

Expect county to be in black

The county is expected to be in the black at the end of the year, Commissioner Ed Golding said Monday in a telephone conversation, as the task of paring away budget requests begins in earnest.

Since department requests were submitted to the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners last week, the Finance Committee has barely begun allocating money for the 1973 budget, but Golding said it appears that the spending for 1972 has been kept within this year's budget.

Last year's total budget came to $3,325,661, but this year's figure won't be known until Tuesday, Oct. 24, when the budget proposal is submitted to the whole board.

Total requests made have not been tallied yet, according to Finance Committee chairman Charles Woodcock, Vassar. "The budget requests are so big we haven't gotten to any part of it," he said Monday. So far requests have just been listed. Last year requests were $100,000 more than revenue.

The major source of revenue for the county is property tax. This year the board will have a total of $873,781 in property tax revenue to divy among various departments. This is an increase of $66,408 over last year's figure. The increase is due to the increase in county state equalized assessed valuation.

One source of funds last year which increased the total money spent was Emergency Employment Act funds from the federal government. Golding said the county did not know if they would receive similar funds this year.

In keeping with the original intent of that program, employees hired under that program will remain on the county payroll, Golding said.

Fire damages tractor engine

A fire of unknown origin caused an estimated $1000 damage to a diesel tractor owned by Keith Russell, Koepfen Road, Cass City, when the engine caught fire in a field off Milligan Road Wednesday evening, Oct. 11.

Elkland township firemen were called to the scene. Russell was chopping hay when the fire occurred.

Township officers have powers of regular officer

Constables elected to keep the law

By Kit McMillon

Not all men who carry a badge are trained law officials.

One group of officers who are more neighborly than official have all the powers of a regular police officer but don't necessarily use them unless called upon to perform a special duty.

These men are the township constables, a post that is almost an anachronism from an earlier day when they were the chief law-enforcing officers, especially in small towns and rural areas. Now, if they are active, their job is to maintain contact between the law and the local resident.

Voters will have an opportunity to elect these men again in the upcoming Nov. 7 general election, although candidates' names appear on only a few township ballots.

Their services aren't as demanded as they were many years ago due to the improvement and enlargement of the county sheriff force and the police force.

In Elkland township only one name will appear, that of Fred Martin who is seeking his third term. The other constable, Harland Lounsbury, is not seeking re-election.

"I've never done anything since I've been in it. That's why I decided not to run again," explained Lounsbury, who ran for the post 6 years ago upon request.

Martin, who owns Fred's Wrecker Service, was assigned to the post by the township board prior to the 1970 election.

He also said he has done very little since he was given the constable badge. Besides signing a few warrants, his activities have been limited.

The powers given to a constable, however, are numerous. These include being allowed to carry a concealed weapon and make arrests.

Pilot of downed airplane wanted for drug trafficking

A plane that made a forced landing southeast of Caro Saturday is being held under guard after sheriff's deputies learned the plane and pilot were wanted by U. S. Customs, Treasury Department agent and Canadian police.

The plane was reportedly used in the trafficking of drugs from Mexico to Canada. The pilot, whose identity has been withheld, is still at large after walking out of the sheriff's office in Caro Saturday.

The plane, a Piper Cherokee, apparently ran out of gas and made a forced landing in a field

1 1/2 miles southeast of Caro Saturday. The pilot then walked to a nearby farmhouse, deputies said, and asked the farmer to take him to the sheriff's department.

After asking directions for Saginaw, the pilot walked out of the sheriff's office at 4 p.m. and has not been seen by officers since.

A check with Tri-City Airport revealed the plane and pilot were wanted by the various police agencies.

The plane reportedly was flown from Mexico to Minnesota, then across Michigan to the Georgian Bay area of Ontario, where it landed Saturday and dropped off a 500-pound load of marijuana.

The exact location of the drop-off was not revealed by officers.

Officials said the plane was shot at by Royal Canadian Mounted Police who attempted to stop the plane at the Ontario airport as the craft was taking off. Officers said the plane was not hit by bullets.

Monday the plane was taxied from the farmer's field along M-24 through Caro on M-81 to the Caro airport. It is being held under guard there.

OK emergency loans for hail-hit farmers

Tuscola county farmers whose crops were badly damaged in the severe July hail-storm have been named eligible for emergency loan funds from the federal government.

Tentative approval of the loans was made about a month ago, but final assurance did not come until early this week, said Harry Bromer of the Farmer's Home Administration, Caro.

Thirty-seven applications have been received as of Monday, Bromer said, although an estimated 100-150 farmers suffered some loss from the storm. The total amount applied for is not available, he said.

Tuscola county qualified for the federal emergency loans because of the substantial loss suffered. Bromer explained that the program only goes into effect when there is a loss of 25 per cent of a major crop.

This is the first time in five years that the county has received these funds. The last time was for damage caused by a severe hailstorm in the vicinity of M-46, Bromer said.

The July storm damage centered in the northwestern portion of the county in a path about 5 miles wide extending from Quanicasse to Kingston. Estimates of the total loss were never made. Extension Agent Bill Bartel said, but at least 10,000 acres of beans were destroyed.

Farmers in the center of the storm suffered as much as 100 per cent loss of certain crops, while crops on the fringes were less damaged.

Bromer said that estimates taken after the storm placed loss of the wheat crop at 50-90 per cent. Other loss estimates were: oats, 50-90 per cent; beans, 80-90 per cent; corn, 25 per cent and sugar beets, 15 per cent.

These estimates are for loss in the major damage area.

The emergency loans are available until June 30, 1973, Bromer said, however most farmers are expected to apply before that time.

The purpose of the emergency loan funds is to help farmers get back into production for next year. Loans are made to finance crop and livestock production, repair or replace damaged dwellings and farm service buildings and other expenses necessary to restore normal farming operation.

Bromer said that farmers can borrow more than their loss if that is the sum they need to get back into operation. Borrowers may have up to $5000 of the loan cancelled, but this is limited to loss or damage not compensated by insurance. This provision was made under a law recently signed by the president and is applied also in flooded areas.

