Small Can Again Used For Condensed Milk

Workmen at the plant of the Nestle's Milk Products, Inc., are replacing on the factory floor machinery for filling 4-ounce cans of condensed milk. During the war, the government would not release tin plate for making the small 4-ounce cans for condenseries and the local milk company did not use any container smaller than the 14-ounce size. Recently, the ban on tin plate for the smaller size cans was removed.

The 4-ounce can is most popular in the Far East.

Tuscola Donations Will Feed 5,696 French Children

Furnish 4.45 Tons of Beans in Drive of Farm Organizations

The "Beans for France" drive of Tuscola County farm organizations netted $1,167.15 which is equivalent to 4.45 tons of beans. The food value in calories is enough to feed (calorie value) 5,696 children from ages 10 to 12 for one day.

The drive was conducted under the auspices of farmers' clubs, Granges, Farm Bureau groups, 4-H clubs and F. F. A. chapters.

Check for the amount was turned over to Michigan Junior Chambers of Commerce Friendship Food Caravan. Beans were purchased in Detroit and left by rail for New York on Monday, January 19. Shipload of food from Michigan will leave New York on February 4.

Five members of Michigan Chambers of Commerce will accompany shipment and follow food to the ultimate user. A pictorial record in colored movies will be made of the entire movement of the food caravan from Detroit to its ultimate destination, the hungry people of France. These movie-records will be available to contributing organizations as a matter of record that the food went into good hands.

French city civic groups, similar to Michigan's Junior Chambers of Commerce, have agreed to supervise the local distribution of the food upon its arrival in France.

The farm people of Tuscola County are to be commended for their generous contributions to this good-will cause. Those in charge of the drive found many people already participating in other drives for European relief.

125 Attend Wisner Farm Bureau Meet

The Unionville Farm Bureau Community Club were hosts last Thursday evening to Farm Bureau friends throughout Tuscola County at a meeting held at the Wisner Methodist Church. About 125 people were present to enjoy the community singing conducted by Mrs. B. F. Littleton.

Guest speaker of the evening was Marshall Wells of W. J. R., Detroit. He presented the farmer's position in relation to world affairs, urging the farmers to join together. He said that the farmer is not supplying enough information to legislation and how important it is that they have a voice there. They are being led down a path to their own destruction and that it was time they awakened to that fact and did something, Wells said. He complimented the Michigan Farm Bureau organization for their efforts in striving to maintain farm independence for the Michigan farmers.

The Singing Farmers, a male quartet from Fairgrove, furnished special music on the program and Miss Betty Rondo gave two monologues.

Following the meeting, a bountiful potluck lunch was served.

Two Tuscola Youths To Visit 15 States

Dorothy Harrington of Akron, and Kenneth Bauer of Fairgrove, are among the 34 young Michigan farmers representing 3,000 members of the Michigan Junior Farm Bureau who started Wednesday noon, Jan. 31, from Lansing by bus on a 4,000 mile "Short Course on Wheels" of 24 days to study the agriculture of the South and East first hand. The course will cover 15 states. This short course is the second of a series of such Junior Farm Bureau educational trips. The first was to California in December 1946 for a study of the agriculture of the West and Southwest. In addition to the students, a staff of four will accompany the group to assist in the development of the material in the course of the study. It is planned that each of the students will gather from this trip considerable program material that will appeal to farm and city audiences.

Cass City Mfg. Co. To Start on Large Contract Next Week

Last of Equipment to Be Installed in Power House Next Week

The remainder of the equipment is expected the first of next week and then the company plans to commence manufacturing its products on a larger scale. Ten to 15 men will be employed at the start.

The delay in starting the factory has been due in part to the inability to secure steel. A supply of angle iron has been received recently.

According to Mike Skoropada, plant superintendent, the local company has a contract with the Detroit Furniture Co., wholesale distributors, to manufacture 100,000 metal folding beds in 1948.

County's Rural Property Shows Huge Valuation

Farm property in Tuscola county is now worth more than $82,724,000, and rural homes here and throughout the state are in the best condition in history, according to a report just released by the Title Council of America.

More than 86 per cent of farm dwellings in Michigan and the North Central states are in excellent condition or need only such minor repairs as painting or general maintenance the report revealed. Only 69.9 per cent were in good repair in 1940. The report was based on Bureau of the Census surveys.

