

Judge overrules State Board in Owen-Gage-MFC hassle

The embattled Owen-Gage School District chalked up another legal victory last week against the State Board of Education.

In a ruling issued Friday, Ingham County Circuit Court Judge James T. Kallman ordered the State Board to vacate its April 7 resolution instructing State School Supt. Dr. John Porter to vote no on bond sales to build a new Owen-Gage High School.

Porter is a member of the all-important Municipal Finance Commission (MFC) which must unanimously approve sale of all municipal bonds before they may be sold. Owen-Gage voters okayed the bond issue last Dec. 20.

Since then, MFC "returned" the bond issue to the district pending the outcome of property transfer court cases. The district resubmitted the request, which was tabled last week.

Owen-Gage Supt. Ronald Erickson said Monday Judge Kallman's order in effect says the State Board acted illegally when it "advised" Porter to vote no on the bond issue.

Erickson said once the advisory document is rescinded, Porter will be acting as an individual at the MFC. He said the ruling increases chances for the bond issue's approval.

According to Charles Keeley, an assistant attorney general in charge of education, Kallman's oral decision directs lawyers for both sides to prepare an order based on the judge's opinion.

Keeley said the state is proposing that the April 7 resolution be rescinded. As soon as details are ironed out, he said, the order will be sent to the State Board.

Keeley said the state has no plans to appeal the ruling. "It would be too insignificant to make an issue of it (the ruling) at this time," Keeley told the Chronicle.

"As far as we're concerned, it will not be appealed."

Erickson said attorneys representing persons seeking to transfer from the district have filed a motion to intervene in the MFC squabble. The superintendent said the law firm also represents the Laker School District and Huron Intermediate Supt. F. James McBride.

A hearing before Judge Kallman is set Oct. 1 on the motion.

A spokesman for the Department of Education said Monday the State Board plans to study Kallman's ruling in a special session scheduled Wednesday. No official response is expected before then, he said.

On another legal front, Erickson said he plans to file a protest with state officials charging Cass City school buses are being sent into the so-called "Belk-Coe" property.

The parcel had been approved for transfer to Cass City but was ordered held up by Judge Kallman. Erickson claims Cass City has sent buses into the territory to pick up transfer students.

Cass City School Supt. Donald Crouse denied any improper bus runs are being made.

CASS CITY'S Bicentennial Commission closed shop Monday night when it presented checks totaling $1,416.97 to Zonta Club for its pool fund raising project and to the Cass City Arts Council for restoration of the Cultural Center's second floor. From the left are Linda Albee, Arts Council; bicentennial vice-chairman, Rev. Harry Capps, chairman Jack Esau and Zonta Club representative Helen Baker.

Two killed in separate grinding auto crashes

Two persons were killed and a third remained in critical condition following one of the bloodiest four days on Tuscola county roads in recent memory.

Grant Wesley Ball, 59, of 6806 E. Cass City Rd., became the county's 17th traffic fatality of 1976 Saturday night when he died from multiple injuries suffered in a car-truck crash at the intersection of Mushroom and Crawford Roads late Thursday afternoon.

Caro State Police reported Ball was northbound on Crawford Road when his pickup was struck in the driver's side by a car driven by Josephine Olewski, 68, of Decker.

Mrs. Olewski told police she was eastbound on Mushroom Road at about 25 miles an hour when Ball's truck suddenly darted into the intersection. Police said Ball apparently did not stop for the intersection.

critical condition until Saturday night when an attempt was made to transfer him to a Saginaw hospital.

Ball reportedly died shortly after 9:00 p.m. en route.

Mrs. Olewski was listed in satisfactory condition at Marlette Community Hospital.

The accident took place at 4:15 p.m.

Grant Wesley Ball was born Feb. 14, 1917, in Elkland township, son of the late John and Maggie Pitcher Ball.

He married Miss Laura Crocker, July 15, 1938, in Cass City.

He was co-owner and president of Hunt Construction Co., of Cass City and was a member of the Michigan Road Builders Association.

He was also a member of Salem United Methodist church and chairman of the Pastor Parish Board. He was a former Tuscola county deputy sheriff and a past member of the Gavel Club. He was also a former Evergreen township trustee.

Survivors include his widow; two sons, Wesley of Reese and Donald of Cass City, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were scheduled Wednesday afternoon from Little's Funeral Home with Rev. Eldred Kelley, pastor of Salem United Methodist church, officiating.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

DEFORD MAN DIES

Bruce Edward King, 16, Deford, died at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday night at Saginaw St. Mary's Hospital from multiple internal injuries suffered in a single-car crash near the same Mushroom-Crawford Road intersection early Saturday morning.

Lenora Yax, 15, also of Deford, was listed in critical condition in the neurological ward at St. Mary's Wednesday morning.

King was Tuscola county's 18th traffic fatality of 1976.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies said King's auto was northbound on Crawford when he apparently lost control, ran off the east side of the road and struck a large tree.

Michael Eugene Yax, Deford, and his brother, Edward, passengers in the auto, were listed in serious and fair condition respectively at Hills and Dales General Hospital Tuesday.

The accident took place at 2:40 a.m.

Cass City High School officials refused all comment Wednesday morning on a reported scuffle between two students Tuesday in which a knife was allegedly pulled.

Principal Russell Richards said he is treating the incident as a "discipline problem" and as such refused to discuss it with anyone other than the parents of the students involved.

Richards said police were not called to the scene. Unconfirmed reports said the incident took place shortly before noon. It is unknown whether or not either of the students was injured.

Richards said more information may be released if the incident makes its way to an open school board meeting.

City, was listed in fair condition Tuesday at St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw with multiple injuries sustained when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a car early Sunday evening.

Caro State Police said the youth was injured when he apparently pulled into the path of a car driven by Donald Paul Kulish, 25, of Frankennuth, on Deckerville Road, five and a half miles west of Deford.

Witnesses at the scene told police Kulish could not have avoided the accident, which took place at 6:05 p.m.

TWO INJURED

Two Cass City men were treated at Caro Community Hospital for injuries they suffered in a single-car accident Sunday night near Akron.

According to the Sheriff's department report, a car driven by James Oliver Boyce, 20, of 6445 Houghton St., was being chased by Akron Police Officer Fred Horner east on Elmwood Road when the car went out of control, left the roadway and struck a tree stump.

A passenger in the car, Jack Wayne Hamlett, also of the Cass City address, was injured.

Boyce was cited for driving under the influence of liquor, according to the Sheriff's report. The accident took place at 11:20 p.m.

Mary Schaper, 21, of Kilmanagh Road, Owendale, was treated at Bay City Mercy Hospital for injuries she suffered in a single-car crash early Saturday morning on M-25, three miles southwest of Unionville.

Ms. Schaper was a passenger in a car driven by David James Barrigar, 27, of Caro. Sheriff's deputies said Barrigar was headed south. Concluded on page 12.

FIRE DESTROYED a pickup truck and portable acetylene welding unit being used on the Southeastern Michigan Gas Co. pipeline along Elmwood, four miles southwest of Cass City, Friday afternoon. Firemen said a spark in the welding unit apparently touched off the blaze. No one was injured.

Negotiator sought by board for Medical Care Facility

Tuscola County Commissioners began sifting through a mountain of 1977 budget requests Tuesday during an informal meeting held at the courthouse in Caro.

While still pondering the fate of the county's Medical Care Facility, the board agreed to have labor negotiator Charles Minner meet with the facility's director, Don Peterhans, before talks begin on a new contract for facility workers.

Commissioners felt Minner, who handles negotiations with county labor unions for the board, should find out first-hand "what's going on out there," according to Board Chairman Charles Woodcock.

The board is uncertain what it will do with the facility after January. Problems began when state Medicaid payments were cut back this year.

Last week, the board approved a $50,000 emergency grant to the facility to meet payrolls and other expenses through the end of the year.

In another budget area, Cmmr. Kenneth Kennedy, Millington, told the board it appears the cost to operate a Tuscola County Health Department may be higher than had it stayed with Lapeer county as the Thumb District Health Department.

Last year, the board okayed $80,000 for the health department. This year, administrators have requested $108,000.

Kennedy said Lapeer county benefited from a large number of CETA employees working in their department. He said once Tuscola county has its operation set up, annual operating costs should be less.

He said if the pinch becomes too severe, the county may have to consider laying off some home health care nurses.

Kennedy said under the old arrangement, Tuscola county expenditures benefited Lapeer county more. For example, he said, one of Tuscola's sanitarians spent two days a week working in Lapeer.

A large number of reported septic system complaints in Lapeer county also took manpower away from Tuscola county, Kennedy said.

He defended the split with Lapeer, saying in the long run it would provide better health services to Tuscola county residents.

The board also discussed its move last week to place the health department in charge of coordinating the development of a county-wide landfill system as mandated by the Department of Natural Resources.

Commissioners leaned toward involving private enterprise in a landfill system and not put it in competition with a county-run operation.

Fire destroys portable welder

No one was injured when fire destroyed a portable acetylene welding rig near the intersection of Elmwood and Dodge Roads, four miles southwest of Cass City, Friday afternoon.

