

BUSINESS was a little slow at the new fire hall Tuesday night. The Elkland Township Fire Department members were on hand to dish out the traditional free popcorn but many of the ghosts and goblins evidently didn't find them. Undaunted, the fire fighters boxed up sacks of popcorn and took them to Main Street where they had little trouble finding goblins to gobble the goodies.

Local contests to bring out large vote for general election

A strong challenge by the Democratic party that believes a change is needed in a traditional Republican stronghold is expected to pull voters to the polls in Tuscola county when the general election is held Tuesday, Nov. 7.

The county's 22,275 registered voters will choose among national, state and local candidates as well as decide numerous state and local propositions.

Democrats are optimistic but most candidates on both party tickets are not claiming victory but waiting for the election results. Meanwhile, campaigning is heading into the last week of flurried activity.

DISTRICT 2 COMMISSIONER

A local drawing card is the race between Democrat George Ellesin and Republican Maynard McConkey for District 2 commissioner, a post being vacated by incumbent Ed Golding, District 2 includes Elkland. Elmwood, Ellington, Novesta and Precinct 2 of Kingston township.

Ellesin, 63, has lived at hi. home on E. Deckerville Road, for the past 45 years. He has served with the Michigan Employment Security Commission for over 30 years, and has also held posts with the Cancer Society, Ellington School Board, ManPower program and other civic organizations.

Ellesin said he is optimistic about the campaign which he is basing on the premise that county government should be responsive to the needs of its residents, and that good government should be neither expensive or complicated. He said he is concerned with ever, and said he is leaving it in economic development, preservation of natural resources and the return of qualified professional and business persons to the community. McConkey, 59, is also heavily campaigning for the post of commissioner. He is currently

This action was taken at a brief regular meeting held at the municipal building when public safety comprised the major discussion.

The discussion of what to do about children crossing the streets at various busy intersections was brought up again when the school board approached the council with a

Council proposes traffic

According to safety chairman Gary Jones, the school presented a figure of about $1000 as the village's share, but council members were dubious that amount would pay for even one guard for one school year.

The committees recommendation, the result of a recent meeting of Gary Jones, Arthur Holmberg, Police Chief Gene Wilson and Village Superintendent Lou LaPonsie, was for walk-wait signs at the street light intersection at Main and Seeger and a three-way traffic signal at Seeger and Rose streets as the village's part in the program.

Jones said the committee felt that while this would be a greater initial cost, it would be cheaper in the long run than hiring adult guards for those two corners.

The school board suggested the corners of Seeger and Rose, Main and Seeger and Oak and Main or Ale and Main were the most important to consider.

The walk-wait signs would cost the village about $1500, matched by $1500 of state funds, and a light at Rose and Seeger would cost about $1000, including installation, the council said. The $1000 light may come under funding from Federal Revenue Sharing, LaPonsie

The light at Rose and Seeger would blink red and green only when school children are coming and going to school, the committee proposed, and would blink caution during the rest of

The proposal was made as being the cheapest in the long run and benefiting the whole community 'instead of just school children, Jones explained, considering particularly the walk-wait signs at the light intersection.

With the lights, the safety committee said, they felt some of the responsibility for making decisions to cross traffic would be removed from the fifth and sixth grade crossing patrol, but would eliminate the need for adult guards.

The Oak and Main and Ale and Main intersections were still unsolved, but the committee plans to meet with representatives of the school soon with their proposal and hopefully work out a final solution.

LaPonsie was also directed to check with other communities using crossing guards to find out how much it costs them and how the program is admini stered in those villages.

SPEED ZONES

Also in the interest of public safety and smooth flow of traffic, the council agreed to change speed zones along Seeger Street from both north and south to eliminate the problem of coming into the village from a 65 mph zone and hitting a 25 mph zone without any advance warning.

With the cooperation of the county road commission, the village will soon be zoned this way, beginning from the north. on Cemetery Road at Milligan

Road; a 35 mph sign at the north line of the high school property, and a 25 mph sign just north of the intermediate school.

The 25 mph zone now in force will remain through most of the village, with the speed limit changing to 35 mph at Garfield and to 45 from the end of the village limits, Seventh Street, to Superior Collision south of town After that point, the limit will again be 65 mph.

The new speed zones will become effective as soon as signs are erected, Village President Lambert Althaver said No time estimate was made.

The council also discussed other traffic patterns in the village and considered changing the yield sign at Garfield and West Streets to help ease the flow of traffic from the industrial section. This was tabled until West Street construction is completed and a better idea of traffic flow determined.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, the council voted to put the $17,100 received from the auction sale of the old firehall and library building into a sinking fund for capital investments in the parking system.

Members of the council had expressed some desire to keep the land for parking instead of selling it, and all members agreed this would be the best use for the unexpected large

Approval was also given for the Chamber of Commerce to use the corner of the Jackson Lot at Seeger and Church for a Santa Claus land at Christmas, Superintendent LaPonsie reported he and Nelson Willy, director of the Waste-Water Treatment Plant, along with other Thumb community representatives met with men of the Water Resources Commission in Saginaw recently. All the communities involved are presently discharging more waste into the waters of the Saginaw River Valley than provided for in the new stream standards.

Willy said Cass City is discharging 167 pounds of biochemical oxygen demand waste into the Cass River. The new standard is 165 pounds per day.

The purpose of the meeting was to find out what sort of improvements are being planned. LaPonsie reported that the commission was satisfied with the progress the

"If It Fitz..." Duffy's off his pom pom

BY JIM FITZGERALD

Some terrible things are happening at our institutions of higher learning. And I guess I should feel guilty about it. Duffy Daugherty, football coach at Michigan State University, blames the alumni for his poor teams. He says MSU graduates don't help him recruit good football players.

