked Wednesday morning when informed of the news. He died at the Alexandria hotel in Los Angeles, Calif. where he and his wife were staying. He was the number one citizen of this community having much to do with the building up of the west side of the village. He was a director of the Plymouth United Savings Bank, the Buick Motor Car company of Flint, a stockholder in the Dillon-Scotten Tobacco company and the Dime Bank of Detroit. He was a member of Plymouth Rock Lodge and the Detroit Commandry No. 1 and the Moslem Temple.

At a special meeting of the council held last Thursday evening, Marshall Reiman brought up the matter of the heavy traction engine which was run over the brick pavement last week by some Salem parties. After considering the problem the village thought no punishment should be inflicted as it was the first offense under the new ordinance. The case will prove a warning for other owners of traction outfits. These vehicles will soon do much costly damage and must not be allowed.

E. R. Daggett has purchased the general merchandise store of D. A. Jolliffe and also his residence on the north side. Mr. Jolliffe has been in business in Plymouth for many years and his patrons will regret his action in going out of business. Mr. Daggett will carry on with the same service and hopes all Mr. Jolliffe's old friends will continue with him.

The annual settlement board was held last Tuesday afternoon. The books of the township were found to be perfectly balanced and the financial condition of the township in first class shape. At the annual meeting on election day the board will recommend that $100 be raised for the poor fund, $1,200 for the contingent fund and $1,200 for the road and bridge fund, a total of $2,500. Last year the sum raised for these funds was $2,675. One dollar for each $900 assessment will be asked for the road repair fund, which is paid only by the land owners outside of the village corporation limits. The World Outdoors

WITH the cooperation of farmers, game departments in several states will this year realize bargain-basement fish and game development projects under the provisions of the Conservation Reserve Program of the Department of Agriculture.

Under this program, farmers sign up with local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees for one of three cost-sharing projects—game food and cover plantings, wetlands improvement, and pond construction. State game departments cooperate by providing technical advice, planting stock and specialized equipment. Participating farmers receive up to 80 per cent of the expenses of undertaking the conservation practice as well as annual rentals for the retired acreage during the contract period.

Wildlife agencies in some 30 states are cooperating in the program, and significant progress is being made in Oklahoma, Ohio, Missouri, the Dakotas, and North Carolina. Farmers offered 20 million acres for the 1950 Conservation Reserve, 7 million acres more than could be accepted. Unless Congress moves to extend the deadline, the Conservation Reserve program will end December, 1960.

Local Composer

Union, in Tiflis, Georgia, of Armenian parents who were Iranian citizens. His early general and musical education were obtained in Tehran before he came to the United States to study in Boston in 1947. It was from the University of Michigan School of Music that he earned his Bachelor of Music degree in 1950 and his Master's Degree in 1951. Beglarian earned his Doctor of Musical Arts from the U of M in 1958.

It was earlier this year that a Plymouth Symphony audience heard the premiere performance of "Diversion for Orchestra." The last two movements were the prize-winning pieces. Beglarian states that he feels indebted to Plymouth "for the opportunity of having my work performed, and also for the fine orchestra that at the community supports."

Since composing for symphony is not a means of making a living (he has composed several dozen numbers without profit), Beglarian has his own business in private life. He is a music transcriber.

Music transcribing is a rare way of making a living out of music. Music publishing firms send him "raw" music which he sets down in neat order on pages that go directly into print. Much of this work is sent to Europe, but Beglarian's work has been so good that many publishers prefer it to that of European transcribers.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Scranton University basketball player Bob Tompkins had a tooth knocked out when he collided with an opponent during a game here. He elected to remain in the game and tossed the tooth across the gym floor, only to remember later he'd discarded a gold bicuspid.

But it was about 11 p.m. that his son, Webb, answered the phone. He appeared incoherent. Mr. Town immediately called Plymouth police and asked them to check the home. Police, led by Lt. Loren Johnson, checked the garage first and found Mrs. Town in the front seat. In the house they found the children. Webb said that his mother had put

Later, police learned that a florist had delivered birthday flowers to the home during the day and found no one home. A birthday telegram was also delivered and two Smith School teachers had tried phoning to find out about the absent children. The story appeared unbelievable to the young family's many friends. It shocked and saddened even those who did not know them. Friends have stepped in to help Mr. Town and relatives. They especially expressed their appreciation to three men — Lt. Johnson of the police force, Judge Nandino Perlongo and F. R. Hoheisel.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday from the Schrader Funeral Home with Rev. David T. Davies, pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church, officiating. Interments were in Riverside Cemetery.

Mrs. Town, born in Detroit on March 19, 1928, was the daughter of Edward and Della (Newburn) Lynn. She is survived by her husband, son Howard Webster Town, Jr., and her mother. She had moved here from Detroit 15 years ago.

Pallbearers were Richard Simmons, John Weeks, John Willingham, Harry Huber, Walter Densmore and Robert Town.

Cynthia was born August 19, 1951 in Ypsilanti and Deborah was born June 25, 1953 in Camden, N. J. Both attended Smith School. Besides their father and brother, they are survived by their grandmothers, Mrs. Della Lynn, Detroit and Mrs. Alice Town, Plymouth.

Pallbearers for Cynthia were Phil Hoheisel, James McGraw, Jack Town and Don Keeler. Deborah's pallbearers were Jim Davis, Robert Messerly, Lloyd Gates and Lee Weathers.

ed about treatment of employers at Burroughs.

Probably the most colorful portion of the program was the entrance of the bell-ringing Towne Crier played by C. Veech Sparks, a township trustee and Burroughs Employee. "Sparky" read the proclamation welcoming Burroughs as he unrolled the four-foot-long scroll.

He presented the scroll, along with gifts later, to Eppert. The president was made an honorary fire chief of Plymouth Township, complete with helmet; honorary city police chief; life member of the Chamber of Commerce, Plymouth Symphony and Theatre Guild (complete with passes).

Also a lifetime subscription to the Plymouth Mail; fire room and board for life at the Hotel Mayflower; Library card and pass to all school events.

Frank Henderson was master of ceremonies for the program. He introduced Miss Joyce Hinote, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ossie Hinote, 5126 Powell Rd., winner of an essay contest on "What Industry Means to a Community."

The event gave Plymouth widespread publicity over the weekend. WWJ-TV camera took shots of the parade and a portion of Eppert's speech which was seen on the late newscast Saturday. WXYZ-TV also featured Mayor Guenther and Chamber Manager Don Millikin during the week.

Detroit newspapers also gave much space to the event on Sunday. The Wall Street Journal also had a representative here. The Detroit Board of Commerce and other publications are also expected to give space to the occasion in the future.

To Women It May Concern

By Myra Cox

Everything went well for the "Salute to Burroughs" affair last Saturday—the parade—the feast—the speeches—there was just one perplexing mystery during the beautiful, dignified project—where, oh where were the pockets in the Pilgrims' pants? Goodness, didn't the Pilgrims have keys, matches, cigarettes, money (?) pens, pencils, etc. One or two 1959 Plymouth Pilgrim wives anticipated this problem and sewed inside pockets in the resplendent pilgrim suits—Bunny Maurer did, and so did Cora Shear. Our Paul Chandler used the space between his head and his very tall hat—as convenient as a pocket in a shirt—another very handsome pilgrim used his shoe which was all right except I kept thinking about, ouch, blisters.

The same type of spirit may be observed these days among the women of the Plymouth Symphony Society. There are 10 separate groups doing things in their own areas in Plymouth to swell the coffers of the Symphony Society to promote good music for the community. The next such event of good music will be the Pops Concert on April 25.

For instance one of the 10 held a Coffee the other day (with sweets too) at the home of Mrs. Thomas W. Fair (picture on page 4). This is the fourth such Coffee the ladies from Plymouth Hills have had. Each hostess invites extra friends and neighbors sympathetic to the cause.

There will be bridge parties, luncheons, and even a tasting-bee. The tasting-bee sounds like fun and gives everyone a chance to taste a great assortment of delicious dishes and purchase the recipes they would like to have.

There is one cake I've eaten in Plymouth you would think was made by angels—I'd certainly like to have that recipe, and maybe this will be my chance. Next week, incidentally, I will look into that diet.

One event that is sponsored by the Women's Association of the Plymouth Symphony Society as a whole group is the Geranium Sale. Orders are being taken now for delivery on Friday and Saturday, May 22 and 23. The price is $7.00 for one plant, $4.50 for seven plants and $9.00 for 14 plants (case) with a choice of four colors, red, white, pink, and salmon. Mrs. Don Koch, GL 3-0132 is the General Chairman of this, however, any member will be happy to take your order.

If you have enjoyed the concerts and would like to lend assistance in the true Plymouth spirit call Mrs. Catherine Hubert, Chairman of the Women's Board, GL 3-6499, for all the happy details.

New Baby Arrives in North Plymouth Area

Hi neighbors! Have you noticed all the birds swarming around our neighborhood this past week? Isn't that a real good sign of you know what? Spring is here. A smile is quite a funny thing. It wrinkles up your face. And when it's gone you never find its secret hiding place.

But far more wonderful it is to see what smiles can do: You smile at one, he smiles at you. And so one smile makes two.

He smiles at someone since you smiled. And then that one smiles back. And that one smiles until in truth you fall in keeping track.

And since a smile can do great good. By cheering hearts of care—Let's smile and smile and not forget. That smiles go everywhere.

We have a lovely new building in our neighborhood. It is the Reorganized Church of Christ of Latter Day Saints and is located on Schoolcraft Road near Bradner Road. The Sunday School attendance has been around 65. The weekly services include Sunday School which begins at 9:45 a.m. Church service beginning at 11:00 a.m. Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend any of the services where they will receive a hearty welcome.

Mrs. Gerald Fitch of Lakeside Drive tells us that the ladies of the Bethany Circle of the Church will meet Thursday, March 26 at the home of Mrs. William Micol on Ann Street in Plymouth. The meeting will consist of a luncheon and study of the Book of Mormon. The teacher will be Mrs. Kathryn Burger of Schoolcraft Road. This Thursday a Sacrifice Supper will be held at the Church, for which each family is asked to bring a dish to pass. An offering will be taken for the building fund during the evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul North of Cincinnati, Ohio will be weekend guests of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Fitch.

Mrs. Kathryn Barrett was honored at a baby shower, which was held at the home of Mrs. James Cannady of Bradner Road last week. Mrs. James Ward was in charge of entertainment and refreshments. The following members of the Church of Christ were present: Mrs. Frank Nick, Mrs. Paul McAllister, Mrs. William Albright, Mrs. Clark Finley, Miss Marilyn Finly, Mrs. M. Robinson, Mrs. Tom Brandon, Susan Robinson, Mrs. Sally Brockwell, Mrs. Alma Ware, Mrs. J. Callas, Mrs. B. Beasley, Mrs. Mabel Baskins, Mrs. R. Baskins, Mrs. J. Jones, Mrs. Barbara Callas, Mrs. Milton Truex, Miss Judy Truex, Mrs. H. Smith, Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. Deway Peck, Miss Judy Childs, Miss Dena Childs, Mrs. Martha Benton. Mrs. Barrett received many lovely and useful gifts.

We would like to welcome

our new neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Nowland. They recently moved into their beautiful new Tri-level home on Finch Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pnt of Schoolcraft Road had dinner at the Les Myers home in Dearborn last Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Jones of Lakeland Street had visitors last Sunday. They were Mr. and Mrs. L.G. Nehring and Rev. and Mrs. T.A. Bailey of the Dearborn Woods Presbyterian Church.

Miss Louna Kalitta, Junior High School teacher, had a delightful visit in Rogers City last weekend. While she was there she attended her cousin's confirmation in the St. John's Lutheran Church. Mrs. Sally Stamper, the former Sally Canning of Schoolcraft Road has just returned from Lansing. While there she wrote her State Board Examination, which will qualify her to practice as a Registered Nurse. She is a recent graduate of the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital School of Nursing in Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dely of Finch Street are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son. His name is Lawrence Edward. He arrived at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, Michigan on March 6. He weighed seven pounds and 10 ounces. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hall of Marilyn Street announce the arrival of a son, Glen Richard, born Saturday, March 21. He weighed six pounds and eight ounces.

From The TEACHER'S DESK

(Prepared by a committee of teachers representing a joint committee on teacher welfare from the Board of Education and the Plymouth Education Association.)

Stamping Shusher is Extinct

If your idea of a librarian is a frowning female stamping books and saying "Shhh!", you are older than you look. And if "school library" reminds you of dusty "classics" donated by generous attic-cleaners, cheer up. Things have changed.

Plymouth's school libraries (all eight of them) are stocked with readable books, and the books are read. Plymouth's school librarians (all four of them) are professionally trained and anxious to serve—there's not a book stamping shusher in the lot.