Elkland Township Fire Chief Jim Jezewski said the rig, mounted on the back of a 1976 pickup truck, was owned by Floyd Tubbs of South Boardman, Mich., and was being used to weld sections of gas line together on a Southeastern Michigan Gas Co. project.

Jezewski said the blaze probably started from a spark in the welding unit. The truck was engulfed in flames when firemen arrived at the scene shortly after 2:30 p.m.

Firemen managed to keep two large canisters of compressed oxygen mounted on the truck from exploding.

"If It Fitz . . ." Hum along with me

BY JIM FITZGERALD

Hum along with me, and the first one to clack a spoon will be shot. This is going to be about music.

I enjoy listening to any type of music played well, by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra or a drum and bugle corps. My taste is spread so thin I can be found drumming my fingers most anywhere, a concert hall or a cruddy saloon.

I have been known to demand an encore from a bartender who wielded a bar rag with a syncopated beat. But I also buy Texaco gasoline because Texaco sponsors the Metropolitan Opera live on radio Saturday afternoon. On a recent Sunday I loved listening to Bobby Short at Meadow Brook. He is the singer-pianist who has mastered the obscure verse of Cole Porter and Noel Coward. He usually performs in the most intimate lounges, preferably in Paris.

Short is so terrible sophisticated, my dear, he was confused by the huge spotlight shining on the Meadow Brook stage. It was the sun and he had never seen it before. I came away humming with a British accent.

And a few nights later I was at Pine Knob to enjoy Kris Kristofferson who probably never heard of Bobby Short. Kris has most recently gained publicity by making love nude, which is really the only way, but he did it in Playboy magazine. He is as sophisticated as a backhoe.

But when Kristofferson sings his "Sunday Morning Coming Down" I know he wrote about a lot of my old Sundays and it feels bitter-sweet good, even if I am the only man in the crowd wearing a tie. I came away chewing on a strand of straw. So you get the idea. I like all sorts of music, instrumental and vocal. Now comes the sad part. All I can do is listen. I can't play one instrument. I am so tone deaf, it is criminal for me to even try to sing. At least, that's what I was brought up to believe.

As previously reported, I was raised in the shadow of my big sister, Terrible Jean. It was humiliating enough that she was tougher and smarter than her only brother. But she could also sing the entire score from every Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers movie, with choreography.

Relatives were constantly demanding that she perform, which was similar to demanding that Tuesday follow Monday.

No one ever asked me to sing. It was always taken for granted that I couldn't carry a tune, but I never really got a chance to try. Terrible Jean carried all the tunes for our family in her ample mouth and she never put one down for fear someone else might get a chance to lift it.

So naturally, I grew up musically warped (La la tra). I was always the dumb kid "with no ear for music."

After holiday dinners, when the relatives sat around the table singing background for Terrible Jean's solos, I was sent to the kitchen to make sure no one stole the refrigerator.

It is no wonder I developed a mental block which, to this day, prevents me from learning all the words to any song ("I'm dreaming of a white mmmmmmm")

The world probably lost a great musical artist because of my deprived childhood. I was forever forced to seek melodious satisfaction vicariously, applauding when I should be performing. If I had been born into another family, I would probably be playing piano in a bar today. But listening is next best. Some people like to shoot deer or worry about the Detroit Lions. I like to sit on a swivel stool, hunched over a piano bar, with both feet on a brass rail.

In Detroit, my favorite piano man is Ernie Swan at the Salamander Bar. In Port Huron, there's Bob Gibbs and his group at the Curtana. And in Flint, my man is Ray Lowell at the Shorthorn.

Denny McLain used to play the organ at the Shorthorn, before he won 30 games. He was pretty awful but he wasn't the worst noise ever heard there. The worst is the spoon players.

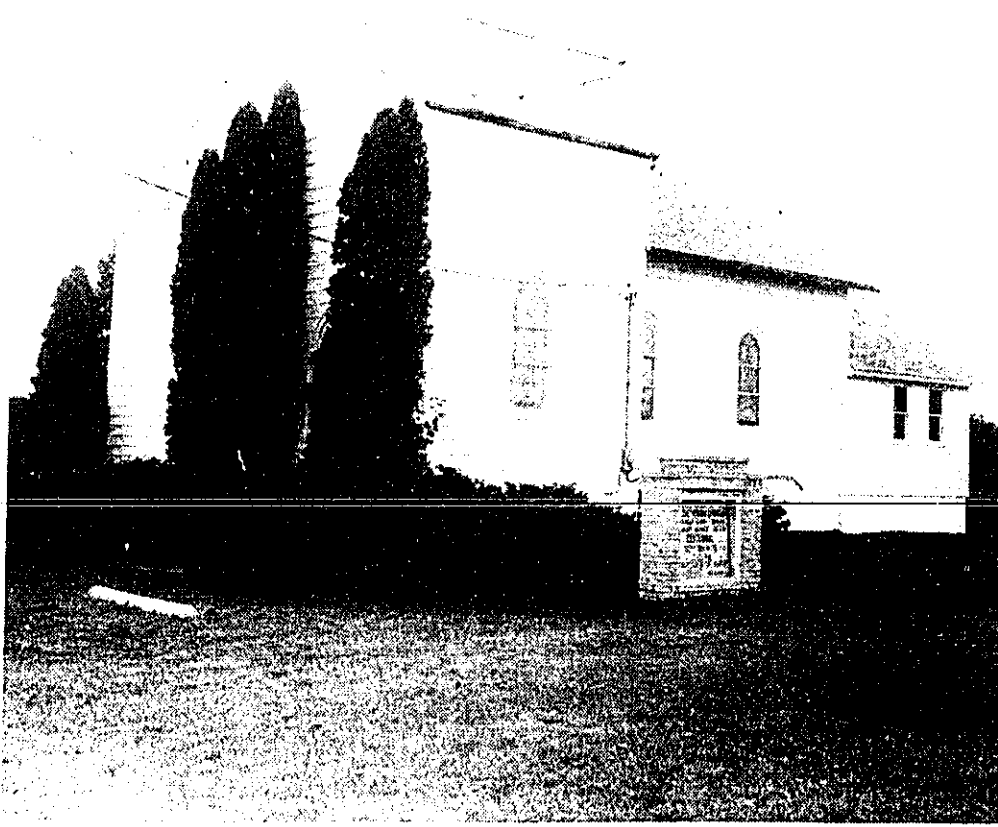

It does no good to hide the silverware. Several Shorthorn regulars bring their own spoons, sticking out of their hip pockets and rattling in their purses. Lowell, who is too nice a guy to scream in agony, allows the spoonists to clack along with his piano. It sounds like a mess hall riot at San Quentin.

If he'll allow that racket, perhaps Lowell will let me sing along with him sometime. If I ever learn a song. "Come to me my melancholy mmmmmmm."

Missionary conference set

The annual Missionary Conference will be held at the Cass City Missionary church, 449 Koepfen Rd., Sept. 23-26. Services will be held each evening at 7:30 p.m. except Saturday and at 11:00 a.m. Sunday. Speakers will be Rev. Richard Starr, missionary to Ecuador, and Rev. and Mrs. John Bontrager from Nigeria. Pastor of the church is Rev. Robert E. Taylor.

FRASER PRESBYTERIAN church will celebrate its centennial with special services Sunday. Fraser is the oldest Presbyterian church in the upper Thumb.

Fraser Presbyterian Church marks centennial

The oldest Presbyterian Church in the upper Thumb area celebrates its centennial next Sunday.

Fraser Presbyterian Church, located on M-53, 10 miles northeast of Cass City, plans a special service, a buffet luncheon and the dedication of a new piano.

The church was placed on the roll of the Presbytery of Saginaw, Sept. 12, 1876, known as the Fraser Church of Tuscola and Huron counties.

According to Rev. Robert von Oeyen, pastor, the church took its name from Rev. Alex Fraser who was appointed to conduct missionary activities in the area known as "old Greenleaf".

The congregation still occupies the original church building, constructed soon after it was founded. By some miracle, it escaped destruction during the Great Fire of 1881. Rev. von Oeyen said. The building remained much the same until 1929 when a basement was dug and the floor raised. Much of the work was done using teams of horses to operate the equipment.

Sunday school rooms were added to the rear of the church in 1958 and new pews and chancel were added in 1968.

The Fraser Church has been linked with First Presbyterian Church of Ubyly for the past 90 years. At one time, the two churches were also joined with a Presbyterian church at Verona, all with the same pastor.

Rev. von Oeyen says the two churches have remained together so that both could support one full-time pastor. The arrangement has worked well, he says, allowing both congregations to keep their own churches.

Sunday's program begins with the morning worship service at 11:15 a.m. A piano, purchased as a memorial gift, will be dedicated.

A buffet luncheon will be served from 1:00-2:30 p.m., followed by a special centennial service at 3:00 p.m. Rev. George Gillette, a former pastor at Fraser, will be the speaker. Arlan Brown recovers faster than any person I know. Tuesday Arlie was recounting how he had his gall bladder and other parts removed.

He bubbled with health as he told it. (Arlie always bubbles.) Anyway, an interested listener asked how long it took to recover and the Cass City native explained that the surgery was only a couple of weeks ago.

You'd swear he never had a sick day in his life from looking at him.