"Other schools have the alumni help more in recruiting," Duffy told a newspaper reporter. "They go to the local alumni club in a town where they want a player and have the club get the guy a summer job, or talk up the school. We need more of this kind of thing. . . I'm not interested in moral support. I'm interested in financial support."

I must confess: my hands are not clean. I have been an MSU alumnus for 20 years and I have never once patted a high school quarterback on the rump and offered him $500 a week for changing light bulbs in my darkroom if he would fight, fight, fight for MSU.

I'm in trouble closer to home, too. A member of the local school board has rapped the school administration and her own board as a bunch of losers. One thing that disturbed her is that the high school band couldn't find time in its Homecoming schedule to furnish accompanying music while the pom pom girls pomed their poms.

Again, I must blush guiltily. Once I watched through my back window as my daughter and her pom pom team practiced. They jumped up and down and waved balls of shredded paper in the air. "It is hard to believe," I told my wife, "but I think it might be possible that pom pom girls are as boring as baton twirlers." (It must be pointed out here that I play no favorites. My other daughter was a baton twirler. I mention these things as part of my usual head-emoff-at-the-pass policy. The theory is that angry parents won't hit me on the head for knocking what their kids do as long as my kids do it too.) At any rate, there is obviously something wrong with me. I don't really care if Duffy

Daugherty never wins another football game. He is well paid and so are his assistants and his players. They are involved in a business that is about as amateur as General Motors. If Duffy and company can't fill all the seats in the stadium, then the MSU trustees should hire someone who can.

I've been one of the rah-rah fans at Michigan State games for almost 30 years. But I don't kid myself that the MSU Spartans are much different than the Detroit Lions. They are all professional entertainers, competing for fans' dollars.

And if the Lions coach blamed me when he lost, I'd tell him to take a head-first dive into his water bucket. Duffy Daugherty can go dive in the same place.

Likewise, I can't get upset about the plight of the pom pom girls. It is dismaying that a school board would spend time arguing about such nonsense. I strongly favor school sports, with all the trimmings. They can be fun and I'm all for having fun. But first things first. .

The other day a guy tried to sell me a $100 ticket on a Cadillac. The money would go to a worthy cause, he said — to buy football uniforms for 8th

I told him to come back when he was raising money to improve the curriculum so that Johnny might be able to read and write on his graduation day. He looked at me as if I were

Carl H. Gerstenberger

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Gerstenberger, 1235 Wheeler Road, Snover.

Gerstenberger received his basic training with Company D of the 5th Brigade's 17th Battalion. He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

The private graduated from Sandusky High School in June.

Training school seeks discards

The Caro State Home and Training School would like to have your old Halloween disguises. . .the ones that the children have outgrown or you no longer want.

Any type of costumes and half masks are welcome, R. Dee Woell, director of community relations, said this week. Adult and large children's sizes are in greatest demand.

Rabbit tracks By John Haire (And anyone else he can get to help)

For a moment let's dispense with trivia here and talk about two of the more important state propositions facing the voters next Tuesday: abortion and the revised method of taxation for our

It has been the thought here that the best interests of the majority can be served by voting for abortion (proposal B) and against the tax amendment (proposal C).

Proposal C is listed as a proposal to limit property tax for school, county and township purposes and shift the tax responsibility to the

For persons in the Cass City School District it is a misnomer. For under the new law property owners could be assessed up to 26 mills for operation of county, township and schools. In addition, special taxes can be levied to build buildings, acquire sites and provide other improvements.

What I'm saying is that right now area taxpayers pay less than 31 mills and under the new law could pay as much property tax as they do today and still face the increased tax burden that the state will levy through an increased income tax or value added tax.

And when the money comes from Lansing the control comes from Lansing and it's good-by to local control of schools as we know it. That our tax laws need overhauling goes without question. But proposal C doesn't reform, rather it promises to increase the tax burden for all. We should turn it down.

The question of abortion is inextricably interwoven with emotion and, in many cases, religion. The arguments have been batted about so that most of us can recite the pro and con almost without thinking about it.

It's the thought here that we should remember that we're not voting mandatory abortion. . .no one has to do it just because it's

And equally important, many are doing it even though it is illegal. That doesn't make it right, naturally, but it does illustrate again that it's impossible to legislate people's morals. With legal abortion in several States a vote against abortion is really a vote against the poor. . . all the women who don't have the money to travel where the clinics are. The women who are really denied "freedom of choice". For these women it's the difference between an alley butcher and an accredited doctor in an accredited

We just can't buy the murder theory of life in the womb and believe that really unwanted children start life with three strikes against ++++++++++ Back to the school tax picture for just a second and then on to trivia. Supt. Donald Crouse says, I believe that the new tax law is a bad law and you can quote me on it.

That's newsworthy for a couple of reasons. For one he is tackling head-on the stand of the Michigan Education Association which would like to see more and freer tax money floating from Lansing. And the second (really unusual) is that he and I have agreed on one major school issue.

If you are frothing at the bit to spend your money for some of those State lottery tickets, you won't have to travel far to get one. Monday morning local applications were approved and the 50-cent tickets to riches will be available at Fort's Store, Erla's Super Market, Ben Franklin Store and Wood's Drug Store.

Russ Schneeberger says the winner was still going strong at the end. Russ was talking while he should have been listening mid-way through the contest. He offered another $50 in merchandise if contestants went through Saturday night.

Four hours after everyone else finished Mrs. Richards was prepared to go to Sunday morning for the extra $50. . .but she didn't

The reason? Russ was delegated to stay in the store with Mrs. Richards and while she wasn't all that tired. . .he was.