Our librarians are qualified both as teachers and librarians. Mrs. Alice Palmer, who serves three elementary schools, taught in the grades before getting her library degree. Miss Glenda Peck, also in charge of three elementary libraries, received her library degree and teachers' certificate last year from Western Michigan University. Mrs. Bertha Green, junior high, came here with ten years experience in U of M libraries; and high school librarian Patrick Butler taught English before earning a Master's Degree in library science.

If the modern librarian neither stamps nor shushes, what does she do?

Quite a bit. The librarian is in love with books and people, people and books. Her (or his) aim is to get the right people together with the right books: she is a matchmaker.

She must decide, first of all, which books to buy. Children's books have multiplied wonderfully in the past ten years, and the job of selection, while pleasant, is difficult.

"You must know how to judge books," says Mrs. Green, "both for content and format. And you must know children, their needs and interests and abilities."

When you realize that there are over 100,000 books for sale with at least 12,000 new ones coming out each year, and that each librarian works with over 1,000 youngsters, getting the right book to the right child is no simple task. In the high school there is an added problem as half of the books are adult. The librarian must exhibit considerable specialized knowledge of both the publishing field and human nature.

Our libraries compare favorably with those of other schools, claims Pat Butler.

"Our school board and administration have always been aware of the crucial part that reading plays in education," says Mr. Butler, "and they have given us adequate budgets to work with. In professional personnel we are still below recommended strength, but we're progressing. Five years ago we had only one librarian for the entire system."

Full use of library facilities is hampered right now because crowded schools make it necessary to use some libraries for classrooms. Nevertheless, by getting to know the youngsters, by working closely with teachers, by knowing the needs of the classes from art to zoology, Plymouth's librarians are trying to spark lifetime love affairs between good people and good books.

Some things are certain. The librarian is smiling. The dust is off the books. And the book-stamping shusher is dead.

Mrs. Gertrude Bock of Salem attended the March meeting of the A.A.U.W. This group accepts as members all women holders of approved degrees from a list of over 400 colleges and universities. Mrs. B. Bach, Miss Irene Truesdell and Mrs. N.E. Cimoch acted as co-hostesses for the meeting held at Mrs. Robert Nultz's home. They served a variety of cookies, coffee and tea before the business meeting.

Plymouth is growing. New faces and ideas are needed. Dedicated men acting in the best interests of the whole community and with an eye to the future must be in positions of leadership. Elect the man whose experience, determination and integrity qualifies him to head our court in the crucial years ahead.

"!!!!!! That was the rating Plymouth's proud - as - punch Choir came home with last Thursday, following competition at the Solo and Ensemble Festival in Ypsilanti. (Betcha the 75 Choir members made the biggest, happiest racket you ever heard on the bus ride home! (Fred Nelson is Choir director, but has been ill for two weeks (a slipped disc). Band Director James Griffiths took over in his absence. Not only fourth year French next year ... but fourth year Latin and third year Spanish, too! That's the outlook for Plymouth's language department, 1959-60 edition. Commenting on the good news, Robert Smith, Assistant Principal and Guidance Department head, observed that the Conant report on the American high school suggests four years of one language for College Prep students, rather than two languages of two years each. Wonder what '61 will bring? Maybe German ... or Russian... "Hot Diggity Dog!" "Yippee!" "Freedom!" These are the latest cries of PHS'ers, for today, Thursday, March 26 at 3:30 p.m., will signal the beginning of Easter vacation ... Spring vacation, if you wanna call it that. (Let's settle for Easter, cause that's a sure thing.) Anyway ... we don't have to go back until Election Day, April 6. That means ten school-free days. Tuesday's "Pilgrim Prints" was PINK! ... for Easter, of course. A big poster paper sign with bright painted letters pointed the way last week to the Science Fair, a fabulous project sponsored by the Science Club. Exhibits were shown last Thursday and Friday in the third floor laboratories in the high school. Everything from a study of bugs to a cloud chamber to a nuclear reactor was shown. After seeing the throngs of PHS'ers who came to admire the scientific efforts of their contemporaries, the Science Club ought to make this an annual project. Yesterday, six students met in the library to compete in the local forensics contest. Those who come out on top in local oratory will compete in the league meet, April 8 at Allen Park. Making themselves heard were freshmen Dave Raaf-laub and Steve Bullington and senior Glyn Norton, all entered in the interpretive reading contest. Sophomore Dawn Finley gave a humorous reading, junior Earl Wright an original oration and soph Martha West a declamation. Local judges were Miss Louise Spence, Miss Irene Waldorf and Mr. Robert Southgate. Miss Betty Stevens is forensics coach. A hula dancer and a kick line of girls garbed in short black skirts, white sweaters, black vests and cowboy hats were only two of the several acts which showed up for try-outs for the Council - sponsored exchange assembly with Bentley. But Dick Hubert, chairman of the project, and judges Miss Betty Stevens, Brenda Richardson and Peggy Davidson wanted a bigger selection, so PHS'ers were given another chance last Thursday night to show an interest in the project. The "DO-DEAL" Student Council has another project up its sleeve: They're gonna buy a big bulletin board to be installed above the center stair landing between the second and third floors. "Hale Huber, Student Council expert and consultant on miscellaneous matters of hall beautification, is in charge of the project. (That's Mayor West talking.) The Mayor invites anyone to make practical suggestions that will help the Council spend some of its $700 ... she refers you to a member of "Hale's Heavenly Halls" (projects) committee." Junior Bob Wall (whose light hair suddenly became very dark last week ... the change was made for "Ar-senic and Old Lace") expressed surprise upon hearing the news that he was top scorer on a "Time" magazine sponsored Current Events Test, taken by all of Miss Gertrude Fiegel's American History and Government students. Bob answered 97 questions correctly out of 105. He was surprised not only by his own showing, but with the fact that he outdid seniors in all the government classes. (Hooray for the class of '60!) For his knowledge of current events, which he attributes to the fact that he reads "Time" all the time, Bob, a real ham, (just had to get that in!) was awarded an enormous volume, Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas. Originally scheduled for March 24 (that was Tuesday), the Parade of Bands

Committee Hopes for Big Crowd

An all-out effort to get the voting public out to Plymouth's Town Hall meeting next Thursday night is being made by the Area Cooperation Group. Notices will be sent home to parents through grade school youngsters next week as one means of letting people know about the meeting at which candidates for local offices will appear. Canton and Plymouth Township and city of Plymouth candidates have been invited to the Town Hall. The board of education feels that the meeting is important enough to allow children to carry home the message. The Town Hall meeting will be held in the Junior High gymnasium starting at 8 p.m. After a brief statement from each candidate, the audience will be invited to submit written questions to any of the candidates. The meeting, of course, is to acquaint all citizens with the candidates. It is a common complaint from voters that they fail to go to the polls because they don't know anything about the candidates. With the opportunity being given to hear and question candidates, the complaint should no longer be valid. Next Thursday's Town Hall will fall four days before the April 6 election.

was postponed until April 16. The program will feature fifth- and sixth grade bands from the elementary schools, the Junior Symphony, and Junior High Band, the Cadet Band and high school bandsmen. Last week 19 juniors were instructed to write a theme. The topic: "What I Want to Get Out of College." They had an hour to do it. The purpose of the writing? To nominate two students to participate in competition for a national English award presented by the National Council of Teachers of English. The theme-writers will also take a linguistic test. Competing for the honor were Jim Thompson, Sharon Roberts, Jackie Potter, Jay Selle, Mary Rich, Andy Kruk-litis, Sally Sawyer, Kristie Wall, Sandra Bailey, Judy Herrick, Tim Graves, Jason White, Barbara Steenken, Rita Kimbrough and Jeff Huntington. Others were Sue Horvath, Diane Van Loo, Brenda Richardson and Peggy Davidson. Dimpled, blue-blazered Peggy Ann Davidson, a junior, pulled a good one this week. Obviously tired after a long hard day at school plus some running around after school to take care of some extra-curricular responsibilities, Peg donned her coat to go home. She busily buttoned it up ... then realized something felt lopsided. It isn't everyone who can say she once put the bright gold buttons to her blazer in button holes which are reserved for coat buttons!

Plymouth Lets Burroughs Know They are Welcome

YE OLE TOWNE Crier in the form of C. V. Sparks read a proclamation at the luncheon honoring Burroughs. President Eppert was especially amused at the passage declaring that Burroughs "makes goods and renders services non-automotive in nature

DECORATING LAMP POSTS along Main St. were signs proclaiming that Plymouth's Proud of Burroughs. A banner also was placed across Main St. at Mill.

real ones imported for the occasion. From the city hall, a parade moved down Main St. to the Hotel Mayflower.

George Witkowski, Commissioner Marvin Terry, Township Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes, Clerk Rosalind Broome, Trustees C. V. Sparks and Louis Norman.

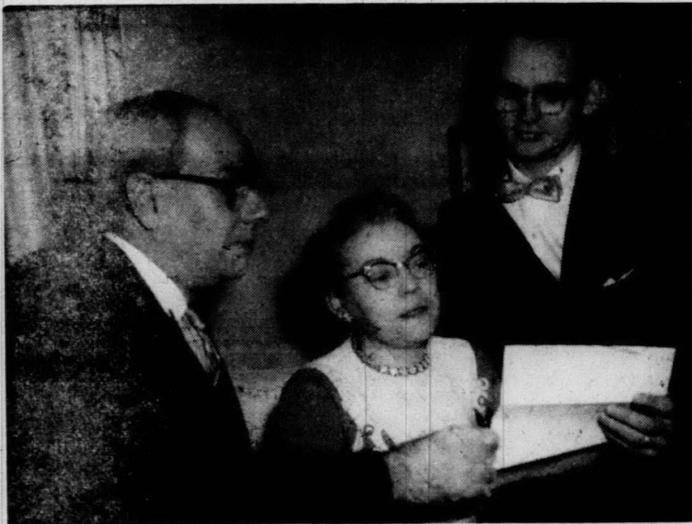

IT'S FIRE CHIEF Ray Eppert now. Plymouth Township made him an honorary member of their department and he seems to thoroughly enjoy the honor. Chamber Manager Don Millikin is shown with the Burroughs president. Eppert was also made an honorary city police chief.

THE SCENE inside the hotel following the luncheon shows toastmaster Frank Henderson introducing guests. Top Burroughs officials from Detroit and the Plymouth plant were there, along with representatives from other industries, in addition to city, township and Chamber officials.

MR. AND MRS. HERBERT H. Bond and their son Harold reading their invitation to attend the Salute to Burroughs Luncheon last Saturday afternoon at the Mayflower Hotel. Mr. Bond and his son are both employed at Burroughs and they were paid the honor of being selected as the representative family to attend this function. Mr. Bond resides with his wife at 1143 Maple Ave. nue in Plymouth and has one other daughter who will also attend the affair. He has been employed at Burroughs since May 17, 1934 and was one of the first employees to be transferred to the Plymouth plant. Mr. and Mrs. Bond were both born in Wales, England and received their citizenship papers four days after joining the Burroughs Company.

CONGRATULATIONS were extended to Joyce Hinote of Plymouth High who won an essay contest on "What an Industry Means to a Community." She read her essay at the luncheon.

rector of quality assurance; E. J. Readman, manager of product evaluation and distribution; Du-Ray Stromback, Plymouth Division General Manager; G. Baird, manager of engineering; R. Jendron, manager of industrial relations; J. Brown, manager of manufacturing; and J. E. Eckhold, assistant to the general

FOR THE BENEFIT of television movie cameras, President Eppert delivered a half minute of his speech. WWJ-TV news on Saturday night carried scenes from the parade and the portion of the speech.

Plymouth grows with Burroughs, manufacturer of business machines, outstanding citizen and employer in a busy, progressive community

CITY MANAGERS CORNER

The first five months of each year are busy ones at the City Hall. It is budget time. Preparing the budget involves the City Manager, department heads, the City Commission and the people of Plymouth.

The work of budget preparation continues throughout the year, but these first few months involve intensive planning work. Hundreds of years ago, a budget was a bag where money was kept for paying bills and other obligations, but today it is a plan which spells out in detail from which sources money is expected, how much is expected to be received, the purposes for which the money is expected to be spent.

The budget for a business or a household is a guide or a plan which, it is hoped, can be followed, but in a city, the budget is a plan which, once it is adopted, must be followed, for it dictates exactly how municipal revenues can be used throughout the year.

It may seem strange that a financial plan for the City is developed during the early months of the year, but the reason for this is that Plymouth's budget year and fiscal year begin on the 1st of July and ends on the following 30th of June.

Throughout the year, the City Manager and department heads keep records and collect data about their operations. This information is used as a basis for estimates. It is also used as a check on daily operations to be sure revenues and expenditures are in line with the estimates incorporated in the budget. The department heads must give the City Manager an itemized list of their estimated expenditures for the coming fiscal year, not later than the 15th of February.