It was the late Sam Blades' syndrome all over again. The Sam what? About five years or so ago the restaurant on the main stem was buzzing with the news that Sam Blades had died.

It was his heart I guess, said one. No, I heard he had a stroke, said another. Guess they will show the body today, another opined.

At that moment Sam walked in for a cup of coffee. Vice-president nominee Sen. Walter Mondale didn't come in for a cup of coffee. In fact he didn't come at all.

But it was all over town that he was going to appear at a Democratic meeting last week at Colony House. The truth is that there never was anything to it, Tuscola Democrats said when quizzed last week.

But the truth never deters a rumor once it starts buzzing over the small town grape vine.

If he were here now, Sam Blades could have told you that.

Not only local fans should be happy when new lights come to Cass City Recreational Park for football games. TV-3 should be happy also.

The cable channel attempted to beam the Cass City-Ubyly game last Saturday and it was SNAFU from the word go.

First a malfunction kept it from appearing at the scheduled Saturday morning time. It was re-run Sunday morning and looked as if the players were romping through a red Martian fog in one of those science-fiction epics.

I've been told that Cass City is slated for one more game. By then the lights should be operating.

If it stops raining.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

This is it. When Dick deBeaubien starts telling me about joining the crowd as my weight edges (rushes) upwards and Phil Retherford says I look the same as I did 30 years ago, that's it.

It's diet time again. For me it's simple to know what to eat on a diet and what to give up.

Just give up everything that's really good, really tasty. Eat everything you really don't like.

I don't need the scales to tell me if I'm really working at a diet. When I start savoring tomatoes, celery and carrots, I'm losing. When dill pickles start looking good my waistline starts to match.

The worst of dieting is the first five days. After that it's not too bad. Not too good, but not too bad.

It's sort of like swimming in cold water. Never pleasant. But after you get numbed up a little you can stand it. But only for so long.

Now we get down to the real nitty-gritty. It's hard to lose weight. But compared to keeping it off it's downhill all the way.

The uphill part is the never ending pressure to eat what you like and as much as you like. Just once.

Like water dripping against a rock it will wear you out and just once becomes just once more and once more and once more. And zoom, all those miserable weeks and months of blood, sweat and tears go down the drain.

The trouble with staying on the diet is that there are no more of those ego boosters that come along when you go from fat John to not so fat John.

On the way down you can look at your belt buckle. It's a trip to count the notches pulled in. One, two, three. Ah! Then there is the clothes gambit. Duck right into the closet and get into those smaller sizes as you shrink.

What a trip it is to pull on that shirt that the wife says you'll never wear again and flaunt it disdainfully in her face when you come prancing in for breakfast. (Makes you forget that your dog wouldn't eat the dry toast and black coffee placed before you.)

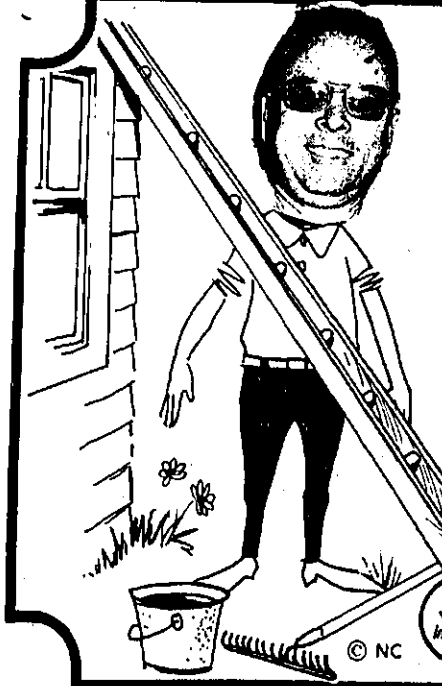

But all those joyous incentives are over when the weight is gone.

When you're thin you're thin. So what? Millions are. No one appreciates your heroic struggle anymore. Your Spartan sacrifices.

The end comes when they ask not if you've been dieting, but if you've been ill. You look beat, not beautiful. Gaunt, not great.

That does it, brother. Pass the potatoes, the ice cream, the pie.

It's wonderful to be full again.

Accident data meeting set

Representatives of the county's police agencies and Road Commission authorities were scheduled to meet Wednesday afternoon at the county jail to discuss development of an accident location index for Tuscola county.

According to Bob Wellington, Road Commission engineer, all county traffic accidents are being placed on a computer which will be used in conjunction with a county map to pinpoint their location.

Wellington said information stored in the computer will be used by both police and the road commission.

"We'll be looking at the data with regard to improving high-accident locations as well as selective enforcement," Wellington said. "We'll also have accident rates available for each road in the county."

Wellington said Wednesday's meeting was the first in a series involving use of the computer.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Atlantic City

politics

By Jim Ketchum

I watched the Miss America beauty pageant the other night. Well, not the whole thing. Just the important part when they announced the winner.

I never could understand why it takes two hours of prime TV time to decide who has the best body out of 50 specimens.

In fact, those two TV hours are just the last part of a week-long parade of some of the best top choice U.S. Grade A female in the country.

Male chauvinist that I am, I have to believe the winner is pretty well decided long before Bert Parks polishes his choppers and croons his way to the microphone in Atlantic City.

I can't believe the greatest architecture in the world could lose just because she couldn't sing or recite Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

Apparently the TV audience thinks the same thing. This year's edition of the pageant chalked up a record 41 per cent of the national viewing audience.

A Republican-sponsored program extolling the virtues of President Ford and why no home should be without one, polled a meager nine per cent when shown at the same time on another network.

These results must tell the politicians something. Maybe if the president had worn a bathing suit and a chest toupe, he'd have done better. He could have brought daughter Susan along dressed in a bikini shooting pictures of her father's biceps. Still, I'm not sure I'd have switched from watching Miss Minnesota to the Ford family frolicking at the beach.

Since audiences still go for pretty girls with smiling faces and classy chassis, maybe the League of Women Voters should take the hint.

They're the folks sponsoring the presidential debates. Perhaps the debate should be moved to Atlantic City with Bert Parks as moderator.

You could hire a panel of judges to sit in the orchestra pit ready to mark each candidate on poise, talent, congeniality and physique. Throw in a few production numbers about civil rights, abortion and income taxes and you've got it made.

What network wouldn't jump at the chance to sponsor it? With each candidate escorted by the first or second or third runner-up from the earlier Atlantic City clam-bake, you'd be assured of a huge audience.

When the president and Jimmy Carter finished, the judges could announce the winner. First prize would be two-thirds of New Jersey's electoral votes, with one-third for the loser.

(I'm told in New Jersey politics, it really doesn't matter who you vote for anyway.)

With Parks singing, "There he is, Mister President", the ceremonies could conclude on a festive note, with the Mormon Tabernacle Choir providing background music. Anything for clean politics, I say.

INFLATED DOLLARS

People never really understood how easy it is to fly until they see their money doing it.

BRUCE EDWARD KING, 16, Deford, died late Tuesday night from injuries suffered in a single-car crash on Crawford Road, five miles southeast of Deford, early Saturday morning. Three passengers in the auto remained hospitalized in conditions varying from critical to fair. (see story, page one)

More unemployment money for Thumb?

A change in the Thumb Area Consortium's status could mean more dollars to fight unemployment in the three-county area.

Director Frank Lenard told board members during a Thursday meeting in Cass City the Consortium is in line for designation as a prime sponsor.

Prime sponsorship means the Consortium would deal directly with federal Department of Labor officials for funding. Presently, as a program agent, Lenard must go through the state's labor department which costs the area five per cent of each CETA program along with five per cent of all CETA monies flowing into Michigan.

The change should mean more money to operate CETA programs which totaled over $6 million for the Thumb this year.

When the Consortium recently earned the program agent status, it theoretically eliminated county lines when it comes to funding. The change had been a goal of Sanilac county commissioners who believed their county was being shortchanged in comparison to Tuscola and Huron counties.

Now CETA funds will be allocated for the three counties as a unit, not on a per-county basis.

Lenard said the Consortium's formal request for prime sponsor status would probably be submitted in early spring. He said federal officials told him they see no problems with the request being granted.

It's too early to tell how much more money may be headed for the Thumb. Figures won't be available until Congress appropriates new CETA allocations for 1977.

Current unemployment totals show Huron county with 13 per cent, or 2,025 persons without jobs; Tuscola county with 11 per cent or 2,500 persons out of work and Sanilac county with 7.9 per cent or 1,300 jobless residents.

Sanilac commissioner Sam Work, Crosswell, criticized the figures as inaccurate and said his county should press legal action against the Michigan Employment Security Commission to reform its record keeping.

Unemployment figures are one basis for allocating CETA funds.

In other business, the board okayed contracts with the Human Development Commission for Title I Work Experience. The contract totals $302,693, of which $213,495 will be spent on wages. An estimated 190 persons will be served from Oct. 1 through Sept. 30, 1977.

The board also gave its approval to a payment program with MESC for $210,125. MESC issues weekly checks to persons participating in classroom training programs run by the Consortium. The program is virtually the only connection the board maintains with the state employment service.