I'd have given her the store, to get home, Russ sighed, as he locked up four hours early and told Mrs. Richards that the extra bonus was Another sidelight on the rock-a-thon. A man from Caro protested that the contest was unfair because it was restricted to women only. No one learned his name, but this fellow claims to be the rock-a-thon champ of Michigan. . .96 hours.

of the 84th District, stresses law and order as a primary point in his campaign for election.

Mr. Heine, a native and resident of Frankenmuth, states: "I have talked to thousands of people throughout Michigan, and I am certain that everyone's main desire is the return to respect for a peaceful and orderly society.' Emphasizing a need for safe communities, Mr. Heine firmly believes that, "the only means by which this safety can be realized and the rate of crime reduced, is through the restoration and maintenance of law and order."

Dear John:

very rare, almost non-existent. Exposure to measles and certain drugs are not reasons to change the law, since it has recently been proven, that the malformed and the handicapped enjoy life as much as the normal.

Criminal abortions have not decreased in those states where abortion laws have been liberalized. In some instances, they have increased significantly.

There are no unwanted and unloved babies in the U.S. Adoption agencies have not been able to fill the requests of those who want them. Those who want the law changed do so because of convenience, not because of necessity.

Now, let's look for a moment at how it has gone in New York and other places where abortion on demand has been instituted. Those babies which have been aborted by Caesarean Section have been killed after they were BORN since 100 percent of them were aborted ALIVE! Some were smothered by the placenta while others died from exposure and neglect.

In the case of the babies which were "salted out", many of them were aborted alive inspite of the doctors best efforts to kill the child first. Many of these babies (only God knows how many) kicked and screamed for hours or days before dying. Others were heard to scream as they were dropped into hospital garbage

Thousands of babies were purposefully kept alive as long as possible and sold for scientific experimentation. Some were injected with a live virus and kept alive until their little bodies were filled with disease, then slaughtered and their blood drained and used for vaccine production. YOUR CHILD'S NEXT IMMUNIZA-TION SHOT MAY BE CAN-NIBALIZED FROM SLAUGHTERED BABY! Authorities at the hospital where the process was developed justify it as an alternative to the "senseless slaying" of animals from which vaccines were previously made. At least one aborted baby lived and was adopted, but she was only one bright spot in what is probably the most horrible development in human history. Finally, we must determine the morality of the abortion question based upon the Bible and the Juda-Christian Ethic, as well as science. The historical position is that abortion is murder. So said the Christian pulpit for long centuries. So said the Jewish pulpit. For the most part those today who believe God is still alive, those who believe the Bible, reject abortion. The Bible teaches the following: (a) Human life is made in the image of God. (Gen. 1:26-27) (b) God personally relates Himself to the unborn baby as a person (Ps. 51:5) (c) God demanded the death penalty for the killing of a fetus as He did for the murder of any human life. (Ex. 21:22-25)

Any scientific definition of human life applies to an unborn baby. His heart beats about 18 days after conception. Brain waves have been detected as early as 43 days after conception. Psychologists define personhood as one having intellect. emotion, and volition. It has been proven that a fetus has all three of these early in the gestation period.

Let's not permit the murder of helpless, innocent human beings in Michigan simply because they are small and unknown. I urge a no vote on Proposal B.

Sincerely,

Lloyd L. Streeter Pastor First Baptist Church Cass City, Michigan

Citizens Committee to elect Bruce D. Farnum.

DRAIN COMMISSIONER

Republican incumbent Leslie Lounsbury is opposed by Democratic contender Bruce D. Farnum for the post of Drain Commissioner.

Lounsbury, 59, has served in the post four years and worked in the department 7 years before that. He is basing his campaign on experience, although he has had little time to campaign because he said he has been busy in the office with a backlog of work. He holds a degree in agriculture engineering from Michigan State University and lives west of Cass

He predicted a 50-50 chance of winning over Farnum.

Farnum, 41, recently retired from a 20 year career in the Air Force, where he worked in administration. He was born and raised in Tuscola county, and currently lives in Vassar.

He said he was asked to run for the post and stated that he thinks a change in the government is needed. He cited a backlog of drain work that needs to be done in the county, and has pledged to try to clear it

After 20 years he came back to find the situation the same,

REGISTER OF DEEDS

A close vote may decide the race for register of deeds. Competing for the post are John J. Burns, Democrat of Kingston, and John Marshall, Cass City Republican.

Both men have been campaigning heavily for the job being vacated by retiring William Profit.

Burns, 54, said he is vying for the post because he is in favor of the two party system which he said gives better government.

A semi-retired businessman who sold his grocery business 2 years ago after 33 years, he said he realizes the value of good records.

He is currently a member of the Tuscola County Selective Service Board and president and volunteer worker of the Tuscola County Help Line. Past offices include service on the Kingston village council, the Tuscola County Canvassing Board and membership and offices in other civic organiza-

Burns is not predicting a victory, but he is optimistic about the election. He related that while this is the first time the Democrats have been on the ticket in many years, his house to house canvassing has shown no straight party loyalties. Marshall, 57, is not predicting the outcome of the election either way. Soon to retire from 17 years in the farm implement business. Marshall said he is running for the job because he has always wanted to run for a county office. Before he went into business, Marshall farmed near Cass City, where he has lived all his life.

He has served many years in the past on the township board of trustees, and has held positions on the resolution committees of the Michigan Milk Producers Association at the state level and the county Farm

Sheriff Hugh Marr and Clerk Elsie Hicks, both Republicans, are unopposed.