"The rise in farm incomes and property values since 1940 has been accompanied by a great increase in the number of rural homes equipped with such modern conveniences as electric lights, tiled baths and showers and running water," said F. B. Ortman, chairman of the Council's residential construction committee.

Electricity, for instance, has gone into hundreds of thousands of rural dwellings in this state and others in the North Central area since 1940, Ortman noted. More than 65 per cent of such farm homes now have electric lights, in contrast to 39.4 per cent in 1940.

More than 33 per cent of rural dwellings in the North Central region today have running water, and 22 per cent have private baths, according to the Title Council report. In 1940, 17.3 per cent had running water and only 11.3 per cent private baths.

Missiles Attain Incredible Speed

New Navy Ram-Jet Engines Hit Speed Double That Of Sound.

CLEVELAND. — Speeds double that of sound have been flown by pilotless aircraft developed by American research, scientists say. Experiments with ram-jet engines have been conducted by the navy and speeds of 1,500 miles an hour have been attained. These experiments dealt only with engines.

At least two years ago American pilotless aircraft reached 1,000 miles an hour, it was disclosed by one expert here following a British announcement that a rocket powered research plane was dropped from a mosquito bomber into the Atlantic, attaining a speed of 900 miles an hour.

Faster Than Sound. An expert familiar with the British program said that the British vehicle closely resembles one built in this country by the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

The NACA's research missile, known as the RM-1, was launched from the ground, however, and flown out over the Atlantic from NACA's pilotless aircraft research station on Wallops island, off Virginia. The first one reached 1.4 times the speed of sound, or around 1,000 miles an hour.

Since then research planes in the "RM" series have reached double the speed of sound. Scientists call that speed simply "two," meaning "mach number" two. Mach numbers are speeds expressed in terms of their relation to the speed of sound at given temperatures. (Temperature, not altitude, determines the speed of sound, which varies from about 660 to 750 miles an hour.)

Ahead of Britain. The RM missiles—in this country the term missile rather than aircraft is used for such research vehicles even though they have experimental wings—have used both present controls and remote controls for light stability tests. Experts are inclined to credit excitement over the British announcement to a difference in terminology. Such a research vehicle usually would not be described as a pilotless aircraft in this country.

One expert estimates the United States is two to three years ahead of the British in such pilotless missile research.

The navy, in testing some of its ram-jet engines capable of speeds of more than 1,500 miles an hour, launched them from shore with rocket assists to attain the initial speed needed to operate the engine.

The NACA recently made a drop flight test with a ram-jet engine and clocked it at 1.43 times the speed of sound, or just over 1,000 miles an hour. That engine did not carry wings. However, further drop tests will be made with more powerful ram jets and will have wings for study of airfoil design. Contemplated speeds are in the neighborhood of 2,000 miles an hour.

Britain Prints Ads Asking 'Little Men' Work Harder

LONDON, ENGLAND.—The government has started a newspaper advertising campaign to convince skeptical Britons that a grave economic crisis exists and the nation urgently needs more production. The advertisements urge Britons' "little men" to work harder and explain in simple language why "the national problem is a personal problem for every one of us."

A cartoon pictures Britain as a housewife and the rest of the world as a grocer. "Mrs. Britain" is shown receiving 10 food packages and paying for only six.

"It's exactly like a family spending 10 pounds ($40) for every 6 pounds it earns," the ad says, explaining the difference between what it must import in food and raw materials for industry.

Boy Should Keep Up on Her Toes to Get His Best Girl

SIKESTON, MO.—"Toe touchin'" is the name of a new game which seems to be nosing out oldtime box suppers in some sections—and you have to know your toes to get your best girl, too.

At Lincoln school here the girls prepared a meal. The boys put up the cash which went for benefit of the library. Then the girls took off their shoes, covered up with a sheet and let only their bare feet stick out. The boys went by and touched the foot they wanted next to their own at the dining table.

Rule 1 is that the feet must be well washed.

Boy's Tongue Trapped by Valve on Shop Refrigerator

CLEVELAND, OHIO. — Joseph Demko, 4, who was believed to have mistaken a valve on a Deepfreeze cabinet for a drinking fountain, suffered a torn tongue muscle and lost a piece of skin.

The boy's mother was making a purchase in a store when she heard him scream.

Finding his tongue stuck to the refrigerated cabinet, she first tried to pull him away, then grabbed the tongue. It came loose, but a piece of skin remained.