The City Manager then takes these departmental estimates, and with the other information he has collected, he prepares an itemized budget proposal for the coming fiscal year. The Manager's proposed budget must be submitted to the City Commission at the first regular commission meeting in April. It must include a complete financial plan for the coming fiscal year. It is made up of a budget message which explains briefly what is included in the budget document, summary listings of the detailed information, itemized estimates of expenditures and revenues showing comparisons with the current year and the previous year, and an explanation of any increase or decrease, schedules of bonded and other indebtedness, and a five-year capital improvement program.

The City Commission must adopt a budget no later than the first regular meeting in May, but before the Commission takes final action on the budget, a public hearing is held. The Commission sets the time and the place for the public hearing, and it must give at least one week advance notice of the hearing. A copy of the proposed budget is kept on file here at City Hall for at least a week before the hearing, so that any interested person may look at it.

Finally, the City Commission adopts the budget by a resolution which makes a formal appropriation for operations for the city's coming fiscal year. The adopting resolution also sets the tax levy equal to the amount that is expected from property taxes. When this is completed, the city is ready to begin the new fiscal year.

Jackson Youth Legion Winner—David Croysdale, 17-year-old Jackson High School Senior, has won first prize in a Michigan Oratorical contest sponsored by the American Legion. Croysdale won a $300 scholarship and the right to represent Michigan in a national contest. Second prize of a $200 scholarship went to Pat Dumas, of Midland. Robert Constable, of Detroit, took a $100 scholarship for the third place. A new national champion high school orator will be named at the finals of The American Legion National Oratorical Contest to be held in Lodi, California, on April 20th. The final survivor from a starting field of upward of 300,000 will receive a $4,000 college scholarship. The contest is conducted on an elimination basis, starting at the community level, through county, district, state, regional and sectional centers. Winners from four sectional contests will participate in the finals at Lodi.

Making the red crepe paper poppies to be worn in honor of the Nation's war dead on Poppy Day in May is now in full swing in veterans' hospitals and workrooms throughout the nation. Mrs. Dorothy Koi, Passage-Gayde Unit poppy chairman, has announced. Thousands of disabled veterans unable to do other work, are being given employment making the little memorial flowers, she said. More than 20 million of the poppies, made in replica of the wild European poppies which grew on the battle fields and war cemeteries in France and Belgium during the two world wars, will be made for the Auxiliary and Post this year. The flowers will be distributed on Poppy Day by volunteer workers from both Post and Auxiliary.

Plans for the American Legion Auxiliary's 1959 Girl's State, which will give experience in operating democratic government to more than 15,000 selected high school girls, are going forward throughout the country. Mrs. Melva Gardner, Girls State Chairman of Passage-Gayde Auxiliary, has announced. The Auxiliary, Women's Club, Business and Professional Women's Club and the Elks Club will sponsor girls from Plymouth High School at the Michigan Girls State, to be held at Ann Arbor in June. Girls States again will be conducted by the Auxiliary in 48 states, District of Columbia and the Panama Canal Zone. Mrs. Gardner explained. In most of the states, sessions will be held on the campuses of colleges and universities, and will last one week. Attendance is expected to exceed that of last year when 15,273 girls, who had just finished their junior year in high school, attended the 50 Girls States. The girls are chosen on a basis of character and leadership ability as shown in school activities. In the Girls State they organize and operate state governments in miniature. Two representatives from each Girl's State attend a Girl's Nation, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary in Washington, D.C. later in the summer.

Who's New in Plymouth

A "WELCOME BACK" is extended to our resident of the week, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell E. Smith. After graduating from Michigan State University in 1955, Wendell and Margaret settled in an apartment in Plymouth, and although a stint in the Air Corps faced Wendell, they vowed they would one day return to Plymouth to make their home. Last February, released from Air Corps duty, the Smiths moved from the Air base in Massachusetts to Plymouth and purchased their charming home at 14302 Shadywood. They brought two more new Plymouthites with them, 2½ year old Michael and six months old Shannon who seem happily acclimated too, and of course, Fang-the-friendly-family-pet. Wendell, at the present time is in the management training program with the Kroger Company. He retains his pilots license, and like all pilots, a special light goes on when he talks of flying. The young couple are looking forward to picking up the threads of their old friendships and community life where they left off several years ago.

Shuffled Off
BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — A mother and her six children got an expensive - paid winter trip to Florida, but weren't at all happy about it. Erie County Welfare Commissioner Paul F. Burke said the woman objected to being sent home to Florida because she could draw only $81 a month in welfare payments there as opposed to $241 a month here.

Ex-Resident Named Woman Of the Year in California

A former Plymouth woman, Mrs. William A. Otwell, has been selected "Woman of the Year" for 1958 in Burbank, California, relatives learned here this week. She emerged the winner in the Burbank Women's Council-sponsored competition determining who in the past year had contributed the most in the areas of civic, cultural, religious and social achievement. Mrs. (Alvina) Otwell will receive her award at the annual award dinner on April 13. The Otwells left Plymouth in 1946. She is the aunt of William Otwell, local heating contractor. During 1958 Mrs. Otwell opened her home to a German exchange student and a Hungarian refugee and subsequently helped place him in classes at Stanford University. She was coordinator of the March of Dimes Women's Division, director of the Community Concerts Association and chairman of the state PEO Sisterhood in charge of an educational project. She was also an officer, a program chairman and deaconess of Little White Chapel and was Christian social relations chairman of the Burbank Council of United Church Women. Mrs. Otwell in previous years established a memorial scholarship at Luther Burbank Junior High School in memory of her son who died of infantile paralysis. She also has been active in garden club work, Cub Scouting and the American Cancer Society.

Our Township fire department was called to put out a grass fire on Thursday, March 19, at 39603 Michigan Ave., owned by Mr. R. U. B. The first man named was John Huston, the seventh child of William and Mary (Winder) Huston, was born in County, New York, on June 30, 1809. His early life was spent working on a farm and the only education he received was the meager one afforded by the crude district of those days. He sailed a short time on the lakes, had a great fondness for the water; was an expert swimmer, and saved many persons from drowning, notable his friend, Hugh Clide, who, as they were crossing the Detroit river in 1827, narrowly escaped death by the capsizing of the canoe. Mr. Clide would have drowned but for the skillful swimming of his friend. On January 4, 1827, Mr. Huston came to Michigan, but only remained two years, and then returned to New York State, where, on September 26, 1830, he was married to Laura Bentley. In the spring of 1833, he returned with his family to the wilds of Michigan, traveling by way of the Erie Canal to Buffalo, and then by boat to Detroit. Shortly after their arrival in Detroit they removed to Canton, Wayne County, being obliged to make part of the journey on foot on account of the almost impassable condition of the roads. The place where they located was a wilderness and they underwent the hardships and labors that mark the pioneer's life. They were far removed from any town or store, and were often dependent upon Huston's gun for a living. Mr. Huston united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was a Democrat until the nomination of John C. Fremont for the Presidency, and then he became a Republican. His family consists of eight children, namely Mary, born 1832, Robert born, 1833,

Although I haven't been doing much news gathering this week, we do have a little to offer and perhaps some clarification on some already printed. The township's first and I believe only hotel, "The Cherry Hill House", we talked about last week has had a little more light shed on it. I called Mr. "Jake" West, the present owner of the building and asked if he knew anything about the hotel. The Wests stated they had been given a social affair notice, dated October 1888, reading — Music, Harmon's full Orchestra. Bill 50 cents, supper 50 cents. Baggage will be properly checked. Mr. West said he was told the patron's horses were kept in the basement of the building and held about 100 head. Mr. West was told it was an Inn and was supposedly on the main road (Cherry Hill) to Detroit and was used greatly for an over-night stop. The next owner of the property was Jim Gunn, who purchased the property for the state for back taxes to the amount of $500. Mr. Gunn and his family lived in the lower level of the building and rented the upstairs as a hall for dancing. Mr. West recalls a gentleman by the name of Chris Abelson telling him in 1938 (when the building), Mr. Abelson being 75 years old at the time, that he, Mr. Abelson had put a new floor in the dance hall of the hall for dances for two years in payment for the floor he installed. Mr. West stated the same floor is still in existence. In 1919 William Henry West purchased the property and started the present day general store. Dances were held in the building up to seven years ago, but the upper floor has now been made into apartments, with a grocery store on the main floor. I asked Mr. West if his first name was "Jake", and he said it was not, but no one would know him by any other name. Mr. West was born in Canton Township along with several brothers and sisters. The West name is familiar in both the township and City of Plymouth. I received a very pleasant piece of news this past week Ernest Plant of Ford Rd. has returned to his home from St. Joseph Hospital and well on his way to recovery.

Mrs. Norris White of Sheldon Rd. held a Stanley Demonstration at her home last week, with nine ladies in attendance. A very interesting demonstration of the Stanley products was presented by the demonstrator, Mrs. Lorna Knudson. We wish to express our sympathies to the family of George Taylor, Mr. Taylor passed away quite suddenly, March 15, 1959. The Taylor family resides on Ridge Road in the Township. Outdoor Livingroom for Promised Pleasant Weather

BEFORE: The builders left a 12 by 12-foot terrace of bricks laid on sand. The area was too small and unprotected for satisfactory outdoor living.

AFTER: The new owners started all over. It took 5 weekends to build an enclosed area 12 by 16 feet with flagstone flooring, corrugated fiberglass roof and screen walls.

An outdoor living room is the place where pleasant weather can be enjoyed to the full. It can be a place to lunch out of the blinding sun, to read after dark or to play games at any hour without any of the discomforts that sometimes accompany outdoor life.

To accomplish all this, the outdoor living room has to be large enough, provide some protection from full sun or prevailing winds and keep out the flying insects of which one kind or another is annoying anywhere you live. This may call for modernizing an old-fashioned porch or terrace, or completing the one which the builder no more than started on a new house.

Not everyone will have to enlarge the outdoor living room put in new flooring, erect screened walls and roof the area as did one of my neighbors. But it's worth tracing his steps, for the resulting room has been eminently comfortable in summer and has survived the winter without heaving or cracks.

The terrace that the builder put in consisted of bricks laid over 12 by 12 feet adjacent to the glass wall of one room. It was too small to be worth any sort of roofing. So the bricks were taken up and stacked at one side and a 12 by 16 foot area was staked off for the living room plus a more extensive open area to be floored on two sides.

The sand bed on which the bricks had been laid was deepened to allow for an 8-inch base of rock dust and sand. Over this a flooring of large pieces of 1 1/2-inch thick flagstones was laid. The cracks between the flagstones were filled with a packaged pavement which is ready mixed and needs only to be tamped in place. The flagstones haven't heaved or moved a fraction of an inch in spite of weeks of near 10 degree temperature in winter.

For the roof corrugated fiberglass was selected. The size purchased for this room was the 8 foot long by 28 inch wide sheet, and 12 were needed to cover the 12 by 16 foot room. The corrugated fiberglass must be placed so that sheets overlap to prevent rain dripping in. The material can be cut, if necessary, with a saw or tin snips.

Before placing the fiberglass roofing, a rubber pad was placed to go underneath it on the wooden pieces of the structure. Plastic glue is used for the joints and, wherever they are needed, special aluminum nails with

BAKE A RING AROUND YOUR EASTER EGGS

IN ITALY there's no need to hunt the Easter eggs, for traditionally they're right in the yeast-raised Easter cake. It's fun to have at least as many eggs as guests and sprinkle the whole cake with gay multi-colored sprinkles.

ITALIAN EGG RING

|--------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|
| 1/2 cup milk | 2 1/2 to 3 cups sifted enriched flour (approximately) |
| 1/4 cup sugar | 1/2 cup raisins or mixed chopped candied fruit |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 1/4 cup Brazil nuts, slivered |
| 2 tablespoons shortening | 1/2 teaspoon anise seed (optional) |
| 1/4 cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast) | Melted margarine or butter |
| 1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed | 6 eggs |
| 1 egg, beaten | Colored sprinkles |

Scald milk and stir in sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Measure water into a large bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved. Add the lukewarm milk mixture. Add the egg. Add about half the flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour or enough to make a soft dough. Turn dough out on lightly floured board. Knead dough quickly and lightly until it is smooth and elastic, and does not stick to the board. Put dough into a greased bowl. Grease top of dough. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down dough, pull sides into center. Turn out on lightly floured board. Knead fruits and nuts thoroughly into the dough. Divide dough in half. Using both hands roll each portion of the dough into a rope about 1/2-inch in diameter. Twist ropes loosely and form into a circular ring on a greased baking sheet. Place 6 eggs into spaces in the twist. Brush dough with melted margarine or butter. Scatter top with colored sprinkles. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake at 350 degrees F. (moderately hot oven) about 40 minutes. Cool on rack.

