Opinions differ on TV religion

Local ministers agree; Politics not an issue

By Mike Eliasohn

Religion has become an under-the-surface issue in this fall's political campaigns.

But in contrast to the Rev. Jerry Falwell's of this country, who have decided the way to create "a moral America" is to get conservative politicians elected to office, local ministers contacted by the Chronicle don't see that as their proper role.

Their feelings are mixed about televised religious programs. Falwell hosts the "Old Time Gospel Hour" on television and is the head of Moral Majority, a fundamentalist Christian oriented organization working to replace liberal members of Congress with conservative ones that share its beliefs.

Falwell's program is one of several fundamentalist or evangelical television programs, supported by listener donations, that have received media attention of late, partially because of their hosts' involvement with political issues and candidates.

Rev. Gerald Rodgers of the Deford Community church, which he describes as fundamentalist, feels such programs are "an asset to the local church that is active for the Lord."

Such programs, according to Rev. John Lange of the Novesta Baptist church, express a point of view, such as opposition to homosexual rights and abortion, that doesn't get shown on the news. "You never hear the other side, really (on regular programs)."

But Rev. Gilson Miller of the Kingston and Deford United Methodist churches feels some of the television evangelists have become more concerned with ratings and fund raising, and that they present "what people want to hear, rather than a true Biblical message."

"I think they take away to some extent," commented Rev. Vern Lockard, of the Novesta Church of Christ, "because it leaves a feeling that watching TV is all one has to do."

Watching such programs doesn't require a person to make a real commitment to the Lord. "I think it misses the whole point of Christianity."

Biblical Christianity, said Rev. Harry Capps of the First Presbyterian church, always involved persons' relationship with God and with other persons, that is, the community.

The "electronic church," he feels, promotes individual Christianity at the expense of involvement with the community. Television, he said, "makes Christianity so doggone easy. It makes one so comfortable, it lulls one into a false sense of security."

Rev. Robert Taylor of the Cass City Missionary church takes the middle ground. "I feel they can be a help. Sometimes it depends a lot on the pastor. Sometimes they are fearful they will lose their congregation to the '700 Club.'"

Overall, I would be in favor of television evangelists."

AS FOR WHETHER such programs turn people to the Lord, again reaction varied.

Rev. Taylor said one parishioner accepted Christ when watching a Billy Graham crusade.

Some members of the Deford Community church were first influenced by the television programs, Rev. Rodgers said.

More influential has been his church's own programs, broadcast on the Caro and Sandusky radio stations Sunday mornings, which has resulted in some people being saved "we would have never reached otherwise."

Rev. Lange doesn't feel television programs attract members. "To get someone to come to church, you have to go out and ask them."

SUCH RELIGIOUS programs as the "Old Time Gospel Hour," "700 Club" and PTL Club (Praise the Lord) represent a fundamentalist viewpoint, which some ministers supported, although they might disagree on points of theology, such as speaking in tongues.

Rev. Rodgers, for instance, said his church is similar in tone to that presented by Jerry Falwell.

"I personally would like to see the liberal or more moderate views capture air time," commented Rev. P. Thomas Wachterhauser of the Trinity United Methodist church. "The evangelical voice is taking over, giving America only that side of things. It is misleading of the full spectrum of religious points of view."

The conservative viewpoint, such as expressed by Falwell's Moral Majority, includes opposition to abortion and favors a strong military.

Gagetown ends year in black

Gagetown finished its last fiscal year in the black and its books are in good shape. The village council was informed Monday evening.

Reporting on results of the audit for the fiscal year that ended last March 31 was John Walsh of the Pigeon certified public accounting firm of Anderson, Lynch, Nietzke and Co.

The council approved three ordinances, pertaining to disorderly conduct, loitering and storage of junk vehicles and vehicle parts. The ordinances are published elsewhere in this issue of the Chronicle. Tuscola County Road Commissioner Grover Laurie explained the one mill proposal that will be on the ballot Nov. 4, a half-mill for bridges and a half-mill for county operations. The council approved a resolution supporting it.

Halloween trick-or-treat hours were set from 6-8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 31. Tom Reehl was hired to ride with village police officer Michael Pine Oct. 30 and 31.

Representatives of Edmands Engineering reviewed forms for the Step II grant for the proposed village sewer and wastewater treatment project.

A motion was approved adopting Title I of the Federal Housing and Community Development Act that Tuscola county can receive community development discretionary funds.

At 7 p.m. this Thursday, the council will conduct a public hearing concerning its proposed application for federal Small Cities Community Development Block Grant funds.

In December of last year, the village applied for about $130,000 in Small Cities Funds to purchase the old St. Agatha School and convert it into four apartments for senior citizens.

Gagetown didn't get the grant, so is aiming to apply again.

Rev. Miller feels that is inconsistent. How can one say, "let's stop all abortions," he asked, "and on the other hand, support an arms race that could kill millions of people."

Rev. Wachterhauser said, "We must remember that moderate and liberal theologians are also Christian..."

In reference to the television evangelists, he added, "No TV preacher will ever make a sick call in your home or when you are hospitalized."

ALTHOUGH THE ministers contacted disagreed on some moral issues, for instance, abortion, they were unanimous in their feelings about advising their parishioners on how they should vote. They don't.

They do encourage their members to study the candidates and to vote.

"What I can tell the people is, look and study the candidates," said Father Joseph Morales of St. Pancratius.

Goal $13,500

Area United Way fund drive underway

The 1980 Elkland-Novesta United Way fund drive got underway Tuesday evening with the traditional kickoff dinner at the Charmont for volunteers.

The goal this year is to raise $13,500, the same amount as was the goal last year. Because of the economic situation, United Way President Dale Deering explained, that was thought to be more realistic than to try for an increase.

The goal last year was exceeded slightly.

"We are stressing strongly, how much money does stay locally," Deering said, pointing out that 13 local organizations or causes were aided, with money going to three more county or Thumb area organizations that also provide service locally.

A total of $13,803 was distributed.

The aim is to complete fund raising activities within 30 days.

Although the goal this year is the same as last year, there is one change, the existence of the newly formed Tuscola County United Way, which will be soliciting funds in areas of the county not presently served by a local organization.

Residents in those areas will receive a solicitation request by mail. There will be some overlap, county President Iris Tuckey said, because it is impossible to send out a mailing strictly by township. A person who lives in Novesta township, who has a Kingston address, for instance, would receive a mailing.

The solicitations state that if the person has been contacted by a local United Way drive, he or she should give to it, rather than to the county organization.

In addition to Elkland-Novesta, local drives are being conducted in Caro, Vassar, Akron-Fairgrove and maybe Reese.

THE EXISTENCE OF the county organization will have several benefits, according to Mrs. Tuckey, who was president of the Elkland-Novesta drive last year.

The obvious one is that persons will be asked to contribute who have never contributed before.

Another is that for the first time, Saginaw County United Way is permitting Tuscola county residents who work in Saginaw county to designate half of their pledge to their home county.

The money can only be pledged to Tuscola County United Way, not to the local drive, and the minimum pledge must be $50, of which half can be designated to Tuscola county.

When asked to contribute, the worker must ask for a special designation form.

Saginaw county was the last county to allow partial designation of pledges outside of its borders.

Other organizations only keep 10-25 percent, and don't require the money to go only to the county United Way. Last year, for instance, Elkland-Novesta received a check from Bay County United Way as the pledge from a resident of this area employed in that county.

SPEAKER AT THE kickoff banquet was Sally Bowen of Hemlock, former president of Michigan United Way and the first woman to hold that post, and presently a member of the Saginaw County United Way Board of Directors.

