

Finance Commission okays Owen-Gage bond sale

The Owen-Gage School district scored its most important victory to date Tuesday when the Municipal Finance Commission (MFC) approved the sale of $1.675 million in school construction bonds.

The MFC okayed the request by a unanimous 3-0 vote. Approval came a little over nine months after Owen-Gage voters approved the issue by a 520-483 margin.

But the battle to stop the bond sale isn't over. Kenneth Voelker, Owendale, a former Owen-Gage Board member, told the Chronicle Tuesday his group plans to file petitions bearing 391 signatures calling for a new bond election.

Voelker says since the bonds weren't sold within six months of their approval, the issue can go before voters again.

Voelker said the request for a new election will be filed as part of the prospectus which he claims MFC still must approve before the bonds can be sold.

"In our opinion, this makes the bonds unsaleable," Voelker said.

Owen-Gage Supt. Ronald Erickson disagreed. He said according to an attorney general's opinion issued June 22, in a case involving New Lothrop, there can be no revolving of a bond issue.

"The electorate has the right to vote yes or no but it cannot rescind a bond issue," Erickson said Tuesday.

He characterized the dissident move as a "last ditch effort". Erickson said MFC's approval of the bond sale was not conditional. The commission speaks through its minutes and the vote was taken on the agenda—the bond sale.

The superintendent issued a warning to the dissident faction.

"In cases where individuals are attempting to lower the quality of education in our school district and for those who are tampering illegally with our district, we will ask for suits against them," he said.

MFC spokesman Richard

Allen said Tuesday a signed order authorizing the bond sale should be in the mail Thursday. He implied that prospectus approval was a stipulation in the MFC's action.

Erickson said he expects bond sales to begin in about six weeks, with construction on a new high school to begin sometime next spring.

The bond sale issue has added fuel to the fires of dissension within the district since it first came before MFC last spring. It precipitated a legal squabble between the State Board of Education and the courts over the board's authority.

In April, the board "advised" State Supt. of Public Instruction Dr. John Porter to vote "no" on the bond sales. Porter, Attorney General Frank Kelley and State Treasurer Allison Green comprise the commission.

It takes a unanimous vote of the MFC before municipal bonds can be sold.

In June the commission "returned" the issue to the district, saying it would make a decision after a number of property transfer cases had been decided.

Owen-Gage resubmitted the issue the following month. Last week, the State Board refused to abide by an order from Ingham County Circuit Judge James T. Kallman that the board withdraw its April directive to Porter.

A board spokesman said Tuesday the issue is no longer Owen-Gage but involves the constitutional authority of the State Board to advise its superintendent. Erickson said the state board is still "in trouble" over its failure to abide by the order.

A new court fight could develop over the attempt to call a new election.

According to a statement released by the dissident group, the struggle over the bonds "is destroying the community".

It cited declining enrollments and lack of accreditation as two of several reasons for the vote. It also said $1.675 million for construction "is likely not enough anymore".

Air complaints over village wastewater plant costs

Cass City will move into its multi-million wastewater treatment plant expansion program with at least one unhappy customer.

Gerald Stilson, representing Wesley's Milk Plant, told council members during a public hearing Tuesday he thinks the user charge system is unfair.

The system assesses industries who dump effluent into the system according to how hard it is to clean up. Stilson told council and planners from Hubbel, Roth and Clark he thinks industry is being hit too hard.

"I think the outlying areas that have been taken into the village ought to take part of this and not put it all on industries," Stilson said.

He implied that if the burden became too great, Wesley's might have to pull out of Cass City.

The meeting, held at the Elkland Township Fire Hall, was part of the federally-mandated procedure for grants which will pay up to 80 per cent of the plant's construction cost. The village share is estimated at around $643,100.

Stilson complained that Wesley's puts from 70,000 to 80,000 gallons of effluent into the present treatment plant, but is charged for 90,000 gallons, since that's how much water the plant uses.

Engineer Jim Hubbel said presently, most cities charge on how much water is used. He said Cass City will have to develop its own system before the plant is completed.

Stilson said he hasn't been able to find out what the allowable tolerance for pollutants is and can't do anything to clean up his plant's effluent.

Hubbel said the Wesley plant is probably the prime contributor to the present disposal system. Figures show in August, the treatment plant handled 381,000 gallons of effluent.

Wesley's contribution is about one-fifth the total, based on Stilson's figures. Stilson also complained about the village's water billing system, saying any usage above 200,000 gallons is a flat rate. He said the more water used, the cheaper it should be per gallon.

At the hearing and during the regular council meeting which followed, Trustee James Ware questioned the size of the plant.

"Are we overbuilding," he said. "What if our projected growth doesn't materialize? Are we then overburdening the taxpayers for something we don't need?"

Village President Lambert Althaver said even if Wesley's did pull out, the plant wouldn't be too big. He said if anything, the plant's life expectancy would be increased.

A large plant would also serve as a calling card for industries looking to relocate in Cass City, he said.

It's estimated the new plant will be handling over twice the present monthly flow by the year 2000.

Meanwhile, wastes from the milk plant are still being monitored. Treatment Plant Supt. Nelson Willy said.

Althaver said the standards are federal, not local, and if Wesley's left Cass City, it would still have to meet the standards.

Freak work accident kills Luis Pierce

Luis Z. Pierce, 49, of 6406 Seventh St., Cass City, died Sunday at Saginaw St. Mary's Hospital from a skull fracture he suffered in a work accident Saturday morning.

Pierce and another man were reportedly hauling away scrap metal from behind Erla's Food Center in Cass City when the accident took place.

According to spokesman Richard Erla, a piece of cast iron weighing approximately 150 pounds fell from a truck the pair were loading, striking Pierce in the head.

He was taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital for initial treatment and later transferred to St. Mary's. Authorities said Pierce succumbed to extensive head injuries around 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

He was born Aug. 19, 1927, in Seguin, Tex., son of the late Cristobal and Guadalupe Zapata Pierce.

He married Miss Consuelo Perez, Nov. 4, 1949, in Pontiac. Following their marriage, they made their home in Wisner, coming to Cass City in 1961.

He attended St. Pancratius

Catholic church of Cass City.

Survivors include his widow; two daughters, Ms. Angie Pierce of San Antonio, Tex., and Miss Christina Pierce of Cass City; four sons, Louis Pierce Jr. of Reese, William Pierce of Bay City, Sp. 4 Alfonso Pierce of Ft. Eustert, W. Va., and Roy Pierce of Cass City; four brothers, Joseph of San Antonio, Tex., Christopher of Corpus Christi, Tex., Roy of San Antonio, Tex., and Guadalupe of Tucson, Ariz.; four sisters, Ms. Genave Pierce, Ms. Rosa Pierce, Ms. Estelita Pierce and Ms. Aurora Pierce, all of San Antonio, Tex.; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at St. Pancratius Catholic church of Cass City, with Rev. Fr. Joseph Morales, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Novesta cemetery.

Council seeks new village census

The addition of 391 residents to Cass City since 1970 could translate into as much as $10,000 more in annual village government revenue.

That's what Village Council hopes to find out. It passed a resolution Tuesday night calling for a special census confirming the population growth.

The survey should cost $1,420, Village President Lambert Althaver said.

He told trustees federal aid payments are based on an estimated population of 2,365, while state payments are calculated on the 1970 census figure of 1,974.

If the village can show the increase actually took place, Althaver said, as much as $10,000 in extra revenue could be headed Cass City's way.

He said the census probably couldn't be completed in time for next year's budget, but could be done in time for 1978. Council agreed to spend up to $1,500 on the project.

Trustees are looking for as much additional revenue as they can find. They learned total state shared revenues will fall about $4,000 below budget estimates.

Officials believe state sales tax revenues will be down about $3,000 alone.

The new census idea is not new. Almer township took a similar head count earlier this year.

STREETS

Council got its first look at proposed street projects for 1977. Combined local and major street work is estimated at $53,700.

Major streets being eyed for curb, gutter and surfacing include Pine Street from

At Donahue farm

Gigantic farm Expo bows Tuesday

The result of nearly a year's planning unfolds next Tuesday and Wednesday when the gigantic Corn-Sugar Beet Expo opens its gates at the Richard Donahue Farm, 9½ miles west of Cass City.

According to Tuscola County Extension Director Bill Bortel, it's the first live action farm machinery show ever staged in Michigan. Some 120 commercial exhibitors will offer displays on nearly every facet of agriculture.

Donahue has donated 280 acres for the show, with 110 acres in corn for harvest, tillage and plot demonstrations, and 80 more in sugar beets set for harvest.

Another 40 acres have been set aside for exhibits which should see as many as 40 tents springing up to accommodate participating firms.

Still another 40 acres is for parking, both cars and airplanes. Fly-in farmers can use Donahue's own air strip. Bortel says planners of the Expo are gearing for as many as 10,000 visitors during the Oct. 5-6 show. "Some people think we're guessing high," Bortel says, "but I think we'll make it."

The two biggest drawing cards at the Expo will be the exhibits and the live demonstrations. Seven companies will be harvesting corn, six will be harvesting sugar beets, five will be drying corn and 23 will be doing plowing and tillage operations.

Included are a 10-bottom plow, 10 conventional plows, seven chisel plows, six discs and a multitude of other tools.

"We estimate we'll have in excess of a million dollars worth of equipment on display," Bortel says.

Harvesting demonstrations will run continuously during the two days from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. On the sugar beet plot, each harvester will make one round and the schedule will move to the next company's harvester.

The sugar beet demonstration, including five harvesters, is expected to take two hours to complete the sequence.

Tillage demonstrations begin at 1:00 p.m. each day. Both primary and secondary tillage equipment will be shown from 1:00-3:00 p.m.

While the show is dubbed a "Corn-Sugar Beet Expo", it's not limited strictly to corn and sugar beet producers, Bortel says. Nearly every farmer can get something out of the show, he says.

"We decided to call it a Corn and Sugar Beet show since those will be the only two types of harvesting equipment on display," he said. "But we'll have tools on hand for all phases of crop preparation."

Bortel said if the show had not been somewhat limited, the amount of equipment and number of exhibitors could have become unmanageable.

Donahue's farm was selected by the organizing committee, including 20 Tuscola county farmers, because it met the needs for ample space, an air strip and a good location.

NOT FOR MEN ONLY

The Expo won't just be limited to men only. A detailed women's program is on tap, featuring tips on nutrition, stretching the family budget and using modern appliances such as microwave ovens.

Another program will show how to identify and stop heat losses from the home during the winter. An accompanying exhibit will provide take-home information on energy savings and feature samples of weather-proofing materials available to the consumer.