By Gene Alleman

"Hang your clothes on a hickory limb," said an indulgent mama to her daughter who sought permission to go in swimming. "But don't go near the water!"

This paradoxical reply, both agreement and disagreement, saying yes and still saying no, reminds us of an interesting situation today at the state capital.

One year ago Kim Sigler, Michigan's fighting, crusading reform-governor, took office. He had inherited a financial mess of no mean size. Voters had thumped approval of a constitutional amendment which deprived the state treasury of a big share of sales tax revenues, including 44.7 per cent of the previous year's collections which must be allocated to the public schools.

A continuing inflation in prices had resulted in a constant rise of sales tax receipts. Year after year the state financial experts were caught with unanticipated surpluses. Newspaper readers who skim the headlines and fail to get into the details had arrived at a conclusion that Lansing was literally rolling in wealth. They had a tolerant attitude toward government, either federal or state, being reconciled to a belief that it never would be as efficient as private business and hence would always contain a percentage of waste.

Admonished by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake and others in his official family of the "truth of the consequences," Governor Sigler finally came out with an appeal to the state legislature to put on a repeal ballot on the spring election. The legislators parried. The repeal move was defeated. Finally, in the closing days of the general sessions, legislators voted to put the repeal ballot to the voters at the November general election in 1948.

So far, so good. At least, the logic of the state's financial plight was in a position of full consistency. The State of Michigan faced bankruptcy unless it was removed from the strait-jacket of a disastrous constitutional amendment, or unless it could discover a new and added source of taxation. The emphasis for 1948, an election year, was naturally upon the first. Let's repeal this obnoxious, impossible amendment. Let's revise the state constitution.

Then came a new issue for 1948: Lack of responsibility in the power of the governor. The state executive was little less than a "glorified clerk." A remark was made about "the crummiest job in the country."

Governor Sigler's new thesis was that Michigan was plagued by a multiplicity of invisible government—"board, bureaus, agencies and commissions"—all of them beyond the control of the governor.

What would he do about it? Ask the legislature to abolish "about a dozen" of these state bureaus!

If the Michigan Education Association wanted to obtain new ammunition for its campaign to defeat repeal of the sales tax amendment, we can think of none better than this. The governor's new position, as we see it, confirms the suspicions of many voters that Lansing has too much money for its own good, that the State of Michigan could get along nicely with a lot less if someone would only streamline things and cut out inefficiency. The words sound familiar.

Horse Racing Taxes Horse racing last year yielded states and cities 110 million dollars in taxes independent of real estate, amusement and income taxes.

SHORT STORY

Miss Letty Retires

By JANET M. HINZ

LETTY HOWARD paused hesitantly before the warped oak door. When it closed, it would be for the last time—putting final to the best years of her life. Yet she hadn't grieved too much. When one was the last of the family, and when one's income had ceased to exist, the inevitable had to be accepted. But it had been unbearably hard to say farewell to the old rosewood piano.

3 Minute Fiction

LETTY relinquished the bag gratefully. "Time was," she answered, "when I could carry twice that weight." She paused, recalling, "Why, I moved my piano around without any trouble. Nobody ever touched it. Not even at house-cleaning time."

"Sam, I loved that piano more than I should love an inanimate thing," she answered. "It was everything I wanted. It was a wonderful friend."

Sam helped her into the rig, climbed in himself, lifted the reins and clucked gently to his horse. "But there ain't a grown-up in Millport but what don't remember that piano," he chuckled. "How many young-uns do you figger you taught music to, Miss Letty?"

"Oh, dozens, Sam, I guess. And, you know, I don't think there was one who didn't like music, deep down."

The two rode silently for a while. Occasionally Sam pointed out a clump of flowers, or a familiar tree, lifting its shy, green buds to the spring sun.

"I like flowers," he confided presently. "Anything that grows. I like earth. Seems like just feeling soil strengthens me. I can make anything grow."

She smiled. "Before the new folks move in the old place, why don't you go and get some slips from Lucy's roses."

"Why, thanks, Miss Letty. I'll do that." "Well," he said, looking ahead, "seems like there's a party at the home!"

MISS LETTY'S hand flew to her quivering mouth. "Oh, Sam," she breathed, "take me around to the back! I can't face people. I just can't go in the front..."

It had been unbearably hard to say farewell to the old piano.

free. Your way's paid... everyone knows that! You got a right to go in the front door!"