Lenard reported CETA Title VI has been extended by Congress, but the program is still not funded. He said money for the program probably won't be approved until after the November election. He speculated that new funding will probably equal the present $2.3 million for the Thumb.

Board member Calvin Reibling, Elkton, was critical of some Title VI jobs which he felt were simply make-work projects.

"It's fine to create jobs, but if that's what we're supposed to do, we should create jobs that last permanently," he said. "If an employer says we don't need these people when the money runs out, he didn't need them in the beginning." Lenard said he favored WPA-type projects where a work crew could be organized for a specific project, such as the construction of a ball field at Port Hope this year.

FINANCIAL REPORT

Through Aug. 31, the Consortium has spent $4,809,946 in fiscal year 1976. A balance of $1,578,331 remains. A total of 859 participants were involved in five CETA programs.

A breakdown shows 209 persons in Title I programs which have cost $1,115,011 through Aug. 31, with $218,065 remaining to be spent.

Title II public service employment programs employed 203 persons at the end of August at a cost of $996,636, with another $1,273,299 remaining to be spent.

Title III (Summer Program for Economically Disadvantaged Youth) employed 342 persons at a cost of $312,808, with another $66,703 remaining to be spent.

A total of 99 persons were employed in Title VI public service employment programs which have cost $2,306,738. Another $9,314 remains to be spent.

The Title X Port Hope project has cost $18,751 with another $10,948 to be spent. The project has employed six persons.

Yes to deposit bottles

Voters will have a chance in November to decide whether or not they want to ban the sale of non-returnable bottles and cans. The proposal would also place at least a 10 cent deposit on all beer and soft-drink cans and a five cent deposit on bottles.

John Norlock of 6265 Pine St., says he thinks the proposal is a good idea.

"I came here from Detroit and the littering problem in the city has grown to an extent beyond approach," he says. "I could walk out on my front lawn each morning and find anywhere from a half case of empty beer bottles to clothing."

He says he'd favor the deposit idea.

"I'd be very much opposed to non-deposit containers," he says.

Norlock says a deposit on bottles and cans would make them more valuable and they would be less likely to find their way to Michigan's roadsides.

Norlock has lived in Cass City nearly five years. He and his wife have three children and five grandchildren.

BETTER HEALTH

Drugs and medicines

BY DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

(Substituting for the vacationing Dr. Welch this month is Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, former nationally syndicated columnist and Emeritus Consultant of Medicine, Mayo Clinic. These selections are taken from "Dr. Walter C. Alvarez on Health and Life," published by Major Books.)

Once I learned a very important lesson in the use of drugs. Because people have different responses to drugs, not everyone will get the desired effect of a drug with the dosage "in the book." When a drug has no effect with the usual dose, it is sometimes necessary to increase and even double the amount.

Naturally, I am not saying that if one pill is good, two ought to be twice as good. The important point is that the doctor should increase the dose when the standard amount does not give the desired effect.

A woman of 45 came into my office much distressed by the typical menopausal symptoms such as flushes, sweats and depressions, which followed a hysterectomy, in which her ovaries were removed. She said that several of the doctors who she had consulted had given her an ovarian hormone, but it had no effect at all.

It occurred to me she might be one of those persons who are resistant to drugs. I told her to start increasing the doses of ovarian hormone slowly until her breasts got sore and then to stop. Soon she reported that they got sore with six pills, so I had her drop back and on four pills a day, she was a new woman, perfectly happy and well.

For many years, doctors have not seemed to realize that people have many different reactions to drugs and it doesn't make sense to prescribe one dose for everyone, expecting to get the same result. Some people are very sensitive to drugs; some don't react at all to a big dose; others react to a usually harmless drug with nausea and vomiting or even skin rash.

Many persons have what we doctors call side reactions - sometimes so unpleasant or dangerous that the patient must immediately stop taking the medicine.

To illustrate: I once saw a fine businesswoman who said that when she got severe arthritis in her hands, her doctors had given her plenty of cortisone, a marvelous but powerful drug. It gave her great relief from the pain, but a few weeks later she woke up in a mental hospital, because the drug caused a psychosis, as it sometimes does when it is taken in too-large doses for too long a time.

Some of our powerful modern drugs should not be taken in combination with alcohol or in combination with each other. A patient is wise to ask his doctor if he can safely take alcohol with the drug that he is being given and also he should tell the doctor honestly what other drugs he is taking at the time, perhaps those prescribed by another specialist.

Two drugs might work together in an unpleasant way and injure you. "The Medical Letter" states, "Two or more drugs administered at the same time or in close sequence may act independently, or they may interact to increase or diminish the intended effect of one or both of the drugs, or a new and unexpected reaction may occur."

Unfortunately, we doctors do not often enough warn our patients of the dangers of taking two drugs at the same time. For example, aspirin-like drugs (called salicylates) can interact with anticoagulant drugs, which are often prescribed after a heart attack or stroke to cut down on the tendency of the person's blood to clot. The aspirin increases the effect of the anticoagulant, and this can be dangerous.

For the booklet, "Migraine or Sick Headaches," send 25 cents and a long stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. William J. Welch, Box 4994, Dept. CCC, Des Moines, Iowa 50306.

How grateful I am for my church! It has helped me find answers, strengthened my faith, how comforting to be able to guide the religious training of my child as his questions grow in scope and depth!

More than anything else I want to share with him the wealth of love and understanding, joy and strength I have found in the love of God and His Church.

E. B. Schwaderer, Cass City contractor, was awarded the contract for the construction of four miles of concrete pavement on M-81, starting at Caro and running northeast towards Cass City. His bid was $137,050, which was approximately $500 lower than the next lowest bidder.

AROUND THE FARM

Expo time draws closer

By William Bortel

The term Expo has been used many times during the last year in celebration of the bicentennial. However, as we think of the Expo here in Tuscola County, it means the Michigan Corn-Sugar Beet Expo which will be held in our own backyard Oct. 5 and 6. Enthusiasm is certainly high among local folks and the participants which will be putting on this large show.

There will be 118 exhibitors participating and showing their equipment and wares. This will be something like a State Fair exhibit in that it will cover approximately 40 acres of displays. In visiting with the companies we understand they will be dressing up their exhibits with rail fences, colorful signs and many other attractions for the visitors. The companies will be spending many thousands of dollars in putting this show on for the folks of this county and the State of Michigan.

This is truly a great opportunity for you and your neighbor, both rural and urban, to see agriculture in action. We are estimating attendance of approximately 10,000 people and we certainly hope a large percent of the people in Tuscola county will take part in this great activity.

The Expo will be held at the Richard Donahue farm at the corner of Cass City and Remington Roads, northeast of Caro. The program starts at 9:00 a.m. both days and concludes at 5:00 p.m. You will see more large equipment - four wheel drive tractors and other agriculture equipment - in action at this location than you probably have ever seen in your lives. The only exception would be the folks which have attended the large progress shows in other states.

For further questions in regard to the Michigan Corn-Sugar Beet Expo, contact the Extension Office in Caro.

Publicity is a great reformer—it has both many corrective and deterrent qualities.

The foundation is providing over $1,500,000 in grants for the total statewide informational network program which will tie Michigan's libraries to the state's regional library system centers, the State Library Service in Lansing and the Michigan Library Consortium with the national cataloging service of the Ohio College Library Center of Columbus, Ohio.

Lori Comment- her hip's loss is her foot's gain

west on M-25 when he failed to make a curve. The car left the roadway, struck a ditchbank and flipped over, coming to rest on its top.

Barrigar was treated for minor injuries at Bay City Mercy. The accident took place at 2:50 a.m.

Alice E. Paling, 53, Marlette, was treated for multiple injuries she sustained in a single-car accident on Kingston Road, about a mile south of Kingston, Friday night.

Caro State Police said Ms. Paling was headed north when she apparently lost control of her vehicle. The car ran off the east shoulder, crossed to the west side, rolled over, slid down a steep embankment and landed on its wheels.

She was treated at Marlette Community Hospital. Police noted the car left 65 feet of skid marks at the scene.

The accident took place at 7:00 p.m.

Know diver's flag

Know a diver's flag when you see it? For boaters, that's a must. State law requires boaters to stay at least 100 feet away from the flags on Michigan waters.

Those stay-at-a-distance flags have a red background with white diagonal stripe and usually are attached to inert-tube-type flotation devices. They're required equipment for underwater explorers in Michigan.

One of Michigan's more just a spectator long ago. She may yet be a diver instead of just a watcher if recent surgery proves successful.

A week before school started, Miss Comment, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Comment of rural Gageton, underwent a "bone block" during four hours of surgery at Bay City General Hospital.

The unusual surgery included transplanting a bone from her right hip into the outside of her right ankle. The purpose, she explained, is to bring the foot into a normal walking position instead of turning inward.

In order to make room for the extra bone, doctors had to split the bottom of her foot open and expand it.

"I was sleeping most of the first three days," she recalled recently following a day of classes. Her long slacks and a knitted slipper hid most of the cast. "I really don't remember too much what went on."

Thomas Russell, Cass City, pleaded guilty to driving with an open alcoholic beverage container in his vehicle when he appeared this week in Tuscola County District Court.

He paid a $35 fine and $65 in costs.

She said doctors simply stitched up her hip, placed her leg in a cast and sent her home after a week.