Other exhibits include an agriculture clinic tent featuring soil testing, corn root worm control methods, farm management, conservation practices and 4-H in action.

One of the most unusual facets of the show will be a 200-bushel corn "challenge plot" on four acres. The corn was planted April 20 at 32,000 kernels per acre with the goal of obtaining a 200 bushel per acre yield.

A corn variety show featuring 35 varieties from 16 companies will be toured and discussed. Herbicide demonstration plots for corn and sugar beets have been established and the results will be toured and discussed.

There's also a special demonstration to cover farm communications systems, including the ever-popular CB radio.

One of the best exhibits will be Donahue's farm itself. He works 1,600 acres growing 800 acres of corn and 200 each of sugar beets, malting barley, wheat and oats.

Of that land he owns 710 acres and rents the rest.

Bortel says he, Donahue and the rest of the organizers have worked together extremely well to pull the Expo together.

"Some of these folks have spent as much as two weeks of their time working on this project," Bortel says.

Admission to the two-day event is free. Food stands will be available at the site. Farmers from across Michigan, the Midwest and Ontario are expected to attend.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Progress report: Tuesday morning crews were starting to apply the second coat of paint to the new light fixtures, at Cass City Recreational Park football field. Three are expected to be needed.

It takes awhile. The "cage" that houses the lights is painted with a brush and the pole is rolled. It takes longer to paint the cage than it does the pole. The color now is a dull orange.

Principal Russ Richards of Cass City has a point. When the Chronicle printed last week that he was mum about the knife episode between two students. That's true. What Richards is asking is when something nice occurs like the naming of the honor students (which he compiles for the paper) if we will also print his name in the headlines.

In truth, we never have.

Most parents are pleased with the adult crossing guards now working at three busy corners in the community. Most but not all.

It really hasn't affected the Clare Mellendorfs at all. That's because dad is the crossing guard for the two wee Mellendorf children. Clare operates from his station on east Main Street. Saves the kids a block walk, he explains with a grin.

I resisted and resisted then I fell. I bravely turned down luscious homemade pies and breads at the Presbyterian banquet Sunday and didn't eat a hot dog at the NFO freebie later the same day.

But when the wife came marching in with scooped nut ice cream that evening I ate two, count 'em, two dishes.

It was a lot more exciting when no one knew that the Unidentified Flying Object seen in the sky Friday evening was really a weather balloon.

A half dozen folks called our attention to it. The first were Joe Salcido and Al Milligan.

A UFO is romantic. A weather balloon is prosaic even if it was 400 feet in diameter and carried more than 1,000 pounds of equipment and got lost on its way from Salt Lake City, Utah, to Mississippi.

Scanning an old issue I ran across a story about topless dancing in Gageton. That was in early January.

It stirred up a storm then. It's gone now, banned by the village authorities.

It was killed by decree but I'm sure that if it hadn't been it would have been just as dead today anyway.

What it did was alert other Thumb communities to the possibility of topless dancing in their communities and enable them to stop it before it started.

Looking at it this way, it wasn't all bad.

TALKING OVER farm problems with two members of the NFO is Rep. Robert Traxler, Democrat, Bay City. Traxler was a speaker at the open house held Sunday at Cass City. The NFO members are Jim Wolf, Deckerville, and Gary Walker, Sandusky.

700 attend NFO Grain terminal dedication

Despite a steady drizzle, over 700 persons turned out Sunday to attend the grand opening of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) grain terminal at Cass City.

Dignitaries on hand for the luncheon and program included NFO President Oren Lee Staley, Eighth District Congressman J. Bob Traxler (D-Bay City), Ron Boehlke, assistant director of NFO grain operations in Michigan and Earnest Cook, local NFO president.

Staley outlined the goals for the organization, including greater organization of farmers.

The stated function of NFO is to serve and represent farmers in the marketplace. The organization's plan is to eventually persuade 30 percent of the nation's farmers to put their production under NFO collective bargaining control.

The ultimate goal, Staley said, is contracted prices and stable markets.

Presently, the Cass City terminal has a storage capacity of 530,000 bushels. According to Cook, the second phase of construction is nearing completion and the third and final phase should begin sometime next year.

Eventually, the terminal's capacity should reach over one million bushels, according to plans on the drawing boards.

Cook said a spur rail line which will serve the terminal exclusively should be completed this week.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

I was all set to write about the great debate this week.

Give all you good people a little expert insight. You know like they do on the TV panel following the speeches.

The place where you learn that what you heard really wasn't what you heard at all.

The place where you learn if the candidate won, lost or tied. Sort of like a scoreboard.

Alas, the Chronicle scoreboard blinked out. I forgot the great debate.

That's not really news. I've forgotten things of much greater significance than that.

I've left a panel of dignitaries waiting at the office door for a picture. Just last week I clean forgot a banquet I planned on attending.

Besides these run-of-the-mill things I've also forgotten really important events . . . like our wedding anniversary. But I digress.

The subject is the first of the great debates. Any good reporter will tell you what happens when you miss an assignment.

You scurry around and talk with someone who was there. I know for a fact that news editor Jim Ketchum watched the whole thing. He's an independent who most of the time votes Democratic.

I heard him say that (regretfully) he felt President Ford won the debate. But it wouldn't look good, would it, if I got my information from my news editor? (He might think I was shirking my job, heaven forbid).

As a veteran newsmen I always try the easy way first. So I decided to get the lowdown from my friends.

It was really a marvelous idea, but it didn't turn out so well.

The first friend to answer when I asked about the great debate said there really wasn't any debate at all: Joe Namath is through in the National Football League, he said positively.

The second guy on my list didn't help much either. He said that he was all set to hurry home from bowling so as not to miss a single word when he got stuck in the beer frame seventh and then one thing led to another . . . but I digress again.

My third friend I figured was a cinch prospect. Really he's sort of an intellectual and I really haven't figured out yet what he's doing in our crowd.

I nabbed him as he was just finishing "War and Peace" at his home.

Was he home for the great debate? Sure. Well, what about it? It wasn't much to start with, he said, as I started scribbling notes feverishly. They didn't say anything at all and I already knew all those statistics they were tossing around, he said.

It was boring and my attention wandered. To tell the truth, he said sheepishly, I blinked out before the TV did.

When I learned that I told my buddies that was the end. It didn't shake them up all that much. One unfeeling clout in the crowd ended it all when he said it was 8 to 5 that I would have had it wrong anyway.

That started another debate. As soon as my telephone poll of 33 scientifically selected subscribers is completed I'll tell you who won.

If they didn't fall asleep.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Liberty-or a free lunch

BY JIM FITZGERALD

State gambling czar Gus Harrison is making me feel unpatriotic.

A patriotic citizen votes. Harrison has wrapped his newest lottery game in the flag of good citizenship.

If you buy a lottery ticket, you will help get the vote out for November's presidential election. If you don't buy a ticket, you'll have only yourself to blame when Sonny Bono is elected president.

I have never bought a Michigan lottery ticket and I don't intend to start now, even at the risk of being deported to Ohio.

It is not unusual for me to be Michigan's only resident who has never purchased a state lottery ticket. I am always not doing things that everyone else is doing. And I always have a good reason no matter what you think.

For instance, I've never been snowmobiling. I've always believed snow is God's way of punishing people for being idiots. Which proves again that God is just. Only idiots go out into the snow unless the house is on fire.

I have never driven a motorcycle. Motorcycles are God's way of punishing snowmobile owners in the summer.

Long ago, after giving it a fair trial, I quit playing bridge. The good players are too quarrelsome and the bad players would rather play poker anyway, so shut up and deal.

I never watch animal acts where the trainer slips the animal a hunk of food after it successfully performs some dumb trick. If the bear doesn't feel like standing on his head, is he starved until he changes his mind?

I never go camping. If God had intended people to live outdoors, He would not have created mortgages.

I could never fish or hunt for sport. I can't escape the guilty thought that animals can also say: "Ouch, that hurts!" At least the cow is dead before I bite the hamburger.

You get the idea. As for the state lottery, I abstain in protest against legalized hypocrisy.

My state says it is against the law for me to purchase a raffle ticket to help buy furniture for my golf club. But it is legal for me to buy a raffle ticket to help Michigan finance a football stadium for the Detroit Lions. Phew.

For about four years now I have successfully rebuffed the lottery agents who peddle tickets wherever money is used. Bartenders and bankers have urged me to take my change in lottery tickets and I have refused without a twinge of conscience. In fact, I felt righteous. After all, Mother raised me to believe gambling is wrong, especially when the odds are so lousy.

But now Czar Harrison has rubbed up a new instant lottery game with the big payoff based on how many votes are cast in Michigan for the next president. The winner will get $1 per vote.

And when I tell the check-out girl I don't want any tickets, she will probably tell me to go live in Russia if I don't believe in freedom.

Gus' advertising posters say "Get out and vote" and "Every vote counts." The 60 million tickets feature the full-color faces of 35 former presidents. Richard Nixon's face was not included for fear of making Abraham Lincoln throw up.

When you buy 10 of these tickets at once, the agent will sing "Hail to the Chief" and the Michigan flag will automatically spring out of his cash register.

If you refuse to buy, a state trooper will be summoned to rub on your back until proof of your citizenship can be seen through your shirt.

Some 120,000 persons whose tickets read "finalist" in all six boxes will become eligible for the grand prize, which will be at least $1.25 million and could reach $2 million.

These 120,000 finalists will know, weeks before the election, that the size of their possible prize depends upon how many people vote. The finalists will be mobilized into platoons and stationed near election booths throughout the state.

They will sing patriotic songs and re-enact dramatic moments in American history, such as the St. Valentine's Day Massacre. Their purpose will be to remind everyone that it is a privilege to vote, and this privilege must be exercised if this nation is to remain free, and if the lottery prize is to reach $2 million.

The important thing is that Czar Harrison's new lottery will remind each citizen of the value of his vote — $1.

No one ever said it wasn't patriotic to be greedy. Give me liberty or give me a free lunch.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Take the fence and run

By Jim Ketchum

Before Christo Javacheff came along, Petaluma, Calif., was famous only for its annual wrist-wrestling championships popularized by Charlie Brown's irrepressible dog, Snoopy.

The town didn't boom because of Charles Schulz's comic strip dog or because of the wrist-wrestlers either. It's hard to pull money from your wallet with a broken wrist.

Then Christo Javacheff arrived. He wasn't a wrist-wrestler. The Bulgarian-born artist probably never heard of wrist-wrestling. He probably didn't even care about it.