The interest on the repayment is 1 per cent, Bromer said. Borrowers are required to repay the loan as soon as possible consistent with their ability.

A group meeting will be held within a week or so for all farmers who have applied or who want to apply. Bromer said, to discuss the program and try to establish a picture of the losses. Individual meetings will then be held with applicants to work out their needs. No final dates have been set.

Applications can be made at the Farmer's Home Administration building, Hooper Street, Caro.

Main Street crash hospitalizes one

An Owendale man was still hospitalized Tuesday afternoon following a two-car crash Monday on Main Street.

Victor Flores, 51, 7055 Mc-Alpine Road, Owendale, was listed in good condition in Hills and Dales Hospital for injuries received Tuesday morning when he struck a vehicle operated by James Dean Merchant, 27, Doerr Road, Cass City.

Julius Steven Wright, 17, 5694 Argyle Road, Decker, was ticketed by Cass City police for failing to stop in assured clear distance when he lost control of his car Monday and hit a phone pole.

The one-car accident occurred at 6:50 p.m. when he was headed north on Ale and attempted to turn onto Rose Street. He was not injured.

Robert Glenn Wells, 42, 4272 Maple St., Cass City, escaped injury Sunday when the vehicle he was driving struck a pony belonging to Grant Watson, Caro. The accident occurred at 5:40 a.m. on M-81 near Colling Road in Indianfields township, sheriff's reports said.

In another animal-car accident, Robert Richard Rabideau, 22, Bay City-Forestville Road, Gageton, struck a deer Saturday on Deckerville Road, near Dodge Road. Rabideau was uninjured in the 6:25 p.m. crash.

Sharon L. Reid, 19, Grassmere Road, Cass City, was not injured when the car she was driving struck a horse belonging to Calvin Wright, Caro. Sheriff's reports stated that two horses ran in front of her vehicle on Deckerville Road, near Hurds Corner Road, at 7:50 p.m. Saturday, and she was unable to avoid both.

Daniel J. Erla, 37, 6732 Main St., Cass City, was uninjured when his vehicle was involved in a three-car accident Saturday on M-46 near Bradford Road.

Sheriff's reports stated that Erla was behind a car driven by Irene M. Moore, 58, 3460 Washington St., Kingston, when both were stopped at a railroad crossing. A third vehicle operated by Margaret Saldana, 814 Saginaw St., Saginaw, struck the Erla car from behind, which then hit the Moore vehicle. No injuries were reported. Margaret Saldana was ticketed for failing to stop.

Cars driven by Anne Lynette Burkel, 39, 2049 Sheridan Road, Caro, and Marva Lynn Kellogg, 20, Cooper Road, Marlette, collided at the intersection of Deckerville and Cemetery Roads when a cornfield obstructed their vision.

Neither was injured when the accident occurred at 3:50 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 12.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Most gamblers won't be hurt by the new Michigan lottery. They won't play.

Once it gets rolling you'd assume that the guys (like me) that enjoy going to Las Vegas, playing poker or making friendly bets on the golf course would be instant customers for the state-endorsed gambling scheme.

It's simply not so. A state lottery doesn't turn me on at all.

Why not? It's because the odds are against me. It's designed to make money for the State and lottery ticket owners are bucking the odds everytime they plunk down dough for a ticket.

I classify lottery tickets in the same class as bingo, slot machines and punch boards. Gimmicks where the outcome is rigged in advance for the promoters.

Betting to me is matching skills or wits. Winning the bet simply shows who prevailed in the contest.

I'd guess that the biggest source of revenue for the State in its numbers game will be persons like the housewife who wouldn't dream of betting over a dollar on anything... but will be attracted by the pot at the end of the lottery rainbow.

Other prime customers will be the guy at the shop, at the office and in high schools and college.

I can remember when I played the professional football pools (another sucker's game) at Michigan State. They were big on campus and I can see no reason why the lottery won't be, too.

It's the same type of gambling with the same allure. Something for nothing. Instant riches for life. Hoo, boy, that's the gimmick. An escape from the problems of everyday living.

The chance to make that one big score that everybody dreams about.

It's significant that the first lottery started in the East didn't fare as well as expected. But the second was a smash... exceeding the expectations of even the most optimistic.

The principal difference between the two lotteries was in the second tickets could be purchased for as little as 50 cents.

You can't prove it but that probably tells you something about the betters and where much of the money comes from.

The little guys. The guys who can ill afford to lose.

What's 50 cents, anyway? In the East it turned out to millions of dollars. Seeing this easily tapped source of money, Michigan jumped on the lottery wagon.

And a lucrative wagon it will be, too. After all, the Irish have lived off sweepstakes for years and the suckers keep lining up or more.

It will be the same for the late's numbers game with one exception.

The tickets will be much easier to buy and more households will be paying more money than ever to buy shares Michigan's smoke castles in the sky.

Can several policies protect one business cost more?

They certainly can, if the coverages overlap! If you have several insurance policies to protect your business, you may be paying twice for the same insurance! Coverages don't often overlap, but one "double coverage" is one too many. Check your insurance policies to see if there's any duplication now. Or better yet, call us to see if you qualify for our Business Multi-Peril Insurance. Multi-Peril puts all the coverages you need into one package with one premium. That's right—it's all together.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

For the first time in several years I skipped the annual General Telephone Company press bash last Thursday. I was busy... promoting togetherness with my son at the Tiger ballgame.

Really, I told my wife, it was cheaper to go to the game than to the free dinner. It's prior to the press meeting, I reminded her, that Jim Fitzgerald, full-time Lapeer pool hustler and part-time editor, administers his annual pool lesson and gleefully lightens my wallet for his services.

Speaking of baseball, it is saddening to see the rowdy fans breaking up the park for reasons that can only be described as malicious.

We have a little of this at Cass City football games. It used to be that spectators automatically stayed behind the wire placed on the sidelines for this purpose.

Now the kids run along the track and mingle with the players on the bench and some adults ignore the barrier, too.

Short of hiring a police guard, a school official says, there is little chance for improvement at future games.