In addition to Deering, other officers of this year's Elkland-Novesta organization are Jon Fahrner, vice-president; Nancy Weippert, treasurer, and Ron Keegan, secretary.

Board members, in addition to the officers, are Ruth Grassmann, Arthur Holmberg, Iris Tuckey, Jerry Cleland, Dan Allen, Iva Hartwick, Don Englehart and Herb Ludlow.

The kickoff dinner was paid for by the Cass City State Bank and The Pinney State Bank.

Organizations and programs which received funds from the 1979 drive were Michigan United Way, $2,500; Catholic Family Service, $2,000; Cass City park program, $1,500; Cass City Meals on Wheels, $1,250; Rawson Memorial Library, $1,000; Tuscola County Big Brothers-Big Sisters, $1,000; Cass City Boys Little League, $850; Christmas baskets for the needy, $566; Cass City Girl Scouts, $500; Cass City Arts Council, $400; Cass City Girls Little League, $400; American Red Cross, $400; Cass City Boy Scouts, $200; Cass City Babe Ruth, $210; Cass City Cub Scouts, $100; Deford Cuo Scouts, $75, and Reading is Fundamental program, $75.

Expenses were supplies, $329; state of Michigan license, $30, and advertising, $74.

There was a balance of $2,225 for emergencies.

Proposed apology delayed

The proposed apology to Mrs. Joyce Crouse for not hiring her as special education teacher at Cass City Schools has been delayed in the school board's personnel committee.

A copy of the resolution submitted in behalf of Mrs. Crouse was in the hands of board members before a special meeting held last Wednesday.

However, it was never brought before the full board. President Geraldine Prieskorn said that the personnel committee chairman, Mrs. Thresa Burnette, was unable to get the committee together to discuss the proposal.

Although the full board was present at the meeting Wednesday, the issue never was placed on the table.

As a result, the special meeting took only a very few minutes when the formally agreed upon contract with the Tri-County Bargaining Association was ratified and books okayed for the continuing education department.

The resolution was accompanied by a release that Mrs. Crouse was to sign when the apology was confirmed by the entire board.

The proposed resolution reads:

WHEREAS, Joyce Crouse applied for a position in the high school for an opening in the Special Education classes; and

WHEREAS, the Cass City School District School Board determined that the potential conflicts of interest presented by her employment in the system because of her marriage to the superintendent of the system make it unwise to employ her in the position;

WHEREAS, Joyce Crouse has offered to release and waive all claims she may have against the school district arising out of her application in return for an apology;

NOW THEREFORE, be it resolved that the Cass City School Board, by a unanimous vote, hereby offers its apology to Joyce Crouse for the embarrassment and anxiety she experienced as a result of her application for employment as a Special Education instructor on August 26, 1980 and acted upon by the board on September 8, 1980.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the members of the Board offer their signatures to this Resolution.

Fostoria man dies in Saturday crash

Dell J. Friday, 51, of Fostoria, was killed Saturday in an accident east of Millington.

Sheriff's deputies reported he was westbound on Millington Road when his car was struck in the driver's side door by a vehicle northbound on Center Road, which had failed to stop at the stop sign.

The other driver involved was William P. Graham, 24, of Millington, who was taken to Caro Community Hospital. He was discharged from there Monday.

According to Tuscola County Assistant Prosecutor Kathleen Boyle, the prosecutor's office is waiting for the sheriff's department investigation to be completed before deciding whether any charges will be brought against Graham.

Friday was dead at the scene. The Millington Fire Department's Jaws of Life hydraulic tool was used in extricating one or both victims. The accident took place at 4:55 p.m.

Friday was the 19th person to die in a Tuscola county traffic accident this year, compared to 16 as of this date a year ago.

INJURY ACCIDENTS

Three Caro teenagers were treated and released from Caro Community Hospital following an 8:05 p.m. accident Sept. 30 in Ellington township.

They were Lisa Dykes, 16, Rose Dunton, 15, and Daniel Sines, 17, all passengers in a car driven by Mark R. Frazee, 16, of Caro. A fourth passenger was reported to have been injured, but the hospital did not have a record of his having been treated there.

Caro state police reported that Frazee was eastbound on Gerou Road, west of Jacob Road, when he lost control of his car when it hit a rise in the road.

His car went off the south edge of the road, then crossed over and went off the north side, rolled over, and landed on its wheels.

Kenneth W. Maynard, 28, of Ferndale, was treated and released from the Caro hospital after a 9 p.m. mishap Monday.

According to Caro state police, he was northbound on Phillips Road, north of Bevans Road, when a southbound vehicle came into his lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Nicol

Ann Louise Ballagh and Michael Edward Nicol were wed Sept. 6 in ceremonies at the Trinity United Methodist church.

The afternoon ceremony was performed by Rev. P. Thomas Wachterhauser.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ballagh of Cass City. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Nicol of Cass City.

The bride wore a gown of Sheerganza in a Victorian design, featuring a V-yoke of embroidered illusion, surrounded by a flounce of schiffli lace. The full sleeves of embroidered illusion were bounded by a cuff of lace. The sunburst pleated skirt fell from a raised waistline enhanced by schiffli lace to a lace-edged hemline which flowed to a chapel train.

Her silhouette hat was adorned with a ruffle of schiffli lace and featured illusion and slender satin streamers at the back secured by a silk flower cluster.

She carried a basket of blue roses, blue and white zinnias and white stephanotis, with a touch of baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Cindy Eipper, friend of the bride, Mount Pleasant. Bridesmaids were Karen Ballagh, Cass City, sister of the bride; Dana McNeerney, Mount Pleasant, and Barb Root, Cass City, friends of the bride, and Gayle Nicol, Cass City, sister-in-law of the groom.

They wore powder blue gowns styled with a blouson bodice of lace knit, featuring a self-corded scooped neck and elbow length split dolman sleeves. The sunburst pleated skirt of Lustreglo knit fell from a natural waistline.

They carried miniature baskets of flowers similar to those of the bride.

Best man was Scott Hartel, friend of the groom, of Ubyly.

Groomsmen were Jerry and John Nicol, brothers of the groom, and Mike Karr and Gordon Wills, friends of the groom, all of Cass City.

The reception at the Pigeon Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall was attended by approximately 500 persons.

The groom is employed by Nicol and Sons Escavating of Cass City. The bride is employed as an executive secretary by Walbro Corp. in Cass City.

After a four-day wedding trip to Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the newlyweds are living at 4250 Robinson Road, Cass City.

The Wheel-a-thon scheduled at the Deford Community church last Saturday was postponed because of inclement weather and will take place this Saturday, Oct. 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tropp had as a recent guest for ten days, his sister, Mrs. Selma Mathany of Cleveland, who returned home Sept. 29.

About 20 women attended the spaghetti supper in Salem UM church Monday evening which preceded the regular monthly meeting of the United Methodist Women.

Mrs. Lena Schwegler spent from Monday until Friday of last week with her granddaughter and family, the Harold Hyslops at St. Clair. Other relatives who visited her there were Mr. and Mrs. James Klein, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Klein and son Jim and her son-in-law, J.F. Klein.

Philip Doerr, who was transferred Sept. 29 to Saginaw General Hospital from Hills and Dales General Hospital, is still on the critical list, according to his family, but showing slight improvement. His temperature was normal Monday evening for the first time since surgery. He is on a respirator and faces more surgery when his condition improves.

Elizabeth Fisher was named "quizzier of the month" and received a trophy from quiz coach Dave Gaffner during the Sunday evening service at First Baptist church. The Bible quiz team competed with teams from other churches in the Saginaw Valley at a youth rally at Hope, Saturday night.