Christo's thing was art. Art with bedsheets. No, he's not a pornographic movie-maker.

Christo's art work was a "running fence". The fence didn't have legs and do the 440. The fence ran from the Pacific Ocean inland for 24 miles.

It started literally in the sea—underwater—and rose onto the beach, stretching across fields, roads and everybody's imagination.

Christo says his fence is art not only in what it does to the eye but because of its impermanence. Workers tore it down last week.

The fence didn't carry any design on it. It just stood there, white and stark, dividing the land and possibly snaring a few stray birds who stopped off in a nearby vineyard too long.

At first, the artist wanted to build his fence across the country as a bicentennial project, but soon discovered there weren't enough bedsheets to go around.

So he settled for dividing California. Some people I know say California should have been divided years ago. Others say when the next earthquake comes, it will be. But more problems arose, Christo found. Not everybody in northern California wanted a white eight-foot high nylon fence dividing their land.

The highway department wasn't thrilled about the idea either. There wasn't enough money to build bridges over the fence. There also weren't enough people screwy enough to try.

So Christo settled for 24 miles. Every artist, it seems, has some sort of price. Better a little fence than none at all, he reasoned.

In time, the fence did go up, too late for the bicentennial but still it did become a reality.

It stood a couple of weeks. Then it came down. One farmer wants to buy the fence that straddles his land. He hopes to sell the material to Hollywood for use on movie sets. Maybe he should sell the movie rights to his portion of the event.

Maybe Christo's fence didn't make much sense. But at least it made people think. Mostly, they thought about how screwy the idea was.

But the strangest aspect came when a local city commission set a final hearing on whether or not to allow the fence to be built—five days after it came down.

Here's to you, California. Take the fence and run with it.

Sherrri Little 'serious' after Sunday accident

A rural Cass City woman remains in serious condition in the intensive care unit of a Saginaw hospital with injuries she suffered in a single-car accident Sunday morning on Severance Road, three and a half miles northwest of Deford.

Tuscola County Sheriff's officers said Sherrri Lyn Little of 5026 Severance Rd., was westbound when she lost control of her car.

The vehicle reportedly rolled over five times in a straw stubble field before coming to rest on the north side of the road.

She was taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital before being transferred to Saginaw St. Luke's Hospital with multiple injuries.

The accident took place around 8:30 a.m.

Three Cass City area accidents were reported this past week, none involving personal injury.

William Patch, 80, of 4150 Seeger St., Cass City, was uninjured when his car was struck by a vehicle driven by John Mulrath, 60, of River Road, Cass City, Friday afternoon.

Cass City Police said the accident took place at the intersection of Seeger and Seventh Streets.

They said Patch was eastbound on Seventh and attempted to cross Seeger into his driveway when he crossed the path of the northbound Mulrath vehicle.

No ticket was issued. The accident took place at 4:04 p.m.

Carl Francis Nizzola, 16, of Bevens Road, Deford, escaped injury Wednesday, Sept. 22, when his car went out of control and struck a mailbox on Bay City-Forestville Road, a mile east of Gageton.

Caro State Police said a car driven by Daniel Eugene McIntyre, 25, Corunna, was eastbound and was attempting a turn onto Richie Road when Nizzola, also eastbound, attempted to pass.

Nizzola said he didn't see McIntyre turning until it was too late. He swerved to avoid a crash, lost control and struck the mailbox, police said.

Nizzola was ticketed for improper overtaking. The accident took place at 3:15 p.m.

Three drivers were unhurt Saturday in an accident at the intersection of Main and Nestles Street in Cass City.

Cass City Police reported a car driven south on Nestles by Gary Christopher Gohsman, 17, of Elmwood Road, Cass City, attempted a left turn onto Main Street and struck an eastbound car driven by Jack Frederick Doerr, 52, of 6770 Third St.

The collision forced Doerr's auto into a westbound car driven by Wayne William Karner, 30, of Bay City.

Police cited Gohsman for failure to yield the right of way and Karner for driving with a suspended license. The accident took place at 4:00 p.m.

STILL CRITICAL

"They were also concerned about the nurse staffing the emergency room. They were concerned about how to set up the program since the hospital really doesn't have a separate room to treat these people."

Krider said persons from throughout the county would be brought to the hospital, making an added burden for local police.

"If these people became unruly, we'd have to call the local police and there was the possibility that they could have soon become overwhelmed," Krider said.

He said the board saw "too many problems" with the program now and agreed it was not "in the best interests of the community".

The board of directors turned down the proposal unanimously.

Krider said since the pilot project is scheduled to last only six months, it's unlikely the board would reconsider the idea.

Steve Crabtree, Substance Abuse Coordinator with the Human Development Commission in Caro, told the Chronicle he was disappointed at the board's decision.

"I feel their rejection robs the citizens of Tuscola county of the opportunity to get a head start on Act 339," Crabtree said.

Crabtree said the rejection came too late to set the program up at another hospital in the county.

At press time, Huron and Sanilac counties were still scheduled to participate.

It was no secret that Tuscola county law officers were generally unhappy with the pilot project. Most said the law wasn't clear enough regarding a policeman's rights.

Under the law, a person who would have been arrested for public drunkenness would instead have been taken to the hospital where he would be "detoxified" or "dried out".

Once sober, an evaluation would be made to determine whether or not he was a problem drinker. If he were, help would be offered.

Most police officers in the county felt they could be liable to false arrest or detention charges if someone were taken to a hospital against their will.

WRONG DECISIONS

Intellect without judgment is the short-coming of half the smart people in the world.

Hills and Dales torpedoes county alcoholism pilot plan

The Hills and Dales Hospital Board of Directors torpedoed participation in a pilot project to divert alcoholics from jails to treatment centers during a meeting Monday night.

As a result, Tuscola county won't participate with Huron and Sanilac counties in a test of Public Act 339 which decriminalizes public drunkenness and sets up treatment centers for chronic alcoholics.

The act is scheduled to take effect Oct. 1, 1977. Tuscola county was scheduled to participate in one of four pilot projects beginning Friday to test the act.

Hills and Dales was the designated hospital for the county. But directors turned thumbs down on the idea.

Administrator Bruce Krider said the board rejected participation for several reasons.

"They were concerned about the conflicting aspects of existing law for one thing," Krider said. "The legal ramifications of the program haven't been fully ironed out yet."

THESE BOYS were the winners of the annual punt, pass and kick contest sponsored by Ford and Auten Motor Sales in Cass City.

In addition to winning the local contest, Stuart Batts was second in his age group at the regionals held in Caro.

Back row: Stuart Batts, 11; Dean Rabideau, 13, and Barry Lapp, 12.

Girls still unbeaten in league play

Cass City High School's Girls' Basketball team bounced back Monday to take a 64-34 win over Marlette after losing a heartbreaking 58-52 non-conference contest at Essexville-Garber Thursday.

Monday's game was a typical Hawk contest—lots of defense coupled with timely shooting from the floor.

The Hawks held Marlette to just four points in the first quarter and gave up only 11 points to the Red Raiders in the entire first half. At the same time, the Hawks piled up a comfortable 26 points.

The second half was all Hawks and featured 21 points by Cass City in the fourth quarter.

For the Hawks, Lisa Zimba and Vicky Lapp each tallied 12 points. Elaine Stoutenburg added 10, with nine each from Beth Eria and Linda Sieradzki.

Miss Zimba also managed 15 rebounds.

Lou Burton scored 10 points for Marlette.

It was a whole different game from Thursday's Essexville-Garber affair, Coach Kally Maharg said. "We finally put it together and we worked well on offense and defense," she said.

The Hawks led their non-conference opponents at half-time 23-22 and carried their one-point lead into the fourth quarter before the defense let down its guard.

Ms. Maharg said Essexville-Garber threw on a press defense in the fourth quarter and the Hawks didn't stick to their game plan. Turnovers in the final stanza made much of the difference, she said.

Once again, Lisa Zimba led all scorers with 24 points for the Hawks, as well as collecting 19 rebounds.

Jill Jacobs scored 23 points for Essexville-Garber, followed by Chris Humphrey with 17.

The Hawks now stand at 2-0 in league play and 2-1 overall. They take on Harbor Beach in a non-conference contest Thursday at Harbor Beach.

New Hawk cross country team loses 2 matches

Cass City's cross country track team is in its very first year and the squad was not expected to be a force in Thumb B competition this fall.

The pre-season estimates have proved accurate in the first two matches but Coach Ron Nurnberger can point to improved performances as a key to better results in the future.

In the very first meet in the history of the school, Cass City faced tough Akron-Fairgrove and was swamped 49-15.

Akron-Fairgrove took all five first places, led by Jim Curtis who ran the three miles in 16:45. Cass City's best was posted by freshman Steve Richards with an 18:19.

Other Cass City scores: Clare Trischler, 19:26; Paul Guernsey, 19:42; Chuck Clark, 20:47, and Steve Bean, 21:24.

The Hawks faced Lakers in the league opener and bowed, 51-20. Bright spot for Cass City fans was the performance of Steve Richards who finished first among the 25 runners. He posted a time of 18:07 in the meet held at Cass City Recreational Park. The next five places were won by the Lakers.

Other times posted by Cass City included: Bean, 20:36; Jeff Zink, 20:49; Tim Fortson, 21:09, and Mike Richards, 21:19. John Isaacs, a top Hawk runner, has been sidelined by the flu.

Named runners of the week for Cass City for the week of Sept. 20 were Jeff Zink who took 56 seconds off his time in two meets and Steve Richards, for finishing first against Lakers.

The schedule calls for the team to play at Sandusky Monday, at home against Marlette Wednesday and at the Marlette Invitational, Saturday at 4:30 p.m.

Sentence Essex to Jackson Monday

Jerald A. Essex, 19, Caro, was sentenced to serve from 18 months to 15 years in Jackson prison on a breaking and entering charge Monday in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Judge Martin E. Clements sentenced Essex in connection with the breaking and entering of a house last February in Wells township.

He received 33 days credit for time served.

The sentencing was one of five handed down. John Stephen Cain, 23, Farmington Hills, was sentenced to serve from two to five years in Jackson prison on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Cain was sentenced in connection with a car theft Aug. 24 in Vassar township.

He received credit for 35 days already served.

Tom Marvin Dubey, 19, Reese, was ordered to serve 45 days in the Tuscola County Jail on a negligent homicide charge.

Dubey was the driver of an auto involved in a two-car crash last April 25 that killed Alan Mark Jacobs of Reese. The accident took place at the intersection of M-81 and Quanicsee Roads, just east of Reese.