There are silver linings to the dark clouds of spectator behavior. One surfaced this week in the Chronicle liners. The ad extolled the patience and good sportsmanship of a lady at the concession stand at Friday's football game. No one knows her name, but the good lady was doused by a cup of pop, not once, but twice and took it good naturedly.

That impressed Mrs. John Guc so much that she paid for the liner to compliment her.

It's giant produce time again. Edsel Connell of Inkster, who has a garden in the area, brought in four Pontiac Red potatoes that weighed a total of 10 1/2 pounds. No guesswork either, says Connell, I just weighed them on Gross' (Meat Market) scales.

Another sample of outlandish sized produce are the carrots that Mrs. Verna May MacRae is showing everyone at Gen-Tel's office. They are firm and good all the way through, too, says Mrs. MacRae. Naturally (where else?) they were grown in the MacRae garden.

It's been one thing or another since Provincial House, Inc. first announced plans for a $1 million skilled nursing home in Cass City. Now it's a problem with fuel. Richard Palm, Provincial vice-president, says the Southeastern Michigan Gas Co. will not promise natural gas for the facility until 1974.

It's true, of course, that Southeastern is in a bind for a gas supply, but I'd hope that some emergency provision could be worked out to satisfy the needs of a facility that will fill such an obvious and urgent area need.

If you forgot that Monday, Oct. 9, was Columbus Day and that the post office was closed, be alert. For Monday, Oct. 23, is Veterans' Day and the post office will be closed again. Well... it's not really Veterans' Day, it's the day we celebrate Veterans' Day. Veterans' Day is (or was) Nov. 11. If you're over 40, call it Armistice Day. Maybe we forgot about what we call it and just try and remember: Monday, Oct. 23, the post office will be closed but the mail will be dispatched from Cass City.

COUNT KEF, a handsome colt owned by Don Koepfgen, was recently named 1972 Champion 2-year-old stud or Gelding Pacer of Michigan.

Koepfgen's pacer named state champion 2-year-old

A black Standardbred colt belonging to Don Koepfgen, Koepfgen Road, Cass City, has been named 1972 Champion 2-year-old Stud or Gelding Pacer of Michigan.

Count Kef was given the award following his fifth win last week at Hazel Park, said his owner. With five wins and three second places in eight starts, the colt made an impressive first year racing record, with his fastest time at 2:05 1/5 for the mile. The record at this time is 1:56 4/5, made last year by a two-year-old colt named Entrepreneur at Lexington, Ky. The fastest 2-year-old gelding's time is 1:59 4/5.

The colt won the title after earning the most points and the second highest winnings in Michigan, $9000.

Koepfgen called the title a "one in a lifetime" thing. A veteran harness horse owner, he bred and raised the colt himself. Count Kef is out of Mam'selle by Baron Hanover. He comes by his racing abilities naturally, according to Koepfgen. A full-brother of his sire, Bret Hanover, held the Harness Horse of the Year award in 1964, 1965 and 1966. All his brothers and sisters also have raced the mile in two minute times.

This is the first year the colt has raced, and Koepfgen said he will enter the horse in harness races at the state pari-mutuel tracks this winter. The colt has run only in fair races so far.

Saying the most important things were a good trainer and driver. Koepfgen gave credit for the success to trainer Arnold Hurley, Sandusky, and driver Gerry Bookmyer.

"If It Fitz..."

Political poo on TV

BY JIM FITZGERALD

Last-minute entries may change my mind, but right now it appears Sen. Robert Griffin, Richard Nixon and George McGovern will each get a nod when it comes time to pass out my awards for the loudest TV commercials of the 1972 political season.

Sen. Griffin rates a mention for sheer inanity.

His commercial features 2 Little Old Ladies, see, looking and talking like Jonathan Winters and Johnny Carson in drag. They enter the Senate chambers wide-eyed and tittering, anxiously asking each other where Sen. Griffin sits.

The old gals consult a seating chart and discover, for gracious sakes, that Griffin's desk is at the front of the class. This sends them into fits of glee. He stands to be a very important man, they decide, clicking their dentures in delight.

— and that's what bugs me. God knows the veteran is telling the terrible truth. And God knows the Vietnam war is an immoral blunder that should have kept all of us awake every night for the past 8 years.

But God also knows George McGovern and his slick advertising agency are using that crippled veteran to get votes. That boy has been used enough. If McGovern wants to visit wounded soldiers, fine for him. But I resent him taking his cameramen along and then using the films of a young man's misery for huckstering, the same way General Foods uses healthy young men to sell Wheaties.

But then the TV voice says it is wrong to wipe out those toy soldiers and ships. That's what dumb McGovern would do, but not smart Nixon. So vote for Nixon, the man says, he'll keep this country strong.

Geez... if I'd turned out that commercial before the end, the prez might have had my vote. But, as it is... I wonder if Griffin's desk would like to run for president? Joshua Moore could do the TV commercials.

This incredible commercial helped me make up my mind about the senate race, I'm going to vote for Griffin's desk. Which really isn't so silly when you realize Griffin has been running against a school bus.

A McGOVERN commercial tops the "most revolting" category.

It's that one filmed in a veterans' hospital where George mouths the usual bla-bla generalities about what he's going to do for "our boys." He sounds off after the camera has looked long and hard at a young paraplegic who tells how the country he was maimed for has failed him so miserably. It's enough to make viewers weep

I weep for the young man — and I weep that his unfortunate condition should be used like a bumper sticker. McGovern should be ashamed.

RICHARD NIXON must be credited with the most confusing commercial.

It stars a lot of toy soldiers, sailors and battleships. A hand comes out of nowhere and wipes out half the soldiers most of the sailors and a lot of the battleships.

The background voice says this is what a cut in the defense budget would mean.

And I'm saying yeah, man, yeah. Wipe away some more. How about slicing the Pentagon in half, too? That's what this country needs — less bullets and less fathomed generals who send boys to die and then retire to become president of the factories where they bought the bullets.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

The regular September meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held on September 26, 1972. All Trustees were present except Arthur Holmberg.