Since then, she's been hobbling around on an ever-present set of crutches. She'll be stuck with them until late November.

That's when doctors will remove her cast and she'll know whether or not the surgery was a success. She made it through surgery with no problems and she's been given encouragement.

But there's still a long way to go before she'll be able to play basketball or do much else.

"If this works out, they'd like to do my left foot, too," she said.

She still wears a specially-built shoe to support her left flames from spreading into a nearby cornfield.

Jezewski said the unit was powered by a gasoline engine mounted on the rear of the pickup. He said a spark may have originated near the small engine, setting off the fire.

Loss was set at $15,000. Firemen remained at the scene about one hour.

Elkland township firemen were called out early Sunday night to douse a scrap lumber fire at the Stan Morell residence on Hurds Corner Road, six and a half miles west of Cass City.

Jezewski said state regulations prohibit the burning of lumber used in any phase of construction. Trees and brush may be burned with a permit, he said.

The fire chief said it is unknown who reported the fire, which was extinguished around 7:15 p.m.

Morell was not cited.

foot, which also turns in. She said doctors decided to operate on her right foot first since it was in the worse shape.

Miss Comment recalled her problems started in about the seventh grade. Since then her feet have hurt most of the time, she said. About the only thing she could do with little difficulty was swimming.

She was ordered not to wear tennis shoes or participate in sports. The only shoes she could wear were her specially built pair.

She's the only person in her family to suffer from the affliction. Her brother and sister, age 14 and 13, have had no problems, she said.

Miss Comment says she hasn't had any pain or discomfort to speak of since she left the hospital, although she has a supply of pain pills just in case.

"The only thing is I don't like to have to ask someone to carry my books for me," she said, flashing a smile.

Although she can't participate in sports, she is serving as the girls' basketball team's manager this year, assisting Coach Kally Maharg. Mostly she keeps statistics.

She admits she'd really like to be out on the floor during practice and especially during a game. "I really love sports," she says.

Her crutches and cast also get in the way of another pastime, school dances. "I still go, but about all I can do is sit," she says.

Miss Comment's surgery hasn't slowed her down a great deal. She puts in a full day of classes, helps with the girls' basketball team and still finds time to help out her father at Charmont, which he owns.

Deep down, however, she admits she'd rather be practicing set shots or being part of a fast break on the basketball court.

She's hopeful one day she will.

LORI COMMENT, 15, is on the mend following an unusual "bone block" operation on her right foot. Doctors transplanted a bone from her right hip in order to straighten the foot. She expects to be in a cast until November.

Letters to the Editor

Pastor tells abortion views

September 17, 1976

Mr. Jim Ketchum, Editor
Cass City Chronicle

Dear Jim:

You very accurately quoted me last week saying that I believe abortion is murder. I also said that I am willing to support a constitutional amendment prohibiting abortions with three exceptions. Please allow me just a further word of explanation.

Actually, I believe all abortion, except to save the mother, is murder.

I would, however, support a constitutional amendment allowing abortion of pregnancies resulting from rape and incest because studies show that an amendment of that type would pass Congress and be ratified by the States.

The same studies show that an amendment without those exceptions would have no chance of becoming law.

An amendment prohibiting abortion except to save the life of the mother, and excepting pregnancies resulting from rape or incest, would stop more than 99 per cent of all abortions.

I would support any government action to stop the abortion mill.

I am glad that the issue is part of the Presidential campaign. It should also be an issue in congressional campaigns. It is a national disgrace to allow the murder of the unborn. God will judge our nation for this horrendous sin!

I am glad that some of our area ministers take a strong stand against this evil practice.

Sincerely,
Lloyd L. Streeter
Pastor

Sept. 17, 1976

Dear Mr. Haire,

Enclosed find check to renew my Cass City Chronicle for another year. Please pass the word on to the person who covers the Owen-Gage School Board meetings. "They are doing a fine job."

My husband and I look forward to reading it since he resigned from the board over a year ago when our daughter made the decision to attend Lakers High School.

Your articles are the next best thing to being at the meeting in person.

Keep up the good work.

"The study came up with conclusions that are ambivalent, if not downright contradictory," says Motor News.

For example, 70 per cent of those queried statewide were in favor of bus system improvements. But asked about spending state tax dollars on such improvements, only 35 per cent would increase spending while 32 per cent favored spending the same amount as at present.

The study also indicated Michigan residents will support improvement and maintenance of highways and improvements to bus systems and railroads, but would oppose building a rapid transit system in Detroit or more metropolitan freeways or interstate highways.

"Unclear from the 57-page report," says Motor News, "is whether support of public transportation would translate into actual usage. That is significant, since backers of public transportation urge subsidies for capital costs and operation of that transportation."

The specific question, "Do you favor or oppose rapid rail transit, above or below ground?" elicited no majority anywhere. Statewide, averages were 30 per cent for and 35 per cent against while 35 per cent said they didn't know.

Motor News said the negative response to mass transit indicated that a lot of educational work needs to be done if there is to be any broad support for the long-debated, multibillion-dollar Detroit mass transit plan.

"Half of those living in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties said they didn't know if they would use such a system," the article continues. "Perhaps that might be expected in a state where, the study notes, 89 per cent of those employed use cars to get to work."

Motor News noted that public transportation becomes more attractive statewide as gasoline prices increase, but gas would have to cost $1 per gallon before 50 per cent of those surveyed say they would use buses.

Plan pre-school workshop

Ailene Mills - Extension Agent

Play and its role in your child's development will be the topic of a workshop for parents and teachers. Sept. 28. The workshop, sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac counties, will be held at 6:00 p.m. at Wildwood Farms, just south of the intersection of M-81 and M-53 near Cass City.

The workshop fee of $4.00 will cover dinner as well as the presentation by Extension Child Development Specialist Jean Brown and graduate students Kathy LeBlanc and LeeAnne Harness.

Tuscola County Extension Home Economist, Ailene Mills, who organized the workshop, points out that play is the preschool child's work. "Young children in today's world have much to learn," Mrs. Mills says. "They have to learn how to get along with other people in the family and community. There's the whole world of nature to explore, and there's the man made world: vacuum cleaners, the kitchen stove, automobiles and airplanes--they're all wonders to learn about."

"The world that contains these wonders is large, complicated and more than a little scary," she notes. "but the child can cope with it by reducing it to a smaller world where he is in charge. This is the world of play."

"Through play, the child exchanges relationships between people, between people and nature, between people and the things they have made, and between things and ideas and other things and ideas," Mrs. Mills explains.

Parents are a very important part of the child's play, she points out. They set up the environment for play so that it is safe and interesting and provides the play materials. They also play with the child and so enrich his play and stimulate the child to find new possibilities in familiar objects and games.

The workshop will cover why play is important and what parents and teachers can do to promote learning by their children. Anyone interested in attending the workshop should contact the Tuscola County Extension Office, Civil Defense Center, Caro. The paid registration deadline is Sept. 22.

Watchin' the radio

"Fibber Magee and Molly" and "Walter Winchell" were a must on radio back in the 30's and 40's. The whole family would stare at that old mahogany cased console as news of the world blared out or Fibber Magee's closet clashed, clanged and spilled out everything from golf clubs to hub caps. Farm families were close knit... everybody pitched in, the children shared the chores, and when the work was done it was a good time to be together. A time to give thanks for good land, enough rain and sun and a bonus at harvest time.

It was this spirit then and today that makes farming a special kind of occupation. One that takes special people with real values and a love of their work to succeed. The farm family is the oldest institution in America and they haven't found anything to replace it yet.

Farming is still... the hand that feeds you.

Robin Sullivan wins band slot

A good share of next summer has already been set aside by Robin Sullivan, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sullivan of Gagetown. She'll be one of 77 young persons touring three Scandinavian nations as a member of the prestigious 1977 Blue Lake International Band. Joining the band isn't a matter of simply showing up for rehearsals. It takes talent and lots of hard work, according to her Owen-Gage High School band instructor Miss Jeri Blough.

"Robin is an excellent, outstanding student," Miss Blough says. "She's an excellent musician. She's a help to the band and she can help others, too. She's a leader."

Miss Sullivan was selected following auditions testing her knowledge of musical ability, personality and maturity. She was selected from over 650 high school band students from 20 states and Canada.

What's even more unusual is her selection as a high school freshman. Most members of the Blue Lake International band are either juniors or seniors with four to six years of experience in band.

Miss Sullivan, a clarinetist, has been studying for about three years.

"She started out with her dad's old clarinet," Mrs. Sullivan recalled. "When he gave it to her, he said this will take you places and give you more fun than money can buy."

Her father's crystal ball wasn't fooling. She will leave June 13 following a week of intensive training at the camp, located near Muskegon. The band is scheduled to stop in ten cities in Sweden, Norway and Denmark before returning home July 15.

For herself, Miss Sullivan hasn't said much about the honor. "It's too soon for me to realize that it's actually happening to me," she says.

She's been more interested in concentrating on her music. She won a scholarship from the Owen-Gage band boosters to attend the Blue Lake music camp in 1975.

This year, she won a partial payment scholarship from the camp itself. She's also received first division ratings at junior high district band festivals the past two years.