Mrs. Bruce Kritzman was a visitor Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Kritzman of Decker.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

You had to be a dyed in the wool football fan to stick it out Friday when Cass City played North Branch in the rain and cold.

Despite the weather, the crowd was surprisingly large and many of them stayed to the end.

I was told that was the case. I'll confess that I left in the third quarter.

Time out for a commercial: Last week the Chronicle was required to make its annual statement required for a second class permit at the post office. It showed that 100 more families buy the paper now than did a year ago. Now 3,600 papers are published each week.

It's always gratifying when the paper's readership increases more than the population. It's a sign that the paper is providing the community with what it wants and enjoys ever increasing acceptance without the use of gimmicks or special inducements to get people to buy. End of commercial.

The Elkland-Novesta United Way drive underway now is different than it has been in previous years when the goal was increased because of inflation.

This year, Dale Deering, chairman, says that the quota is the same as it was for 1980.

It's a concession to the economic situation that kept the quota static.

Last year, and most years, the Chest drive has met its quota and by not increasing the amount, the committee hopes to be able to go over the top again.

Russell, Erla don't disagree at meeting

The two candidates for the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners district No. 2 in the Nov. 4 election met at the Novesta Township Board meeting Monday evening, but didn't find anything to disagree about.

The candidates are Royce Russell, the Republican incumbent and Elmwood township farmer, and Democrat Richard Erla of Cass City, president of Erla's Inc.

The district consists of Novesta, Elkland, Elmwood, Ellington townships and part of Kingston township.

The township board had also asked the candidates for sheriff and state representative to come, but none did so.

In response to a question about whether they favor election of the three county road commissioners, Erla said he did. Russell responded that he wasn't sure of the mechanism by which that could be accomplished.

but if the county was split into three districts, with each electing a road commissioner, he couldn't "see anything wrong" with it.

The three road commissioners are presently appointed by the county Board of Commissioners for six-year terms.

"I'm against all three," Erla responded when asked his opinion of the three statewide tax proposals that will be on the Nov. 4 ballot.

"I'm scared of them," was Russell's response.

Russell also discussed the 1-mill levy that county voters will be asked to approve in November.

TOWNSHIP BUSINESS

The board unanimously appointed Connie Benitez of Severance Road as the new sexton, replacing David Moody, who resigned. She will be assisted by her husband, Manuel. Pay will be $4 per hour.

Ten persons had applied for the position. It was reported the township owes $51,000 to the Road Commission, the result, Supervisor Bill O'Dell said, of having additional road work done this year to beat certain price increases next year.

Novesta is not being charged interest by the road agency, and will pay its debt as the money is available.

O'Dell said the $51,000 is all of the money budgeted this year for roads and most of what would have been budgeted next year.

Treasurer Everett Field reported that state revenue sharing, proceeds from the single business tax, declined from the last three-month payment of $451 to $43 for the beginning of this month, the result of a decline in state revenues.

O'Dell said it was reported at the recent regional Michigan Townships Association meeting at the Colony House that state revenue sharing is being eliminated, however, the federal revenue sharing program has been renewed for three years.

Less oil

There is still domestic oil and gas to be found. According to the U.S. Geological Survey, waters surrounding Alaska alone could contain up to 18 billion barrels of oil and as much as 60 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

These potential additions amount to 55 percent of currently proven oil reserves and 30 percent of proven gas reserves in the U.S.

Although there may well be huge deposits of domestic oil and gas waiting to be discovered, declines in production from existing fields are expected to more than offset production from new fields.

"If It Fitz..." Skip the thatch

By Jim Fitzgerald

Around 30 years ago I clipped a short poem out of a newspaper and put it in my wallet. Amazingly, it is still there. Every so often, while fumbling for a credit card, I discover the yellowed clipping and wonder why I've carried it so long.

Then I read the poem again, and still like it, so I put it back in my wallet. I expect that when my last effects are gathered, after I've died a hero's death in an incredibly brave rescue attempt, a coroner will find this scrap of poem and drop it in his lint barrel. This is a shabby way to treat the possessions of a dead hero. I think I will stop running into burning houses.

I don't know who wrote this poem, but maybe you do:

If I ever become a rich man,

Or if ever I grow to be old,
I will build a house with a deep thatch

To shelter me from the cold,

I will hold my house in the high woods

Within a walk of the sea,
And the men that were boys when I was a boy
Shall sit and drink with me.

If I live to be a 200-year-old billionaire, I will never live under a thatch roof in the woods within a walk of the sea. I want to always live within a walk of the pool-room. But still, for 30 years I have been reading this poem while nodding my head affirmatively. This is why...

On a recent sunny day I returned to the town where I was a boy and had a ride in a 1920 Dodge. It belongs to a gravestone salesman named Jack, and my first thought was that somewhere there were grieving survivors who foolishly thought their dead Dodge was still buried. But Jack insists he bought the car from the Horace Dodge estate and spent 10 years restoring it.

Jack is married to a woman who converted a hallway in their home into a photo-shrine to John Wayne. This hallway is called Wayne Lane and serves as a thoughtful reminder to all discontented Americans that things could be worse than Ronald Reagan.

The only reason I'm telling you all this is to establish a properly nostalgic mood. Also, I truly hope something I write here might help you to realize that Wayne Lane would be a great name for a movie star.

When I got into Jack's 1920 Dodge, I suddenly remembered that my grandfather owned the same model when I was a small boy and often gave me rides. I was immediately awash in nostalgia, which explained the sudden shushing sound. Jack got the baseball game on the car radio while making a left turn. Babe Ruth was at bat. We had entered the twilight zone.

Naturally, this unusual experience left me with a great yearning to sit under deep thatch. That night, instead of driving directly home from Wayne Lane, I stopped on the northern edge of my old hometown and told my wife I had a poem to fulfill. I explained that we were parked in the area where, as a barefoot boy of 10, I swam in a canal nude, except for my shoes.

"There is now a saloon here," she pointed out.

So there was. Inside, behind the piano, we found a rotund man named Bob in a white suit. He played "After Hours" better even than Erroll Garner used to play it. I reminded Bob that he was a boy when I was a boy, and I was drunk. I told him I was surprised to see he had grown up to be Sydney Greenstreet. He said I didn't exactly look like Wayne Lane.

A man with snow-white hair joined our table. His name was also Bob and he too was a boy when I was a boy, before he grew up to become a mayor and other dull things. I asked him if he bought his hair from the Horace Dodge estate, and he spent several minutes counting my chins. We took shelter from the cold until the saloon closed, and then we talked in the parking lot, within a walk from the canal.

The cliché is that old friends are the best friends. Poems are better than clichés. I like my poem because it reminds me that even if a man doesn't have a thatch roof over his head, he can still have the pleasure of sitting and drinking with men who were boys when he was a boy.

Horse team is best in nation

The five-member Huron County 4-H horse bowl team became the national champions Saturday at competition held at Harrisburg, Penn.

The team consisted of Camie Gaskill, Owendale, and captain Colleen McIntyre, Tina Farver, Kevin Cubitt and Neil McIntyre, all from Bad Axe.

Coaches were Dennis Gaskill, Camie's father, and Mary McIntyre, mother of Colleen and Neil.

The team qualified for the national tourney by winning the state championship in April.

The all-day competition required team members to answer technical horse questions dealing with anatomy, physiology, management, breeding, horse care and information, judging, showing, breed types and veterinary science.

Eighteen teams competed in the round-robin tournament, patterned after the old "College Bowl" television show. Team members sat at a panel, competing against another team, and had to activate a buzzer to be first to answer a question.

In addition to the team title, Camie Gaskill finished second in highest individual achievement.