Linda Aubry was present to express her feelings on the speed limit sign on North Scoger. She stated that the speed limit sign could not be seen in time to safely slow down. She also stated that it was covered by the Village of Cass City's village limits sign. Mr. LaPonsie, Village Superintendent, will look into it further.

The date of collection of taxes was extended to October 6, 1972.

Mr. Cliff Ryan and Mr. Harold Guinther were also present explaining to the Council that West Street now being made ready for paving should be wider. Mr. Ryan told of the traffic problem of heavy trucks going to and from the factories. A motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Albee that West Street be designated as a secondary thoroughfare - making it 40 feet wide - upon approval of the Planning Commission and Hubbell, Roth & Clark, Village Engineers. Motion carried.

Miss Nancy Auvil was present to introduce a project her Ecology Class has been working on to develop the Orr Woods. Members of her class told of some of the work they planned to do. Council indicated its approval of the project.

Discussion was opened on the bids for the Old Firehall and Library Building. Mr. Phil Woodworth, attorney-at-law, was present in behalf of Mr. John McCormick. Mr. Woodworth agreed with Mr. House, Village Attorney, that the procedure that was followed was legal. A motion by Trustee Ross to accept the high bid died for lack of support.

A motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Jones that both bids be rejected. It was carried by 3 yeas - 1 nay and 1 abstention.

A motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Jones that the Old Firehall and Library Building be readvertised for sale at public auction with the condition that the building be torn down within six months of the sale. The public auction is to be on October 24, 1972, from 2:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. The motion was carried by a 3-2 vote.

A motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Ross that Council accept Mr. LaPonsie's recommendation that Maple Street, Huron Street and Kennebec Drive be seal coated at a cost of approximately $1,600.00. Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Jones that the building permit for residential remodeling. Motion carried.

Bids on West Street curb and gutter are to be in by October 16th so work can be completed this year.

A motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Jones that the bills as examined be approved. Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Jones that the building permit for Provincial House be approved in accordance with the restrictions originally set forth. Motion carried.

It was moved by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Albee that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried.

Candidate Heine Active Supporter of Tax Reform Proposal on November Ballot

Ernst C. Heine, Democratic candidate for State Representative of the newly created 84th District, has strengthened his campaign for election by stating: "there must be tax relief in sight for farmers, home owners, and the elderly."

A longtime advocate of tax reform, Heine says: "tax reform is necessary now, so that people who worked their entire lives to own a home or a farm, and who live on a fixed income, must never forfeit that home or farm because of exorbitant taxes."

In keeping with his strong convictions for the need of immediate tax reform, Heine states: "the tax proposal on the ballot this November would benefit this goal, but both proposals must be passed to make it effective." Mr. Heine pledges his active support and leadership to attain this goal as your State Representative in Lansing.

What about the educatees?

By Kit McMillion

Those who have an interest in education and/or civil rights were probably angered, shocked or at least mildly distressed by the report made by David Brinkley in his nightly comment on NBC's early evening news program last week.

Between reading the nightly paper and defending my dinner from my cat, I caught what I thought was the gist of his comment.

He stated that a recent survey indicated that 1. bussing had no effect on education and 2. that education per schools had little or no effect on what a person did after he got out of school.

With a single breath Brinkley managed to alienate both edu- cators and civil rights equal- izers.

Personally, I'm ambiguous about bussing, since I was bussed past a school that was at least three miles closer to my home when I was younger on the grounds that my parents and apparently the rest in the district didn't want their kids at that new school, which incen- tally was located in a less than pure white district. I didn't care either way, but the new school broke up one of my very best friendships and I would gladly have gone to the other school to be with my best girlfriend.

And I don't think my educa- tion was either helped or hindered by continuing in the older school.

I concur with Brinkley's report that bussing may have a moral justification, but it certainly isn't practical and it merely glosses over the meat of the issue, and that is the quality of education.

This is where I disagree with the report. I think education does have an effect on later life. Sometimes it's good and some- times it's not.

If the forces of education can't change a person's basic being, as the study seemed to indicate and a student gets out only as much as he puts in, something should be available so a kid wants to put something in.

I think a secondary and elementary education should offer as wide an opportunity as possible for a child to learn. And that doesn't necessarily mean just book-learning.

And quality doesn't neces- sarily refer to the elaborate equipment set up in a chemistry laboratory or the number of teachers with master's degrees. It refers to a philosophy of education.

With only my experience of 17 years of formal education be- hind me and limited reading in the field plus the invaluable experience of having roomed with an education major in college, I can't speak with the authority of an educator, but I don't think the education I had at the hands of various schools was worth the time I spent keeping the desk chair warm.

Those who didn't have or didn't take advantage of the opportunities I had probably resent such a statement, and I wouldn't blame them because I readily admit that for the most part I probably couldn't have done anything else more worth while during all those seat- warming years.

But I was also bored out of my mind, the same condition that affects a lot of young persons I know today.

Parents always seem to think that that kind of boredom is the fault of the student, not the school.

Such ideas as learning should be fun and students should be allowed to voice independent thought do not go well with the belief that a quiet student is learning, simply because stu- dents that are alive intellectu- ally just naturally don't stand still, unless they are of the fiber of a quiet and closed-mouth Sherlock Holmes.

Since I come from an entirely different educational system and have no real inside know- ledge of the local schools, I can't pass judgement on them, and I think some of the programs and ideas I've seen are really good.

But I would hope that, espe- cially since education week is coming up starting October 22, that parents and educators of all sorts would realize that education is not something done during the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., but is almost like a state of mind. Education is an esoteric idea that should be- come part of the spirit of someone instead of something represented by a teacher, who is after all another person.

To me, education is some- thing that happens all my waking hours and gives me insight into what makes the place I live tick, and helps me enjoy the books I read and react to people and where we all fit into this world.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The session at the country store Saturday night turned out to be one of them battle of statics the fellers get into ever now and then. Ed Doolittle came in with his usual batch of clippings, and Zeke Grubb showed up with a handful of mail from the Department of Agriculture. Between them, they told the rest of us everything we ever wanted to know about everything.