JUDGES

Two other county offices to be voted on the non-partisan judicial ballot are Judge of the circuit court, James P. Churchill, only candidate; and judge of the district court, Richard F. Kern, only candidate. Both men now hold those positions.

Voters will also choose numerous candidates on the state and federal level besides the office of president.

Candidates by party are: DEMOCRATIC: George Mc-Govern, president; R. Sargent Shriver, vice-president; Frank J. Kelley, U. S. senator; Jerome T. Hart, U. S. congressman, 8th district; Ernst C. Heine, state representative, 84th district; Charles E. Morton, Gumecindo

I'm not sure if it's a sign of the times or just a characteristic of Michigan people, but the minute you take them out of the small town, they become rude and tremendously unfriendly. I suppose it has something to

Or maybe I have a different set of standards I use to apply in different situations, which I don't like to admit, but a trip to a shopping center last week was a most unpleasant experience. I'm not sure if I'm blind here, but the common courtesies extended to a fellow shopper here vanished in the rain that particular Sunday.

Maybe the same rudeness is evident here or in any other small town for that matter, but is attributed to the rugged individualism characteristic of the rural areas of this country, and thus an attribute of admiration by a freedom loving soul. But that shopping center was something else.

You walk into the place and the only way to find the particular store you want is to consult the directory, which is a lighted glass-enclosed cabinet with a layout and numbers. Easy enough to follow if you can get close enough to look at it.

When I tried some great big woman was shielding the directory with her massive body, an elbow extending the length of the cabinet in each direction. Like a scene in an old Charley Chaplin flick, the minute 1 leaned over one shoulder, she moved in that direction, blocking the view.

Instead of using the little patience I have with people like that and simply waiting, I walked around her and leaned over the other shoulder, at which time, she swayed her body the other way.

There's only one thing to do in a situation like that. Use the old parade technique and just squeeze and gently push without seeming the least bit annoyed but not giving up any ground. I finally found the store I wanted. It seemed appropriate the item I was seeking was unavailable.

Being in a particularly frustrated mood, I began to wonder what was going on in the minds of the architects who designed that building in the first place. I shall never understand why aisles are made for only 112 persons.

Or why shoppers think they have to walk two abreast down the aisle and won't budge for someone coming in the opposite

With many vile thoughts about Michigan shoppers on my mind, my companion and I left, only to be confronted shortly afterwards with another display of the concern shown by people for their fellow man, and what seems to be an innate rudeness.

The fan belt of my car decided a miserable rainy Sunday was an excellent time to break. Fortunately, a spare belt and a friend with good mechanical repair know-how were readily available. All I had to do was stand in the rain and give moral support, which consists mostly of staying out of the way.

A little too much pressure on a rotten heater hose resulted in .a complication and a leak. But all things considered, the roadside repairs were quite satis-

And all during the 45 minutes it took to fix it, numerous cars flitted by on the interstate, playing games like honking and waving and seeing how close they could come to the car without causing any visible damage, but shaking the frame and my nerves.

The few times I've been stranded around here, people have stopped to help. But when you really need help, like on a busy interstate with no farmhouse a half mile down the road, you're changed from a person in trouble to a joke.

I guess friendliness extends only to the borders of one's own neighborhood, an unfortunate state of affairs in an ever-growing-smaller world

Voters to decide 5 state proposals

Voters will determine several controversial law changes pending the outcome of the five state proposals on the general election ballot Tuesday, Nov. 7.

Proposal A is a second attempt to approve Daylight Saving Time (DST), a sometimes controversial issue. If approved, the state would change to DST from the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in October each year.

Currently, Michigan is among three states that exempted themselves from the uniform time law passed by Congress, which calls for observance of DST unless the state votes for the exemption. The original exemption was voted by the Legislature and upheld in a 1968 election when state voters defeated the issue by a close margin of less than 500 votes.

Another controversial issue is Proposal B to allow abortion. The present statute states that an abortion may be performed only to save the mother's life. If adopted, the proposal would allow a licensed medical or osteopathic physician to perform an abortion at the request of the patient up to the 20th week of pregnancy, if the procedure is performed in a licensed hospital or other facility approved by the Department concerned with property and income taxes.

The first proposal changes the taxation method for school operation. If approved, Proposal C would limit property tax for general school operations and limit the property tax to allocated amounts for specified county, township and school purposes, not to exceed 26 mills. It would also require the legislature to establish a tax program for raising and distributing funds for public, elementary and secondary schools, and require the legislature to provide for distribu-fied purposes. The companion proposal, Proposal D, would remove the constitutional ban against a graduated income tax, and if approved would enable the legislature to impose a flat rate or graduated state income tax and to exact laws permitting local units to levy a flat rate or graduated income tax.

Smentek, 57, said he is seeking the post because he believes a change is needed in the present administration. He cited the bad roads and the township board's approval for a pension for themselves without voter approval as two instances of issues he does not agree with.

A farmer who retired in 1966, he said he ran for the office once before but was defeated. His experience in governmental affairs include 10 years on the county election board. Candidates for office in Elkland township include Edwin Karr, supervisor; Ferris D. Ware, incumbent clerk; Arthur T. Randall, incumbent treasurer; Allen J. Merchant, trustee and Frederick Martin, constable, all unopposed.

GREENLEAF TOWNSHIP

Issues sure to spark interest in Greenleaf township are the proposals to permit liquor by the glass and the request for one mill for fire protection. The liquor by the glass proposition was requested by Wildwood Farms, a restaurant which now sells beer and wines. The one mill for five years is an additional millage needed to pay for the increased cost in fire protection. If approved, it will generate approximately $2300 next year. The current assessment is $2.3 million. Fire protection expenses have been averaging about $1500 per year, clerk Clare Brown said. With the increase in stand-by fees for the Elkland Township Fire Department, that cost will rise to approximately $1800 this year, and may rise even more in the future, Brown said.