Dubey received credit for two days already served.

Terry Foster Perry, 21, Linden, was assessed fines and costs totaling $200 and given a 39-day suspended jail sentence following his guilty plea to malicious destruction of property under $100.

He was charged with damaging a car in Indianfields township July 22.

Judge Clements said if the fine and costs were not paid by Oct. 29, Perry faces a 60-day jail term.

Guadalupe Lugo, 19, Gilford, was re-sentenced to 30 months probation dating from last February in connection with a breaking and entering and larceny charge.

Lugo was originally sentenced to serve from two to four years in Jackson prison.

He was arrested Sept. 19, 1975.

Three persons were arraigned on separate charges.

Steven William Johnson, 17, Vassar, stood mute during his arraignment on two counts of strong armed robbery. Innocent pleas were entered in his behalf and pre-trial examinations were set for Oct. 12.

Johnson is charged with attempting to steal purses from two women last Aug. 16 and 17. He was placed on bonds totaling $2,500.

Rosemary Novak, 19, Deford, pleaded guilty during her arraignment on charges of possessing the drug PCP. Her plea was accepted and sentencing was set for Nov. 8. Bond was continued at $1,000.

Ms. Novak was arrested March 29 in Deford.

A second count of delivering PCP was dismissed.

Frank C. Scholes, 19, Flint, stood mute during his arraignment on a fraud charge. An innocent plea was entered in his behalf and pre-trial examination was set for Oct. 12. Bond was continued at $2,000.

Scholes is charged with attempting to defraud the Mayville State Bank. The incident took place last November.

Gary Lee Haynes, 25, Vassar, entered a guilty plea to attempted delivery of marijuana. He will be sentenced Nov. 8. Bond remains at $3,500.

He was arrested June 24 in Vassar.

THIS WAS Tom Dorland's pass reception of the day against Sandusky but it was a key one, keeping alive a drive that eventually netted the Hawks a touchdown.

Hawks roll past Redskins in Thumb B opener

After the opening game of the season this Friday's game with Marlette figured to be a breather for Cass City in the tough, Thumb B Conference football race.

After all, North Branch laced the Red Raiders 57-0 and it looked as if the defending champions were really in sad shape for the 1976 season.

But just when Coach Roland Pakonen probably was figuring that Marlette was a soft touch the team rose up last week and scared the daylights out of highly regarded Vassar before falling, 18-15.

Cass City will enter the game as favorites to keep its unbeaten streak alive but no longer can the club write off the Raiders' chances before the teams take the field.

The question that most fans are asking is, just how good is Cass City this season? The answer won't come until later in the season. But the Hawks did look good against the Redskins and Coach Pakonen said that he was very pleased with the progress shown in the second game.

Sandusky's inability to hold onto the ball may have made Cass City look better than it really is. The Hawks won 26-16 and controlled the ball most of the night as the visitors lost the ball via fumbles five times.

A couple of costly penalties kept the Hawks deep in their own territory during most of the first quarter.

Golfer sets new record

Jeff Prieskorn set a new Cass City High School record as the golf team split a match with Lakers and rolled past Caro during the week.

Jeff Prieskorn

Playing at Rolling Hills Monday against Caro, Prieskorn shot a 35 to lead his team to a 163-178 decision. Following Prieskorn were Jim Molnar and Mike Richards each with a 42 and Rod Wright with a 44.

Playing at Scenic Golf and Country Club, the Cass City golfers won the stroke portion of the match, 156-157 but lost the match play (by the hole) 14-12.

Prieskorn shot a 37 and Richards registered his best game of the year with a 38. Molnar shot 40 and Wright a 41.

SKIRTING END for valuable yardage on this play is Clarke Haire as Cass City tripped Sandusky Friday. Number 42 is Rick Hollis who played a strong game for Cass City before leaving the game with an injury.

Fires burned under road

It was a hot time in Greenleaf township, circa 1910

Fire racing out of control. It's happening in the upper peninsula's Seney National Wildlife Refuge today, but it's happened in the Cass City area more than once.

The stories of the Great Fire of 1881 are legend. But at least two other lesser-known fires did extensive damage to woods and land in Greenleaf township, five to six miles east of Cass City.

Clayton Hartwick, 74, of 6644 Garfield St., remembers one blaze that burned through a tamarack bog starting at the corner of Gilbert and Cass City Roads.

Hartwick isn't sure of the year—either 1909 or 1910—but he does remember it was a hot August day.

He said the blaze started near a house and fanned by a strong southwest wind, turned the tamarack stand into an inferno.

"When those tamaracks caught fire, it was just as though someone had soaked them in kerosene," Hartwick recalled.

In those days, there were no sophisticated trucks, hoses or other equipment used by most fire departments today.

"All they had was manpower," Hartwick remembered. "They mostly fought the fire by beating it out. They were using anything they could get to stop it."

He said workers decided to stop it at a dirt road a mile north of Cass City Road. Around 4:00 p.m., the wind died down and gave fire fighters a chance to slow its pace.

"They'd beat out the embers as they flew across the road," Hartwick said. "The fire did burn under the road and you could see places where the roadbed had dropped. But they managed to stop it there."

Hartwick says as he remembers it, no one was injured and no cattle or buildings were destroyed.

Another fire both Hartwick and Jack Esau of Cass City remember was one which burned longer and caused more headaches in 1931.

The fire began near the same spot as the 1909 blaze, except this one confined itself to muck.

Esau remembers the fire started sometime in the late summer and defied efforts to snuff it out into the winter.

"It really got bad along about October and November," he recalled. "When it got cold, the smoke and steam rising from that burning muck would create some of the thickest fog you ever saw. You'd almost have to roll down your window and watch the edge of the road to know where you were."

One particularly bad night he remembers he was a passenger in a car travelling six or seven miles an hour.

"We were creeping along when the car jerked and we'd hit something," he said. "We got out and discovered it was Angus MacPhail's hearse. They'd come out after a body and were on their way to town."

The fire kept burning all winter, in spite of normal snowfall.

It didn't stop until well into the following year when the ground water level finally rose high enough to drown the hot muck.

"On the nights when there wasn't any fog, you could see embers glowing in the ground," Esau said.

Another long-time area resident, Lynn Fuester of Cass City, remembers the muck burned down as far as three feet until it hit hard clay.

Esau says the muck fire burned under both Cass City and Hadley Roads.

Gen-Tel announces $4 million expansion program

General Telephone has announced plans to spend nearly $4 million for service improvement and expansion in the Thumb area in 1977, according to Bob Kowalski, northeastern division manager for the company.

Kowalski said the $3,980,000 program will provide for both local and long distance telephone service growth and expansion for the 23 exchanges included in the Thumb portion of the company's northeastern division.

At Cass City, improvements totaling $99,600 are being planned. Included are additional long distance circuits to Saginaw and central office dial equipment which will provide for exchange growth including additional one and two-party service.

Also planned is the addition of specialized equipment to record central office equipment usage for daily analysis.

At Kingston, a building addition to provide space for local and long distance equipment and more long distance circuits totaling $21,200 are being planned. Both projects are scheduled for completion in 1978.

"Customers in all 23 exchange communities will benefit by either the local or long distance equipment additions and, in many cases, by both," he said.

General Telephone's "Thumb area" operations include customers in Huron, Lapeer, Macomb, St. Clair, Sanilac and Tuscola counties.

"We have included additional line and terminal equipment within our present central offices, and more cable outside, just to meet the increased customer demand for both local and long distance service," the utility manager said. Equipment to provide for this continuing growth of our primary service will account for more than $1.7 million of the 1977 program.

He pointed out that most of the cable the company adds will be buried or placed underground in conduit.

Programs to improve the basic services we provide will cost an additional $763,100, he added.

In all, 81 major projects to provide, improve and expand telephone service in the Thumb area will be underway in 1977. Building additions to house the additional equipment are planned for Almont, Elkton, Kingston and Smiths Creek.

An additional $1,504,000 has been budgeted for telephones, business systems and related connection equipment, cars and trucks, major tools such as ditchers, trenchers, cable plows, trailers and generators and office equipment, Kowalski said.

The Thumb operating area, a part of the company's northeastern division, includes the exchange communities of Almont, Avoca, Brown City, Capac, Caseville, Cass City, Clifford, Deckerville, Dryden, Elkton, Emmett, Goodells, Harbor Beach, Imlay City, Jeddo, Kingston, Memphis, Metamora, Minden City, North Branch, Richmond, Smiths Creek and Yale. The northeastern division is a part of the company's eastern area.

The 1977 service improvement and expansion program for the Thumb area will represent an average additional investment of more than $97 for each of the 40,800 telephones served in the area, according to Kowalski. General Telephone's total capital investment in land, buildings and equipment for the Thumb area of Michigan is now over $33 million, or $829 per telephone in service.

Mrs. Stewart dies in Bay City

Mrs. Ruth Stewart, 75, Midland, died Monday, Sept. 27, at the Tri-City Nursing Center in Bay City.

She was born Sept. 28, 1899, in Detroit, daughter of the late Lewis and Alice Putnam Retherford.

She came to this area as a young girl.

She and Alva Stewart were married Dec. 3, 1922, in Deford. Following their marriage, they made their home in Midland. He died Oct. 12, 1964. Mrs. Stewart was employed for many years at Midland Hospital.

She was a member of First Baptist church of Midland.

Survivors include one son, James of El Cajon, Calif.; one brother, Philip Retherford of Cass City; four sisters, Mrs. Irene Wagner of Hazel Park, Mrs. Norman Prining of Bradenton, Fla., Mrs. Lee Pearson of Arlington, Va., and Mrs. Alvin Seidel of Saginaw; and two grandchildren. One son, Richard, one sister and two brothers preceded her in death.

Funeral services were scheduled Thursday at 1:00 p.m. from Little's Funeral Home with Dr. Joseph I. Mortensen, pastor of First Baptist church of Midland, officiating.