Farthermore, Mister Editor, even Bug Hookum got in a word about the general condition. He said he hadn't heard the feller that runs the store declare his politics, but he had saw he had a sign up in the restroom that reads "Flush Twiet, it's a Long Way to Washington." About the same time, Bug went on, he saw by the papers where Uncle Sam has give $10 million credit in military aid to Chile, and he started to git a idee what the sign means. Chile, said Bug, is cause they're used to losing propositions.

Ed broke in to report where the census folks say they is 50 million Americans of driving age that can't drive a car, and Ed allowed that to his mind most of that 50 million was behind the steering wheel anyway. He had saw another piece where all the 1973 cars got new safety bumpers on em, which told him the safety experts has give up on preventing accidents and decided to try to cut down on the damage.

General speaking, mister Editor, the session was educating. Zeke said the best part of his USDA pamphlets this fall was the fillers. One item told how George Washington could broad jump 23 foot. Since George's time, declared Zeke, we've had Presidents that could sidestep twice that far from a standing start. Fer onct, the fellers was full agreed.

run by a communist that has took over all American holdings in that country.

Actual, broke in Clem Webster, you can tell a heap about the way we live by studying the signs. Clem said he saw a sign out in front of a church the last time he was in town. It said "children's dog show in church basement" Friday. Church-women's flea market Saturday." Clem said he reckoned the wimmen was having a clearance sale from Friday's business.

FOLLOW THE LEADER

If all agree on a subject you can be sure a big part of the crowd isn't thinking.

Need training for young adults

The period in life between ages 18 and 30 contains so many teachable moments yet so few efforts to teach. It is a time which usually contains marriage, establishing a home, the first child, getting settled in a job and in community life.

Little formal preparation is offered for these responsibilities. And yet it is these very same responsibilities that can cause traumatic and often tragic experiences for those who "run into trouble".

Some high schools do have limited course offerings for relatively few students. Some churches and agencies plan classes that reach certain people. College courses are offered in more urban areas.

So what is the answer? How can young adults be trained for what they are called upon to do? How can the need for training be understood, accepted?

These are important questions for individuals, agencies and institutions to consider, according to Ann Ross, Thumb Extension home economist.

If we really want to stabilize family life, we will need to find ways to better prepare young people to accomplish life-partner selection, preparation for marriage, establishment of a home, successful child rearing and marriage strengthening.

Until we equip people to accomplish these tasks in today's world, we will undoubtedly see more and more disrupted young families, concludes Mrs. Ross.

Up & Atom club hosts Sheriff

A presentation of a video tape showing drunk drivers receiving an alcohol test highlighted the Monday meeting of the Farm Bureau Up & Atom club held at the Harold Putnam home in Caro.

Sheriff Hugh Marr presided over the film and a question-answer period which followed.

Twenty-three members then enjoyed a special cake served in honor of the club's newly-wed members, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foster, Caro.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Janks.

AROUND THE FARM

Swine production potential

by William Bortel

Agriculture income in Tuscola county is basically generated from the sale of cash crops, certified seed and dairy. However, one of our little thought of agriculture enterprises returns nearly a half million dollars in itself. This enterprise is swine, and our producers have a turnover of between twelve and fourteen thousand head annually.

This figure can vary as the swine producers I have on record are about seventy in number. Some of these farrow and/or finish swine perpetually while others go in or out of production as market cycles change or work load warrants.

If you were to random visit our producers, you could see many types of swine production facilities and enterprise size. As few as twenty to as large as eight hundred units will be their annual production. You would see swine finished on open range and in confined housing with satisfactory results seen.

Swine production is rewarding to those who are good herdsmen and maintain good facilities. Tuscola county lends itself to a far larger swine industry than the present level may indicate.

We have exported corn for many years to people who produce swine and make profits. On the basis of economics alone, we shouldn't have this occurring. If other people can import our corn, finish hogs and have profits, why can't we feed our corn and realize these profits?

In the last three years, increased corn acreage and yields has made more of this crop available for livestock production and many large corn production systems are now established. We should put this corn to local use and export it as hogs and other livestock products.

To increase the pounds of pork marketed from our county, I see some trends which will develop. First of all, our future producers will no longer be in and out of swine as market price cycles change. Hogs will be marketed periodically during the year on a rotation basis.

Production facilities will be more automated, have environmental control, have at least partial slatted floors and use liquid manure systems for storage and disposal.

Because a ready available supply of top grade feeder pigs has been a problem, we'll see several feeder pig operators combining their efforts to set up a jointly owned farrowing unit to supply their feeder pig needs.

All these facilities will be costly in terms of the number of dollars spent. However, the unit cost per hog farrowed or finished per year can well be less than the methods used today. More numbers will be produced per facility, operator time, lower mortality and faster gain.

Which direction our swine industry takes will greatly decide its growth or demise. The good operator will survive, others will not as lack of business growth will force them to retire from swine production.

3 youths face arrest in theft from Gambles

Warrants for the arrests of three 17-year-old Cass City youths are being sought by Cass City police after the three were reported by an eye-witness who saw them take a battery from the Gamble Store.

The names of the youths are not being released—until the warrants are approved.

A by-stander told police he saw them take a battery worth $25 from the rear of the store Wednesday, Oct. 11.

In other police investigations, Mrs. Glenda Main reported to Tuscola county sheriff's deputies that someone had taken her mail box and post from her yard on Huron Line Road, three-fourths mile west of Cemetery Road.

THIS UNUSUAL POTATO was grown in the garden of Vernon McConnell, Cass City. Charles McConnell, his son, displays the spud that resembles a human face.

Improve meal time

MRS. ANN ROSS - EXTENSION AGENT

The way to a man's heart may still be through his stomach. But so often today we look hurriedly for tempting quick foods on a last minute trip to the grocery store. In fact, some families have perpetual "fasting bees" - a little of this and that thrown on the table in a hurry. They may never have an honest-to-goodness meal all together.

Perhaps your family life could improve this fall by the establishment of regular meal times when as many as possible of the family can eat together. Once mealtimes are established, why not make them special?

Get a reliable booklet on nutrition from your County Cooperative Extension Service - one which can tell you about the number of servings per day that you will each need from the basic four food groups.