Michigan is on the threshold of a new and very different way of raising revenue to keep the state from going broke.

Instead of levying a new tax on some of human endeavor such as earning a living or buying something, the state is going to make some money from one of man's most basic urges - the desire to get something for nothing.

In this case the "something" in the form of large numbers of dollars is not for "nothing". Before a person can win anything, he must buy at least one 50 cent ticket. Among the prizes being dangled before him to entice him to buy that ticket are a $1 million prize, prizes of $200,000, $50,000 and $10,000, and even a lot of $25 prizes.

As anyone who's been around the state can figure by now, we're talking about Michigan's new state lottery, which will begin selling tickets Nov. 13.

Several eastern states already have instituted lotteries and based upon this experience, authorities here are conservatively estimating Michigan will clear $50 million a year, or roughly $1 million a week, from the lottery here.

The lottery idea was approved last May 16 by Michigan voters after the legislature put it on the ballot in hopes of coming up with a painless way to raise state revenues in this election year. The theory, presumably a correct one, is that people don't mind nearly as much paying taxes if they have a chance of getting a dramatic return on their "investment". And when all the verbiage is stripped away, the lottery is just another tax if you consider any money collected by a government is a tax. But unlike the laws setting up the income tax or the sales tax, the lottery law provides that 45 per cent of the money collected will go back to the people who paid it.

Lottery Commissioner Gus Harrison devised a system under which every one million tickets sold will result in 4,000 winners of $25 prizes. In addition, two out of each one million ticket buyers will win "super prizes" of $10,000 to $200,000

The "super prizes" will be drawn for each week in which at least 2.5 million tickets have been sold since the last "super prizes" drawing. That means a minimum of five "super winners" will be involved with a grand prize of $200,000 a consolation prize of $50,000 and three other consolation prizes of

In addition, for every 30 million tickets sold, there will be a "super duper" instant millionaire drawing in which the winner will take home a cool

Exactly 996,000 persons will lose 50 cents every time there arc 4,000 winners of $25. That's how the state earns revenue from the lottery. And it should't be forgotten the real reason for the lottery is to earn more money without raising the income tax or some other equally

Superintendent's Statement

The 1971-72 audit shows improvement in the financial Value of Equipment condition of the school system. The cash balance carry over is large enough so the school should be able to operate during the 1972-73 year with very little, if any, borrowing.

Debt retirement funds are being applied on schedule and each account is carrying an adequate balance. The effective debt for the district is now only for the high school building. The present total bonded debt for the school district is $1,640,000. Debt retirement funds on hand amount to $138,000 so the effective debt is $1,502,000.

1972-73 should be a good year educationally and financially. Through curriculum changes and additions our students are being offered an exceptionally well rounded program. The improvements in program have been made in a financially sound manner and we expect to operate on a balanced budget for the year.

- Eastmans to leave farm home for retirement complex

See how Hydro-Massage Therapy makes the

By Kit McMillion

Leaving the only place they've wanted to call home isn't easy for the Ellwood Eastmans, but with a positive attitude and some excitement about starting a new and different way of life, they are facing the sale of many of their possessions and the purchase of their farm on Schwegler Road.

The sale of the farm was finalized in September, and soon a farm sale will be held. The business currently oc-her three children have an opportunity to choose among the memory pieces.

The flurry of activity is the consequence of the anticipated move into a small apartmenttype residence for retired persons near Rochester. They expect to move within the next two months.

The Eastmans' new home will be near their family. Living at the 14-acre, semi-rural retirement home will put them within a few miles of one son and near 6 of their 11 grandchildren.

The new four-room facility will be a great deal smaller than their present 14-room home, and it will be easier to keep clean, cutting back the work load on Mrs. Eastman's shoul-

At 75, she's looking forward to having time to relax, do some reading and take up her hobby again--quilting.

Eastman, who is 83, said, "I don't expect to do too much of anything," although he's looking forward to being closer to persons he will be able to talk to

The retirement complex includes a recreation building where persons can gather. A frail man, Eastman walks with a cane now because of trouble with his knees, and can't get around as well as he'd like to. There was a time when he enjoyed working in his shop. His favorite activity was building bird houses, but he no longer does that. "I still like it, but I can't stay on my feet very long," the retired dairy farmer explained. Leaving their home of 30 years, the Eastmans are realistically facing the fact that they can't hang onto those ties forever, but can take the memories with them. "We have a sad feeling of leaving this community," said Mrs. Eastman, "But I'll be greatly relieved not having so much to do.

Eastman quietly said, "I don't like to leave it," as his wife explained that his wish was to always live there.

They bought the farm after they had been renting it three years from the late Horatio Gotts. Before that they lived on a farm about a mile down the road.

The couple moved to the Cass City area in 1938 from Kingston where they had worked farms but had never been able to do as well as when they came here. "We immediately began to get on our feet here," said Mrs.

They worked the farm as long as possible until Eastman's retirement in 1958. During that time, Mrs. Eastman said she planted most of the many trees and shrubbery surrounding the rural home, as well as remodeling the old farm house to fit their needs precisely.

By the time they had moved near Cass City, their family of two sons and one daughter were pretty much grown but the Eastmans still affectionately refer to the old brick house as

One of the most important memories for Mrs. Eastman was how they were able to take what was there and work to transform it into so much comfort.