Now is the time to bring your lawn back to life with that first application of lawn food. A good lawn spreader is necessary to get economical, even application of materials. If you don't have one check the special offers Scotts are now making on spreaders. One deal offers the combination of the popular 18" spreader with two bags of Turf Builder — regular $25.80 value — for $18.80, a $7.00 savings. Other specials include a $13.00 savings on 24" units and a $3.00 savings on 16" units when combined with Turf Builder. A combined savings is offered also with Halts, the new crab grass control. These spreaders are accurate for seeding too.

If you are planning on a tune-up or repairs on your power mowers, bring them in (or call us for free pick up and delivery) before the Spring rush.

It seems like all the trash in the neighborhood accumulated in our yard over the Winter so we spent some time last weekend on clean up. The improved appearance was well worth the effort.

If your house plants are sagging in appearance try a feeding of Hyponex Soluble Plant Food and spray them with Ortho Indoor Plant Bomb. For the ultimate in appearance finish with Ortho Leaf Polish Bomb. Their glossy sheen will please you.

The new peat pots are tops for starting and growing good sized plants from seeds for setting outdoors later on. The roots grow right through the pot so you can set out pot and all. Try them for annual or perennial flowers you want especially early.

Save Your Easter Plant
Easter lilies as well as other spring-flowering bulbs that you receive as gift plants for Easter may be saved and planted in the garden. Water the plants regularly even after the flowers fade and are cut off. If the Easter lily is removed from its pot and planted outdoors by the end of April, it is likely to flower again before summer ends. Work some fertilizer into the soil when it's transplanted and don't let it lack water at any time. Tulips, hyacinths and lily of the valley are best saved and their bulbs planted in the garden in fall to flower again next spring. Rosebushes forced into flower for Easter gift plants, hydrangeas and most of the azaleas are hardy garden varieties and these also can be planted outdoors when warm weather has come to stay.

Mink Now Costs Same As Sheepskin
Mink, as any husband knows, can cost quite a bit of money; but so can sheepskin when it comes in the form of a college diploma. Moreover, the cost of higher education is getting higher. Today, it can take as much as eight thousand dollars to send your child through four years of college. That's quite a tidy sum but a very good investment. Consider that the latest figures show college graduates on the average earn about $100,000 more during their working life than do high school graduates.

To help parents set up such a fund, some banks today offer College Club saving plans. Membership in the clubs can be set up as a joint account between parent and child; or as an account in the child's name with the parent acting as trustee.

If your youngster is already a teenager, it may be too late to save enough money before his freshman year. One solution is a talk with your banker about a loan.

There is a continuing argument among high fidelity equipment owners and manufacturers over the subject of power.

The amount of power an amplifier turns out, expressed in watts, has a good deal to do with the cost of the equipment.

While amplifiers perform pretty well in relation to price brackets, the buyer must recognize the fact that no $75 unit can do what a $200 amplifier can do, even though the cheaper amplifier will be a truly high fidelity component and it may take an expert to tell the difference.

Some speakers don't require as much power to operate as others, however, so it is a good idea, when buying an amplifier, to be certain that it will operate a given speaker system. The dealer who sells a listener an amplifier can tell him whether he has or a speaker he intends to buy later.

Some surges of music lasting only a fraction of a second require tremendous amplifying capacity or they are distorted. Nearly all amplifiers allow for momentary surges.

Beyond this, some engineers claim that super-powered amplifiers—60 to 100 watts—make music sound better, even if only a fraction of their capacity is ever used. Others contend this is so much fiddle-faddle. The advent of stereo has brought forth a flood of twin-channel amplifiers: two amplifiers on a single frame.

Twin-channel amplifiers may be the ideal solution to today's amplifier problem, since nearly all of them can be converted into a monophonic, or one-channel, amplifier by throwing a switch.

The most expensive and highest-rated amplifiers are still manufactured as monophonic units and have to be bought for stereo. But this situation may change shortly.

Pre-amplifiers and controls are mounted on the frames of most amplifiers. The pros and cons of separate amplifiers and pre-amplifiers will be discussed in another column.

The high fidelity buff should bear in mind that the amplifier and pre-amplifier serve to build up the minute sound impulses to the point where they will not only operate a loudspeaker or speaker system, but make it produce more sound than a roaring train.

In general, an amplifier is a device of tubes, transformers, resistors and capacitors and whatever wire it takes to connect them. It takes electricity and the minute impulse from pickup, tape head or tuner, which is electricity itself, and amplifies them in stages into one flow of electricity, which operates a speaker.

Spring Bridal Gowns Display
Aura of Romance

No dress a young woman chooses is as important to her as her wedding dress ... and never before in history has it been so easy to find just the right dress as it is today.

Most of the new wedding dresses are full-skirted and worn over a stiffened petticoat or hoop. But exquisite slim silhouettes are ready for the more sophisticated bride-to-be.

Waistlines are a little higher or a little lower than normal, or the waistline may be molded in a basque effect.

Variation of the gowns depends mostly on the shape of the neckline or the outline created by the ruffles and lace on the dress.

Thanks to the miracle of nylon, brides may now choose a wedding dress as elegant as a tulle that never loses its pristine beauty — can be ruffled without hemming — and takes to color or like a blotter absorbs ink. It can be freshened with effortless ease.

The typical bridesmaid's dress is in lace on torso lines with a deep low flounce. It is designed of go right into her late-day wardrobe.

A bride should select her dress at least two months in advance to allow for fitting and delivery from the store. If special colors are needed for the bride or her party, added time is required.

Standby recipe for good cooks is white sauce according to the Detroit Consumer Marketing Information agent. It's always just on the tip of their wooden spoon. White sauce is a basic recipe for many dishes, both plain and fancy. You use it for cream soups, for creamed vegetables, creamed eggs for scalloped dishes, for casseroles, for souffles. Of course, there's a thin white sauce, a medium white sauce and a thick white sauce. Thickness varies as you vary the proportions of flour and butter and milk. White sauce offers a way to get more milk into family meals. White sauce is thrifty because it helps make foods go further. It's also a way to combine several leftover foods — maybe tuna fish and green peas. White sauce is a standby with many good cooks. It can be one of your standby recipes, too.

State Microwave System Now Two-Thirds Done

Michigan Bell Telephone Company has completed two-thirds of its microwave radio relay system which will provide a 1,300-mile communications network without wire or cable.

Key to the modern transmission system is the microwave tower and associated facilities.

Antennas mounted on towers are used to send and receive telephone conversations, TV programs, teletype and telegraph information, and certain types of military communications.

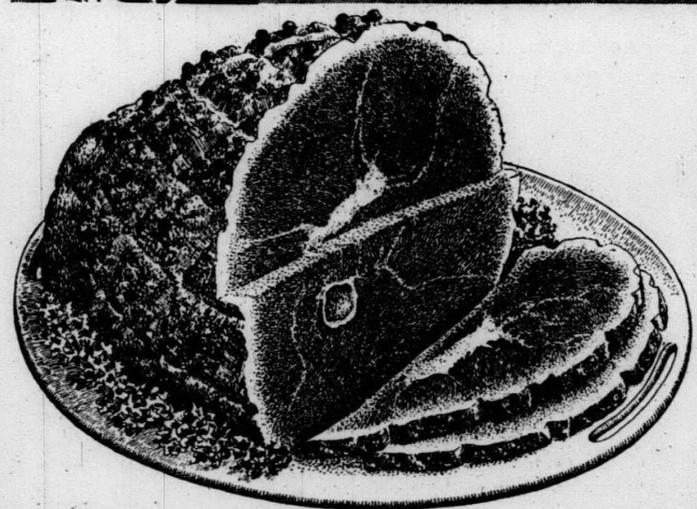

Of the 45 towers that make up the network, 30 have been completed. They stretch from the Wisconsin border in the Upper Peninsula to the Ohio boundary. Fifteen are under construction in a network linking the Upper Peninsula with Lower Michigan through Allenville, Central Lake, Stutsmanville, and Traverse City.

The height of all towers ranges from 80 feet at Mackinaw City to 368 feet at Milford.

Lee M. Augustus, radio engineer for the telephone company, said that when the present microwave program is completed in April of 1960, Michigan Bell and the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company will have spent more than $10 million. Long Lines is responsible for state-to-state microwave facilities.

Two of Three Still Without Polio Shots

Although the Salk vaccine was pronounced ready for use early in 1955, two Americans in three still have not been fully inoculated against the ravages of paralytic polio.

As a tragic result, polio epidemics erupted in 1958 in Michigan, New Jersey, Virginia, West Virginia, Montana and Hawaii.

In Wayne County alone, 876 persons were afflicted and 23 died.

Especially alarming last year was an increase in the incidence of paralytic polio, which was 44 percent higher than in 1957. More than half these cases involved preschool children, most of whom had not been vaccinated.

In reviewing the 1958 polio situation, Basil O'Connor, President of the National Foundation, through which the Salk vaccine was developed, reported that only half as much vaccine was shipped for domestic use in 1958 as in 1957.

O'Connor, whose organization now has expanded its attack on polio to take in arthritis and birth defects, asserted that carelessness and apathy on the part of the American public produced epidemics which otherwise need never have happened.

Polio occurs among persons of all ages while children and young adults are most susceptible, everyone should get protection.

Full protection means at least three injections of vaccine, with the first two spaced two to six weeks apart and the third administered seven to 12 months after the second. Studies have shown that two injections provide percent protection, while the full series of three provide 80 percent protection, and longer-lasting immunity.

Some doctors recommend a fourth injection as additional insurance for those vaccinated when the Salk vaccine first became available and its potency was variable. However, the continuing protection of three properly spaced shots has been demonstrated for the country as a whole and the vaccine's potency is now maintained at a high level.

If everyone in your family has not been vaccinated you must act promptly to build protection before the summer polio season begins.

55th Anniversary

It is hard to realize that we have been in business here in Plymouth for fifty-five years, but the records do not lie, and the records say that this firm was founded in 1904 . . . fifty-five years ago.

Perhaps the years seem short because they have been good and useful and busy years, years of service to the community, and years in which we have constantly widened our circle of friends. We would like to point out that mere existence is not important; the important consideration is whether one has spent his time usefully and constructively.

We believe that our fifty-five years of service have been useful and constructive years, and at this time we rededicate ourselves to a continuance of those policies which have made possible this, our fifty-fifth anniversary of service.

At last, the Democrat Big Spenders admit that Bigger Tax Collections are needed if they are to carry out their plans to spend the state into Prosperity (???) Up to now, they have made it appear that they can offer a government-planned economy with little cost to you.

They're so considerate of your needs that only now they are telling you how considerate they have become of your tax money — they need more! With a larger debt, more people on government payrolls, with a financial mess in the State, and in some of the cities and townships, the Democrats now offer:

- The Largest Budget in State History
- A Personal Income Tax and a Business Income Tax
- Another New State Agency to Collect Income Tax at a Cost of $6 Million Annually
- A Thousand More Paper-Shufflers to Handle the Necessary Tax Forms

Is this a program for your prosperity?
Consider some of the strange happenings in Wayne County and its townships controlled by Democrats. We have a Drain Commissioner going back 15 years in the records and re-assessing county drains on the excuse that former commissioners didn't make the right assessments. The swarm of employees working for the Drain Commissioner have their sick leaves, vacations and fringe benefits paid out of the drain assessments. There are instances where the drain assessment is 50 per cent of a property owner's entire tax bill. On top of this, many citizens can't get a just hearing on the matter from buck-passing Democratic township officials.

In Nankin Township when the Democrats came to power, they levied a tax — in the process they deprived the school system of one mill. Citizens are still looking for the services which the taxes were supposed to cover.

In Van Buren Township, a Democratic group took over the treasury amounting to more than $108,000, and in one year, these assets dropped nearly 40 per cent without any noticeable improvement in public services. But salaries for the top officials were nearly doubled!

In cities, townships and the State itself, people are questioning the big spending and the "frills" which they are supposed to have demanded. What the people are demanding is better management of their tax dollars!

Justice Talbot Smith Speaks To Kiwanians

Law must keep abreast of the times and pace with a changing society, Supreme Court Justice Talbot E. Smith told his audience Tuesday night at a meeting of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club.

During his talk on the Michigan State Supreme Court, Justice Smith declared that it is the function and purpose of the Supreme Court to re-evaluate the laws of the state of Michigan in order to avoid injustice in the execution of the law.

He cited an example of an accident involving a car on a freeway that collided with a stop sign before entering the freeway from a side road.

In 1909, the justice said, the law read that if either of the drivers of the two "gasoline buggies" observed the other approaching the same intersection, it was his duty to stop. If he did not stop, he was guilty of contributory negligence and couldn't recover damages.

Today, conditions have changed, Justice Smith declared. The law reads that a driver on a freeway, with traffic what it is, has plenty to watch out for and is entitled to rely on the fact that a driver on a side road will obey the stop sign.