She hesitated, then opened the door. Moving timidly, she crossed the threshold.

Immediately, delighted voices greeted her as she paused, blinking and bewildered. Friendly faces swam before her blurred vision; kindly voices spoke affectionately.

Then came the miracle! It stole through her consciousness... the lilting strains of a beloved Chopin Waltz. With trembling steps, she walked down the hall into a small room... a rosewood piano... her rosewood piano, polished to its full beauty—every dear outline beautifully visible to her half-believing eyes.

The girl at the keyboard rose swiftly, as Miss Letty bent to read the inscription on the carved music rack:

"To the reunion of two inseparable companions whose presence and teachings have forever enriched the lives of all of us... Your Grateful Pupils."

TRAFFIC SERVICE BECOMES MORE IMPORTANT TO PUBLIC

Concluded from page 1. The highway departments are expected to cover the total mileage at once and eliminate all danger, leaving little responsibility to the operator of the vehicle except to step on the gas.

"It seems that the highway departments are to blame, as they have educated the public to expect the almost impossible and have advertised such efforts until a failure to receive this service brings a howl of criticism and often abuse.

"It is impossible for any county or state highway organization to have sufficient equipment and manpower to remove all hazards to the public caused by a sudden snow or ice condition. In case of a snow storm or icy condition, efforts are first directed to the trunklines which carry the largest amount of traffic; then service is directed to the county roads in order of their importance as feeder roads to the main highways.

"Owing to the limited equipment, this method sometimes works a hardship on a few individuals back on the township roads. It may be human nature to feel that one's own road is the most important, but that feeling has caused no end of grief especially in case of heavy snow storms. In case of an emergency every effort is made to plow out the road but highway departments were made suckers several times by individuals who by untruths caused the department to leave the more important roads for their benefit. It finally became necessary to insist on the doctor making the request in case of sickness or death.

"Traffic service is a never-ending job—the more that is done—the more is expected. In efforts to give the best, highway departments have brought the public to expect more and to demand more. Instead of snow removal and ice control being a secondary maintenance item, it is becoming more and more important."

VETERANEWS

From the OFFICE OF VETERANS' AFFAIRS LANSING

Disabled Veterans May Arrange Premium Deduction

Michigan veterans who are receiving federal compensation or pension payments from the Veterans Administration may make arrangements for deduction of G. I. life insurance premiums from their monthly checks.

By making this arrangement the veteran is relieved of all details in keeping the policy in force, and thus does not run the risk of having his insurance lapse because of overlooking a premium payment.

All that is necessary to arrange for the deduction of premiums is to file an authorization on the proper form (9-887) in duplicate. The original goes to the Insurance Service, Veterans Administration Branch, Columbus, Ohio, and the duplicate to the Regional Office of the Veterans Administration in Detroit.

Assistance in completing the necessary forms may be obtained at community counseling centers.

"Landsakes, It's Past Seven!"

GRANDMA RILEY wasn't fooling either. "Past seven" was bedtime when Grandma was a girl. She was tired and tomorrow would be another hard day. She'd be up at 5:30 and busy every minute. Bread had to be baked and the wood stove had started smoking again. Then there were kerosene lamps to be filled—wicks trimmed and chimneys polished. And the oblong copper tubs had to be filled with clothes and steaming soap . . . then hand-scrubbed and put through the wooden ringer. Beating and sunning the rugs was another job that just had to be done. It had been put off too long already.

Today Grandma is living the life of Riley. She has electricity!

Little wonder then that a labor official is quoted by John Gunther in his "Inside U. S. A." as saying: "GM is the most brilliantly operated company in the world."

Uppermost in the thinking of many automobile company executives is an apprehension over the future of "the American system of free enterprise". This is another way of referring to competitive capitalism whereby free men have an opportunity of getting ahead by risking dollars for profit.

We recall a dinner in Detroit's Fort Shelby hotel following a test run of GM's "Train of Tomorrow", Lansing to Detroit. Top officials of GM plants were there. They were an intelligent, aggressive, democratic lot; rugged individualists all two-fisted men who believed sincerely in hard work and good living. Their language was forceful, no "buts" and "ifs". Here was competition itself; you either delivered the goods or you were supplanted tomorrow by someone who did!

The American system of free enterprise achieved better standards of living for American citizens because it increased wages of the worker and, at the same time, lowered prices for consumers. Post-war inflation has reversed this historic trend.