The Haire Net

As noted here before the opinion is that Michigan will lose the Pigeon River State Forest east of Vanderbilt and Gaylord, as a true wilderness area.

The only question is when. If enjoying 90,000 acres of pristine nature turns you on, chances are you should do it now before it's too late.

The results of a three-year study have been released, saying that a producing well has no adverse effect on the elk.

It was because of the elk that conservationists were able to halt virtually unrestricted drilling in the area in a battle that has raged since oil became in short supply.

The study recently released was partially funded by oil companies and by the state.

Critics maintain that it was a study of one well and if 10 wells had been drilled, the results would be changed.

The work crews, pipelines, seismic surveys and other work required with many wells would be substantially different from one well.

The only reason that mass drilling hasn't started in the preserve is that the Michigan Supreme Court blocked the drilling because of the elk herd.

For me and many others who would forego the oil to keep the area like it is, the elk herd is the excuse, not the real reason, why drilling is anathema.

What it amounts to is a temporary inconvenience to save an irreplaceable loss.

No matter how much oil is found in that area of trees, clean flowing rivers and roadless land, it will make only a tiny imprint on the energy picture. We'll still be short of oil, still importing, still needing alternate sources of energy long after the drillers have left and the oil is exhausted.

Right now there's a major hassle in the Michigan Senate over legislation that would allow the drilling. There's no telling how it will come out this time. Eventually big oil is going to win. If it doesn't, it will be truly precedent shattering.

Wherever immediate dollar benefits clashed with long-range, non-commercial esthetic values, the dollars inevitably won.

One of the selling points for exploitation is that after it's all over, the area will be returned to the way it was. Even if that were so, it wouldn't do your children or your children's children any good.

So what if oil is going to win in the end. It's worth fighting to stop the drilling as long as possible.

Every year it is delayed is another year that the 90,000 acres can be enjoyed the way it is.

Yes, and hope springs eternal. Maybe a miracle will come to pass and something will turn up that will make the drilling unprofitable and one of the last links with Michigan's wilderness heritage will be preserved.

School prayer

By Mike Eliasohn

When I was in junior high school one year, I had a homeroom teacher who was a part-time minister.

Once a week, as I recall, he would pull out his Bible and read for a few minutes.

His Bible reading was always greeted with an unspoken groan and I doubt that it saved anyone from sin.

Granted, the teacher was not very dynamic and he probably put a few of his parishioners to sleep.

One of the tenets of the fundamentalist Christians seeking to get conservative politicians elected to office this year is to restore prayer in public schools.

If, heaven forbid (pun intended), they succeed, I don't think the result will be what they had hoped.

The result of mandatory prayer won't be a more upright society. The rate of teenage pregnancies won't decline and the number of young people going to church on Sundays won't suddenly drastically increase.

The U.S. Supreme Court in 1962, 1963 and 1964 ruled that state-mandated saying of prayers and reading of the Bible in public schools was unconstitutional.

Our nation's highest court ruled that the First Amendment to the Constitution requires states to remain strictly neutral in regard to religious beliefs. They cannot take steps to inhibit religious beliefs, nor can they advance them.

"The drafters of the Bill of Rights recognized religious beliefs as being solely the concern of each individual, an area in which the state has no legitimate concerns, and so included provisions to prohibit the state from intruding into the area of religious preference."

(Quote from article by Gary A. Hughes, Liberty magazine, September-October, 1979.)

In the 1963 prayer decision, the court also ruled out government sponsored "voluntary" prayer, that is, allowing students to be excused who do not want to participate in a required religious exercise.

The justices did not prohibit true voluntary prayer. There is no prohibition against students or teachers voluntarily praying on their own or voluntarily getting together to pray.

They did not prohibit students from reading the Bible or other religious books on their own.

The Supreme Court also did not rule out the study of religion in schools, as long as it is the object of academic inquiry and not religious worship.

None of the members of a national committee formed to back reversal of the Supreme Court decisions on school prayer and government-sponsored religious exercises represented any religious denominations.

"By contrast, the strongest support for the Supreme Court decisions outlawing government-sponsored prayers in the public schools and the most vigorous opponents of Congressional efforts on behalf of constitutional amendments of legislation to overturn these court decisions have come from the major religious denominations of America, both Christian and Jewish."

According to the author of that quote, James E. Wood, former head of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs (in Liberty magazine, July-August, 1980), religious denominations supporting the Supreme court decisions include:

American Baptists, Baptist General Conference, North American Baptist Conference, Progress National Baptist Conference, Southern Baptist Convention, Lutheran Council of America, Church of the Brethren, United Methodist church, United Presbyterian church USA, American Jewish Committee and National Council of Churches, which represents 28 major denominations.

Perhaps President Carter said it best, when asked his opinion on prayer in public schools at a press conference last year:

"I believe that the subject of prayer in school ought to be decided between a person, individually and privately, and God."

Meet held

The October meeting of St. Pancratius Women's Council was held Monday evening at the church hall with the president, Agnes Zawilinski, presiding.

The December meeting will be a Christmas party with a potluck supper. Mary Ann Kubaeki heads the committee with Kathy Diebel and Caroline Garety assisting.

The group set prices for the lunch to be served at the bazaar in November. Marie Doyen gave a report on the parish council meeting.

A fathers and children's breakfast will be held in the spring.

UNBROKEN YOLKS -- At left, Cass City High School physics teacher Douglas Grezeszak lets go of an entry Monday from the roof of the intermediate school in the second annual physics class egg drop, purpose of which is to teach students about packaging design. To win, entrants had to have two eggs survive the approximately 40 foot fall without breaking. Winners, above, from left, were Sue Wynn, for her brother Steve, who encased his eggs in foam rubber; Ray Kloc, foam rubber; Bob Van Camp, mixture of marshmallows and dough for shock absorption, and the team of Shelley LaPeer, Leslie Messer, and Annette Robinson, towels and crumpled newspapers. There were nine entries.

2 face charges for bad checks

Two women faced charges within the past week of writing checks for which they did not have adequate funds in their accounts. Gayla Lewis, 22, of Flint, formerly of Dodge Road, Cass City, was taken into custody by Flint police last Thursday, after the Tuscola county prosecutor's office issued a warrant charging her with non-sufficient funds - check.

She is charged with writing three checks, totaling $67.70 made out to Old Wood Drug in Cass City. One check was written Sept. 18; the others Sept. 22.

She appeared Monday before Magistrate Donald Smith, who scheduled a preliminary examination in district court Oct. 14 and preliminary examination Oct. 17. Bond was set at $10,000 (10 percent). As of Tuesday, she was still in the county jail.

Karen T. Murphy, 24, of 2322 Englehart Road, Deford, turned herself in to the Caro state police Monday, after a warrant had been issued charging her with non-sufficient funds - check.

She is charged with writing a check to the Kroger Store in Caro for $81 in June, for which she did not have enough money in her bank account.

She appeared Monday before District Judge Richard F. Kern, who released her on $2,000 surety bond. A conference was scheduled Oct. 14 and preliminary examination Oct. 24.

(According to Smith, the amount of bond is based not on the crime, but on the risk factor involved in whether the person will show up on the scheduled court date. Taken into consideration are such factors as whether the person is a county resident,

Growth is topic at seminar

Do you have a feeling at times that you are going nowhere with your life, feeling like you are in a rut, and yet unable or afraid to try something new?

Catholic Family Service is planning a personal growth seminar to help persons recognize self-defeating behavior, what causes it, and how to develop the skills to eliminate it.

The six-part seminar, "Eliminating Self-Defeating Behavior," will be presented by CFS staff Tuesday evenings, beginning Oct. 21, from 7-9.