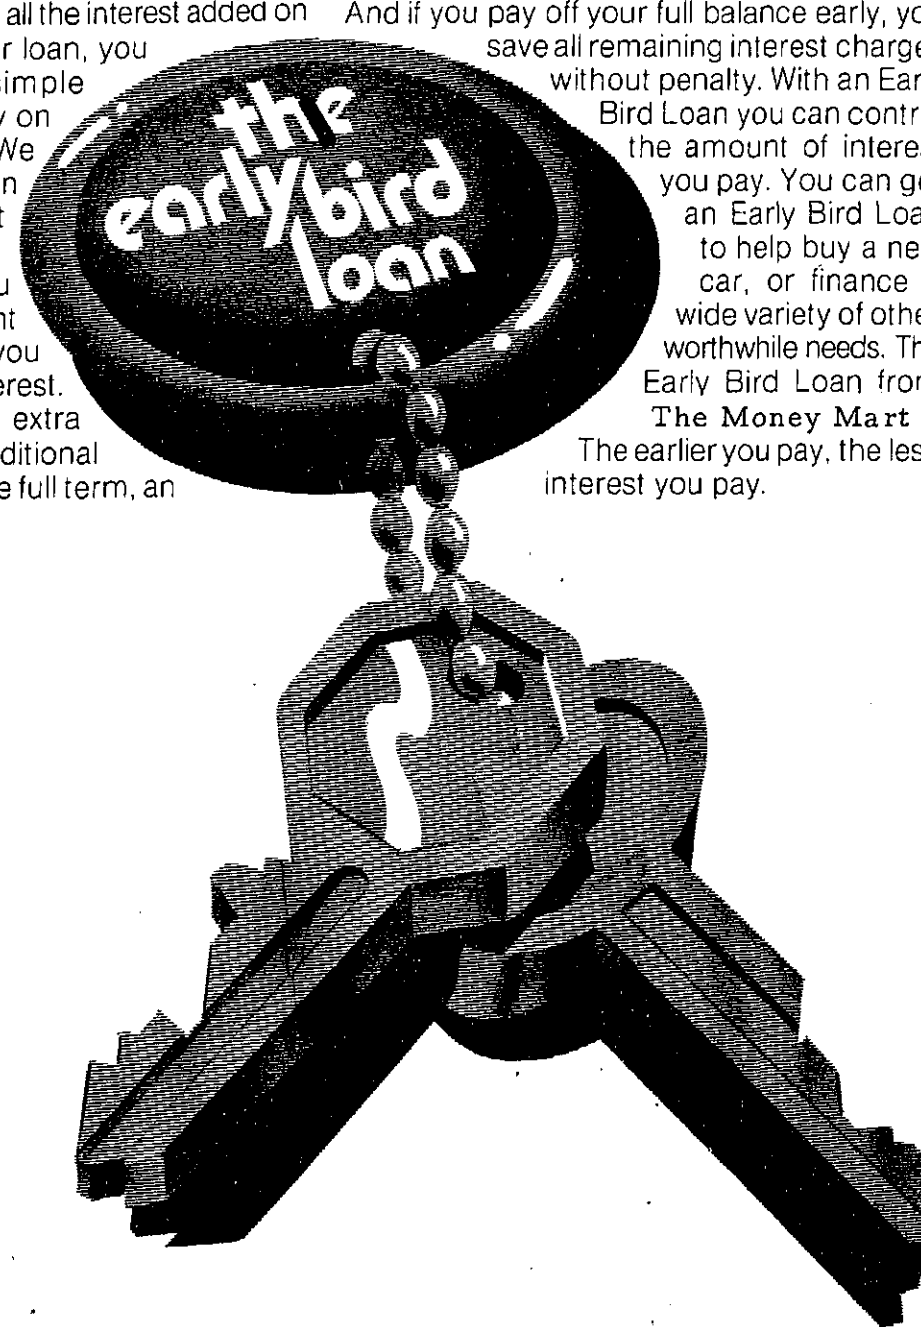

Burial was to be in Novesta cemetery.

How to pay less interest on your car loan.

Instead of financing your car the ordinary way, get an Early Bird Loan from The Money Mart. Instead of having all the interest added on at the beginning of your loan, you get the benefit of simple interest computed daily on your unpaid balance. We do not charge interest on the part of your loan that is already paid off.

So every time you make a monthly payment several days early, you save several days of interest. Every time you make extra payments you save additional days of interest. Over the full term, an Early Bird Loan can mean significant savings over the cost of an ordinary add-on loan. And if you pay off your full balance early, you save all remaining interest charges without penalty. With an Early Bird Loan you can control the amount of interest you pay. You can get an Early Bird Loan to help buy a new car, or finance a wide variety of other worthwhile needs. The Early Bird Loan from The Money Mart. The earlier you pay, the less interest you pay.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Lorentzen, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Perry, Mrs. Iva Profit and Mrs. Esther McCullough of Cass City, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Young and Mr. and Mrs. Erhardt Rogner of Reese, Mrs. Gretchen Haines, Earlene Cassidy and Beverly McIntyre of Vassar attended the annual meeting and awards banquet for the Michigan Division American Cancer Society in Lansing Saturday, Sept. 18.

A day-long program was featured at the Hilton Inn. The Michigan Division fell short of its goal for 1976, but raised $125,000 more than ever before in one year. Forty-eight counties reached their goals, including Tuscola county.

Mrs. Robert Cassidy, county crusade chairman, was presented one of the goal key awards. Mrs. Rogner was presented one of the 25 "swords of hope" pins that were awarded for volunteer service for more than ten years.

One 25 year award was presented to Thelma Black of Clinton county.

The Tuscola County Unit is planning a crusade round up victory meeting with potluck supper in October. Time and place will be announced.

Walk-A-Thon earns $14,400

Tuscola County Big Brothers-Big Sisters are $14,400 richer in gifts and pledges this week following Saturday's Walk-A-Thon held at the Caro Fairgrounds.

Director Rich Firebaugh said Monday a total of 280 walkers participated in the event, including 25 from the Cass City area.

Firebaugh said money and pledge sheets still not turned in should push the total above the $15,000 goal. He said one walker turned in a $900 pledge sheet.

Fastest walker was Caro State Police Trooper Donald Reed, Caro, who ran 10 miles in a little over an hour.

Firebaugh said the Caro Knights of Columbus furnished over 500 hot dogs and provided refreshments for walkers following the event.

"I'm very pleased with the way things went," he said. "I think we're well on our way to achieving enough to make up the difference in our state funding."

"It shows the people of Tuscola county really care about us and what happens to us."

Prize winners have not been announced. Formal presentation will take place at an awards dinner slated Oct. 9.

Views of historic and scenic areas in the counties of Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola are depicted in 160 colored photographs in a presentation known as Thumb Area Historic Overview (TAHO), a project of Region 10 - Regional Educational Media Center which has offices in Cass City.

TAHO is the result of nearly six months of effort by a group of persons as a bicentennial observance.

Donald B. Richards, Harbor Beach, director of Region 10, is general chairman. He supplies the narration. Paul D. Soini, Bad Axe, wrote the script.

Photographs were provided by Mrs. Charles Parcells Jr., Huron City; Al Parfitt, Unionville; Don Weston, Port Huron, and Richards.

Several committees, including research and technical, assisted.

TAHO will be available without charge to schools and civic groups of the Thumb. Bookings may now be arranged beginning in November by writing REMC offices in Cass City.

America's future. Dairy Farmers want to be a part of it... and we hope the feeling is mutual.

Mutual effort is what makes Michigan Milk Producers Association work. For the dairy farmers who make up MMPA. For you, the consumer.

For sixty years, we have been a cooperative owned and controlled by dairy farmers we serve. We are still working together to keep our farms efficient and productive.

So, even though there are now only about half as many Michigan dairy farmers as there were in 1964, our cooperative efforts continue to assure you an adequate supply of milk and other dairy products. And we at MMPA want to be able to continue serving you. Because we believe the dairy farmer is important to America's future, just as you are important to the future of the dairy farmer. But preserving the American dairy farming industry requires a mutual, united effort. That's why the dairy farmers of MMPA keep working together, and keep working to stay together.

Fire opening salvo in campaign for hospital remodeling and construction

James Bauer, chairman of the Board of Directors, announced this week that a campaign is now underway to enlist community support in a construction and remodeling program at Hills and Dales

Hospital. The construction, to begin early in the new year, will cost an estimated $500,000. Individuals, businesses, and various organizations in the community are invited to share that cost through gifts and pledges. Following a survey of the hospital in April, 1976, the Joint Commission on Accreditation has awarded one-year accreditation with recommendations that should be in effect prior to the next annual survey.

Responding to those recommendations and directives from other regulating agencies, Hills and Dales Hospital proposed and received approval for a corrective program in two phases.

Phase one, upgrading of existing facilities, will include approved sprinkling systems, required by the Michigan State Fire Marshall, to be installed primarily in first floor storage areas; enlarged doctors and nurses change rooms in Obstetrics with proper exits for scrubbed personnel; redesigned Central Supply to improve division and flow of supplies.

Phase II calls for construction of a free-standing building for Emergency and Out-patient units. Designed to relieve congestion and to expand care, the new building provides a second emergency suite and paging system for personnel and physicians, out-patient surgery suite, treatment rooms, and business office, a second nursing office, and enlarged waiting-room areas.

Opening its doors Aug. 15, 1960, to a 57-bed facility, the new 1960 Hills and Dales General Hospital proudly represented over fifteen years of community effort.

In 1973 Hills and Dales added its completely modern, South Wing and Emergency area, bringing the facility up to state requirements.

Today Hills and Dales, forced by regulating agencies to remodel and expand, seeks to maintain a high quality of patient care.

In announcing the lift-off of the campaign, Bauer was optimistic over the outcome, saying, "I am confident that the people of Cass City and Tuscola county will welcome this opportunity to contribute toward the expansion and modernization costs of their hospital. When we were working to build the hospital, a state survey defined the Cass City area as the number one spot where a hospital was needed. We worked hard to get our hospital: we now must work hard to retain it."

The campaign, through organized community effort, seeks the active interest and support of individual citizens as well as businesses and organizations in the area.

The building fund office is located in the Bigelow house, 6367 Main Street, telephone 872-2121, extensions 275 and 276.

A Steering Committee for the building fund campaign of Hills and Dales General Hospital has been announced.

Serving on the committee will be James Bauer, B.A. Calka, Doris Fritz, Clinton House, Carolyn Martin, and Bruce Krider, hospital administrator.

Members of the hospital board, the committee members were chosen for their knowledge of the business of the hospital and preparation for the building campaign. Their function will be to give direction to procedures during the building fund drive.

The campaign drive will continue through Dec. 24.

IT'S NOT unusual for Cass City High School to field one National Merit Scholar semi-finalist each year. It is unusual when a school Cass City's size has two. Principal Russell Richards is shown congratulating Cathy J. Hobart and Carl A. Palmateer. The pair remain in competition for some 4,000 scholarships nationwide. A total of 15,000 students rank as semi-finalists in the nation.