When they first came, there was no inside water, no toilet, no furnace and little electricity. "My, we put a lot of money and hard work into it," said Mrs.

While Eastman seems a little sad at leaving his land, his wife is anxious to move and get everything straightened away.

"I've never lived in a brand new house before," she stated, and is anticipating the settling down period. "It'll give us something to do," she said.

A PORTRAIT of her grandparents is one of the keepsake items Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood Eastman will take with them when they soon move from their 35-year home on Schwegler Road to a retirement complex near Rochester.

'MISSING LINK' COMPLETED....Indiana's 18-mile missing link in the I-94 freeway will be opened to traffic Thursday, Nov. 2. This means Michigan motorists can drive toll-free, nonstop from Port Huron to Chicago, a distance of 350 miles, for the first time ever. The new stretch is located between U.S. 20 on the east and U.S. 20 on the west (between the two arrow points on the map). Michiganians using I-94 to Chicago will save at least 25 minutes driving time, 10 miles and $1.40 in toll road fees ($1.05 for the Indiana Toll Road and 35 cents for the Chicago Skyway). Previously, travelers had to take seven miles of substandard, two-lane road to reach the Indiana Toll Road, and numerous traffic tieups developed.

After victory over Vassar

Hawks one win away from undisputed league crown

Just once Coach Roland Pakonen would like his team to put it all together and he has a hunch that it may happen this Friday at Laker High School.

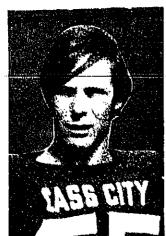

The boys know that we're almost there now and that a victory over the Lakers brings with it an undisputed Thumb B Conference championship, Pakonen said.

DREW GUERNSEY Red Hawk of the week

Already the club has clinched a share of the title and is within one game of sweeping all the Conference honors for the first time in 16 years.

While the Hawks may not have put it all together yet, last Friday's win should rank as a peak performance.

Pakonen couldn't hide the satisfaction with the Hawks when they exhibited the mark of a good team against the Vassar Vulcans. . .coming from behind to win, 20-15.

The opening quarter reminded Hawk fans of the Caro game. The visitors tore huge chunks in the Cass City defense while pounding out a series of first downs while moving down the field eating up yardage and time on the clock.

When Roger Finta pounded over from the one and Joe Smith, an outstanding back for Vassar, ran for the extra points there was just three minutes left in the first period.

Cass City took advantage of a break to come pounding back to score. A bad pass from center on a kick attempt gave the Hawks a first and 10 on the Vassar 30 and they moved briskly in for the marker. The extra point failed and at the half the Hawks trailed for the first time this year, 8-6.

In the first half the Vassar offense rolled on the ground picking up yardage over their own left tackle, but in the second half the Hawk defense stopped the play cold and it proved to be the key to the win.

Two Cass City drives were stopped by fumbles by hard running Gene Salas to mar a fine game for the Hawk senior. Pakonen said that Salas did a remarkable job of running.

The Hawks proved to be opportunists again against the Vulcans. The go-ahead touchdown came after the Hawks recovered a fumble deep in Vassar territory.

Cass City moved on the ground to the two-foot line with first and goal. The first play was stopped cold and the second lost four yards. Now it was third and four. A pass to Scott Hartel from Curt Strickland was complete on the one and when pass interference was called Cass City had four more tries to score. Salas pounded over on the second attempt.

A pass in the corner of the end zone to Paul Bliss added the extra points.

In the fourth quarter, Cass City scored the clincher on a long drive. Starting at about midfield the Hawks moved for two first downs on the ground.

Then Strickland faded and found Bliss back of the Vulcan secondary and the fleet end ran untouched into the end zone.

Vassar made the final score more respectable when in the dying minutes of the game, a Strickland pass was intercepted and ran to the Hawk 30 from where the visitors pounded

When the Vulcans scored there was less than two minutes left in the game.

Coach Pakonen singled out Randy Wright and Drew Guernsey for Red Hawk of the week awards. Wright, Pakonen said, has developed into one of the finest centers in the league. He threw key blocks to spring Salas on several long runs and recovered Vassar's on-side kick. Guernsey was the key man in halting Vassar's offtackle slants in the second half and broke up two passes. He was credited with five tackles and four assists.

Pakonen praised the defense for making the big plays and holding Smith to 43 yards in 20 carries. Kilbourn, Turner, Brooks and Doerr were outstanding, said the coach.

The offensive line should get the credit for the big yardage the backs picked up, the coach continued. Bliss, Sieradzki, Turner, Wright, Doerr, Brooks, Hartel, Tuckey and Guinther opened the holes for Salas and Kip Hopper.

Chester Sieradzki was credited with an astounding 22 solo tackles and nine assists against

Win over Marlette keeps JV's in 2nd

The Cass City Junior Varsity rolled over Marlette Thursday night, 22-6, to remain tied for second place with Caro in the Thumb B Conference.

The Hawks scored early on a 50-yard punt return by Don Erla and a 65-yard pass from Dave Zawilinski to Wayne Brooks. Zawilinski threw to Mike Gruber for the extra points and Cass City led, 14-0.

The Red Raiders rallied to score to move into contention 14-6 at halftime.

Coach Skip Pranger said the defense was very good in the second half. Chuck Bliss intercepted a long pass in the last quarter to halt Marlette's last bid to tie the score. With 30 seconds to go, Don Erla pounded over to score and Zawilinski threw to Bliss for the extra points.

Pranger said that Don Erla and Wayne Brooks were the Junior Red Hawks of the week.