"This is to say that the driver of a car on a freeway, even though he may observe another car approaching from a side road, is no longer guilty of contributory negligence in the event of an accident."

Draft Board Offers Test For Collegiate Deferment

The Selective Service college qualification test will be given to college men April 30, 1959, State Selective Service Headquarters announced today.

The April 30 test will be the only test offered for the 1958-59 school year. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight Thursday, April 9, 1959. The test will be administered by the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J.

Scores made on the test are used by local draft boards as one guide in considering requests for deferment from military service to continue studies. The test will be given at 28 Michigan colleges and universities.

Application cards and instructions are available from Selective Service local board, 861 Penniman Ave., Plymouth, Mich. Men planning to take the test should make early application at the nearest local board office for detailed information and necessary forms and materials.

Student deferments, which test scores have helped determine since 1951, have been a major factor in insuring the nation's supply of specialized manpower. Many students deferred under this program are today scientists,

The Reader Speaks Up

Dear Editor:

There has been some controversy as to whether the Plymouth High School band director is worthy of his position. Certain parents, some of whom have no connection to the band, have asked for his dismissal. Being relatively sure that we speak for the majority of band members, we feel this is an act of injustice.

We have been with him in band since he took the job and have watched the band grow to the best it's ever been. The community must know the importance of a good band, since it plays such an active part in the life of our town. We hope we can depend upon the support of the community in retaining our band director.

We are pitching for him all the way.

How to Get Along With A Chuckhole

Spring thaws and rains are creating a king-size street and highway break-up problem in Michigan that can mean dangerous driving conditions, staff members of the Michigan State University Highway Traffic Safety Center warned today.

As the weather warms and the ground beneath road pavement thaws, chuckholes will pockmark city streets and highways alike. These chuckholes not only are nuisances but can create safety hazards.

To prevent possible accidents and to save automobiles from expensive damage, the Highway Traffic Safety Center advises:

1. Treat chuckholes with respect. Even small ones can throw a fast-moving car out of control.
2. Drive slowly on streets pitted with chuckholes. If you see them, you may be able to avoid hitting them.
3. Do not drive blindly into a water-filled chuckhole. You seldom can tell whether a chuckhole is two or 22 inches deep.
4. Do not swerve suddenly into an oncoming traffic lane to avoid a chuckhole. This maneuver usually is the result of driving too fast for conditions. The swerve, as a result of reflex action, may carry your car into an oncoming vehicle.
5. If you cannot avoid a hole without going into the oncoming traffic lane, wait for oncoming traffic to clear. Do not force oncoming traffic onto the shoulder of the highway or into the curb on city streets. Remember the other driver probably cannot see your problem.

If the street or highway is so filled with holes that it is impossible to miss some, drive over them VERY SLOWLY. First, slowdown or stop, put your car into low gear, then proceed, slowly. Maintain enough speed to prevent the chuckhole wall from stalling your car. Listen for any scraping. If you hear scraping, STOP. To proceed forward may cause great damage to the underside parts of your car.

Report dangerous chuckholes to your local street or highway authority. Chuckholes can develop from small breaks to dangerous pits in hours. If prompt repair is impossible, barriers or warnings can be erected.

Remember... Go slow... Both for safety and for the protection of your car.

"Wake Up and Stay Alive", B&PW Told

The Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club held their regular meeting Monday evening, March 16, at Hillside Inn, with President Mary Wagenshutz presiding.

William Siebert, of the Wayne County Office of Civil Defense, presented some very timely facts of concern to all citizens of this and the surrounding area. "Wake up and stay alive!" were the words of warning. Citizens must be aroused and encouraged to enroll in classes for Civil Defense. We cannot wait until the emergency is here. At the peak hour in the city of downtown Detroit there are estimated to be 90,000 people per square mile, and there could be utter devastation within the first five mile radius of the critical target area should an atomic bomb be dropped. In the second five mile radius there could be 77 percent casualties and an area of great damage. In the next five mile radius there would be light damage with 20 percent of the people killed. Evacuation would be good if there's a warning of sufficient time, but that is not likely.

By enrolling in Red Cross First Aid Classes, helping to establish Casualty Care Stations, Hospital Advance Stations, and forming Registration and Information Teams are just some of the ways in which we can be prepared, to the best of our ability, to withstand any problems when they arise.

Responsible for the meeting was the National Security Committee, Chairman of which is Leona Diedrick, aided by Helen Beals, a panel Booth, Helen Goodman, Ludmilla Jackson, and Isabelle St. Louis.

The following names were welcomed as new members at the meeting: Minerva Chaiken, Joyce Crimmins, Molly Eckstrom, Mary Jane Keller, Wilma Keim, Shirley Krsa, Lolah Mae Noll, Margaret Porteous, and Barbara Van Vleck.

The Reader Speaks Up

Editor: Yes, I voted a Big No to help with the public schools. I think all private schools should get out in the future 100 per cent strong and vote down all new schools and increases in pay for the public schools.

When the school board and Plymouth citizens deny our children a ride on the school bus when they attend our private schools, I don't see why we should pay anymore than we have to. We sure save the taxpayers a lot of money and then we are asked to vote to help the public schools. We send our children to the private schools first because they learn religion. Last but not least, they receive a far better education there. When my child was in the 5th grade she was doing 7th grade public school arithmetic.

Sincerely,
Private School Parent and proud of it

VISITING NURSE Nora Stage is administering an injection for one of her patients, Joseph VanGard of Livonia.

A Friend Indeed Is Visiting Nurse To Sick and Needy

By MAE VAN RIPER

A small woman in a blue uniform beats a path to the door of the sick from Redford Township, to Livonia and into Plymouth. Her name is Mrs. Nora Stage and she is a visiting nurse. Each morning she begins her day by checking with her supervisor, Miss Margaret Brown, at the Northwestern District Office of the Detroit Visiting Nurses' Association at 14607 Grand River, for her assignments. They come in the form of a card which leads her to the bedside of an elderly person in need of physical therapy, possibly a diabetic, a young mother with her first baby or a helpless child. No matter what the problem, she is confident with her qualified nurse's training she can handle the case. Her confidence and warm smile puts the patient at ease immediately.

One fall day a hospital asked Mrs. Stage to make a home visit to a young Livonia mother. The mother was very much alone, as the father was away in military service and her parents were in another state. With a warm smile the nurse approached the young mother and immediately set about reassuring her that she was no longer alone and that her premature baby was going to have the very best of care.

As there were small children in the home the nurse explained how the mother could prepare the home and other members of the family for the arrival of the premature baby. Small children should be kept away from the baby, yet he needs to be part of the family. Sleeping and eating arrangements and all the little details a new mother must know were discussed.

After the baby was home, nurse Stage visited the young mother and showed her how to bathe the baby. As the mother and child were now able to travel she helped her plan the trip home to her family. So a young frightened mother and child found the warm helpful friendship of a visiting nurse when help was so desperately needed.

After saying goodbye to the young mother nurse Stage drove across town to another Livonia family, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Van Gard. Waiting anxiously for nurse Stage's weekly visit was her patient, Joseph Van Gard. He wasn't as well as when she last saw him and it was decided she should return twice each week instead of once to administer shots.

The Van Gards look forward to Mrs. Stage's visit. She is a constant source of a booster as she listens to this interesting patient describe his colorful life as a young deputy marshal who traveled from the West to Michigan by covered wagon. Not so active anymore, he enjoys his free hand drawing and painting and loves to show his work to his nurse.

Nurse Stage makes certain her patient has paints and paper to keep him busy. Her next stop will be an elderly lady who is learning to walk with a walker. With proper assistance she will learn to walk about the house exercising her limbs which have been helpless while in a wheel chair and hospital bed.

So goes her day as she continues on with her daily duties as a VN. She works with a team of nurses giving such special services as diabetic classes, industrial nursing in the small plant, physical therapy, diet therapy, occupational therapy and medical direction, given under the direction of the patient's physician always. The visit-ional therapy and medical direction, given under the direction of the patient's physician always. The visit-

The Reader Speaks Up

Editor: Perhaps the greatest obstacle confronting the two "sticker candidates" in the coming city commissioner race is the technical or mechanical aspects of voting for a "write in" candidate. It is not a simple procedure and of course only those voters who are armed with the name stickers or who know the names of the candidates could possibly vote for them.

In addition there may also be the inference that because the names do not appear on the ballot, they must be some sort of wild-eyed leftists being pushed by a rabid minority group.

Such, of course, could not be further from the truth. The two "sticker candidates," Mr. John Truer and Mr. Richard Merriam are both solid Plymouth residents who were selected by a citizens "Committee for Representative Government" on the basis of their qualifications and their willingness to serve.

As was even stated publicly by one of the present commissioners, it is just unfortunate that the two sticker candidates were not found in time to have their names placed on the ballot officially.

At the polls a voter may vote for one, two, three, or four city commissioners. Only four names will appear on the ballot and four commissioners will be elected. Voters who are concerned with seeking a broader and more balanced "Board of Directors" for our city are urged to vote for only the two sticker candidates and not to vote for any of the four whose names appear on the ballot—as at least two of these are bound to be elected anyway.

This method of voting, of course, improves the chances of the sticker candidates. However, to some people this may not seem quite fair or right. It is important that the voter understand the reasoning and that he vote as he believes right.

Perhaps the greatest problem facing the average voter on a non-partisan slate is—who are the best qualified candidates? In the case of our city commissioners, certainly none of them are in there just for the $5 or $10 per meeting; they are all motivated by a desire to serve their community—coupled perhaps with a liking for their names to be in the public eye. The incumbents and former commissioners have their record to speak for them; the new candidates have only their friends and neighbors to speak for them.

The thinking citizens of Plymouth realize the need for a better balanced and more representative city commission. By selecting and promoting two well-qualified write in candidates for the city commission, the "Committee for Representative Government" has provided the voters with an opportunity to do something about this coming April 6th. Will the voters rise to the occasion or will typical apathy prevail? Richard Merriam

Pioneer TV Announcer Recalls the Old Days

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television's first emcee and sports caster, genial Dennis James, can trace his career back to the days when video was something out of Buck Rogers.

"I started on TV in 1938," said James, who now keeps NBC-TV's "Haggis Baggis" barreling along.

"DuMont had a small room, a laboratory - studio office, on Madison Avenue and they put on experimental TV shows. There were, maybe, a couple of hundred people who owned TV sets in those days," he recalled as he relaxed in the wood-paneled rumpus room at New Rochelle, N.Y.

James was hired by DuMont because his brother, Lou Sposa, an engineer with DuMont, mentioned his name when the job opening came up. At the time, young Dennis was a radio announcer in New York City.

As a TV emcee, James found that one of his hardest chores was to round up talent. "The stars couldn't be bothered. Why should they sit in a room that was 140 degrees, get interviewed so that a few hundred people could watch them perspire and not even get paid?"

After three years in the Army during World War II, James returned to TV and, in a couple of years, found himself a national celebrity, as the announcer working those early-TV wrestling bouts.

He was famous for three things: 1. sound effects; 2. always talking to "mother" and 3. always knowing when to keep his mouth shut.

As for the sound effects, James explained, "I once sold pet supplies at Abercrombie and Fitch and I remembered how a crunching dog biscuit sounded. It came in handy for those bone-benders, the wrestlers."

Dennis addressed his wrestling asides to the ladies in the audience as a calculated risk.

"I felt that the men would resent my telling them what they already knew. But when you tell mom what's happening, she turns to the old man and says, 'Is he right?' and he says, 'Yeah, or He's all wet.' Either way, you build the old man's ego and the lady likes the idea of you ruffling over her. You can't lose."

A former 155-pounder boxing champ at St. Peter's College in his home town of Jersey City, N.J., James would love to do another wrestling show on TV.

"I have a hunch that a daytime wrestling show for the housewives would be a bombshell," he said. "I think the girls would flip."

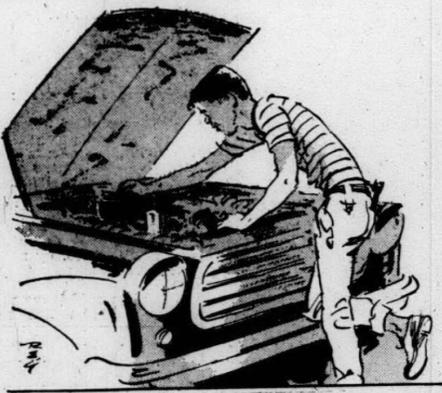

James inherited the "Haggis Baggis" show just after word leaked out that the program was headed for the graveyard in early April.

"They decided after that to give the show some new zip and they brought me in. So there I was, trying to jockey up a show that everyone was counting out."

How's Dennis doing? "Well," he said, "our rating is up."