Scott rally

still in doubt

Even though he won a Circuit Court injunction for a rally permit, it's still unknown whether or not write-in Sheriff's candidate Earl Scott will hold his political meeting at the Caro Fairgrounds.

Scott won the right to receive a permit after earlier being turned down by Caro Village Council. Now Scott wants permission to have beer at the rally.

Village manager Don Dugar said Wednesday morning council okayed Scott's application for Oct. 16, but disallowed beer distribution.

Scott has not decided whether or not to accept the offer.

Explain options in roofing

The roof is your home's main defense against the elements. Properly chosen, it also can help protect your home against fire.

Whether you're building a new home or reroofing an older one, you should know a few things about roofing to give your home maximum protection.

Many elements currently are used in roofing shingles: fiber glass, wood, tile, slate and asbestos cement are the most common. Each has its advantages and disadvantages.

Asphalt shingles are the most popular, come in a variety of colors and shapes and are relatively inexpensive. Conventional asphalt shingles give about 15 years of good service. However, most provide only basic fire protection, and are rated Class C by Underwriters Laboratories.

Fiber glass shingles are rated Class A for fire resistance, the highest attainable. They cost slightly more than conventional shingles, but have a longer life.

Wood shingles and shakes are among the more beautiful roofing materials, but they have two drawbacks. Wood offers little resistance to fire, even in some cases after it has been chemically treated. Also, wood is very expensive.

Slate is rock; it's permanent and it carries a Class A fire resistance rating. However, it is quite heavy and expensive. It's also costly to install and requires sturdy construction to support the extra weight.

Tile of clay or cement has a lot in common with slate. It's fire resistant but heavy and costly.

Asbestos cement shingles are made of mineral fiber, highly durable, with Class A resistance, styled to imitate shakes or slate shingles. They are moderately expensive and won't wear out or burn down.

Entertainer Dale Evans highlights Saturday Teen Ranch open house

Dale Evans, western movie star and wife of entertainer Roy Rogers, sang and spoke before an estimated 750 persons Saturday afternoon at the second annual celebrity open house at Teen Ranch, four miles south of Kingston.

Miss Evans spoke mostly about her personal experiences as a Christian and praised the work being done at the ranch with problem youths.

She said her life changed dramatically when she became a Christian 28 years ago. Prior to that time, she had been in show business and her first marriage had failed.

Miss Evans has been recognized as a leader in child welfare and religious activities for many years. She has been selected as "Woman of the World" by International Orphans, Inc., and "Church Woman of the Year" by Religious Heritage of America.

She was also honored as California Mother of the Year.

She and her husband have raised nine children, three of whom have died.

Prior to her afternoon appearance, she held a morning press conference and attended a luncheon reception for staff members of the youth ranch.

She also signed numerous autographs before the afternoon program began.

Miss Evans has written nine books. "The Woman At The Well" is her current release. Royalties from book sales are donated to various charities.

Prior to Miss Evans' appearance, ranch officials honored the late Mrs. Lucile Bauer with the presentation of a memorial plaque to her husband, James Bauer of Cass City.

Mrs. Bauer, a well-known artist, had painted several scenes used on Christmas cards sold to raise funds for Teen Ranch. She also spent many hours working on other fund-raising projects for the ranch.

A similar plaque was also presented to Mrs. Clare Maers, Vassar, whose late husband was involved in Teen Ranch activities.

Last year, at the first celebrity open house, the featured speaker was Art Linkletter, television personality also known for his work with youth groups.

Teen Ranch was founded in 1967 and is the home for about 60 boys between the ages of 12 and 16. It is a licensed child caring agency with a program designed for boys who can adapt to a local school for the majority of their education.

Teen Ranch operates three campuses including the 100 acre site on South Kingston Road, a 145 acre Clothier Johnson Ranch on Mayville Road and an 80-acre Clothier Johnson Ranch No. 2 on Barnes Road.

The whole ranch includes six homes each with its couple of house-parents. Work on a seventh home has just begun, it was announced Saturday.

Year-round community activities include league baseball and basketball as well as supervised work projects such as painting, yard work, cleaning, roadside pick up, Christmas tree planting and trimming.

DALE EVANS spent much of her time at Teen Ranch Saturday signing autographs. This one goes to Mrs. Ruth Smith, (right) principal of Evergreen Elementary School. Miss Evans later addressed a crowd estimated at 750 persons.

JAMES BAUER, Cass City, (left) receives a memorial plaque in honor of his wife, the late Lucile Bauer, from Teen Ranch Administrative Director Ray Clendenan. Mrs. Bauer was honored for her many years of association with the ranch.

A CROWD estimated at 750 persons turned out Saturday for the second annual Celebrity Open House at Thumb Teen Ranch, located four miles south of Kingston. Special guest was Dale Evans Rogers.

Board hears Gale's rail plan

There may be a county-wide transportation system in Tuscola county's future. That's the dream of Dan Gale, Grand Rapids, chairman of the North American Transit Systems Ltd.

Tuesday, he told the County Board of Commissioners his firm is making arrangements to buy the existing rail line from Vassar to Colling for a reported $750,000.

His idea is to upgrade the track and eventually establish what he called a "total transportation package" for the county.

The venture would use private capital, he said, along with any available state subsidies. He asked the board for its "moral support" in the venture, especially when Gale's firm seeks operating permits from federal authorities.

Gale said after his board appearance he hopes to tie his system in with the Grand Trunk Western railroad serving Cass City.

He also said his company is looking at establishing bus runs which would bring riders to rail terminals. The service would be geared toward moving passengers and freight to Bay City.

Gale said his company hopes to have control of the Penn Central line currently run by Conrail by next April and to have service started six months later.

Gale said North American Transit is geared to operate short rail lines. He said as a small company, it could operate the line more efficiently than either Penn Central or Conrail.

In other business, the board learned Tuscola county is eligible for $142,000 under Title II of a recently-passed public works bill. The bill is currently awaiting action by President Ford.

While taking no action, commissioners discussed possible uses for the money.

File 7 Circuit Court suits

Seven lawsuits seeking nearly $1.5 million in damages were filed during the past week in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

The largest suits involve a two-car crash that took the life of Bernice May Sziber and Harry E. Sziber Jr., in September, 1973. Four suits related to the accident have been filed.

The largest seeks damages totaling $875,000 from both Tuscola and Lapeer County Road Commissions and from the counties themselves. Plaintiffs Harry E. Sziber Sr. and representatives of the victims' estates charge the counties with failing to maintain the intersection of Swaffer and Willis Roads along the county line.

The suit charges brush and weeds were allowed to grow at the intersection, leading to the accident in which cars driven by Sziber and Brian J. Stout collided.

The suit says no warning signs were posted at the intersection and that the road surface was not properly maintained.

A second suit filed by the estate of Mrs. Sziber seeks $150,000 from Stout and his wife, Geraldine, and Sziber as compensation for her death.

A third suit, filed by the estate of Harry Sziber Jr., also seeks $150,000 from the same defendants.

In a fourth related suit, Harry Sziber Sr. seeks $225,000 in damages from the Stouts.

The cases will be heard before Judge Norman Baguley.

In other civil suits filed last week, William and Naretta Carter are seeking $40,000 in damages from the parent corporation of Meijers Thrifty Acres.

The couple charge a television set purchased from the company's Flint store in August, 1974, shorted out and started a fire which heavily damaged their home in March, 1975.

The pair is asking for $40,000.

Marlene Mary Bilicki, Kingston, is seeking $34,000 in damages from the Hastings Mutual Insurance Co.

Ms. Bilicki charges the company with failing to pay on a claim filed after fire damaged her home.

The case will be heard by Judge Baguley.

Still another suit filed by Ronald and Francis Ostrander against Edna and Frank Garrison seeks $10,000 damages in connection with a traffic accident at the intersection of Kirk and Dutcher Roads that took place in September, 1973.

Nor even said good-bye. You were gone before we knew it. And only God knows why. Sadly missed and loved by her family. 13-9-30-1

Farm Bureau pours accolades on notable members, guests

Accolades were poured on distinguished residents of Tuscola county and the Thumb Tuesday night at the annual Tuscola County Farm Bureau meeting held at Caro High School.

Chaired by President Le-Roy Schluckebier the group elected directors and passed resolutions.

On the county level the group went on record for establishing clear vision areas on township roads by cutting crops away from corners. They urged townships to adopt the proper ordinances to enforce it.

There were six resolutions adopted to present to the State Farm Bureau. Among them was opposition to pressure to force school districts to close and the raising of the drinking age from 18 to 20.

The group also recommended that legislation be passed to make it impossible to issue liquor licenses in areas that have not received the approval of local persons. The group also wants changes in liability insurance and changes in computing deductions on farm produce by elevators.

On the national level the group urged the regulation of television to curb pornographic scenes, profanity and R-rated movies.

Other resolutions call for a sugar subsidy and a reduction of farm truck taxes. The group urged a free market system as Federal Farm policy. President Schluckebier also presented the distinguished service to agriculture award to Mr. Crosby for his years of service to the farm community.

Jack Laurie, Cass City, district six director, reported the activities and achievements of Michigan Farm Bureau. He urged that Farm Bureau members become involved in the upcoming elections.

A standing ovation was accorded Kenneth Wimmer of Sanilac county for 10 years' service as regional representative.

Margaret Boyne, chairman, presented community group award winners with prizes for achievements during the year.

DONNA STING of Unionville is crowned Tuscola County Farm Bureau queen by retiring queen Debbie Loomis of Cass City. Miss Loomis told members of her great experiences in the year she reigned.

AMONG THE several Farm Bureau members receiving plaques as retiring members of the board of directors was David Loomis of Cass City.

BRADY DENTON of Saginaw, Republican candidate for United States Representative, spoke briefly. He echoed the Republican policy of President Ford and vowed a spirited campaign and victory in November.

No new leads in Adams investigation

Lt. Ward Johnson, commander of the Caro State Police Post, said this week no new leads have developed in the search for Robin D. Adams, 17, who disappeared from a Congress Street home in Caro Aug. 22.

Johnson said investigators are still analyzing a purported letter from Miss Adams which indicated she may have been headed for California.

He admitted police know little more than they did a month ago when Miss Adams dropped from sight.

THE YOUNG FARMER of the year award went to the John Youngs of Caro. He revitalized the young farmer as chairman of the committee and did significant work as chairman of the information committee. Presenting the award is Fred Black.

Ground fires not spectacular, but serious

Blackened spikes poking skyward from a dry-brown hillside. . . Once a lush green forest stood there.

Such is the devastation of a forest fire, and anyone who's seen those results may feel a chill of apprehension when the fire season strikes.