For further information or to register, call CFS in Bad Axe at 269-7931 or Sandusky, 648-2304. There is a nominal fee for the seminar.

Ministers discuss television, politics

Catholic church. As for the religious aspect," Rev. Lockard explained, "I only encourage them to give consideration to what type of Christian man the person (candidate) is."

At the Novesta Baptist church, Rev. Lange said, a bulletin board is devoted to political issues, such as an evaluation of how the Presidential candidates stand on various moral and defense issues. Some ministers said they encourage parishioners become involved with the political issues. Rev. Rogers mentioned involvement with schools as one example. Rev. Miller is a member of the Kingston Village Council.

The minister of the DePaul Community church didn't feel it was his position to be advising parishioners whom they should vote for but doesn't object to others doing so if that is the calling.

"I would not be opposed," he said in reference to Jerry Falwell, "if he feels that is where God placed him."

Parent workshop Oct. 15

The annual Title I workshop for parents will be held at the Uby Heights Country Club Wednesday, Oct. 15, with the theme, "Parenting: The Pre-School Years."

Registration and coffee hour will begin at 9 a.m. and the keynote address at 9:30. Ben Hamilton, a consultant with the Michigan Department of Education and a specialist in the area of early childhood education, will be the speaker. He will also conduct the group meeting on "the pre-school years and kindergarten readiness."

Also on the program will be "How parents seek self-help for their children," led by Suzanne Lane of the Tuscola Intermediate School District: "Are you spoon feeding your kids," by Aluria Evans of the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port Schools, and "How to have your child involved in books," by Deonna Montie and Tonya Batman.

Mary Ellen Compeau, parent advisory committee representative for Region V, will give the luncheon address. A book fair will run during the workshop until its conclusion at 3 p.m.

The registration fee includes a smorgasbord lunch at noon.

The conference is sponsored by the Thumb Area Association of Program Specialists, an organization of Title I directors and administrators. For further information parents may call the Title I director of their local school district.

Road board keeps Gilford Road open

The Tuscola County Road Commission board voted Sept. 25 not to close the one mile of Gilford Road between Lamton and Crawford Roads.

The vote followed a public hearing, at which several adjoining property owners and nearby residents objected to it being closed, according to Road Commission Clerk James Miklovic. There were about 15 persons there in opposition.

The one person present who favored the closing, he said, was the property owner who had asked the Kingston Township Board to ask the Road Commission board to consider abandoning the road.

The road is basically two tracks, according to Miklovic, useable only by farm tractors and four-wheel-drive vehicles. The main objection to closing it came from some farmers who use it to get to their fields.

Funeral held Tuesday for Mrs. Jackson

Arbana Beth (Birdie) Jackson of Cumber Road, Uby, died Saturday at St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw after a long illness.

She was born Feb. 5, 1915, in Pinconning, the daughter of George and Esther (Sterling) Morris.

Miss Morris married Clark Jackson Feb. 5, 1939, in Bad Axe. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson made their home on a farm near Uby. Jackson died March 21, 1976.

Mrs. Jackson was a member of the Holbrook Baptist church. She also operated a foster home care center for over 30 years.

She is survived by one son, Gary Jackson of Uby; two granddaughters, Pamela and Debra; two sisters, Mrs. Laurenia Riker of Lapeer and Mrs. Edith Poli of Davison. One son, Michael, and one sister, Dorothy Riker, preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with Rev. Dale Bird of the Holbrook Baptist church officiating. Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Obstacles seem to pop up when you take your eyes off your goal.

Free energy seminar in Caro Oct. 23

Small business owners can learn how to cut their energy cost by 15 percent at a free seminar Thursday, Oct. 23.

The Tuscola county energy management seminar will be from 7:30-11 a.m. at the Tuscola Area Skill Center, 1401 Cleaver Road, Caro.

All business owners in Tuscola county who employ fewer than 500 workers are encouraged to attend the seminar. Businessmen from neighboring counties are also welcome.

"Businessmen will learn how to save 15 cents on every dollar they're putting into their energy budget," stated Butch Bayley, seminar chairman and Automobile Club of Michigan's Caro manager. "In order to survive in this economic period," he noted, "it's crucial for every business to aggressively seek ways to cut costs."

The program will be presented by Arthur Young and Co., industrial consultants and the nation's seventh largest auditing firm.

Business owners must register no later than Monday, Oct. 20, by calling Bayley at the Auto Club's Caro office, 673-3133.

The Caro seminar is part of a statewide series funded by the Michigan Department of Commerce's Energy Administration. The local sponsor is the Tuscola County Energy Society.

Drum, bugle corps seeks members

The Saginaw Drum and Bugle Corps of Saginaw, drawing membership from the surrounding 24 counties, including the Tuscola county area, is taking applications to fill openings in the corps' three coordinated sections, horn line, drum line and color guard (flags).

Membership is open to anyone 14-21 years old and all instruments, uniforms and instruction are furnished.

Current 1981 competition plans will take the corps over 10,000 miles throughout the Midwest, east to Butler, Penn., west to the Rocky Mountains, and to Montreal, Canada, for the Drum Corps International World Championship.

The Saginaw are current VFW and American Legion state champions and Great Lake Drum Corps Association champion.

For further information contact Bob Waskowiak, Corps Commander, 922 S. Wheeler Street, Saginaw 48602, telephone, (517) 793-3430.

Milk output increases in August

August milk production in Michigan totaled 435 million pounds, 6 percent ahead of last year's level.

Milk per cow continues to surpass 1979 output. The state's 403,000 cows averaged 1,080 pounds of milk per cow during August, outweighing last year's production by 40 pounds, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Dairymen received $13 per hundredweight (cwt.) for their milk in August, 10 percent more than they received the previous summer. Slaughter cows sold for $48.20 per cwt., 60 cents above the 1979 price.

The cost to replace a dairy cow averaged $1,280 for the month, 14 percent higher than a year ago.

The nation's milk production during August was 10.8 billion pounds, up 3 percent from August, 1979. Production per cow averaged 993 pounds, 22 pounds above last year. Total milk cows averaged 10.9 million head, a 1 percent increase.

Day care registration required

Family day care homes in Michigan -- neighborhood child care providers with less than seven infants or youngsters under their care part of the day -- are required to register with the Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS).

The requirement went into effect Oct. 1, the new state law changing the previous requirement that such facilities had to be licensed.

Although the old state law applied, for instance, even to a woman who took care of a neighbor's child while the neighbor was at work, it was never enforced, to the best of her knowledge, according to Maxine O'Dell, day care worker for the Tuscola county DSS.

The situation will presumably be the same with the new one.

The advantage in registering, she explained, is that persons seeking children to take care of can advertise they are registered, which gives some assurance to the parent.

Under the old procedure, a family day care home had to be inspected by a DSS worker before it could be licensed.

Under the new procedure, a home can be in operation, but must be inspected within 90 days of it being registered. Unless revoked, registration is good for three years, after which it must be renewed.

The DSS must visit at least 10 percent of the registered homes annually, or at any time when a complaint is received.

Group day care homes caring for seven or more children in private residences and child care centers which are non-residential facilities must still be licensed under the old more-stringent procedure.

For more information, contact the DSS in Caro at 673-4144.

After 23 years Kirn walks without mail; saying good-bye at open house

Stanley Kirn has stopped delivering the mail but he has not forgotten his faithful patrons.

To thank them for their help to him over the years, he and his wife Betty are holding an open house from 2-5 p.m. Sunday at the Masonic Temple at Maple and Garfield Streets. They will be serving ice cream, cake and coffee.