Does this sound dull? Well, dress it up a bit! Add interesting flavors and a touch of beauty.

Establish meal times, select your foods from the basic food groups, plan to eat together.

New Sanilac

4-H youth

agent appointed

William Charles McNeill has been named area extension 4-H youth agent for Sanilac county by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service effective Nov. 1. Mr. McNeill had been temporarily assigned to Sanilac county since Sept. 18.

A recent graduate of Western Michigan University, McNeill will be working with community leaders in identifying problem areas and opportunities for youth programs. He will also plan, organize, and implement youth development programs for Sanilac county.

McNeill comes from Paw Paw, where he graduated from High School and worked on his grandfather's farm. McNeill has extensive training in the Spanish language and was recently doing research in Guatemala.

He also toured Europe one summer singing as a member of the University Choir of Western Michigan University.

At present McNeill is making his home in Sandusky.

McNeill replaces Gerald Jessup who was the former 4-H Youth Agent. Jessup resigned to accept an appointment with the Sandusky Community School System. Jessup is teaching science and math at the Sandusky Middle School. Mr. and Mrs. Jessup and daughter will continue to live in Sandusky.

Tell schedules for holiday mail delivery

Other deadlines are: Nov. 11—international and APO surface; Nov. 20—SAM (space available mail for parcels under 5 pounds to be airlifted overseas); Nov. 27—PAL (parcel air lift for packages over 5 pounds to be lifted from the APO center to overseas); and Dec. 1—air mail overseas.

Deadlines for domestic mail to assure Christmas delivery are: Dec. 10—surface parcels; Dec. 15—surface letters; and Dec. 20—airmail.

All Christmas cards are mailed as first class, 8 cents postage, reminded Gaspie.

Eye new Red Cross board to revitalize Tuscola chapter

A meeting to re-establish an active Red Cross chapter in Tuscola county may come some time in the next month when a new board of directors is to be chosen, according to Gordon Glazier, Vassar, acting chairman.

An operative board is the next step necessary in establishing a complete Red Cross blood program for the county. A county chapter is necessary to administer the program.

For the past six weeks, both Hills and Dales Hospital and Caro Community Hospital have been served by the Regional Red Cross blood bank in Flint.

This was the first step towards a full program here. A petition by the hospitals was granted with the condition that within the next three years the county establish an active board of directors and set up a budget to fund a complete program, according to Byron Landholt, administrator of Hills and Dales Hospital.

Under the provisional acceptance of the county, patients in the two county hospitals get Red Cross blood, but Tuscola county residents going to other county hospitals are not eligible for free Red Cross blood.

A county resident would be eligible for free blood anywhere under a complete program.

The most immediate problem in the way is creating an active board. Glazier, who took over the job of chairman after George Fry resigned the post, said he is not in a position to handle the job.

After a new board is created, however, how the program will be funded will have to be solved. An estimated $12,000 is needed, Glazier said.

He added that money for the Red Cross is raised through Community Chest. The board would have to petition each local chest drive separately for funds since a county board no longer exists.

Community Chest drives have already begun this year.

Financial statements of the Elkland-Novesta chest indicate that $500 was given the Red Cross in 1970 and none in 1971.

While the full program is still undeveloped, the benefits of having Red Cross blood have already been registered at Hills and Dales.

An estimate of the savings involved since the hospital made the change is not available, said Landholt, but the service is better, all blood needs of the hospital have been served and there is tremendous back-up supply available to the Cass City hospital if needed.

Hills and Dales can borrow from either Caro or Bad Axe hospitals if necessary because both participate in the Red Cross program. Prior to Sept. 1, Hills and Dales bought blood from a bank in Bay City and sold the blood to patients at cost, which was about $25 per pint.

Rep. Harvey to tour area

Auslander reports

3 chain saws taken from shed

State Police from the Bad Axe post are still investigating the theft of three chain saws reported stolen Thursday, Oct. 12, by Clair Auslander, Decker. The saws, valued at $100, were taken from a tool shed in Sheridan township in Huron county. The shed is located in a wooded area near M-53 and Sebawaing Roads, where Auslander is taking timber off the farm of Donald Kobel.

Congressman James Harvey will tour the entire Thumb area this week with his mobile trailer office.

But because of the lengthy session of congress, it may be that the congressman will not be with the tour. When congress adjourns he will immediately come to his mobile office, authorities said.

The schedule:
Thursday, Oct. 19: 9:00-9:30 a.m. - Ubyly; 10:00-10:30 a.m. - Cass City; 10:45-11:15 a.m. - Gagetown; 11:30 a.m.-Noon - Unionville; 1:00-1:45 p.m. - Caro; 2:15-2:45 p.m. - Reese.

Church leaders discuss evangelism plans

About 65 ministers and representatives of 38 congregations from 10 denominations in the Upper Thumb met Thursday, Oct. 12, at the Cass City High School where they prepared plans for a year-long evangelistic program called Key 73. During this first session, the Upper Thumb was divided into four geographic units. Committees were chosen to work toward the evangelistic goal, which is to confront each person in Michigan with the Gospel in 1973.

 The Rev. Elmer E. Scheck of Immanuel Lutheran Church,

Sebawang, presided over the session. The six phases of the program will start in Advent 1972 and continue through Christmas 1973. Each phase will have a separate theme.
 The Ladies Aid of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Cass City, served refreshments.

BETTER HEALTH
Sensitivity to pain varies
BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Recently, I read an article telling of a woman who had had seven children born to her, and she said she never had suffered any pain during any of the labors. We doctors know that there are such persons—probably born with a special kind of nervous system that makes them insensitive to pain.

When I was a boy, there was a man in San Francisco who was very fond of liquor and when he discovered that he could not feel pain, he would go into a saloon and say to all the men there, "Anyone who wants to knock me down may do it, if he will only then buy me a few beers." He got to be known as quite a character on the so-called "Barbary Coast."