Fire weather in Michigan usually occurs during spring and fall, and involves drought, heat and wind, according to a forest fire control specialist with the Department of Natural Resources.

Lack of rainfall produced fire conditions in Michigan during the past summer, however, and one week in mid-August, the DNR reported there were 75 ground fires. Ground fires are "not as spectacular" as are fast-moving surface fires, notes DNR expert, Greg Lusk. But they burn deeply, and do greater permanent damage to the forest. In fact, they may leave nothing but bare rocks with a skin of mineral soil, he says.

How do ground fires get out of control? Once started, Lusk says, they're very persistent, and can travel underground in dead roots, especially in large partially decayed lateral roots extending from snags.

There's another problem too. If the fires are started by careless people, they're likely to be near the road-and relatively accessible to firefighters.

But if they're started by lightning—as was the one last month in the Seney National Wildlife Refuge—the firefighters must carry all their equipment and supplies to the fire on their backs.

Be careful next time you're in or near forest land.

Helping with Health

Better health care for Michigan Indians could result if more Indian youngsters are pointed toward careers in medical care, says a doctor who is involved with the problem. Dr. Roy Gerard, chairman of Michigan State University's Department of Family Practice, says the "Native American is light years behind Chicanos and Blacks in obtaining the health services available in today's society." That's partly because they have a basic distrust of white society, and they want to take care of themselves, he says.

Tell Indian children about health services and careers and point them to community colleges and other ways of getting into health fields, Dr. Gerard urges.

"When we can begin to interest Indian children in nursing, health and medical careers, we will be on the road to adequate health care for our Native American population."

Dr. Gerard is helping teach state-funded community health representatives who in turn seek out Indians to help them learn about health services.

Happy to Him! Will Carleton's birthday is right around the corner. Will whose what? Michigan's poet laureate's birthday—celebrated with little fanfare in the state's schools every Oct. 21, despite state law calling on teachers to observe the day. The law requires reading of Carleton's poetry or "such other proper and fitting observance of such Carleton Day as they (teachers) may desire."

No penalties await teachers who fail to mark the occasion, however.

A former newspaperman, Carleton worked in Chicago, was editor and part owner of the Hillsdale Standard and later editor of the Detroit Tribune. He also founded a magazine called "Every-Where."

But, according to the Department of Education, he's "remembered for the homespun poems that he crafted over the decades."

Here's an example:

"Over the hill to the poor-house I'm trudgin' my weary way--

"I, a woman of seventy, and only a trifle gray--"

And there's more....

Try a local trivia stumper at your next tea or cocktail party:

What's the "average" Michigan teacher like? The Department of Education came up with this description: female, 38 years of age, holder of a bachelor's degree, and veteran of 10 years on the job.

One more tidbit: Michigan public schools employed 101,539 teachers last year.

Little police activity in area

Police activity waned this week as few incidents were reported to area police.

Mrs. Bernadette Walters of 4407 West St., told Cass City Police four chrome hubcaps were stolen from her car while it was parked either at her home or at Hills and Dales General Hospital where she works.

Police valued the four Corvette hubcaps at approximately $120.

Ted J. LaFave, Caro, reported the theft of 80 feet of aluminum house gutters from a home he owns in Ellington township, four miles west of Deford on Plain Road.

The home was unoccupied, according to Caro State Police. Value of the gutters was placed at $42. No suspects have been apprehended.

Special census could net village $10,000

Seeger to West and Leach Street from Pine to the south alley. Combined project cost was placed at $22,500.

Curb and gutter is also projected for Woodland from Third to Garfield and Garfield from Woodland to Ale. No surfacing would be done on these streets in 1977. Cost was placed at $18,600.

Several streets were pegged for seal coating. They include Virginia from Hunt to its end, Huron and Hunt Streets from Dale to Virginia and Water Tower Road from Seeger to Hillcrest Drive.

Also eyed for sealcoating are Huron from Seeger to Ale and Maple and Sherman Streets from Church to Ale. Total sealcoating costs are estimated at $12,600.

Council took no action on proposed street construction.

In a related area, Trustee James Ware urged council to submit a request for an Economic Development Administration grant totaling $778,000. Funds would be used to place curb, gutter and blacktop on all streets now lacking it.

There's little chance the grant will be approved. Although said later, President Ford has not yet signed the bill and earlier this year vetoed a similar measure.

He said Michigan's share would be about $157 million and over $1 billion in grant requests from cities and villages are expected if the bill becomes law.

HIRE PATROLMAN

Council approved hiring Christopher K. Taylor, 30, Caro, as a full-time police officer, replacing John Rands who resigned earlier this month.

Taylor has worked about four months for the police department on a part-time basis, filling the slot left vacant when officer Robert Smith was fired. Taylor holds a bachelor's degree in law enforcement from Ferris State College and a law enforcement degree from Delta College. He is a graduate of Caro High School.

Taylor is a former Tuscola county deputy and previously worked for the Caro Regional Center.

Council agreed to start Taylor at $5.02 per hour, or $11,737 per year, due to his prior experience on the Cass City force.

Trustees also okayed a one-year probationary period instead of the normal six months to give Taylor time to move his family to Cass City. He is married and the father of one child.

OTHER BUSINESS

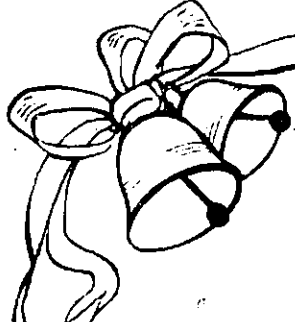

In other business, council approved paying $12,356 on the pool, leaving a little over $1,000 outstanding.

Trustees are holding back one per cent pending final approval of the pool.

It was reported the village landfill license has been renewed for another year. Trustees discussed possibly raising landfill use rates for surrounding townships next year, but took no action.

Council learned crossing guards will cost the village about $2,000 per year. The three guards earn $8 per day for 1½ hours work. They have no fringe benefits.

Council agreed in July to fund the project up to 50 per cent provided Cass City Public Schools handled the hiring and paper work.

Get ready for Michigan's annual fall color spectacular

Spectacular views of Michigan's forests in vivid fall colors await travelers who hop on a boat or a train, paddle a canoe or peddle a bike, jump into the family jolopy or just hike along a woodland path, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Of the many ways to see the vivid hues of Michigan's woods in autumn, one of the most interesting is from the deck of a boat cruising Lake Superior. Starting Sept. 21 and continuing into October, the Pictured Rocks Cruises at Munising runs daily three-hour, narrated fall color trips along the rocky shores of upper Michigan.

The boats travel 17 1/2 miles along the world famous Pictured Rocks—a colorful expanse of forest-topped rocks that can be seen only from the water. The picturesque rock formations and the brilliant colors of surrounding autumn leaves provide breathtaking views when seen against a backdrop of blue water and sky. Cruises are subject to the weather.

Combine a boat ride with a train trip on two U.P. fall color tours centered around the Tahquamenon Falls—second largest waterfall east of the Mississippi River.

Starting at Soo Junction off M-26, the Toonerville Trolley—an authentic narrow-gauge railroad—takes passengers six miles through wilderness to Hunter's Mill, where they disembark and board the Hiawatha Riverboat for a 21-mile trip down the Tahquamenon River to just above the rapids. From there, it's a half-mile hike to view the upper falls.

The whole trip takes 6 1/2 hours and is offered once daily at 10:30 a.m. from now until Oct. 6.

The Riverboat and Timber Train Ride, based at Slater's Landing 10 miles north of Hulbert off M-26, reverses the order of the trip to the falls and is a shorter journey—4 1/2 hours. Passengers first board the Diantha Hulbert for a 17-mile trip on the river. Next is a two-mile ride aboard the Paul Bunyan Timber Train, followed by a short walk to the upper falls. This trip is offered daily at 10:30 a.m. now until Oct. 10.

Color cruises are offered at other locations. In northwest Michigan, travelers have two choices . . . the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce 1 1/2 hour cruises on Lake Charlevoix or the Ironton Ferry's under five-minute mini-tour for just a half-dollar. The chamber cruises are run at 1 p.m. Saturdays, Oct. 2 and 9, and on Sunday, Oct. 10. Tickets must be purchased in advance from the chamber. The ferry, painted red, white and blue for the bicentennial takes cars across Lake Charlevoix from Ironton to Boyne City in a shortcut that lops about a half-hour off driving time. It is pulled across the lake on cables.

While at Boyne City, hop aboard the Boyne Valley Railroad for a scenic color excursion that takes just under two hours each way. There are four 14-mile round trips every Saturday and Sunday through October, and the tracks run through picturesque Boyne Mt. Ski Resort to Boyne Falls.

If you've never been on a paddle wheel boat, there are four in Michigan offering fall color cruises—the Au Sable River Queen Boats near Oscoda, the Island Queen in Kensington Metro Park near Detroit and Grand Rapids' Grand River Queen Paddle Wheel Riverboat.

Canoeists on Michigan's rivers and streams get close-up views of brilliant autumn leaves in untouched wilderness settings. There are dozens of canoe trails in the state and all offer views of Michigan's fall color spectacular that often can't be seen from a highway.

If paddling a canoe doesn't appeal to you, try pedaling a bike along wooded paths teeming with color. Among the many routes you can take is the first bicycle path ever constructed by the State Department of Highways and Transportation. Opened two years ago, the 1 1/2-mile path runs along M-99 from the north city limits of Hillsdale to the south city limits of Jonesville. The paved path is eight feet wide and is situated about 50 feet east of the highway.

Another close-up way to see the woods in flaming fall color is in the family car or—if you're an antique car buff—on the annual Fall Color Tour of the Horseless Carriage Club of America-Grand Rapids chapter. The two-day tour starts at Sparta at 8 a.m. Sept. 25. And after an overnight stop at Glen Arbor, the tour returns to Grand Rapids at 6 p.m. Sept. 26. About 75 cars—all at least 25 years old—will participate and the fastest speed is 25 miles an hour. Only club members will take part, but spectators are invited to follow.

If hiking is your favorite pastime, Michigan's state parks and forests have well-marked trails through woods ablaze with color.

Color tour information can be obtained from area tourist bureaus or chambers of commerce, and Auto Club members will find up-to-date reports available at local offices across Michigan. Tourism officials in the U.P. estimate color will be at its peak there starting Sept. 17 and ending Oct. 3.

The color should spread to northern Lower Michigan Sept. 24 through Oct. 10; central Lower Michigan, Oct. 1-16, and southern Lower Michigan Oct. 8-24.