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Miss Williams: I am a boy of 15 and want a car to work on, although I do not plan to drive it until I am 18. My father thinks I am too young. I have read many books about cars and know my way around them. Please tell me what you think."

Ans.—Don't wait for Dad. Why not get busy now and do something on this project by yourself? This will help prove that you're not too young, as well as starting a worthwhile hobby that has led some young men to a satisfying, successful career in mechanics, engineering or design for automobiles, planes and industrial equipment.

Begin now to save money in a bank account for a car. Look for ways to earn extra money by doing odd jobs for your parents and neighbors. Later, a paper route or a part-time job on weekends.

My Neighbors

"Incidentally, what happened to that foreign car that was ahead of us a ways back?"

and vacations might be possible. This should impress your father enough to make him willing to help you gain valuable experience by working on your first car. But I don't expect him to provide it without any effort on your part, and remember, it needn't be expensive. After all, you're going to take it apart, anyway!

Q.—"Dear Elinor: Recently I met a very nice boy. We liked each other for several months. Then I went out with another boy, but find like the first one better and he still likes me, but he never calls me or asks me for dates. What am I doing wrong?"

Ans.—Could be that he's not sure where he stands with you, because you have changed your mind about him twice. Give him some encouragement by inviting him to a girl's party or dance... or to your home for a double, group or solo date for a TV or record session, to do a jigsaw puzzle; play cards or make hot, buttered popcorn in the kitchen.

(For help with personal problems, write to Elinor Williams at this paper. As many letters as possible will be answered in this column.)

Two Young Musicians Featured In Last Symphony Concert April 5

Sunday, April 5 at 4 p.m. The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will conclude its thirteenth season as a continuing musical organization by presenting a program of some well-known music and some brand new music.

The program will begin with Brahms "Double Concerto for Violin and Cello," a well-known concerto, and a happy well-played concerto. The audience will hear a piece new to the Plymouth repertoire, Kodaly's "Harry Janos Suite." This is a suite drawn from the opera by Kodaly, written in 1925-26 and first performed in 1926, so it is "modern" music. While it is modern, the "Harry Janos Suite" has secure origins in Hungarian folk-lore, and folk-music tunes.

As soloists in the Brahms concerto, the orchestra will present two young musicians from the University of Michigan School of Music, Harry Dunscombe and Theodore Johnson.

These two young men offer an opportunity to contrast another area of learning that exists in the United States and in the Soviet Union.

Johnson was born in Indiana and received his elementary and secondary education in Elkhart, moving to Ann Arbor for his musical training. He received his Bachelor of Music degree in 1951 and Master of Music degree in 1952. His musical career was interrupted then for three years in the Army but was resumed in 1956 when he studied on a Fulbright Scholarship at the University of Munich.

After his studies in Europe, he returned to the U of M. He is presently working toward his degree as Doctor of prenticeship) they appear in state owned theaters and are paid wages by the state. Some of the star musicians of the Soviet Union are allowed to travel and perform in Western nations and their coming is generally given these rare instances, musicians in Russia work for the state where the state directs, and rarely have little hope of ever doing anything else.

It is perhaps startling to find two young men pursuing careers in music when the rewards, if any, are likely to be more or less intangible. They have earned their degrees on their own. Their scholarships have entitled them to a living in addition to their studies, and they are paid by the institution they teach in. But their future is not assured, like that of musicians in Russia. They must make their own way, and that in a society that puts very little value on being a teacher, much less a musician.

Vocal Group Sings Friday At Calvary Baptist Church

The Choralaires, a 28 voice group from The Grand Rapids School of the Bible and Music, Grand Rapids, Michigan, will present a musical program at the Calvary Baptist Church on Friday, March 27 at 7:45 p.m.

Wendell Babcock, director of the Choralaires, will offer a well-rounded program of sacred classics, Negro spirituals, and gospel songs and hymns of the church.

Included within the group are several small groups such as trios and quartets. The 2000 mile itinerary, which includes 19 appearances, is the 12th annual tour of the Choralaires. The Grand Rapids School of the Bible and Music has been training men and women for various types of Christian work for thirteen years. Graduates are now serving in the United States and on the major mission fields of the world.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Musical Arts at the U of M while serving as instructor of theory and second violinist in the Resident Spring Quartet at the University of Kansas.

Dunscombe's career, except for his origin and some juggling of particulars, follows Mr. Johnson's very closely. Mr. Dunscombe, a Floridian, came to the University of Michigan from a year in Brussels under a Fulbright Award, after earning his initial degree from the University of Florida in 1953.

His studies in the United States earned him his Master of Music degree in 1955, after which he spent a year teaching cello and music theory at the University of Kentucky. He has now returned to the U. of M. where he is working toward his final degree in music.

Both young men earned significant awards early in their musical careers and both have wide experience teaching, performing and directing. Both young men have traveled in the United States and in Europe. Both exhibit a single-mindedness of purpose as far as serious music is concerned.

Young musicians in the Soviet Union pretty much study their art where they live, except for a very few who win appointments to the top music school in Russia located in Moscow. As in other fields of learning, the learning is state sponsored and paid for, and while the students don't live lavishly, they are maintained comfortably during their residence in school.

Their program is strictly outlined and strictly adhered to, in a lock-step fashion. They have little contact with musicians of other countries, except for a smattering of other Iron Curtain country musicians who hew the party line. After graduation (and sometimes during their ap-

Easter in the Suburbs

Easter has a message for anyone who thinks, and it is, to use plain English, that for mortal mankind, it is "always darkest before the dawn."

We don't mean to be flippant with religion, nor to understate the grandeur of Easter as an event in history. We just want to state an obvious point in a plain way.

Christian despair was profound on the first Good Friday. All of this new hope for better living on earth was being nailed to rough lumber. Man's yearning for immortality was being proved a mockery. All who had nourished simple trust and belief now were being made to look like fools and dupes.

The heroes of the hour—the men in charge of world affairs at the moment on history's clock—were the tough brutes, the sensualists, the materialists. They had government, the courts and the economy under their personal control, and by 3 p.m. on Friday they seemed to have religion under a rather firm grip, too.

But, when least expected, came the miracle of the resurrected Christ. Despair changed into the greatest flash of reassurance in the lives of the believers.

For those of us who live in America, in Michigan, in the suburbs of a metropolitan city, the meaning of the Easter story is no different than it was for wanderers of Near Asia 2,000 years ago. The message involves faith, not environment.

It is the promise of reward for those who analyze life, set their own rules for living, and then adhere to them.

There always will come moments when all seems vain.

This Berlin crisis—what's the use of morals and decency if Berlin explodes into world-wide atomic devastation?

Frugality and humility—why hew to any sober virtue when the rich, successful, and famous invariably seem to be gamblers and men of great ego and boundless selfishness? Sickness and pain—why go on living?

Life is mysterious; it always has been and time makes it more puzzling. We're exploring in space thousands of miles from the earth now, and realizing more each day that all of mortal energy spent so far has barely pricked the skin of the universe.

Normal existence is unfathomable, the shift of fortune, up and down, glee and grief, success and failure, satisfaction and frustration; all following one another, changing without warning, unpredictable, tormenting.

Our physicists and our metaphysicists wrestle with life constantly, seeking answers. They have learned some things, but nothing basic toward providing peace of mind.

That comes only in belief, in the quiet knowledge that man was meant to have his dark hours, but that dark hours come before dawn.

That's Easter, in the suburbs or anywhere else.

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

LOS ANGELES — This area seems to spawn more than its share of offbeat religious and philosophical ruminating. Under such obscure labels as Anthroposophy, Divine Unity, Moral Re-orientation, and Zoroastrianism, these cults attract large and enthusiastic followings.

It is quickly apparent that a high percentage of the sectarians are senior citizens who have flocked to this city from other parts of the country. Having broken their ties with orthodox hometown churches they are now free to seek diversion and spiritual experiences in more colorful forms of worship and study.

One of the best-known of these cults is the Foursquare Gospel founded by the late Aimee Semple McPherson back in the 20's. Mrs. McPherson's followers continue to gather nightly at Angelus Temple—a vast, semi-circular meetinghouse some six stories high and sporting a yellow neon marquee at the main gate.

I stopped by last evening as the faithful—mostly elderly men and women—were flocking into this 5,300 seat temple to hear a sermon by Aimee's son Rolf who has shepherded the congregation since his mother's death in 1944 due to an overdose of sleeping tablets.

"There'll never be another woman like Sister Aimee," declared an elderly gentleman standing next to me in the temple's promenade as I gazed at trophies and mementos awarded to Canadian-born Aimee during her colorful career, and at displays of crutches, braces, and other medical accoutrements discarded by converts who claimed to have been healed by her touch.

People loved her, and with that white robe and blond hair and golden voice she could make you do anything she wanted. Why she raised nearly two million to build this temple and her mansion next door by the time she was thirty.

"She was always doing things that made us sit up and pay attention. Once she was arrested for speeding so the next night she brought the cop to the temple and had him roar up and down the aisle on his motorcycle as she preached on the evils of fast living.

"Of course folks used to say she was no saint. She was married three times and there was all that publicity about her disappearing and then telling everyone she'd been kidnapped. But we who knew her never lost faith and we're proud to say the Foursquare Gospel gets stronger every day."

RELIGION COMES in many diverse forms. It's easy to be critical of some of its manifestations, but I suspect that nearly any deep religious conviction proves more satisfying to the individual as he grows older than none at all.

Taxes? Michigan Motorists Paid $138,000,000—And Few Knew It

LANSING — Motorists pay for their own highways in Michigan.

They pay slightly under a half-cent a mile in gasoline taxes to the state and slightly under a quarter-cent in Federal taxes. This amounts to 6 cents per gallon at state level; 3 cents per gallon at federal. Then add 3 per cent state sales tax.

In addition, there is the weight tax paid by buying annual license plates.

Motorists paid an estimated $138,000,000 in state gasoline taxes last year, a husky sum, according to any standard.

The Associated Petroleum Industries of Michigan, Inc., said the average car traveled 14 miles on each gallon of gas last year. Average consumption was 731 gallons.

William Palmer, association executive secretary, advised motorists that the taxes they paid in state gasoline taxes can be deducted from their Federal income tax.

"Motorists may be surprised at how much gasoline taxes they paid last year," he said.

The traditional average of 10,000 miles a year per car shows a $42.86 state gasoline tax and $21.43 in Federal gasoline tax payments. The Federal tax cannot be deducted.

If a motorist drove 5,000 miles in a year, the averages show he paid $32.14 in total gasoline taxes. This ranges upward to $128.57 if he drove 20,000 miles.

derly processes are restored.

The resolution does not cover the odd prospect of a bomb landing on the Capitol during a legislative session and wiping out the legislature.

Momentum is gathering behind a proposal to reduce the number of state employees, now about 30,000, by refusing to fill vacancies as they occur.

The bill would leave vacant 50 per cent of the vacancies.

the first year, 25 per cent the second year, until the present payroll is cut 20 per cent.

There are expected to be changes in the proposal to protect smaller agencies in which vacancies would hamper operations.

WISEST REMARK YET concerning Michigan's business climate might have been made last week by Walter Wightman, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, at the 10th anniversary of Farm Bureau Insurance Company.

BY ELMER E. WHITE

Previous speakers have referred somewhat bitterly to Michigan's reputation for having a poor economic atmosphere. Wightman remarked in an offhand manner that he is proud of Michigan and that he loves living here. When it comes to economy, he said, he thought farmers feel the same way about the state as they do their farms. It is nice to be here — but it's nice still to know they can afford to own

If Your Name Is 'Bonnie'

By ANN REYNOLDS, Ph.D.

This is a name now often met with among youngsters; it is identical with the Scottish word "bonnie". This means "pleasing to the eye, comely, beautiful", and it is, in a not clarified way, connected with the French word "bon" and "bonne", which means "good". The Scots always had a liking for everything French. In France "Bonnie" was the form of this name, and in Italy "Bona". They came into fashion as the translation from the now obsolete German name "Gutha", also meaning "good".

"Bonnie" was frequent among women of the House of Savoy, an old European dynasty that for nine centuries ruled over Savoy and Piedmont, and after the kingdom of Italy was proclaimed in 1861, over Italy, until 1946.

One count of Savoy, Amedee VII, had a mother named Bonne, and a wife by the same name. Both had grievances. Bonne of Bourbon, the mother, did not like it that her son poked his nose into government affairs she considered her own prerogative.

Bonne of Berry, Amedee's wife, wished her husband to be more passionate. Together the two Bonnies turned to one John of Granville, an adventurer who claimed to know everything about medicine and magic. The count himself was ready to accept the quack's services. He asked that his complexion be improved, and that the hair on his head be made more luxuriant.