Therein lies the dilemma of the hour. Constant boosts of both wages and prices will lead inevitably to economic disaster.

NOTICE OF MEETING OF DRAINAGE BOARD

To whom it may concern: Notice is hereby given that on the 30th day of December, 1947, a petition was filed with Clarence McGardle, County Drain Commissioner of the county of Huron, asking for the cleaning out, deepening, widening, straightening, re-locating and extending; any or all contents of the Columbus-Baymond-Brookfield and Bearse Drain located in the Townships of Brookfield and Sebawaing, County of Huron, and Townships of Elmwood and Elkland, County of Tuscola.

And whereas, a certified copy of said petition was served upon Edmund Miller, County Drain Commissioner of the County of Huron, and the Director of Agriculture, by Clarence McGardle, County Drain Commissioner of the County of Huron, on the 28th day of January, 1948, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, to determine the practicability of said improvement.

Now, therefore, all persons owning lands liable to an assessment for benefits or whose lands will be crossed by said drain, or any municipally affected, are requested to be present at said meeting, if they so desire.

The employees of these Detroit automobile plants through their collective bargaining agency, the United Automobile Workers' C. I. O. union!

Here is a 1948 symptom of the old, old conflict between capital and labor, between management and employees, over the profits of their combined efforts.

The two viewpoints are far apart. Automotive management has a healthy respect for the efficiency of modern machinery. It borders at times upon worship itself. We recall how one automotive plant manager said publicly that he could take any Michigan farm boy and in 30 days' time train him to operate the average machine in an automobile plant.

Employees' distrust is being agitated constantly by their union leaders who point to corporation record of steady profits.

General Motors produced 45.6 per cent of all automobile business in 1946: it was responsible for 35 per cent of all reconversion after V-J-Day. Its invested capital is $1,440,000,000. Its average annual profits over a period of 11 years were $173,236,252. For 1942-44 the average annual net was $161,009,000. Between 1946 and 1944 inclusive, GM earned an average of 16.3 per cent on its invested capital.

Traffic Service Becomes More Important to Public

Demand Grows for Snow Removal and Treatment of Icy Roads

"Traffic service in connection with highway maintenance embraces those items of highway work which offer service to the traveling public in a way of increased safety and convenience," says an officer of the Tuscola County Road Commission. "Snow removal, snow fence, ice control, pavement marking, markers and signs, traffic signals, etc., are, truly traffic services, with no lasting benefits so far as improvement or maintenance of the highway itself is concerned.

"The items of traffic service have become more and more important as the traveling public becomes accustomed to, and demands, such service. A few years back it was considered secondary to the maintenance and improvement of the structure itself. People did not expect snow to be removed, ice to be sanded, pavements to be marked, etc.; they took it for granted that a blocked road meant an inconvenience to be endured, and icy pavement meant greater care should be exercised in the use of the highway.

"As automobiles, trucks and tractors became more in general use, there was a growing demand for roads to be cleared of snow, icy roads to be treated with chemicals and abrasives, pavements to be marked, and signs to be erected. At the present time it would seem that there is no time

Hospital

Colbert, H. F. Lenzner, Mrs. Alice Nettleton, Willis Campbell.

At a meeting of the village council on April 25, 1944, there was created by ordinance the Cass City Community Hospital, a non-profitable municipal enterprise and a board of trustees thereof. The board of trustees, the ordinance provides, shall consist of nine members, five of whom shall be electors of the Village of Cass City; one of whom shall be a resident of Brookfield, of Grant or of Sheridan Township in Huron County; one of whom shall be a resident of Greenleaf, or of Evergreen Township in Sanilac County; one of whom shall be a resident of Novesta, of Ellington or of Kingston Township in Tuscola County; and one of whom shall be a resident of Elmwood or of Elkland Township in Tuscola County. No physician or surgeon or other practitioner of the healing art, or the spouse of any of them, shall be a member of the board.

Annually in May, the hospital board organizes and elects as chairman one of its members from the village. The board selects its own secretary who need not necessarily be a member of the board. An executive committee, consisting of the chairman and two members elected by the board from its membership, has the power to transact all ordinary business between meetings. The hospital board is required to submit a report of its activities each May to the village council.

The board of trustees is empowered by the village ordinance to raise funds by voluntary contributions for the provision of a community hospital structure or structures and for the equipment and other implementation thereof; to plan and to prosecute to completion, and to supervise, manage, control and conduct the same.