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

A reader writes to me to ask, "What is osteomyelitis?" In Greek, OSTEO means bone; MYELO refers to the marrow. and ITIS refers to inflammation. Hence osteomyelitis suggests that the inner part of the bone, where there is marrow, was diseased. Often this follows a fracture or other severe injury to a bone. Especially in the old days before penicillin came, osteomyelitis was a hard disease to treat and a dangerous one, because it might force the surgeon to amputate an arm or Sometimes an injured bone will have to be opened and a so-called draining sinus must be cleaned out. After the whole area has been cleaned out, an antibiotic will be used and sealed in. Usually, after a while, the bone heals.

WHAT IS A WEN?

Wen is a common name for a cyst, usually on the scalp, back or neck, which is filled with something that looks like boiled rice. Wens are common and are not dangerous; they rarely "turn into" anything. About the only reason for removing one is for cosmetic reasons. An operation designed to remove one would be a very small opera-

Cancer has been known to be observed, but it is so rare that in my 67 years of practice I have never seen it attack a wen,

+++++ WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE

BETWEEN A BOIL AND A CARBUNCLE?

A boil is a badly infected small area, particularly of the skin, which is full of bad germs. A carbuncle is something like a boil, with several "heads" and cavities to it. Usually a carbuncle is on the back of the neck. In the old days, doctors always lanced a boil, and perhaps also a carbuncle. Now they avoid such lancing because the knife can cut through a sort of "ring of defense," which helps to keep germs from traveling off into the tissues that are near it.

Similarly, today as little as possible is done to a carbuncle. Usually what the doctor has to do is to find an antibiotic-like penicillin, which will quickly kill the germs and bring the patient relief.

When I was a boy I must have seen a few hundred men with a cross-like scar in the skin of the back of the neck. Now, thanks to the antibiotics, such scars are

In treating a boil, also, an antibiotic can be very helpful.

BALDNESS

Very early in my life, probably before I was 30, I began to get bald. It wasn't a shiny baldness - it was a fuzzy baldness. I read books on the subject, and my father, who was a physician, was also interested, because he had the same type of baldness. But neither of us ever found anything which seemed to stop our

Eventually, the process that was causing me to lose my hair stopped, and for the many years since then there hasn't been much change in my baldness. If I have a patient come in, much distressed about a beginning baldness, I'll send him to a good skin specialist who can perhaps stimulate his scalp with Grenz rays (which resemble very weak X rays), but usually, especially if the man's father was bald in the same way, such treatments do not do much good. Often there is a weak inflammation (a disease called APLOPECIA) which is taking away the man's hair, and this can creep down over the forehead and perhaps into the

FIVE YEARS AGO

The county road commission will no longer repair damaged mailboxes, replace sod, nor recognize similar claims in connection with maintenance or construction work within the limits of public rights-of way in Tuscola county.

The cornerstone of the new Cass City Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd was laid.

Malicious Halloween pranksters burned the small building at the Gagetown Recreational Park, but prompt work by the Gagetown Fire Department saved most of the equipment that it housed.

Several fourth graders entertained their classmates with a Halloween play, "A Halloween Dream." The characters were: Alan Crouse, as Ghost, Kathy Richardson as Grandmother, Christina Pierce, the little girl, Pam Ahern as the Black Cat, Lona Mellendorf as the Witch, and George Buniack and Pam Bryant were pumpkins.

The Upper Thumb Board of Realtors met for elections. B. A. Calka, Cass City realtor, was chosen to a post on the board of directors.

TEN YEARS AGO

A total of 100 years of service by four Elkland township firemen ended with the resignation of Ray Fleenor, a veteran of 23 years with the department. Others who have resigned since the beginning of the year are: Mort Örr, after 51 years; Ed Baker, after 20 years, and Ed Golding, after 6 years.

Noah Parmer, UNICEF treasurer, reported that the collection in Cass City netted $142.39. Some 60 children and 22 adults and helpers participated.

Daniel L. Deneen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Deneen of Cass city, has accepted a position with the Federal Aviation Agency as an electronics technician at the Detroit City Airport.

Tom Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Jones, Cass City, is Tuscola county's only representative in the 183-member University of Michigan Marching Band.

Cass City area drivers purchased over 100 seat belts from Cass City Jaycees during their Seatbelt Clinic.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The board of directors of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Disabled Adults, Inc., at their annual meeting elected Willis Campbell of Cass City as a director of the society. Jack Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Agar and daughters left for New Orleans, La. where the men, as members of the Schwaderer Construction Co. crew, expect to be employed for three months.

Michigan State College fraternities concluded the fall rush season and Edward Doerr, Cass City sophomore, has been pledged to membership in the Phi Kappa Tau Greek letter fraternity.

Miss Muriel Addison of Blackpool, England, a visitor in Cass City in the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young, was the speaker at two service clubs--Rotary and Gavel clubs.

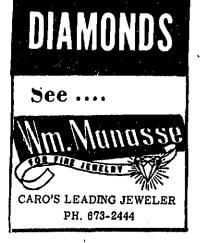

Fifty were served dinner when the Ladies' Aid Society of the Church of Christ met with a former resident, Mrs. Charles Tedford, at Watrousville. In the business meeting, Mrs. Mack Little was elected president for the tenth year.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Mrs. R. L. Kilborn has sold her store building on East Main, Street to John Doerr and is selling out her stock of groceries and dry goods. Mrs. Grant VanWinkle is spending a week's vacation with relatives. Mrs. Steve Tesho of Elkton is assisting at the telephone office during Mrs.

VanWinkle's absence. After "dolling up" the office and show room of the Ford Garage building, decorators invaded the large repair shop and applied aluminum paint to the side walls, with a lower panel of black, "It's wonderful

Robert P. Griffin is one of your two United States Senators. He has been for 6 years. He's running for re-election this fall.