Kirn, 55, started working for the Cass City post office in October, 1948. He had been employed at the A&P before then. Postmaster Marie Bigelow needed some temporary help until Christmas and couldn't promise a job after that, "but I've been there ever since."

His first nine years were spent as a clerk. On Oct. 23, 1957, he and Dick Root, who is still delivering mail, began the first home delivery in the village. Until then, persons had to pick up their mail at the post office.

Kirn kept the same route for 23 years, delivering mail in the south half of the village. His last working day was Sept. 15, but because of accumulated vacation time, his official last day was Friday.

Federal government employees can retire at age 55

if they have a minimum of 30 years of service.

Kirn never bothered to figure it out, but estimates he walked 8-10 miles a day. He wore out one pair of shoes a year and several pairs of heels.

When he started, he guesses there were 300 stops on his route. At the end, there were about 500.

Weatherwise, there were lots of bad days, but he said the worst was on his very first day, back in 1957. There was a strong wind and "it rained cats and dogs all day." Before going out to deliver the mail, he had to buy a raincoat.

There were lots of bad winter days, of course, and he recalled one week when he had to wear his ice creepers every day to keep from slipping.

During his 23 years, he dislocated his shoulder twice from falls on ice.

He recalled on those instances, someone took him inside their home until help arrived. There were also the offers of hot coffee on cold days, sidewalks shoveled in winter and loans of a raincoat when it suddenly started raining.

There were presents of cookies and candy at Christmas and some of his patrons who spent the winter in Florida sent him oranges.

He described his upcoming open house as, "Just a little thank you for all the favors people have done for me."

Over the years, there were some changes, in addition to more customers. He figures there is more junk mail now than when he started. In the beginning his working day was from 7 a.m.-3:30 p.m. At the end, it was 7:30-4.

A big change came in 1975, when the two village carriers started using Jeeps.

Prior to then, someone else in a vehicle made all the Parcel Post deliveries.

When the Jeeps arrived, the carriers took that over. Since the vehicles are parked most of the time, he did as much walking as ever and with the Parcel Post, there was more work to do.

His replacement on the route is Tom Kelly, who had been a substitute carrier.

Kirn and his wife, a first grade teacher at Campbell Elementary, have three children: Mick, an electrician for Martin Electric; Melinda, employed by the Salvation Army in Lansing, and Kathy, a student at Saginaw Valley State College.

Kirn has no special plans for his retirement, other than lots of yard work at his home at 4317 Maple Street, some painting and odds and ends.

Plus, "I go for a walk every once in a while."

AFTER 23 YEARS of walking 8-10 miles a day delivering mail, Stanley Kirn still likes to go for a walk.

AN ESTIMATED 150 persons attended a fund raiser at Sherwood on the Hill in Gagetown Sunday night, staged in behalf of Dick Erla, left, and James McCann. Among the dignitaries attending was Robert Traxler, United States Representative. Erla is the Democratic candidate for Commissioner in district 2 and McCann is running for state representative on the Democratic ticket.

Michigan legislature recesses without passing 1980-81 budget

By Warren M. Hoyt
Mich. Press Association

The Legislature recessed until after the November general election with election year pressures causing postponement of enactment of a full-year budget for fiscal 1980-81.

The state began its new fiscal year Oct. 1 with only a 90-day continuation budget which will allow for current spending for the first quarter less approximately 10 percent.

The continuation budget in effect hands over virtually all authority to spend about $1.1 billion during the period to the Milliken administration.

Gov. William G. Milliken agreed to a continuation budget after meeting with legislative leaders who told him Republicans — members of his own party — simply would not support the revenue measures he endorsed in order to fund his $4.7 billion general fund spending recommendations for the new fiscal year.

THE DECISION TO NOT write a budget forced Management and Budget Director Gerald Miller to scrap plans to go to New York to get approval from bonding houses to borrow $500 million in short term notes to cover early cash disbursements, such as school aid and revenue sharing payments to units of local governments.

Without the completion of the full year's budget, a bond for the short term money was impossible to obtain.

Instead, the state will borrow from pension funds, probably around $100 million to make the first payments. Milliken called the continuation budget an unprecedented action, saying other failed attempts to approve budgets were solved with temporary authorizations of not more than several weeks.

"It means the Legislature will have given the executive the unprecedented authority to further reduce spending. 'We're going to see more drastic cuts, and they're going to be tough,'" he said, not elaborating where the cuts will be made.

WHILE THE CONTINUATION budget proposed to simply appropriate a bulk amount of money without specific authorizations for specific programs, the measure creates a new special legislative committee to confer continuously with the budget director on allotments.

The bill also directs the budget director to meet weekly with the House and Senate appropriations and taxation committees.

Capital outlay projects would be continued, but no new projects would be started.

The upcoming election was a factor in the failure to get a full-year budget, Milliken said. He added the uncertainty about the economic situation was another factor.

Although the department of management and budget and legislative fiscal agencies estimate the deepest of the recession has passed, some are worried another downturn could occur.

Others hope revenue estimates will have increased enough by the time a full-year budget is approved so the proposed revenue measures will not be needed.

THE GOVERNOR AND leaders have agreed to add $125-160 million in revenues through new lottery games, higher cigarette taxes, revised controls on liquor prices and new taxes on military pay and capital gains.

Before leaving for the fall recess, members of the Senate took a parting shot at the House of Representatives for not completing a budget.

Collectively, they said it was totally irresponsible for the House not to want to stay in Lansing until completing the budget. They complained also about turning over their powers of appropriating money to the executive.

Interestingly, though, no member of the Senate is up for re-election this year as they are in the middle of four-year terms.

DRIVERS CITED

Max B. Morrish, 19, of 6217 Bay City-Forestville Road, Cass City, was ticketed by deputies on a charge of careless driving after a 6 a.m. accident Friday.

Officers said he was eastbound on Bay City-Forestville, east of Ashmore Road, when his car went off the south side of the road. It hit a driveway culvert, crossed the driveway and came to rest on the lawn. Morrish told officers he had fallen asleep.

At 2:10 p.m. Friday, deputies said, Dewayne M. Austin, 43, of Unionville, was eastbound on M-25, when his car struck the right side of a vehicle southbound on Kirk Road, which had failed to yield.

The other driver involved, Danny R. Whittaker, 25, of 1746 Kingston Road, Deford, was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield right of way at a signed intersection.

Gail L. Davidson, 24, of Essexville, was cited by Caro state police on a charge of disregarding a stop sign after a 4:30 p.m. accident Sunday.

Troopers reported she was westbound on Akron Road, didn't stop at the stop sign, and her car was struck in the right side by a vehicle southbound on M-138.

Driver of the other vehicle was Janet K. Skirlo, 19, of 4415 Seeger Street, Apt. 1, Cass City.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Donald Lee Baker, 21, of 3495 White Creek Road, Kingston, told deputies he was northbound on E. Dayton Road, near Riley Road, at 6 p.m. last Thursday when a four-wheel-drive vehicle forced him off the right side of the road.

At 2:10 p.m. Friday, according to deputies, Arthur J. Bulla, 19, of 6777 E. Kelly Road, Cass City, was southbound on Colling Road, north of Deckerville Road, when his car went off the east side of the road into a ditch.

The car came out of the ditch, crossed the road and rolled over into a field on the west side of the road.

Cass City police reported that at 3:15 p.m. Monday, Mildred L. Smith, 65, of 6806 Houghton Street, was southbound on Leach Street, started to turn left onto Pine, and ran into a northbound car.

Scott Vatter, 16, of 4110 Decker Road, Decker, was the other driver involved.

Edward J. Doerr, 22, of Caseville, was northbound on M-53, north of Argyle Road, at 1:30 a.m. Sept. 30 when his car struck a deer. Cass City police investigated.