The present board of trustees is concerned mainly with the raising of funds by voluntary contributions. The personnel of today may have nothing to do regarding the location of the building or setting the time of its erection. When sufficient funds are in sight, those matters may be handled by a different group of persons as appointments are made to the hospital board from year to year by the village council.

In April, 1944, the village president made the following appointments of hospital board members which were confirmed by the village council:

Three year terms—Mrs. E. B. Schwaderer, F. H. Pinney, Wesley Downing.

Two year terms—M. B. Auten, Mrs. E. C. Fritz, Archie McLachlan.

One year term—Rev. J. J. Bozek, Naaman Karr, John McLellan.

All are now members of the board except Mr. Pinney whose term expired at the time he was elected village president last spring. He appointed H. F. Lenzner as a member of the board.

On November 30, 1943, a committee for hospital study submitted to the village council a report which stated among other facts that:

"We believe that there is a definite need for better and larger hospital facilities in our community. Progress along this line throughout the whole Thumb of Michigan has seriously fallen behind the general national average. An example may be furnished from statistics given by the Kellogg Foundation, that whereas nationally 70% of all maternity cases are hospitalized, in our Thumb counties the average is only 30%. Lack of proper facilities is at least part of the answer to that.

"That construction of an adequate, modern hospital is a feasible project for this community as soon as post-war conditions will permit. That outside assistance in a project of this nature will be available after the war—either from governmental agencies or from some private philanthropic source—and that those communities which have proper plans under way to utilize their own resources will be best able to qualify for such assistance.

Woman's World Keeping Your Accessories Neat Is 'Must' For Good Grooming

By Ertta Haley

IN SUMMER, most women wouldn't think of wearing their gloves a second time. Yet, in winter, they wear a black or brown pair day after day and week after week. The same is true of their skirts and dresses.

It's widely known that our standards of cleanliness are higher in summer than in winter because most of the things are light and show dirt more readily. But don't things get just as dirty even if they are dark?

The best way I know to keep yourself well groomed is to make a schedule for the whole week's cleaning, and then stick to it, no matter what happens. If you want to wash all your things every evening, well and good; if you want to devote one night to your gloves and handkerchiefs, another one to undies, another to blouses, etc., do that, but plan to go through with it.

If you have ever had the unfortunate experience of waiting until something became really soiled before you washed it, then you have learned an exceedingly important lesson in daily care. Frequent, quick washings are much easier on all accessories and fine clothing than the occasional prolonged washing which may all but ruin the material.

Double Stocking Wear

By Correct Washing

Hosiery is something that should be washed daily. It's hard on stockings to let them become too soiled because the fibers are delicate and prolonged washing to get them really clean undoubtedly will reduce the wear. Make it a habit to put on clean hose every time you change them; they'll look smarter and wear longer.

Remove rings and other jewelry before removing hose. Mend any holes before laundering.

Rich lukewarm suds made with a very mild soap are best. If the water is too warm, it has a tendency to fade hosiery dye. Always have suds ready, as rubbing with a cake of soap frequently causes holes.

Squeeze the suds through the stockings without soaking or rubbing to prevent weakening the threads.

If the hose have stubborn spots, lay the wet hose in the palm of the hand and dip the finger tips in the suds. Work the tips of the fingers gently over the spots and continue squeezing.

Rinse thoroughly, here again in lukewarm water. Roll in a turkish towel to get out the excess moisture and hang them where there is no tendency for the hose to snag.

Correct washing will save the elasticity of the hose and give you more attractive and comfortable wear. Besides, isn't it a pleasure to have freshly clean, well-laundered hose to put on every time you dress? And once you have a favorite pair

Be Smart!

Linings of the more dramatically marked furs, especially for handsome ensembles, are a particularly important style and one that's gaining recognition in the new short coats. The short coat length is certain to give you long fashion service because it's not dated.

Leather Glove Care

After washing leather gloves, blow into each glove to restore its original shape. Then, as a final touch, stuff tissue paper into gloves and let them dry, perfectly flat, preferably on a turkish towel, away from heat. When all but dry, slip them onto hands and finger-press them.

of hose that is a color you really like, as well as length and fit, don't you want to keep them as long as possible?

Select Washable Gloves

For Economy

Your gloves always will look crisp and neat if they are washed frequently to prevent dirt from becoming imbedded in them. And don't ever believe that washing will shorten the life of gloves. Actually it makes them last longer.