You should know he's got muscle.

In just one term, Bob Griffin has made himself (in Newsweek's words) ".....a force to be reckoned with" in the Senate. His colleagues elected him to be the Minority Whip, one of the top 4 leadership posts in the Senate. It's a position from which he can – and often does – influence Presidents.

You should know some of the things he's done for Michigan

Bob Griffin convinced the President that the auto excise tax should be repealed. That meant thousands of jobs for Michigan.

Senator Griffin re-instated a supplemental food program for undernourished infants and pregnant mothers in Detroit's ghetto.

He blew the whistle on forced school busing, and introduced a Constitutional amendment to prohibit transportation of pupils on the basis of race, color or creed.

He's a consistent and persistent battler against pollution. ("Watchdog of the Great Lakes," he's been called.)

You should know some of the things he's done for the country.

Bob Griffin co-authored the Landrum-Griffin Act, the "bill of rights" for rank and file union members.

He's helped millions of students attend college with low-interest education loans, through his National Student Loan Program.

He's the Senator who stood up to two Presidents, to rebuild and defend the integrity of the U.S. Supreme Court.

He's fighting now for bills to protect the pensions of workers, and to provide a cost-of-living escalator clause for social security benefits.

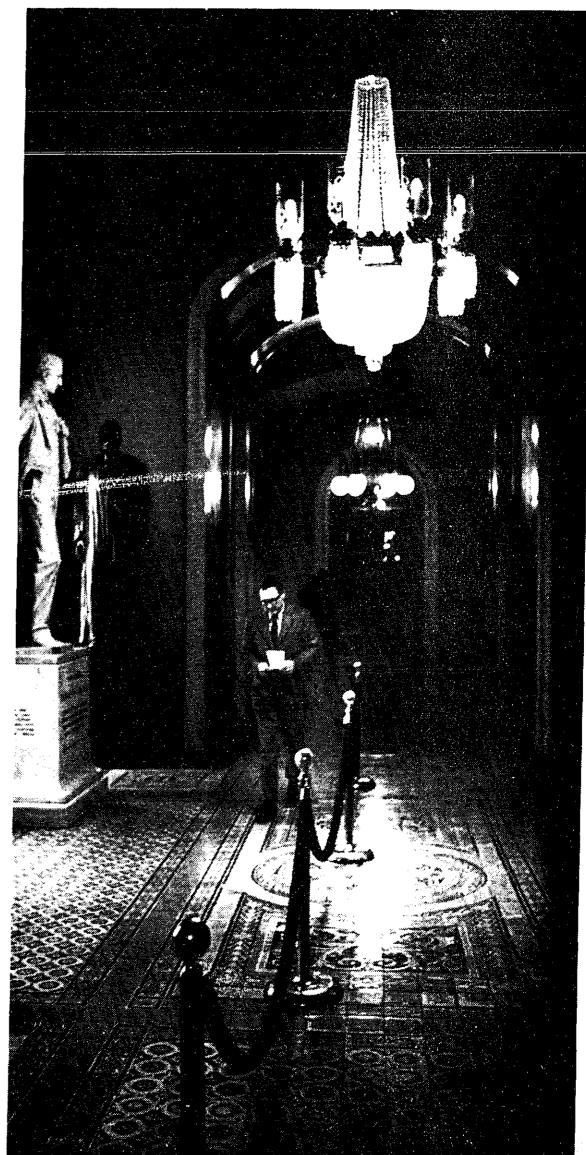

You should know what people say about him:

"...an independent Republican with a conscience but no political price tag," says the Detroit News.

"... he's proving himself a successful and tenacious David in a city of Goliaths," says the Washington Daily News.

"... he's a political moderate with a reputation for going against the establishment," says Newsday.

"... he's one of the most effective Senators in Michigan's history," says the Detroit Free Press.

AROUND THE FARM Keep the money at home

By Don R. Kebler

A positive fact of economics is a wealthy county imports more dollars than it exports. In other words, if more money comes in than goes out the wealthier that county will be.

Henry Ford proved this during the depression years when he shipped cars to all his dealers and collected on delivery from these dealers. The money from these dealers flooded into Detroit, created jobs and accelerated the economy of the area and state.

Tuscola county agriculture's raw products are marketed for higher dollars by out of county people than by county producers generally. Ideally, if all our raw farm products were sold locally or exported as processed consumer goods, our economy would be greatly increased. This would require local canneries, flour mills, dairy plants, packing houses, etc. It also would require a marketing structure and greater credit availability

With a total processing program as this, there certainly would be greater income producing capacity and greater spending power for goods and services. This Utopian concept for

Tuscola county could be a selling these animal and poultry products. Our commercial farmers could be feeding out for investments of assets and labor used, I suppose I should back up a bit and say some of do these things if they would be willing to do so.

these livestock producers market live animals to packers outside the county? This question has been asked me a number of times in the past few years along with the connotation that the Thumb could support a large packing plant. This connotation might be true. The Thumb does export to out-county packers a large number of cull cows, dairy and beef steers, veal calves, sheep and swine. If it is true, then there is extra money going out of our county as we buy back our fresh meat from out-county packers. We also lose income from the sale of these products by outside the county packers we could realize outselves.

reality in part as a few raw agricultural products can be marketed for higher profits in less than two years. Let's look at corn. We are exporting cheap corn to out of county and out of state livestock feeders, poultry and egg producers. It must be cheap corn to these purchasers or they wouldn't buy it to feed it out without realizing a profit in this extra corn and other extra feed grains plus importing extra grain.