Miss Sullivan says she's interested in sticking with her music and eventually becoming a band instructor.

While she's a top-notch clarinetist now, she's bound to improve after her swing through Scandinavia, Miss Blough says. "It's a great experience and can make her a better player," she says.

The only thing still standing in the way of the trip is the $1,175 it will take to cover her expenses. Miss Blough says students participating in the International Band are generally sponsored to an extent by the community or school district in which they live.

The Sullivans and Miss Blough don't really see the money as a major problem, however. They're confident when the time comes, she'll be able to make the trip.

Next summer won't be Miss Sullivan's only opportunity to participate in the International Band. Once a student has been chosen, he or she is automatically assured a spot in the following year's group if they so choose.

Rehearsals for the group begin in November on a once-a-month basis until June when the week-long session is scheduled just before the trip begins.

Miss Sullivan should be able to take her experience in stride, Miss Blough says.

"During her audition, she was supposed to have a prepared solo," she said. "She didn't have one so she played a piece she knew strictly from memory."

She agreed you have to know what you're doing to make a memory piece stand up.

For Miss Blough, there's a special interest. When Blue Lake Fine Arts camp opened 10 years ago, she was one of the first group of students to attend.

Now, a decade later, she has a student who loves the experience as much as she did.

ROBIN SULLIVAN, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sullivan of Gagetown, has reason to smile. She was selected to participate in the Blue Lake International band during its 1977 Scandinavian tour. One of 77 students selected from 20 states and Canada. Shown with Miss Sullivan is Owen-Gage High School band instructor Miss Jeri Blough.

NFO sets grain terminal opening

National Farmers Organization President Oren Lee Staley will address Michigan Thumb-area farmers at the grand opening of the new NFO Grain Terminal in Cass City, Sunday, Sept. 26.

Congressman J. Bob Traxler will also speak at the grand opening which begins at noon.

The Cass City facility has over 500,000 bushels of storage and its own rail sidetrack and rail scales to accommodate NFO's fleet of leased rail hopper cars. The facility is owned and operated by local Thumb-area farmers. It's part of a nationwide system of grain elevators, livestock collection points and milk relay systems all owned and operated by NFO member farmers.

Cass City has a sister facility in Scottville which opened in 1974 and has a storage capacity of 300,000 bushels.

Carl Yens sentenced to fines, jail term in Circuit Court

Carl Frederick Yens, Silverwood, was sentenced to probation, fines and costs and a jail term when he appeared in Tuscola County Circuit Court Monday following his guilty plea to a larceny charge.

Yens was sentenced by Judge Norman A. Baguley to three years' probation, fines and costs totaling $400 plus a three-month term in the Tuscola County Jail with no credit for time served.

Yens was arrested in October of 1975 in Dayton town-

Bennie Parker, 35, and his wife Edith, 37, each stood mute and innocent pleas were entered in their behalf. Pre-trial examinations for the pair were set Oct. 18. Each was placed on $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

The pair is charged with accepting $18,302 in welfare payments between September, 1969 and July, 1975, to which they were not entitled.

The plea was accepted and sentencing was set for Oct. 18. Bond was continued at $1,500.

Lindner was arrested Feb. 18 in Dayton township.

Ronald Lewis Shegos, 30, Clio, stood mute during his arraignment on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. An innocent plea was entered in his behalf and pre-trial examination was set for Nov. 1.

Bond was continued at $2,000.

Shegos is charged with carrying an unlicensed handgun in his car. He was arrested Aug. 9, in Vassar township.

Randy Ray Mis, 26, Caro, was arraigned on charges of uttering and publishing (bad check). He stood mute and an innocent plea was entered in his behalf.

Pre-trial examination was set for Oct. 18 and bond was continued at $3,000.

John Dennis Sika, 18, Caro, pleaded guilty to attempted larceny from an auto during his pre-trial examination Monday. The plea was accepted and sentencing was set for Oct. 18.

Bond was continued at $500.

Sika was arrested June 28 in Caro.

Second hand 'junk' may be gem

"Antique-like" items are constantly popping up in many second-hand stores, garage sales and, these days, even at auctions.

One might think that these once-beautiful pieces of furniture will never see a better day. They may be broken or damaged with age and wear, but they can be salvaged.

Second-hand pieces such as dressers, tables, chairs, desks and cabinets are probably the most inexpensive items on the market, and yet they have a lot of potential for becoming prize possessions of the smart do-it-yourselfer.

Anyone with a little knowledge of furniture stripping and/or refinishing can easily refurbish a handsome piece of old furniture. You can make it look like new again!

Big Brothers-Big Sisters future tied to Walk-A-Thon

This Saturday's Tuscola County Big Brothers-Big Sisters Walk-A-Thon shapes up as more than just another fund raising drive. It could spell the difference between a full program and only a portion of it.

According to Director Rich Firebaugh, the lion's share of the organization's $25,000 budget will have to come from Saturday's walk, scheduled for 10:00 a.m. at the Caro Fairgrounds.

"The Walk-A-Thon is of crucial importance to the program as it appears that state funds, which represent 60 per cent of the agency budget, are not going to be reallocated to the program next year," Firebaugh said.

"Thus, the Walk-A-Thon, which contributes the remaining 40 per cent of the budget, is very important."

Big Brothers-Big Sisters is a non-profit organization which works with boys and girls from one parent homes in Tuscola county, providing those children with an adult Big Brother and Big Sister volunteers.

Firebaugh says the state Department of Social Services budget, which totaled about $9.5 million last year, has been cut to $8 million this year. A portion of the budget was an allocation for Big Brothers-Big Sisters.

Firebaugh said even if the $15,000 goal is reached, cuts will probably have to be made. He admitted there is some fat in the program, mostly in the form of activities.

One area he sees as last to feel the pinch is personnel. The Tuscola county organization operates with three staff members who supervise about 60 "matches" of children with adult volunteers.

"Nearly all of what we have now in the way of personnel is necessary," Firebaugh said.

He said if other sources of funding aren't found, the organization may seek help from the already financially strapped County Board of Commissioners.

"We haven't had to do it in the past since we had state funding and help from private individuals in the county," he said.

The program has operated in the county since 1973.

Firebaugh is optimistic that the $15,000 goal for Saturday's walk can be reached. He said support is needed particularly in the Cass City area. "Cass City could be the key for us," he says.

The idea of the Walk-A-Thon is to have participants obtain sponsors who will pledge a certain amount of money per mile completed in the 10-mile walk.

Prizes include three 10-speed bicycles to the three children who bring in the most money in pledges. Firebaugh said 15 other prizes will also be awarded.

Refreshments will be served following the walk.

Pledge sheets are available at area schools or by calling 673-6996.

18th century church service a labor of love

When members of Cass City's First Presbyterian Church gather for their special 18th Century Day Sunday, Sept. 26, they'll be doing more than just eating a large meal and hearing excerpts from a 200-year-old sermon.

"It says we're alive and we're working together," Rev. Harry Capps, pastor of the church, says. "It's an effort to overcome the distance from the beginning of our life as a nation and to recapture some of that colonial faith and feeling."

The celebration is unique since it involves not only church members but the Cass City Arts Council as well. Plans for the day call for displays of crafts such as candlemaking, quilting, rug hooking, weaving, horse shoeing and lots more.

"Our nation has been imprisoned in fear and crisis continually so long," Rev. Capps said. "This is an effort to celebrate and affirm our historic ties with the past."

More importantly, he says, it gives church members a chance to work together using their basic talents. Three members of the congregation, for instance, are carving wooden candlestick holders for a special evening service.

Others are involved with sewing authentic colonial costumes for men and women. Still others are coordinating the huge colonial Virginia feast scheduled that day.

"It's an affirmation of our being a part of the community," Rev. Capps says. "It helps show that the church is a significant institution and that it wants involvement and to share what it has with the community."

The project is authentic, even down to the horses and buggies some members will drive to church prior to the service.

The service will recreate the scene inside a small village church near Revolutionary Boston.

Rev. Capps will preach excerpts of a sermon given by Rev. David Jones on the day of Continental Fasting in 1775. The original sermon ran well over three hours.

After church, a social hour follows on the church lawn, featuring colonial games for the children. Ed Kranz of Harbor Beach will provide music on an old-fashioned fiddle.

The classical Virginia feast, prepared by over 20 church members, is set for the fellowship hall, with dessert served on the lawn. Displays sponsored by the Arts Council will be featured, along with buggy rides until 2:00 p.m.

Activities pick up again at 8:00 p.m. with concert by candlelight called "Revolution-Air", an evening of chamber music from the 1700's performed by a quartet under the direction of Don Yeager, director of the Midland Symphony.

After the concert, a colonial tea is scheduled. Antiques are still being collected for display at the event, including a scene from a typical 1700's household.

A committee of 12 persons has coordinated planning for the day, but Rev. Capps says the project has snowballed into something involving a large part of the congregation.

Mrs. Nancy deBeaubien, one of the workers, says there's more to it than just getting together and having a good time.

"You get a sense of accomplishment out of it," Mrs. deBeaubien says. "You feel as though you're making a meaningful contribution as well as producing good memories from it that last."