It is possible to wash almost all American-made leather gloves if you do so with care, but first look at the label to make certain it is marked washable.

Cool and rich suds are necessary, but they should be made with a mild soap that gives a nice lather. The best way is to wash gloves on the hands (with the exception of chamois and doeskin) just as though you actually were washing your hands. If you are doing several pairs of gloves, use fresh water for each color glove.

The rubbing always should be gentle, as hard rubbing will remove natural oils. Light suds in the rinse water will restore oil which washing has removed from the leather. Be sure water is the same temperature as that used for washing.

When removing from the hands, roll or slide the gloves off, starting at the wrist. Do not tug at the fingers or the cuff, as this weakens the stitching and stretches the leather. Express the moisture by rolling in a turkish towel.

Unroll immediately and blow in the gloves to puff into shape. Dry indoors, away from excessive heat. Finger-press gloves while slightly damp. This means gently but firmly working the leather between your fingers to restore the original softness and appearance.

Safe Care Adds Beauty

To Blouses and Sweaters

Many blouses can be laundered at home, but check the label so you can be certain. Here again, rich, mild suds are indicated, made with just barely warm water.

Wash with a series of squeezings, never twisting or wringing hard, whether it is knitwear, lingerie, blouse, slip or another fine fabric accessory.

Rinse in lukewarm water several times. How many times is often a question, so I think it is safe to say the garment is thoroughly rinsed when the water comes out clear.

You may knead out the excess moisture by rolling in a turkish towel, but never leave anything rolled that is colored, as the garment may streak. Ease the garment back to original measurements. Press according to directions—some garments are ironed when dry, others while damp and all require different ironing temperatures.

Sweaters are cleaned as described above, with a big emphasis on "no rubbing." Squeezing is the important thing if you want to preserve the softness and prevent shrinkage.

After a thorough rinsing, knead out the excess moisture, then lay on another turkish towel, easing out to original measurements (take these before washing!) and pin out to the wrong side of something firm. Keep sweaters away from excessive heat while drying.

DEFORD

World War I Veteran Passes—

Finley Martin died suddenly in his home in Deford Friday night. Finley and his brother, George, have lived here together since last summer, where Finley bought the home in which he died.

Army, and was discharged at Camp Custer June 4, 1919. During his overseas duties, he was wounded at the Verdun sector.

Those of the immediate family who survive the deceased are four brothers, three sisters, and one half brother. Funeral services were conducted January 20 at the Douglas Funeral Home in Cass City, by the Rev. Walter Mollan, pastor of Deford Methodist Church. Burial was made in Novesta cemetery where Tri-County Post, No. 507, American Legion, of which Mr. Martin was a member, conducted military honors.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Boyne of Detroit were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arlean Retherford.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Johnson were week-end guests at Port Huron, of Mr. and Mrs. William Hermon.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Cramer of Akron were Sunday guests at the William Kelley home.

The Misses Madeline Kelley and Mary Molnar of Saginaw were week-end guests at their respective parental homes.

Eldon Bruce was a caller on Wednesday at the Rolland Bruce home in Lapeer.

From all indications, 1948 appears to be a decisive year for agriculture. Farmers everywhere are recognizing this fact. Farmers in Michigan are meeting locally in one of the 750 Community Farm Bureaus to discuss those issues which concern them. Last Saturday, a committee of farmers from all parts of the state met in Lansing to decide among the many pertinent problems which ones demand the careful consideration by Community Farm Bureaus during the next six months. Eldon Bruce of Deford, served on this planning committee.

Make Plywood Strong
Because the grain of each ply is at right angles to the one above and below, plywood does not shrink or swell like ordinary boards. Light-weight walls made of plywood glued to framework are many times stronger, by government tests, than conventional heavy walls. There are two types of air plywood. One is exterior, waterproof, type used for boats, siding of buildings and homes and other outdoor uses. The other is for interior walls, cabinets and various inside applications.

Smallmouth Black Bass
The general color of the smallmouth black bass is dark golden green with a brownish luster which may be blotched with darker spots along the sides. The mouth is large but the corner of it does not extend past the eye. Ounce for ounce, the smallmouth black bass is the scrappiest fish of all species when hooked. Average size is between three and four pounds although specimens weighing seven or eight pounds have been taken in Wisconsin.