Years ago my good friend Dr. Harold Wolf, of New York City, working with his associate Dr. Stewart Wolf, worked out a method for measuring the intensity of pain felt by a person. They focused the light from a 1,000-watt lamp through a lens, through a small hole, to shine on a portion of the forehead blackened with India ink. They would then measure the intensity of the light that would cause pain in the person.

This measurement would be related to the ability of several different drugs to relieve pain. We doctors know, or should know, that when a person is resistant to pain he is also likely to be resistant to drugs of all kinds, and we will have to give him more of a certain drug to get the same effect as a smaller amount would bring in a person with a more sensitive nervous system.

Also, years ago another dear friend of mine, Dr. E. Libman, regarded in his day as the most brilliant diagnostician in New York City, became greatly interested in the variations in the ability of different people, and various groups of people, to feel pain. He would determine this by pressing on a spicule of bone called the styloid process, that runs down into the neck from the region of the lower lobe of the ear toward the rear of the jaw. As soon as a patient would come into his office, he would press hard on this bit of bone, so as to get an idea as to how sensitive the person was to pain.

That would give him an idea of how severe the patient's complained-of pain was.

Dr. Libman discovered, as he expected, that people who were decidedly primitive, like the aborigines of Australia and New Guinea, were more insensitive to pain than other people.

Probably the trouble with highly nervous women who suffer from various pains is that their "threshold for pain" is very low. On the other hand, Dr. Libman found that prize-fighters and wrestlers who are exposed to much pain could not stand the fighting if they were not insensitive to pain. Otherwise they couldn't take the terrible beatings that they take in the ring.

The ability to feel pain is an important protective device of our nervous system, and people who do not feel pain can sometimes get into trouble because of it.

For example, I will never forget a day, long ago, when I was recently out of college and I was called to see a man who said he felt very ill, as if he was going to die. He had a little fever, he had some nausea and vomiting, and his white blood count was high, as it would be with an acute infection; yet he was not in pain.

I was puzzled, so I called for help from one of the most brilliant of my professors, in my medical school, and he agreed with me that the man looked seriously ill. Then he took out a pin and thrust it through the man's skin, and the man felt nothing. My chief said, "He has an acute appendix which he cannot feel, because he cannot feel pain." Immediately, my chief called for a surgeon who opened up the man's abdomen and sure enough, there was an appendix about to burst. If we had not caught it right then, the man might have died.

A couple of years later, one of my friends, a distinguished and eminent physician, lost his life because he was so insensitive to pain. I knew he was insensitive because another friend of his and mine, a skin specialist, told me that whenever the great man came in to have a little skin cancer burned off his face, he always said, "Don't bother with novocaine; I can't feel anything." One day when, for the first time in his life, he felt pain in his upper abdomen. He knew that this must indicate some very serious disease, and the next day, when he had his stomach X-rayed, sure enough, there was an inoperable cancer of the stomach. And in about six weeks he was dead.

I just read of a new method of measuring sensitivity to pain in which the person's heel is squeezed in a press, and the amount of pressure that produces pain is measured.

FLIGHT SOUTH

It was only a faint sound at first, but it grew louder and louder. Then I knew what it was and rushed from the house.

High overhead, dark against the bright autumn sky, a flight of geese winged instinctively toward the south. Large wings flapped in graceful rhythm, and raucous honks of conversation brought a nostalgic ache to my throat.

"Bon voyage," I called, saluting with my whole heart the brave creatures who flew so unswervingly through uncharted skies.

And I wondered at us humans. How we doubt and fear and flail about, worrying about tomorrow and a dozen other somethings! Our course is not unknown. God promises abundant life if we but follow Him.

Your church is your guidebook to God. Worship there and find the security that comes from within, the result of understanding God and one's relationship to Him.

Council accepts Minor in Cass City West Street bid

A bid totaling $9403.75 by Lasky Construction Company, Bad Axe, was accepted unanimously by the village council when bids for curb and gutter of West Street were opened Monday.

Gen-Tel reveals expansion plan

A relatively minor amount will be spent on capital improvements next year by General Telephone Co. of Michigan in the Cass City exchange.

According to information revealed last week by A. T. Jones, eastern division manager for the company, a total of $34,700 will be spent in 1973.

Much of the money will be spent for completion of long distance circuits to Saginaw and the start of another long distance Saginaw circuit due for completion in 1974.

The remainder will be used for central office dial equipment and additional local service cable in the southwest rural area to "provide for exchange growth and some reduction in parties per line".

While the Cass City exchange is due for modest improvement next year, record amounts are budgeted for the entire eastern division. It will total $12.1 million, according to Jones.

More than $7.3 million is included for the 31 exchange communities in the Thumb portion of the company's service area.

The Thumb portion of the eastern division includes the Davison and Imlay City districts with additional service offices at Cass City, Milford and Richmond.

In all, 57 individual projects within the division will add 7,400 lines, 4,600 terminals, 72 ticketers and 516 carrier channels. (A "line" can accommodate from one to four customers and a "terminal" is necessary for each customer.)

Building space to house the additional equipment will cost $935,600. Included is a major building project at Adrian, to house electronic automatic exchange (EAX) equipment which will replace the present electro-mechanical equipment after 1975, as well as building projects at Imlay City, Metamora and Minden City.

Another exchange in the area at Kingston has been budgeted to receive $167,900 for additional local service cable in the rural area to reduce the number of patrons on party lines.

Aerial cable and pole lines, buried cable and underground cable in conduit-called "outside plant" equipment by the company-will cost $4,171,200 in 1973; while telephones, business systems and associated connection equipment costs are projected at $3,031,200.

Cars and trucks, major tools such as ditchers, trenchers, cable plows, trailers and generators and office equipment costs of $291,100 round out the $12.1 million budget.

'73 Plymouth Satellite

Don't buy a Torino, Chevelle, Cutlass or Le Mans until you've compared it to our '73 Plymouth Satellite.

'73 Plymouth Satellite is built to be seen.