Mrs. Ruth Grassman sees a direct link with the country's past.

"Religion, after all, is what brought these people to this country in the first place," she says. "It was the most important part of their lives. I think having contributed something to this and to see the joy it can bring others is part of the reason I'm involved with it."

Rev. Capps sees the event as an opportunity to tap the creative talents of church members in everything from planning and cooking the meal to making candlesticks to producing clothing or a hundred other things.

"To let these resources stagnate would be tragic," he says.

Tickets for the concert are currently on sale. For more information, contact 872-3465 or 872-4035.

COLONIAL STYLE costumes will mark Sunday's 18th century service and activities at First Presbyterian church. Shown putting together one of many colorful outfits are (from the left) Rita Capps, Jan Hartwick, Ruth Grassmann, Nancy deBeaubien, Bobbi Jaye Fischer and Jan Hunt.

CANDLESTICK MAKERS George Cole (left) and Dick Hunt show off some of their handiwork in preparation for Sunday's 18th century service at First Presbyterian church in Cass City.

Record drop in complaints

A decline in complaints, both in Elkland township and countywide, was recorded in August by the Tuscola County Sheriff's department.

According to Sheriff Hugh Marr's monthly report to the County Board of Commissioners, Elkland township recorded 67 complaints in August, compared with 102 in July.

Vassar township led the way with 169 complaints, up 35 from the previous month, followed by Millington with 71, a drop of 37 from July. Elkland township remained third.

A total of 928 complaints were handled by the Sheriff's department, a drop of 71 from July.

The drop was also reflected in the total number of traffic accidents policed by the department. A total of 41 injury and property damage accidents were handled, compared with 75 in July.

Sheriff's deputies issued 168 speeding tickets in August, an increase of 30 from July.

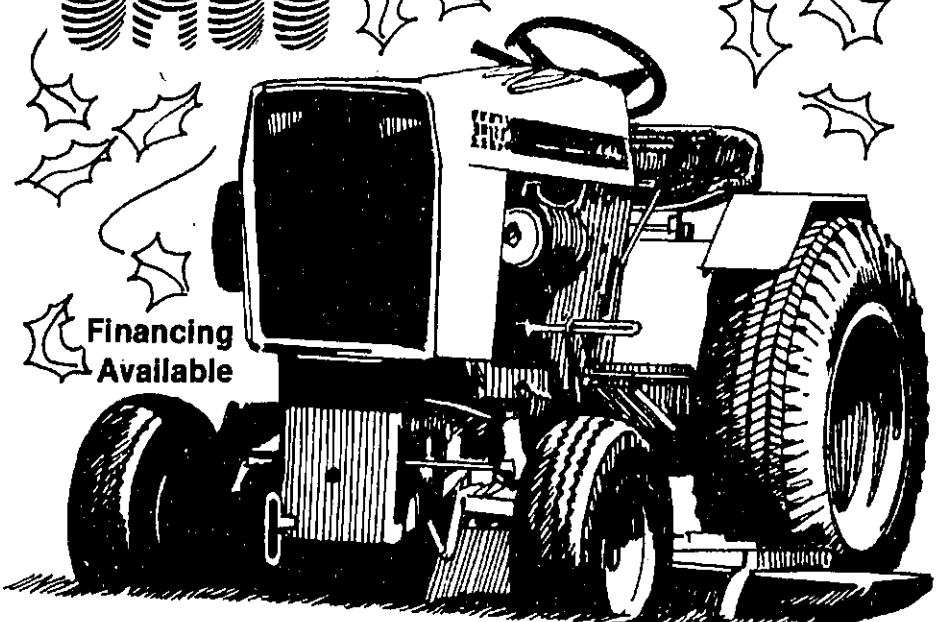

Deputies handled 78 larceny reports, 38 assaults, 36 burglaries, 97 vandalisms and 52 disorderly persons.

The Driver's License Bureau issued 595 renewals, 207 originals and 58 duplicates. A total of 81 voter registrations were handled by the bureau.

Patrol units travelled 30,643 miles and consumed 2,769 gallons of gasoline in August. The county jail received 135 inmates and released 134.

Little sacrifice is involved when some give themselves away.

Deputies probe tape deck theft

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies are investigating the theft of a quantity of tools and an eight-track tape player from a locked van at the Charmont bowling alley Monday night.

According to the deputies' report, thieves broke into a van owned by Robert Rabideau of 326 Gilford Rd., Caro, sometime between 8:30 p.m.

Missing items included the tape player valued at $140, three tapes and a five-drawer tool box containing an estimated $300 worth of hand tools.

No suspects have been apprehended.

The Sheriff's department assisted Cass City Police in probing a break-in at Quvry Chevrolet-Olds in the early hours of Monday.

Hawks prep for Thumb B opener with 20-0 decision over Ubly

The warm up is over and Cass City Red Hawks will get down to the serious business of Thumb B Conference competition Friday when the Sandusky Redskins come to town Friday.

It's a game that is rated a toss-up by most league observers even though Sandusky is coming off a loss to New Haven and Cass City enters the game on the heels of a 20-0 decision over Ubly. Sandusky has a big tough physical team, Coach Roland Pakonen said this week. Back to plague the Hawks for the third straight year is senior Roger Donley, a 190-pound crunching fullback. Donley won't have the help this year that he did in 1975 when a veteran Redskin club pounded out Sandusky's best record (6-2) in 20 years.

But there will be size among the newcomers. Dave Baerwolf is 190 pounds, Jim Maher is 225 pounds and Don Pallas is 185 pounds. That's plenty of size for the Sandusky line.

First game mistakes may have cost Sandusky the victory against New Haven last week.

First game mistakes were numerous in the Cass City-Ubly game, too.

But that's to be expected with a rookie studded team. Especially in the opening game of the season.

Cass City kicked off and held Ubly to take the ball in good field position on their own 40.

The Hawks moved steadily down the field in a sustained drive deep into Ubly territory only to be stopped when Tony Doerr fumbled.

The Hawks took charge again after an Ubly fumble and moved in for the score.

Clarke Haire broke over center and eluded the defensive safety to go 20 yards to pay dirt with 4:46 left in the first period.

The try for point was blocked.

The Ubly Bearcats were not through. For the remainder of the quarter and the first half of the second period, the visitors dominated the action.

Perhaps the key play of the game came midway in the second period. Ubly was moving and ran to the Cass City 8 for a first and goal to go.

Most of the distance was covered on the ground. But coach Dave Zegunis elected to try a pass on first down. When it failed the steam went out of the visitors' drive.

After that, Cass City dominated the game. In the second half Doerr shook the sophomore jitters and started pounding out yardage through the center of the line. Mike Lowe also cracked through the center for valuable yardage.

The Hawks moved in sustained drive down the field from where Lowe rammed it over for the marker. Jeff Hartel passed to Tom Dorland for the extra two points. Early in the third period, the Hawks scored again, moving down field through the center of the line from where Lowe again ran it over from the three.

After that score with over 9 minutes left in the game Pakonen flooded the field with his reserves.

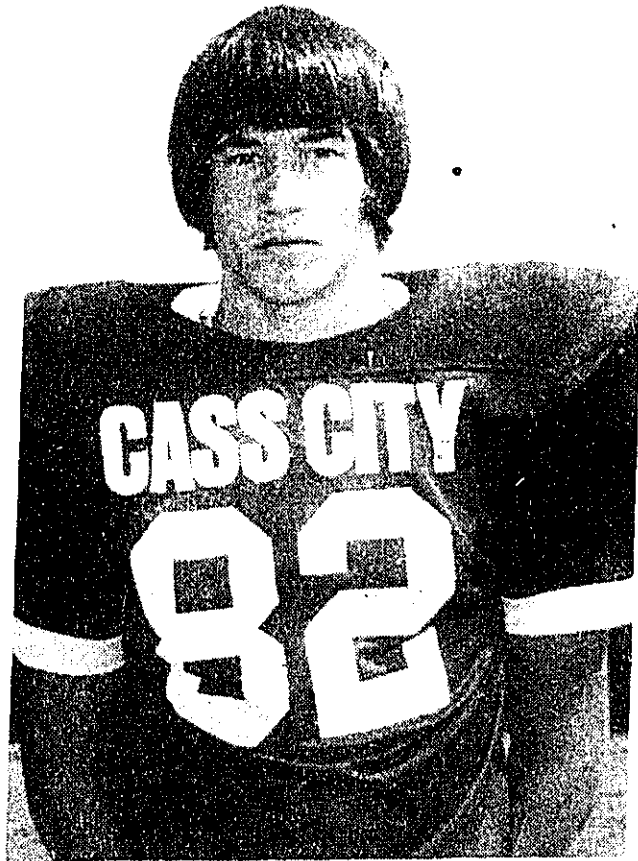

Dorland led the team on defense with 8 tackles. On offense Doerr averaged 5.5 yards on 11 carries for 60 yards while Haire ran for 85 yards in 17 attempts for a five-yard average.

Pakonen said his offensive line did yeoman duty opening holes for the backs. We need to get the defense doing something, he said, and promised to work hard this week on pass protection.