At 6:45 a.m. Friday, according to Caro state police, Mark E. Bastien, 20, of 5560 Bond Road, Deford, was northbound on Dodge Road, south of Severance Road, when his car struck a deer

Blood drive collects 88 pints

Eighty-eight pints of blood were collected Friday at the Red Cross blood drive sponsored by Hills and Dales General Hospital and the hospital auxiliary.

There were 95 persons who came to the St. Pancratius parish hall, with seven of them unable to donate because of high temperature, etc.

Five persons received pins for having donated their eighth pint (one gallon). They were Harland Lounsbury, James MacTavish, Holly Cooper and Frank McComb. Eldon Stoutenburg received a pin for having donated his second gallon.

More than 50 persons signed "I am donating" cards to send to Shirley Geiger.

Circuit court

Myshock gets long sentence in prison

Armed robber and jail escapee Thomas Myshock was sentenced Monday in Tuscola County Circuit Court to 20-40 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson.

Sentence was pronounced by Judge Patrick R. Joslyn. A jury July 22 found Myshock, 34, of Fairgrove, guilty of the Feb. 27 armed robbery of Zabriskie's Market in Watrousville.

He was scheduled to be sentenced Sept. 2 but escaped from the county jail Aug. 28. He was recaptured Sept. 20 in a bar in the Houghton Lake area.

He will serve an additional two years for possession of a firearm while committing a felony, which the jury had also found him guilty of. He was credited with 200 days served.

He was not prosecuted for the jail escape, due to the time and expense involved, plus the maximum one year sentence probably would have been served concurrently with his other ones.

In other cases Monday before Joslyn:

Willie Robinson, 36, of Flint, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted carrying a concealed weapon, which was accepted. Sentencing was scheduled Dec. 1.

He had been charged with carrying a derringer pistol July 4 in Millington township.

Gary W. Wickings, 20, of 493 Birch Street, Vassar, pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of personal property over $100. The charge was accepted and bond continued until sentencing Dec. 1.

He had been charged with damaging a car Aug. 26 in Vassar.

William R. VandenBeurgery, 18, of Roseville, was sentenced to six months in the county jail for violation of probation. He was credited with three months served.

He had been placed on three years' probation in February of this year for larceny in a building and pleaded guilty Sept. 19 to having violated probation by failing to pay court ordered obligations in April.

Before Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements Monday, he pleaded guilty to receiving and concealing stolen property over $100. His plea was taken under advisement, with sentencing scheduled Oct. 20 if the plea is accepted.

He is charged with posed.

Candidates to appear on television

Candidates for the 84th state House district and the 8th Congressional district will be interviewed as part of the "Election '80" series on WUCM, Channel 19, the public television station.

The candidates for the 84th district, which includes all of Tuscola county, will be interviewed Thursday, Oct. 23, from 6:30-7 p.m. They are Loren Armbruster, the Republican incumbent, and James McCann, the Democratic challenger.

Norman Hughes, Republican running for the 8th Congressional District, will appear from 7-7:30 p.m.

The Democratic incumbent, Bob Traxler, will be interviewed Friday, Oct. 24, from 7-7:30 p.m.

A program explaining the various ballot proposals will be Friday, Oct. 31, from 6:45-7:30 p.m.

REFLECTION

If we could see ourselves as others see us, we would find it a mighty disagreeable old world to live in.

Methodist women see skit

Trinity United Methodist Women met Monday for a 6:30 dinner prepared and served by Group 5 with co-hostesses Mary Rexin and Pauline Hulbert. There were 36 women present.

Several members, under the leadership of Shirley Wagg, performed a skit entitled "The Mothers Consult."

Thank you notes were read from George Jetta, Rena Wood, and the Lloyd Osborn family.

Verna Dobbs announced the world banks are due at the next meeting, which will be a dedication program.

Midge Thompson is a new member and will be in Group 5.

The rummage sale was a success, thanks to co-chairpersons Shirley Wagg, Beulah Craig and Donna Wachterhauser.

The 1981 budget was presented and approved.

The society voted to purchase linoleum for the kitchen, to match the fellowship hall, with receipts from the rummage sale and balance from the general fund.

Central United Methodist church in Pontiac, Oct. 24, from 10 a.m.-2:45 p.m. will be the Detroit annual conference meeting site. Nursery will be provided. Call Elaine Proctor for tickets.

District leadership training for officers will be at Trinity, Nov. 11, at 10 a.m. The nominating committee, Marilyn Alexander, Iva Profit, Marion Keating and Doris Rawson presented their recommendations for 1981 officers. They were approved as recommended. This Thursday, Trinity UMW are invited as guests of Shabbona Methodist UMW at 7:30.

The flyers were addressed for the November bazaar. There will be a work bee set up for the bazaar.

Secret pals were revealed and new names drawn for next year.

Bea Baker announced plans are underway for Christmas items for shut-ins and Provincial House residents.

Next meeting will be Nov. 3, at 6:30. Dinner will be prepared and served by Group 2 with co-hostesses Virginia Hartwick and Bertha Shagena.

session of stolen motorcycle headlights, turn signals and taillight assemblies July 23 in Vassar township.

Sentencing of Dean M. Keyser, 17, of 3036 Warner Road, Cass City, for violation of probation was delayed no more than nine months.

He had been on probation since January of this year for vehicle theft. He pleaded guilty July 21 to malicious destruction of property over $100, in connection with another case, for which sentencing was later delayed until June 8, 1981.

James A. Randall, 17, of 909 W. Burnside Street, Caro, stood mute to a charge of breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling. A plea of innocent was entered and pretrial hearing scheduled Oct. 20. Bond was continued.

He is charged with breaking into a garage Aug. 13 on Remington Road, Caro.

Woodrow Blakely, 41, of Bay City, pleaded guilty to uttering and publishing, of having altered a State of Michigan check May 18 in Vassar, involving a sum of $358.

His plea was accepted and bond was continued until sentencing Dec. 1.

Robert M. Zarko, 18, of 10076 Milliman Road, Millington, was placed on one year probation for aggravated assault. Fourteen days of a 30-day jail sentence were suspended, with credit given for one day served. He was fined $100, assessed $100 court costs and ordered to pay $38 restitution.

Zarko was guilty of the Dec. 22, 1979 assault with a butcher knife on Tracy Swank in Millington township.

John J. Hefner, 48, of 3341 Kirk Road, Vassar, was placed on three years' probation for attempted felonious assault. He was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail, with credit given for seven days served, fined $100 and assessed $150 court costs.

He pleaded guilty Aug. 10, 1979, to an assault with a shotgun on his wife, Doreen, July 10 of that year in Juniata township. Sentencing was subsequently delayed one year.

Joslyn granted two default judgments in favor of the Second National Bank of Saginaw against Alvin Werschky of Cass City.

Both involved money still owed on promissory notes for money borrowed in connection with Werschky's trucking business. He had operated the business from his mother-in-law's house on Garfield Street.

Last Wednesday before Joslyn, William W. Brown, 19, of 704 N. Huron Street, Vassar, pleaded guilty to a charge of forging a check. His plea was accepted and sentencing scheduled Oct. 20.

20. Bond was continued. He was charged with forging a check for $316 March in Vassar.

JUDGE CLEMENTS

In cases Monday before Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements:

Dennis J. Brady, 17, 3120 Hurds Corner Road, Caro, stood mute to a charge of larceny. A pretrial hearing was scheduled Oct. 1 and bond continued.

He is charged with Aug. 25 theft of $115 from Ted Robinson in Wells township.