John of Granville prescribed potions and pills, and promised that all the three persons involved would be getting their wishes. But then nothing happened, and the two women and Amedee became impatient, demanding results. The so-called physician abandoned prescribing harmless medications, turning to stronger means. He shaved the count's head, and applied lotions made of the most disgusting and scalding concoctions, and gave Amedee medicines compounded of opium. The count's health began to suffer. And when Granville applied an unguent to Amedee's scalp containing verdigris, which is acetate of copper, and poisonous, the count showed signs of having been poisoned.

To the count's bedside now the quack magician brought a unicorn's horn; it was considered a surefire remedy against poison at that superstitious age, the 14th century. But, of course, nothing was now able to save Amedee. Only then did Granville's patient become suspicious of his physician, believing him the tool of some obscure and distant enemies, and banished him from his bedside. Too late. Amedee died, and the suspicion that his mother Bonne had a part in causing his demise by poison has never been entirely lifted from her.

Handwriting Analysis . . . By Lucille Williams

Dear Lucille: Please analyze the enclosed handwriting for me. Thank you. Mrs. Peabody

Dear Mrs. Peabody: It's pretty hard to get a good clear picture of the strokes when the handwriting is in pencil. However, after studying the note I've come up with the following. This person is very determined, also very decisive. They make up their mind and that's it. There's a definite emphatic yes or no in every decision made. Rarely will this person change his mind. They have much pride in their work, and are a little sensitive when criticized.

Your friend is conservative and has good concentration ability. There is some resentment to imposition and they like to do their own planning and make up their own mind. They are easily irritated and do not like to be interrupted.

I've been reading your column, and it amazes me how you can tell about a person through handwriting. Would you please analyze mine? I would appreciate it very much.

Sincerely, Jim Rollins

Dear Jim: You are a person who likes to be noticed. You like attention and want to stand out as an individual.

You're quite emotional most of the time and express your emotions openly.

You like to construct and your hands have creative value. You can take an idea, give it form and so add to, create and build until you have something of value.

You're a slow, careful thinker but have the ability to act and think quickly when you need to. You like to talk.

You like to be active, have very little determination, even though you do really want to go forward.

P.S. No, I'm sorry I am no relation to Gov. Williams.

Dear Miss Williams: I read your column every week and have decided I would like my handwriting analyzed. I haven't been able to find any talents, maybe you can.

Thank you, M.A.M.

Dear M.A.M.: You're very color conscious, liking deep rich tones. You have an artistic appreciation of music, like rich foods and have a tendency to go overboard occasionally in your desires.

You are creative and have the ability to gather and collect ideas and shape them into material forms. You feel deeply and are emotional but not consistently openly expressive.

You have a sense of humor but little imagination. You're not very sensitive and can shrug off criticism very easily.

Whenever possible to put something off till tomorrow you will, it's just easier that way.

You watch small details and your memory is better than average, but there's scant organization ability.

PLYMOUTH

telephone lines

From BILL DUNN, Manager

Plymouth has taken an important step forward with their recent programs designed to welcome new business and acknowledge long standing companies in this area. We would like to add our congratulations to the Burroughs Corporation who have added so much to our economy and is a good neighbor.

Have you noticed the many containers in Plymouth to solicit your contributions for the Crippled Children's Easter Seal Drive? They are a way of providing a much needed service and will do much in making you feel a part of this worthwhile cause through your generous contributions.

ON THE DIXIE highway, just north of Pontiac, there's an experimental phone booth. It's a test tryout of a new concept in phoning—drive-in or, more exactly, drive-up-to phoning. You drive up to the little booth, stop your car and simply reach out for the telephone. Then you phone away to your heart's content. (Provided you have the dimes, of course.) When the design is perfected, these booths will become general.

HOW WILL YOU spend Easter Sunday? Whatever you decide on, you'll probably do it with your loved ones, for Easter belongs to the family. But perhaps one or two of your family will be out of town—never mind—you can still be with them, by Long Distance. The bargain evening rates apply all day Easter Sunday. Look in your phone book to see how little it costs to make your Easter complete with a Long Distance call.

OUTDOOR LIVING—two words that conjure up the summer ahead. And so do these: garden chairs, sunshades, beach balls, outboard motors, swim suits, tennis rackets, canoes, lawn mowers, yes, and jugs and tall glasses. These are the raw materials of summer pleasure. But where do you find them all? Easy! Look in your Yellow Pages. You'll find the names, addresses and telephone numbers of the dealers nearest you. You'll find the brand names you respect. With the Yellow Pages you'll be able to put your finger on just about all the things that'll help to make the summer ahead something to look back on for a long time afterward.

'Parade of Dolls' In Newburg Area

Mrs. Emil LaPointe
GA. 1-2029

If you like cold beans, that should be hot, hot dogs in cold buns, luke warm coffee, wet feet and cold hands, well then, you would have been quite at home with this reporter on Sunday, March 8, immediately following the 7:30 a.m. mass at the St. Michael's Catholic church, boy scout troop 271 of that church and their leaders took a trip to the Island Lake recreation area for an advancement hike. Mr. LaPointe, our two scouts, Bruce and David and Mark and Nan, too, went along for the experience and fun. We baked a cake over an open fire in a reflector oven, which was a treat shared by the entire camp. Snow fell fast and furious, making it necessary to improvise a lean-to to keep dry. This trip is planning a fine camping - hiking activity for the summer which includes camping in the copper country of the upper peninsula of Michigan and hiking into the interior of the forests in the area. This trip is scheduled for July 11 and the LaPointe's, all six of us, are going to brave the great north woods and go along on this fine vacation. Ford Re, scoutmaster of the troop, his co-leaders and committee-men, are to be congratulated for the fine programs they are presenting for scout participation.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Gutherie Sr. of Newburg road have returned home after spending two weeks in Greensboro, Georgia and two weeks visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Litzburg at the Bahama hotel in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. The Litzburgs are Plymouth residents.

Sorry to report that Bert Overmyer of Ravine drive is confined to old Grace Hospital in Detroit where he is recovering nicely after undergoing extensive brain surgery. Cards of good cheer would be most welcome at this time. Best wishes for a speedy recovery from your friends and neighbors in the Newburg area.

At a recent march of dimes benefit show in the old Junior High auditorium of Plymouth High school, the dance students from the Plymouth School of Dance performed in keeping with the program's fashion theme, "Around the World on an $80 Wardrobe".

Director of the dance studio, Mrs. Enid Starnitz is a Newburg area resident and we are very proud of her students and their accomplishments. Students participating were Linda Stammitt, Jeanine Nantaw, Gay Shirey, Dianna Pry, Mary Hurtik, Anne Wedmeyer, Nancy Fowlkes, Martha Fowlkes, Patty Drennan, Charlotte Heidenrick, Janet Heidenrick, Barbara Jones, Noel Appleberry, Jean Plymale, Nan LaPointe and Barbara Shannon.

On Sunday, March 15, Mr. LaPointe along with his nephew, Henry Nida of N. York, Dearborn went hunting on a game reserve near Flint. No luck!

Mrs. John Kreger of Horton avenue is confined to the Ridgewood hospital in Ypsilanti for observation, and will be there for a few days. Send her a card, too, so she'll know she is being thought about by her friends and neighbors in the Newburg area.

Better not forget, Smorgasbord a la Newburg on Saturday, April 4 at the Newburg Methodist church, Ann Arbor trail and Newburg road. The hours for serving will be 5 p.m., 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. and tickets are now available and this writer will be glad to take your reservations. For food that's out of this world, come down to earth at Newburg's Smorgasbord. Cuisine fit for a queen, so bring her out to eat.

In celebration of our son Mark's eighth birthday, Saturday, March 14, we had as our supper guests, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weiss, Sr., of Graham road, in Redford, after dinner our family enjoyed seeing, "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness," and took as Mike's guest, Stephen Parrish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Parrish of Joy road, along with us to the show.

The Joy road Canasta Club met at the home of Mrs. Harold Mackinder on Hanlon Tuesday, March 17 for their monthly evening of card playing. Present for the evening was Mrs. Claude Desmond, Mrs. Arthur Gennis, Mrs. Clifford Hocking, Mrs. Emil LaPointe, Mrs. William Kenner, Mrs. Edward Howden and Mrs. Raymond Peterson. This group of ladies will meet again on Tuesday, April 21 at my home on Joy road.

An experience I never want to have again, happened on Monday, March 16, when our son David was thrown from the tail gate of our station wagon while delivering his paper route and suffered a concussion. After a trip to Garden City emergency and then to Detroit Osteopathic for further checks, he is recovering nicely, with no serious complications. Mr. LaPointe and I want to say how much we appreciate the thoughtful concern expressed by our neighbors and friends at this time and David expresses his thanks too.

The Fellowship Class of the Newburg Methodist church is selling Easter plants again this year. They will have hyacinths, tulips and lilies and the plants will be available on or after Thursday, March 26 at the church hall, Newburg road and Ann Arbor trail.

On Friday, April 10, at 7 p.m., all mothers and daughters of the Washington-Newburg school area are invited to the Washington school on Hix and Ann Arbor roads, for a mother-daughter get-together and 'Parade of Dolls'.

Mrs. Moore, the doll lady of Plymouth, will be the special guest for the evening. Mrs. Amos Jackson will display dolls, then and now and each girl scout and brownie in the area will display her own hand made doll. This evening promises to be one of enjoyment so be sure to come. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

It's been so nice being with you this week. See you next week? Please forgive an error last week in that I announced a birthday celebration for Jack Horton of Gray avenue and it really was the birthday of Anthony Kreger of Gray avenue, so congratulations Mr. Kreger.

Mr. and Mrs. James Greenwood of Newburg road and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Johnson of Houghton avenue attended the Veteran's of Foreign Wars St. Patrick's day dance at the V.F.W. hall on Lilley road on Saturday, March 14.

Knights of Pythias

If you are a citizen of the United States or Canada; if you are capable of independent thought and action; if you believe that the Golden Rule is still superior to the "rule of gold"; if you are not engaged in illegal enterprise, or a member of the communist conspiracy, the Knights of Pythias invite your membership. This is by no means a guarantee of material success but the sincere applicant will find here in "The golden key that opens the palace of Eternity". The meeting is the first Thursday of the month in the Odd Fellow Hall, Frank Henderson, GL 3-4708 is the Membership Chairman.

Just 100 years ago the ritual of the Knights of Pythias was written at Eagle Harbor, Michigan by Justus Rathbone, son of a distinguished New York jurist and descendant of the eminent Clergyman, Jonathan Edwards.

Before he had reached the age of 20, young Rathbone was graduated from Madison University and admitted to the N.Y. Bar. He inherited natural talent for music and art and was widely recognized for his ability as a Shakespearean scholar. Also a composer of considerable attainment, he wrote the music that was played at President Garfield's inaugural ball. In the fall of 1897 he came to the Lake Superior country near Eagle Harbor.

While teaching school in this community he organized a dramatic society and among the manuscripts examined for presentation was the Banim masterpiece, "Damion and Pythias". The portrayal of friendship by that soldier and senator of ancient Syracuse, so impressive to the young schoolmaster that he determined to use its basic theme as the foundation for a great fraternity. Thus, in the little schoolhouse at Eagle Harbor which has since become a Pythian Shrine, Justus Rathbone penned the ritual revered by Pythians everywhere.

In a special tribute of commemoration Michigan Pythians are cooperating in bringing the Supreme Secretary to this State with the original Rathbone Bible that was used in instituting Washington Lodge No. 1, to administer the rank of Page to a class of candidates representing every lodge in this Grand Domain. All Pythians, past and present, are urged to make plans for witnessing this impressive ceremony and dedicating themselves to the principles of the Order. This event is scheduled for the month of May, exact date depending on the present commitments of the Supreme Secretary.

The record books of the Knights of Pythias has been that of leadership in PROGRESS and PRACTICAL ACHIEVEMENT. In the war with Spain, 50,000 well trained knights were volunteered to President McKinley for military duty. This Order was the FIRST to require that the National Flag must be displayed on every official occasion; to purchase Liberty Bonds during World War I and raise funds for soldiers and their dependents; to recognize the importance of youth and open the door to all, otherwise qualified, who have reached the age of eighteen; to deny membership to any engaged in illegal or subversive activities. As a charter member of the ALL-AMERICAN CONFERENCE, the Knights of Pythias are eternally opposed to organized crime and International Communism.

Participation in the relief of National emergencies and disasters, active support of worthwhile projects as the National Safety Campaign, maintaining homes for the aged and worthy members, children's camps, student loans, public speaking scholarships, blood banks and aid to the physically handicapped—these and many other acts of F.R.I.E.N.D.S.H.I.P., CHARITY and BENEVOLENCE, have been our contribution to the betterment of mankind.

In a historic and unprecedented ceremony at the White House, after Knighthood had been conferred upon President F.D. Roosevelt, he offered this tribute:—"I now belong to some fourteen similar organizations, and am fairly familiar with the work of all, but am more deeply impressed with the beautiful lessons and lofty ideals of the Pythian Order, than by any other to which I belong".