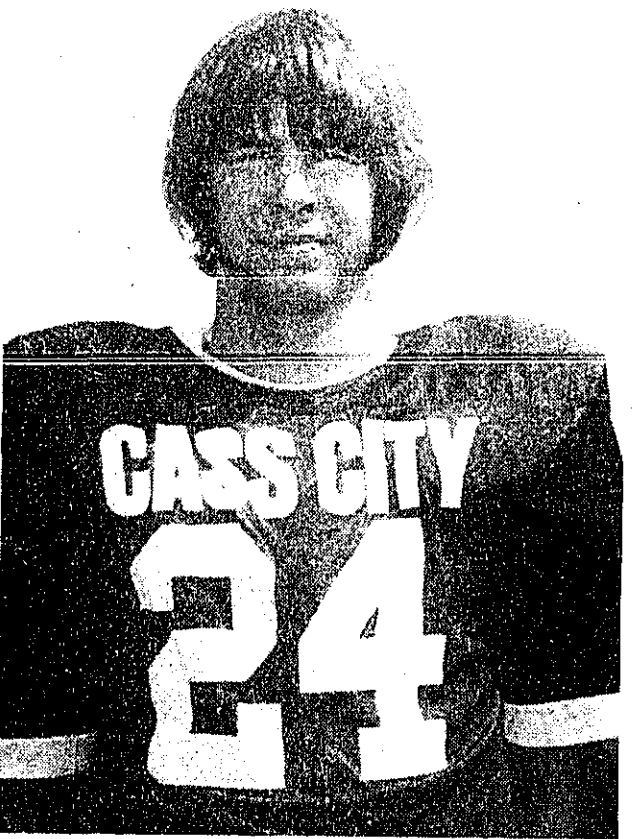

For Ubly, Arnold Osentoski was a power in the line on both offense and defense.

Girls roll to easy win over Sandusky

Cass City High School's Girls' Basketball team raced past Sandusky 61-32 in the opening contest of the 1976 season at Cass City, Monday night at Cass City.

Lisa Zimba led the way with 22 points and 20 rebounds for the Hawks. Beth Erla added 12 points and Elaine Stoutenburg chipped in with nine points in the lopsided Cass City win.

Sandusky's Jill Zook scored 16 of her squad's 32 points in a losing effort.

The Hawks carried just an eight point lead--32-24--into the locker room at half-time, but came back to take advantage of a cold Sandusky third quarter when the Redskins scored only six points.

Coach Kally Maharg said even though her team won, performances were spotty and the club still needs to work on a smoother attack.

In addition to leading all scorers, Miss Zimba also racked up eight steals and three assists, playing half the game offensively and defensively. She also came away with an impressive free throw shooting mark of 80 per cent.

Beth Erla, who collected six rebounds, four assists and three steals, shot 55 per cent from the line.

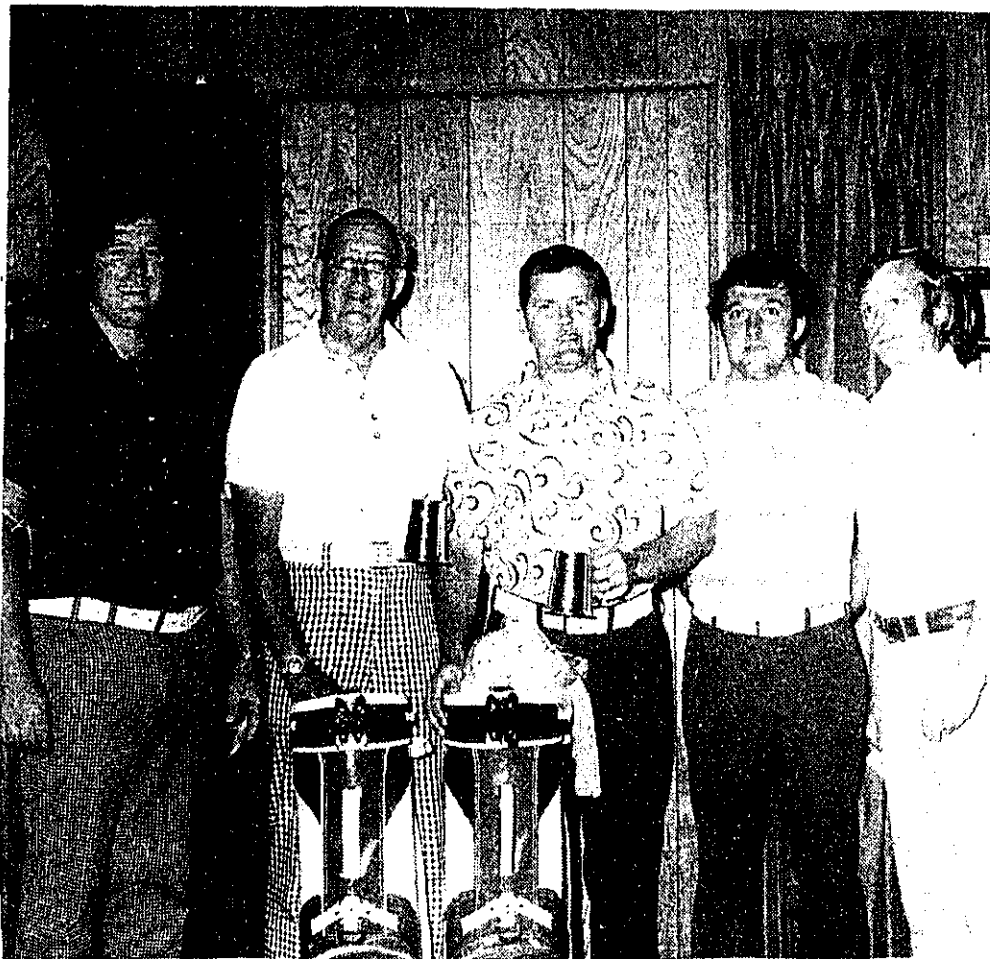

Overall, the squad managed only 28 per cent shooting from the floor.

The Hawks take on Essexville-Garber in a game added to the regular season schedule Thursday. The JV contest begins at 6:30 p.m.

A reminder: drivers don't have to turn on red

Great, isn't it, that new law allowing motorists to turn right on red after stopping. Great for folks in a hurry.

But what about those unfortunate enough to be in the right lane planning to go straight ahead? It's nerve-shattering to say the least to have some impatient car jockey honking like crazy behind you.

cult--are one factor. And cost is another. Officials say it could cost up to $200 a foot to build steel piling seawall. But Michigan may continue shrinking if some efforts aren't made successfully. It's reported that north of Port Huron, a half mile of land has been washed away by Lake Huron since 1837.

Watching a guy in red bathing trunks stack sandbag after sandbag against the slowly eroding shoreline outside his Lake Michigan cottage--you wonder. Will it do any good? More than 70 summer homes and cottages have been lost to Great Lakes' erosion in the past seven years alone. And reports are that another 800 currently are 10-15 feet from edges of

A reminder to all drivers: the Department of State Highways and Transportation says there is no obligation for a driver to turn right after stopping at a red light. (Left either, for that matter, depending on which way the streets go.)

It is a courtesy, however, to stay out of turning lanes if you plan to go straight ahead. This will keep traffic flowing as the new law intended.

One more point about the red-turning law. Seems blind people, long accustomed to walking across intersections after hearing vehicles stop for a red light, now have trouble figuring out when to cross because of cars turning on red.

Michigan's State Police Director George Halverson issues this warning to drivers. They must let pedestrians cross the street BEFORE making a turn on a red light. "Motorists should be especially cautious when they see a blind person about to make a crossing," he says. "They must stop when approaching a person carrying a white cane or accompanied by a leader dog."

Rules for Hunting

Hunters: Don't just shoulder that gun and head out into the woods to do your thing. Take your sharpest wits with you.

Last year, according to a safety expert with the Department of Natural Resources, 234 hunters were hurt in hunting accidents in Michigan. (Some 1.2 million persons took part in hunting activities.)

And, says recreational safety supervisor Frank Opolka, "nearly 50 per cent of the hunting accidents last year happened when the shooter and victim were less than 10 yards apart."

Shotguns were involved in almost two-thirds of the accidents, Opolka recounts, and the most frequent cause of hunting accidents in 1975 was poor judgment on the part of the shooter.

Opolka lists five essential safety precautions: Be certain of your target. Be equally certain no one is in your line of fire. Know where your hunting partners are at all times.

When unloading your gun, check twice before you consider it unloaded. Don't drink alcohol while you're hunting.

Golfers divide 2 league matches

Form was followed in the Thumb B Conference golf competition during the week as Vassar, one of the teams figured to be in contention, handed Cass City its first loss of the season Monday. The score was 161-166.

The Hawks bowed despite having the advantage of playing at Rolling Hills.

Rod Wright was the meet medalist with a 38, but Vassar's over-all strength spelled the difference. Following Wright in the competition was Jeff Prieskorn with a 42 and Mike Richards and Jim Molnar, each with 43's.

Last Wednesday Cass City played at Marlette and rolled to victory, 171-178.

Prieskorn led the team with a 40. Wright shot a 42 and Molnar registered a 44. Mike Richards and Tim Johnson each shot 45's.

The team is now 2-1 in league play and has four wins in five matches.