What is it that makes the big difference between all the other mid-size cars and our new '73 Plymouth Satellite Sebring-Plus? Is it the new sporty styling? Or the standard electronic ignition? Or the new "Super-Quiet" soundproofing treatment in the Sebring-Plus? The torsion-bar suspension? Unibody construction? Special protection against rust and corrosion? Actually, it's all these things and more. Because this Satellite is built to look better, last longer and run quieter than any Satellite before. And the big difference is extra care in engineering. So come on in. Compare our new Satellite to all the other mid-size cars. See for yourself what a big difference extra care can make.

Levy charge on Evergreen dump users

Residents of Evergreen township, Sanilac county, will still be able to dump refuse at the township dump, but at an added charge, said clerk Chris Dorland.

The sanitary landfill located two miles east, 1/2 mile north and 1/2 mile east of Shabbona Road, was threatened with closing last month when state officials inspected the site and said it may be closed if state regulations were not met.

Dorland said that officials haven't said they couldn't use it, so the township is going ahead and keeping the landfill open. Residents, however, will now have to pay a fee to dump their waste. The cost will be $1 per car. $2 per pickup and $3 per truckload. Double that cost will be required for persons who do not live in the township.

The fees will go towards paying the $30 per day for a man to bury refuse after it has been dumped. In the past, the township waited until a trench was filled, then buried it.

Results of soil tests taken by the state are still unknown, Dorland said, but he believes the dump will pass. State officials are concerned with the waste draining through the soil and into the water table. A sandy soil is not acceptable, Dorland said, but added that the 20 acre landfill site is on clay ground.

Besides passing the soil tests, the township must file a use plan with the state, Dorland said. This is ready but not yet filed.

Most broken promises were made with the best of intentions.

Pakonen fears letdown after Hawks' home-coming win over Sandusky

The Cass City Red Hawk title express continued to streak towards an undefeated season last Friday with a 46-0 pounding of Sandusky at Cass City Recreational Park.

It was the fifth straight victory and kept the club perched on top of the Thumb B Conference ahead of three teams that have lost a single game. . . Vassar, Frankenmuth and Caro.

It was an easy victory for the Hawks. Maybe too easy. For another of the lesser teams in the league this season, Marlette, will host Cass City Friday and Coach Roland Pakonen is fretting about a possible upset.

If ever the time was ripe for one, Friday would be the day. The Hawks are coming off a one-sided victory, undefeated.

Marlette has won just once in four Conference starts. How to keep his charges from looking past this week's game to next Friday when, Vassar, the last team with any real chance to catch them, is slated in town is the problem that Pakonen faces this week.

The Red Raiders haven't looked good in the last two games, Pakonen said, but they were good in earlier games.

They have a young team and inexperience shows in their inconsistency. But they are big and have good quick backs. Pete Diegel is probably their best, the coach feels.

The Hawks of course will be prohibitive favorites to win against the Raiders.

For the first time since the opening game, Cass City had breathing room and dominated the Sandusky tilt from the opening whistle.

The Hawks scored three times in the opening period and that was about all there was to the game although the Homecoming throng, with an eye to the polls, kept urging their team to keep on scoring.

It was a game in which Cass City was able to use nearly everybody on the bench.

The Hawks took advantage of a pair of poor punts and a long dash to score in the first quarter. Gene Salas slammed over from a yard out and then ran the conversion. Cass City, 8-0.

Moments later he capped a drive with an 11-yard scamper. Cass City, 14-0.

Kip Hopper took a punt just before the quarter ended and romped 77 yards for a score. Exchange Student Chito Venegas booted the extra point. Cass City, 21-0.

The two teams settled down to a kicking game until mid-way into the second period when Curt Strickland faded back and found Scott Hartel behind the Redskin secondary and hit him perfectly. The play covered 56 yards.

In the second half Paul Bliss kept his touchdown parade going by scoring from 10 yards out on a Strickland pass. Hartel scored his second of the game on a 40-yard pass from Kip Hopper. Hopper scored his second marker of the game on a 12-yard dash in the final quarter.

Sandusky moved to the Hawk one-foot line in the first half but were stopped cold the next two plays.

Coach Pakonen said that Hartel and Dave Duerr won the Red Hawk award for the week. Hartel scored twice and played an excellent defensive game.

the coach said.

Doerr was tough on defense and the films indicated that he was the team's best offensive blocker. Chester Sieradzki led the team with eight solo and eight tackle assists.

The Hawks lost the services of Don Karr this week. Karr is suffering from a bruised back. Otherwise the team is in good physical condition.

Cass City golfers qualify for state tournament

The first team in the brief golf history of Cass City High School qualified Saturday for the finals of the Michigan State Class C-D golf tournament. It will be played at Saugatuck.

The team qualified by placing third among 24 teams entered and 18 team eligible to compete at the Regionals at Bad Axe. Flint Goodrich won the meet and Lansing Haslett was second.

The field finished in the following order:

Flint Goodrich	328
Lansing Haslett	330
Cass City	341
Pontiac Catholic	352
Bad Axe	359

Lansing Catholic	370

Coach Tom Woody and to local golf fans was that Cass City qualified while the team did not play its best golf Saturday. The players qualified by 11 strokes over fourth place Pontiac Catholic.

Woody says that Cass City's strength is its depth. The team has four golfers of about equal ability. The player first in one match may well be fourth in the next, he said, and for this reason the players feel that they have as good a chance as any in the State showdown Saturday. The players finished in the following order at Bad Axe: Craig Helwig 43-37-80; Rich Lowe, 43-39-82; Don Galbraith, 40-46-86; Jerry Toner, 43-50-83.

Eagles top Hawks in bruising battle

It was a rough tough football game and Frankenmuth won it, 6-0, over the Cass City Junior Varsity last Thursday.

It was the first loss of the year for the Junior Hawks and the Eagles remained undefeated by using a big weight advantage to pound the Hawk line and score late in the first half on a reverse.

In the bruising battle, 2 Cass City players were hospitalized. Kim Hill suffered an arm fracture and Ed Stoutenburg a jolt that required an overnight stay in the hospital as a precautionary measure.

The JV's play at Sandusky Thursday night and will be favored over the Redskins who are 1-3 in the Thumb B Conference.

The JV standings:

Cass City	2	1	1
Marlette	2	2	0