Abraham Lincoln was so impressed by the principles of this Order that he warmly recommended their perpetuation by a charter from the U.S. Congress.

Other Pythians prominent in public service include James Garfield, William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, Warren Harding, William J. Bryan and countless others. The Supreme Chancellor is represented in the new State of Alaska by Honorable Fred S. Williamson, U.S. Marshall at Anchorage. It is therefore reasonable to conclude that those who march beneath the Pythian Banner, need never want for distinguished company.

LITTLE HAMPTON, England (UPI) — Launching earth satellites and firing rockets to the moon is just a new form of the old pagan cult of sun worship, complains the Rev. Phillip Barry, Anglican vicar here.

Condemning outer-space projects as crazy, Barry said in his parish magazine that it is not only fantastic but downright wicked that hundreds of millions of dollars are being spent on research while millions of persons are in need.

The vicar said nations should devote themselves to rehabilitating the world's homeless and destitute. By spending on such pursuits one-quarter of the money they spend on weapons of destruction, he said, the underlying causes of war would be removed.

There are about 2,500 museums in the U.S. today, compared with approximately 600 in 1932.

Teen Players Turn In Fine Performance

Three act comedy presented by Plymouth High School Thespians; directed by Robert Southgate; set design by Gordon Jewel; sound engineering by Jim Cutler; lighting by Donny Kelly; written by Joe Kesselring; opened on March 19, 1959 for a 2 day run; $75 top.

"Arsenic and Old Lace"

Abby Brewster	Mari Lynn Walters
The Rev. Dr. Harper	Lester Barton
Teddy Brewster	Robert C. Wall
Officer Brophy	Steve Hullington
Officer Klein	Steve Hullington
Martha Brewster	Dave Jaskierny
Elaine Harper	Gwen Scharl
Mortimer Brewster	Sally Sawyer

Lt. Rooney	Hale Huber
Mr. Witherspoon	Bob Westover
	Norman Lehnhardt

Last week for two nights capacity crowds roared at the antics of 14 Plymouth High School thespians as they moved imaginary San Juan hills, jand dug graves in the basement for 12 or was it 13 dead people. All these incredible matters form the crazy, mixed-up plot of "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Broadway audiences chuckled and chortled over these situations for two years. And now thanks to Mr. Robert Southgate and his able group of thespians Plymouth people have met the Brewsters and had an evening filled with joyful laughter.

You can't get serious over the Brewster family even though their actions seem quite criminal. If you listen long enough to dear little Abby, effectively played by Mari Lynn Walters, you soon believe that she is quite harmless. Old George thought her shuffling walk added little to the characterization. Maturity could have been suggested through a slower gait and with a more hesitant speech pattern.

Joe Calhoun as the brother that looks like Boris Karloff maintained his menacing attitude all evening. He seemed steeped in a permanent frown; no doubt, Joe spent many an hour watching Karloff's old movies on TV. Jeff Huntington as his partner in crime used a continental accent to give his role the right touch. Acquiring an accent or dialect is difficult for an actor.

Jeff did the job in excellent fashion. Not once did he switch to another country as is the common failing among amateur actors. Or worse yet, many neophytes lose their accent half-way through the show; suddenly remember who they are and put it back on like a suit of clothes. Naturally, the audience resents such switching. Hale Huber had this problem as he struggled with an Irish brogue.

The choice comic role in the show is the dashing, nutty-as-a-fruit cake brother Teddy. Teddy doesn't have too many lines, but he makes each of them pay-off as he labors under the delusion that he is President of the U.S. Bob Wall "milked" each line and added an imbecilic grin that made the audience wonder who he really an idiot or was he just acting? His quick change upstairs had all the mad, wild spirit of a true maniac. Let's hope that Bob recovers sufficiently to play future roles with the high school group.

Jim McCabe played the sane brother who reviews plays. His frantic actions helped the entire cast keep the fast pace the show demanded. Jim had the largest part and proved himself more than able to handle the professional demands of such a role. He should be seen more often.

Many of the parts were not given enough depth. True, these actors are only high school age. But I'm sure Mr. Southgate would have an easier job if a few of his people had had some drama work through a class he formerly taught — Dramatics. The class in Dramatics was not given this year since class enrollment was too low. Let's hope Dramatics is back in the curriculum during the 1959-60 season. Creative expression is not an art that should die. Who knows we may need to know something besides science and math in our automated years to come?

One last comment: The Broadway company always ended the show with a curtain call for the 12 or was it 13 dead bodies. How I wish that Mr. Southgate had dug up some eager thespians for this macabre, yet hilarious finale to "Arsenic and Old Lace." However, the tableau-type ending as staged by Plymouth thespians provided an interesting and arresting finish to a most enjoyable evening. As they say in the classified section, Dear Robert: come back this fall, all is forgiven.

VFW News

Election of officers for the coming year provided the headlines in news of Post 9695. A good attendance at the March 18 meeting participated. Bud Krumm was elected Commander. Hal Young, Senior Vice-Commander; and Bud Luttermoser is Junior Vice-Commander. The new Quartermaster is Lor Dely; Post Advocate, Jim Vitte; Chaplain, Ken Gust; Surgeon, Gerry Olson; and Ed Olson will be the three year Trustee. Named to represent the Post on the Wayne County Council will be Matt McLellan, Lon Dely, and Chuck Stage. Installation ceremonies will be held on Saturday, April 25. This would be an ideal time to renew interest in the Post and volunteer to take part in the formulation of policy and activities of the Post. With greater interest many things can be accomplished with an emphasis on service to the community as well as to veterans.

Preparations are continuing for the 13 Anniversary and mortgage burning ceremonies on Saturday, April 11. This will be a potluck beginning at six p.m. Chairman Ed Kopski advises that invitation cards have been mailed, however, they are not necessary to attend, but he would appreciate a call. Please bring a dish to pass. The actual burning ceremony promises to be interesting. Dancing will follow the dinner and ceremony.

Everyone who attended the St. Patrick's Dance on March 14 agreed it was a real success. Chairman Krumm is to be commended as well as others who visited.

The post provided a color guard under Hal Young at the Burrough's Day parade on Saturday, March 21. The Guard consisted of Ed and Gerry Olson, Harry Bartel, Dick Charbonneau, and Hal. The wind was brisk but certainly made the flags flutter.

An unanimous motion was passed at the March 18 meeting that the Post contribute to the Plymouth drive for Easter Seals. At this meeting a past commander, Matt McLellan was in attendance. He was most welcome and it is hoped that he becomes a "regular" again.

Ladywood High School has turned in 20 essays to be judged this month by our three judges who are: Mr. S. William Edgar, scout leader; Father Chely Kubic of Good Counsel; and Mrs. Dardold Cline, a former teacher. The winning entry will be sent to district and it successful there will be sent to department and then national. We hope the student winning national winner. This program under the direction of Eileen Williams has been very well accepted by Ladywood High School.

Shirley Kubic was welcomed into the auxiliary at the last meeting. The Past President's Party at the last meeting was one of the nicest in a long time. Milly Dely, President, elect, was Chairman.

Alba Van Meter, Civilian Defense chairman, arranged for the film, "You Can Beat the A-Bomb." Thanks to Hal Young for running the projector.

Installation will be Saturday, April 25. Past President Marie Norman sent a note from California telling us she was sorry she was unable to attend the Past President's party and that she and Bill are busy and happy.

Birthday celebrations at the last meeting were: Dorothy Wilhelm, Marian Skogland, Betty Krumm and Helen Bowring.

What We're Eating

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department estimates the per capita consumption of major commodity foods in the United States during 1959 at more than 1,600 pounds.

This includes 158.1 pounds of red meat, 353 eggs, 29.8 pounds of chicken, 24.6 pounds of fluid milk and cream, more than 18 pounds of ice cream, 17.5 pounds of butter and margarine, almost 100 pounds of fresh fruits, more than 100 pounds of vegetables and 16.5 pounds of coffee.

Except while asleep or sitting on their eggs, chimney swifts spend almost their entire lives in flight.

Good news on the horizon for Rodgers and Hammerstein music and movie fans. The Penn Theater has brought back for too short a stay the wonderful "King and I" motion picture.

"Auntie Mame" will be in town for over a week so there shouldn't be any excuse for you to miss her wild adventures. Peggy Cass is up for an Academy Award for her hilarious maternity role as Agnes Gooch. Doubt very much that she will get an award — comedy characters rarely do.

Last week, a maternity case cropped up in the news. Babies have been born in cabs, during snowstorms, in trains, in planes, and all but submarines. Out in Long Beach, California (you might know this would happen in crazy California) a Mrs. Virginia Smith delivered her own baby while watching a late, late television movie. She never did go to the hospital or a doctor. For that matter, her husband had gone to bed early since he can't stand the excitement of those late TV films.

She claimed that with the birth of her four other children the hospital had given her too much ether so she decided to have number five while she was comfortable and more actively occupied. Mrs. Smith watched the film, after the birth, to its conclusion. The film? An old George Raft thriller — "Lucky Nick Carter." Too bad they couldn't have been showing "Medic" or "Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal" to provide a more antiseptic atmosphere for the parturient proceedings in the parlour.

Jack Benny's TV spectacular this past week on Wednesday showed signs of comic inventiveness. Jack had Bob Hope helping him throughout the show which didn't hurt his rating on this venture. Old George thought the act with the monkeys was terrific.

Let's hope that another comic repeats the act. Seeing four chimpanzees acting so human made me wonder at times how ludicrous we might really appear to each other at times. The Russian bear bit was priceless also.

Looking ahead to March 29th it appears to be Mary Martin Sunday. She will be on Channel 4 from 4 to 5 p.m. and from 8 to 9 p.m. Those of you that missed "Peter Pan" will want to see her flying scene again. She isn't doing the entire musical comedy again just a few sections. Both of the programs will be called Musical With Mary Martin. If you're a Mary Martin fan, here's your chance to soak up a couple of hours of her melodic magic. If not, there's always Maverick shooting his way out of trouble on Channel 7.

Last week I mentioned video-tape machines. Seems that up to last month there was only one company on the market with these tape machines. Now the Ampex corporation has some competition in the form of the giant RCA company. They are putting out a much superior video-tape machine for $49,000. Just thought I'd let you know in case you wanted to save five thousand dollars as Ampex is robbing everyone by asking for $54,000 per machine.

So much for the local movie scene and the TV screen. What's been happening on Broadway for the past week or so? Well, as I predicted "Raisin in the Sun" has come through a solid hit. All the critics had nothing but high praise for the show. First time that a Negro authoress has ever been represented on Broadway. Miss Hansberry who wrote the show is only 28 years old. Nice to have a hit on your hands so early in life.

The other hit that swept into town was "Sweet Bird of Youth". Only dissenting voice that I heard was Time magazine. They felt the show was a re-run of "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof". If this show runs as long as "Cat" did, Tennessee Williams can chuckle at the Time review all the way to the bank. He already has a contract in his back pocket for the movie rights—a cool $400,000. At those prices I can afford to write several versions of "Cat On a Hot Tin Roof."

"Juno", the musical comedy version of Sean O'Casey's "Juno and the Paycock", did not receive welcome from the critics. They panned the show. Too bad since I have a fond spot in me heart for all of the Irishman's works. Main comment on its failure was that there was too much music and not enough of O'Casey's original play. The producers closed the play after trying to make a go of it for a couple of weeks.

"Goldilocks", the Jean Kerr musical about the silent movies, closed also leaving a crowd of hungry bears that lost $300,000 worth of porridge. That kind of money can cause any group of investors in theatrical productions to shake their heads and wipe away a bitter tear. Which just goes to prove that not all the shows end up being red-hot money makers like "My Fair Lady" or "The Music Man". They are the exception to the rule. Show biz is usually dangerous biz.

The Plymouth Theatre Guild counted up all its loose change the other evening at the March meeting and announced that the last play had come out on the profit side of the ledger. Bob Houghton, business manager, proudly stated that they would hit pretty close to six hundred dollars in the black. Let's hope we can continue to have such stout box office with the last play of this season.

Tryouts are over and Bob Wall tells me that the leads in "Wake Up, Darling" are as follows: John Glanz is playing the long-suffering husband, Don; Bob Luchetti has the wild role of Deerfield who has one love scene after another; and Ruth Manzi is a giggled the witty, wisecracking part of Martha, the long-drinking secretary.

Jackie Gagnon, long remembered for her memorable role in "Desk Set", has the part, snappy role of Mrs. As Bob ships the rest of the names to me, I'll let you know how the tryouts turned out. He has a desultory way about him that grinds me at times.

Time to close up the scene shop for another week. I'll be back next week with some comments about the local high school play and Shaw's "Saint Joan", two productions that I previewed in my peregrinations.