Mrs. McDonald
Owendale
postmaster

Mrs. Jeannette McDonald, Owendale, has been appointed postmaster at Owendale, effective last Friday.

Mrs. Jeannette McDonald

Mrs. McDonald, the former Jeannette Faust, has been employed at the Owendale office since February, 1959 as clerk. She has served as officer in charge since the retirement of E.G. Schnepf.

Mrs. McDonald is the mother of three children. She has been involved in local civic activities. She is a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Linkville. Mrs. McDonald, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Kiser and the late Paul Faust, is a graduate of Owendale-Gagetown Area Schools.

BETTER HEALTH

Suicide

BY DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

(Substituting for the vacationing Dr. Welch is Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, former nationally syndicated columnist and Emeritus Consultant of Medicine, Mayo Clinic. These selections are taken from "Dr. Walter C. Alvarez on Health and Life," published by Major Books.)

At the Suicide Prevention Center of Los Angeles, suicidal people can talk with other people who have been thinking of committing suicide, and can get much help in facing life and their problems again.

Group meetings are held daily and anyone wanting help can come in and find comfort in talking to people who won't be shocked by them. They too have been through the terrible strain of thinking that life is no longer bearable. By talking to others with the same mental torture they are usually much helped.

Mrs. Wells

dies Sept. 23

Funeral services were held Saturday for Mrs. Evelyn Wells, 64, Caseville, formerly of Cass City, who died Thursday, Sept. 23, at the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility in Caro.

She was born May 1, 1912, in Cass City, daughter of the late Andrew and Lottie May Usher Schmidt.

She married Harold Wells, Nov. 12, 1937, in Oxford. Following their marriage, they made their home in Oxford, coming to Cass City in 1940. He died March 27, 1971. Mrs. Wells moved to Caseville in 1971.

She was employed as a registered nurse for many years at Caro and also taught home nursing at Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe. Before her illness, she was the school nurse for the Caseville Public Schools.

Mrs. Wells was a member of St. John's Episcopal church of Caseville and a past member of the Cass City Zonta Club. She was a member of Echo Chapter OES No. 337 of Cass City.

She is survived by one son, Samuel of Adrian, and two grandchildren, Samuel and Daace Elyse.

Rev. Fr. John R. Schaffer of St. John's Episcopal church of Caseville, officiated at the funeral, held at Little's Funeral Home. Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

This type of treatment started when the staff members at the Suicide Prevention Center of Los Angeles found that there was a need for a 24 hour telephone "hot-line" where people could find help whenever they needed it most. They then formed a small therapy group to help people after the crisis had passed, who still needed some kind of psychic help.

According to Dena Whitebook, a staff member, "This group was so successful that a few severely agitated patients were actually able to avoid hospitalization. Though we were apprehensive about the possibility that group members might have a disturbing effect on each other, we found that they were understanding and supportive of each other."

There are now daily "walk-in" group sessions, with no waiting list and no rules as to how often a person needs to come or how long he has to stay. There may be 15 people or two.

Ms. Whitebook adds, "Often the suicidal person is reluctant to discuss his feelings with relatives, colleagues, or sometimes even his therapist. Suicide is still a taboo topic for most of our society. An admission of suicidal wishes will more often elicit shock, horror, or disapproval, than sympathy or understanding. Thus, those who attend the group sessions have the immediate bond of understanding because the others 'have been there' too."

This type of service has been so helpful that now there are more than 200 similar centers throughout the United States. Anyone wanting to find a Suicide Prevention Center can look in his city's telephone directory, or can write Dr. Norman L. Farberow, clinical professor of psychiatry, at the University of Southern California School of Medicine, Los Angeles, Calif.

In the excellent journal, "Feelings and Their Medical Significance," there is a sad but very good description of a little girl who experienced so much unhappiness in her family that she eventually got to thinking of committing suicide.

Many people do not realize that a surprising number of children and adolescents actually do commit suicide. I read an interesting list of facts about adolescents who attempted suicide:

1. 20 per cent had a parent who once attempted suicide.

2. 40 per cent had a parent or relative or close friend who attempted suicide.

3. 72 per cent had one or both natural parents absent from the home, divorced, separated or deceased.

4. 84 per cent of those who had stepparents felt they were contending with an unwanted stepparent.

5. 88 per cent had a parent who had been married more than once.

6. 62 per cent had both parents working, or if there was only one parent present, that parent was working.

7. 50 per cent of the suicidal youngsters' families had a net income that was too small.

8. 74 per cent of the youngsters regarded their family conflicts as extreme.

9. 16 per cent had serious problems with an alcoholic parent.

10. Many of the families of suicidal youngsters showed a residential mobility with an abnormal number of school changes and siblings leaving the home.

Two 4-H'ers win State Fair honors

Two area 4-H Club members won the Grand Home-maker Award and a trophy during competition at this year's Michigan State Fair in Detroit.

They are Melanie Particka of the Holbrook Helpers Club, Ubyly, who won the crocheting award, and Karen Wallace of the Evergreen Guys and Gals Club, Decker, who won the clothing award.

A total of 11 girls had their projects chosen to represent Sanilac county at the State Fair.

4-H ACTIVITIES

4-H-room

to grow

By Bernard Jardot

During National 4-H Week, October 3-9, we join in paying tribute to an informal educational program that provides unique opportunities for youth to grow physically, mentally and spiritually into productive, contributing members of society. The theme for 1976 is "4-H - Room to Grow" which focuses on the fine way in which 4-H programs have expanded the horizons of achievement and individual self-fulfillment for their participants.

The 4-H youth program in Tuscola County involves 3,548 youth in 83 organized 4-H clubs and special interest groups. With over 11,000 youth of 4-H age (8-18) in the county, we are reaching about 30 per cent of the youth in some 4-H related program. The program is made possible by 27 adult volunteer leaders and some 42 teen leaders working with the organized clubs.

Early 4-H type work began around 1900 as an effort to supplement classroom instruction with practical, out-of-school learning experience relevant to rural youth. Provision for boys and girls' club work, later to be called 4-H, was part of the Smith-Lever Act of 1914 which established the Extension Service.

Four-H continues to serve a large rural audience, but in recent years it has provided "learn by doing" experiences to a growing number of urban youth. Nearly 20 percent of 4-H members now live in suburbs and cities, 23 percent live on farms, and 57 percent live in open country or small towns.

The 1976 observance challenges girls and boys 8-18 to examine their personal growth and development in 4-H and, at the same time, to broaden their interests and concern for others. The 4-H program is highly flexible and is continually expanding and adapting to the changing needs and interest of young people.

Although social, economic and ethnic backgrounds differ, young Americans share many common aspirations for the future. These aspirations can begin to be realized positively through participation in a work centered, character-building program like 4-H. Today's youth need to be involved in meaningful activities that will affect their lives and society for the better.

Rally Day

A toy balloon ascension will highlight next Sunday's Rally Day at Salem United Methodist church, Cass City.

The day begins at 10:00 a.m. with Sunday school, featuring the releasing of balloons. A prize will be awarded to the student whose balloon goes the farthest.

Rev. Warren Bollhouse, founder and director of the Family Life Broadcasting System, will be the guest speaker at the 11:00 a.m. worship service.

A potluck picnic at the village park will conclude the celebration.

Your neighbor says Ford came out on top

Now that the first "great debate" between President Ford and Democratic challenger Jimmy Carter is history, political pundits are still trying to assess who really won. Most experts say Ford did slightly better.

Herb Ludlow of Cass City agrees.

"I think the President did better," he says. "With what he knew, I think he came across as more confident."

Ludlow says both candidates appeared nervous but that each handled himself well. He says the debates are worthwhile.

"You get a better evaluation of the candidates when they're speaking together," he says.

Ludlow doesn't think the debates will change his vote in November, but said many voters probably will make up their minds because of what they hear and see when the candidates meet.

Ludlow says he plans to watch the next two debates. He thinks 90 minutes is a good time frame for the program.

"I think it takes that long for them to get their position across," he says.

Ludlow is a retired Detroit Edison employee and has lived in Cass City 40 years. He and his wife have three children and 11 grandchildren.

John Little dies Sept. 25

Funeral services were held Monday for John Little, 76, a lifelong Cass City area resident, who died Saturday, Sept. 25, at Hills and Dales General Hospital after a long illness.

He was born Nov. 15, 1899, in Novesta township, son of the late Thomas and Mary Ann Phillips Little.

He married Miss Viola Barrons, March 18, 1925, in Caro.

He was a member of St. Pancratius Catholic church of Cass City.

Survivors include his widow; two sons, Donald of Deford and Jerold of Cass City; two daughters, Mrs. Dale (Freda) Parrish and Mrs. Maynard (Nancy) Helwig, both of Cass City; one brother, Frank Little of Cass City; four sisters, Mrs. Alta Roberts of Cass City, Mrs. Ross Russell of Fairgrove, Mrs. Gladys Maharg of Mayville and Mrs. Beulah Toles of Drayton Plains; nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. Three brothers and two sisters preceded him in death.

A prayer service was held Sunday evening at Little's Funeral Home.

The funeral was held Monday from St. Pancratius Catholic church with Rev. Fr. Joseph Morales officiating. Burial was in Novesta cemetery.

Ideally, men should be brothers. But it doesn't always work that way. Race, language and sometimes even a difference in ideas can be a barrier.

Throughout the world, there is a force that unites man. Always the Church has proclaimed the dignity of each person, as well as the true meaning of togetherness.

We especially need that unity today. On Worldwide Communion Sunday, go to church and pray for tolerance, for understanding. Join with the millions who will be praying, even as you are.

These are the things that make for peace.

Help Line

training set

Tuscola County Help Line is seeking volunteers to man telephones for its volunteer crisis center each day from 4:00 p.m.-midnight.

Training sessions for volunteers will be held Oct. 6, 13 and 20 from 7:30-9:30 p.m. at Caro High School room 802. Persons interested in knowing more about Help Line are invited to attend.

Over the past year, Help Line has received most of its calls from Vassar and Reese. According to Dee Stamats, a Help Line Coordinator, 79 calls involved problems with dating and peers, 36 calls involved problem pregnancies, 33 dealt with parent-child problems, 20 concerned health problems and seven involved abortion and birth control.

Ms. Stamats said the first meeting Oct. 6, will cover how to answer the telephone and problems with peers. Subsequent sessions will cover problem and teen-age pregnancies, alcoholism and drug abuse.

For more information, contact Ms. Stamats at 823-2532 or Lillian Pike at 673-2700. Help Line's toll free number from Cass City is Enterprise 6864.