A motion for dismissal of charge of driving under influence of liquor (3rd offense) against Joseph Spencer, 35, of 6755 S. Vassar Road, Vassar, was taken under advisement. He was arrested on the charge Aug. 27 in Novesta township.

If the motion is granted he will be tried on the misdemeanor of driving under the influence of liquor. A third offense, the charge, felony.

Spencer's two prior convictions, his attorney argued, were without benefit of legal counsel and he was not advised that pleading guilty would constitute an element of a felony.

Assistant Prosecutor Scott Stermer argued that in a second conviction, Spencer had waived his right to a lawyer.

Thomas L. Fuller, 17, 4925 Hess Road, Vassar, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building.

His plea was taken under advisement, with sentencing scheduled Nov. 17 if the plea is accepted. Bond was continued.

He is charged with June 4 theft of a radio and calculator from Sargeant Sand Co., Hess Road, Vassar.

HEALTH TIPS

Many strokes can be prevented

Stroke, long thought to strike suddenly and without any previous warnings, may now be prevented in perhaps as many as 50 percent of all cases, through early detection and proper medical care.

"Great strides have been made in recent years in the diagnosis, prevention and treatment of stroke," said Dr. J. Gerald Gough, chairman of the stroke committee of the Michigan Heart Association.

"The biggest downturn in stroke began to happen when we determined that there are indeed warning signs that may signal that a stroke is about to occur," said Dr. Gough.

"We've come up with an acronym to help people remember the six signs -- DANGER."

--Dizziness or unsteadiness.
--A temporary loss of memory or change in mental ability.

--Numbness or weakness in face, arm or leg.
--Garbled speech or difficulty understanding speech.

--Eye problem -- a temporary dimness, loss of sight

Your Neighbor says

Detroit Tigers had 'a pretty good team'

Despite the fact the Detroit Tigers finished the season Sunday in fifth place in the American League east division with a 84-78 win-loss record, Juanita Warack isn't disappointed.

"I thought they had a pretty good team this year. Of course, I'm prejudiced. I like them anyway."

She did admit, "It seems like they always start out better and something happens."

The big need for the Tigers, if they are to improve, is "a really good pitcher to inspire them a bit."

Mark Fidrych once performed that role, but despite his end of the season return to the team, she doesn't expect him to ever fill the sparkplug role he played in his super season of 1976.

Although Mrs. Warack watches Tiger games on television and listens to them on radio, with four sons who played football at Owen-Gage High School, she likes football more than baseball.

As for the Detroit Lions getting swamped by Atlanta Sunday, 43-28, she feels it was a fluke. "I think it was a bad day. Everything seemed to be going right for the other team." She still thinks the Lions, now 4-1, will have a good season.

A widow, Mrs. Warack works as a cook at Hills and Dales General Hospital. Still at home, at 5651 Walsh Road, Gageton, are sons William, James and Dan, all of whom have graduated from high school. Son Jeff, of Sebawaing, is getting married Saturday.

Her daughters are Debby Kosto, Fairgrove; Judy Winchester, Gageton, and Barb Root, Cass City. Mrs. Warack has four grandchildren.

In brief: the 7 ballot proposals

Following is a brief description of the seven proposals that will be voted on by Michigan residents Nov. 4.

A more complete description will appear in the Chronicle closer to the election.

Proposal A - Known as the Smith-Bullard plan, it would reduce local property taxes, while requiring the state to provide revenues necessary for equal per-pupil funding of public schools, which would require a state tax increase. It would also provide additional property tax relief for senior citizens.

Proposal B - If approved, it will reduce the legal drinking age from 21 to 19.

Proposal C - The plan of the legislature and Gov. William Milliken, it would increase sales taxes to make up for a reduction in local property taxes. State lottery revenues would be mandated for schools.

Proposal D - The Tisch Amendment would roll property assessments back to their 1978 level and then cut them in half, resulting in property tax revenue cut in half. The state would have to reimburse local governmental units for most of the lost revenue. New state tax increases would require 60 percent approval by voters. The legislature would be limited in how it could change tax exemptions, tax credits and school per-pupil funding formulas.

Proposal E - If approved, the state income tax would be increased by 1/10th of 1 percent for five years in order to construct four new prisons, demolish the old Michigan Reformatory at Ionia and develop preventative crime programs.

Proposal G - It would allow the legislature to take action doing away with legislators' exemption from civil arrest during legislative sessions.

Proposal H - It would restrict the authority of the lieutenant governor and set up a procedure for the replacement of him if unable to complete his term of office.

Tuscola county voters will be asked to approve a 1-mill levy, of which a half-mill will be for replacement of bridges and the other half-mill for county government operations.

It will be the second time for the proposal, having been narrowly defeated in August. If approved this time, it will replace the present 1-mill levy for bridges.

Huron county voters will be asked to approve 1 mill for bridges and culverts, also a repeat of a proposal defeated in August, and .2 mill for senior citizen activities.

Several area townships will also have proposals on the ballot.

FIRST BUCK - Raymond Hurd of Shabbona shot this 8 point, 152-pound buck on opening day of bow hunting deer season last Wednesday, while hunting northwest of Deford at 6:30 p.m. It was his first buck in three years of bow hunting. He has also shot one buck with a gun.

Sandusky meet to examine proposals

To help voters become acquainted with the state tax, prison and drinking age proposals, a special meeting will be held Wednesday, Oct. 29, at 7:30 p.m. at the Sanilac County Service Building Conference Room, 37 Austin Street, Sandusky. The session is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service and Sanilac County Farm Bureau and features Lynn Harvey and Bob Craig, public affairs specialists at Michigan State University and Michigan Farm Bureau respectively.

"We are offering an objective review of each of the proposals, telling the intent of each proposal and as much as possible, explaining the consequences of each. This is strictly an educational meeting which will objectively analyze each issue," said Rex Sieting, Sanilac county extension director.

Discussion will focus only on the state issues: Smith-Bullard school financing tax shift (Proposal A); drinking age reduction, (Proposal B); executive-legislative tax shift (Proposal C); Tisch tax cut (Proposal D), and prison construction (Proposal E).

Hawks chalk up big loop win at Bad Axe

When district tournament time rolls around this fall there promises to be some great competition for the coveted championship.

At least three Class C teams will be slugging it out and the winner will probably be the team that is at the peak of its game. The three schools with powerhouse cage teams are Cass City, Harbor Beach and USA.

The Hawks haven't fared well in competition with the two Big Thumb Conference teams, losing three of four. But that doesn't tell the whole story. Against Harbor Beach the losses were by 7 and 2 points. The Hawks topped USA at home but lost last Monday on the Patriots' home court, 62-42.

USA went ahead early and added to its lead the entire distance. At the intermission Cass City trailed, 29-23. After three quarters it was 44-34.

In the final period the Patriots went on a spree with an 18-8 advantage to bury Cass City. Cass City hit 18 of 41 from the floor for 43 percent and only 6 of 13 for 46 percent from the foul line. Padgett Randall, Cass City, and Kim Adam, USA, shared scoring honors with 22 points each. Randall, 8, and Kelly Seurynek, 7, led the Hawk rebounding.

FRANKENMUTH

Frankenmuth Eagles showed Cass City why they were strong contenders in Class B last year and why they are one of the State's strongest teams again this season as they overpowered the Hawks Thursday, 52-35. The Hawks were facing a strong team and needed a hot shooting night to stay in the game. Instead they were stone cold from the field, hitting just 13 of 46 shots for a 28 percent average.

The Eagles were in front 30-15 at the half and 46-25 at the end of three quarters before the reserves took over. For the Hawks, Randall scored 12. Game honors went to Mary Duff of Frankenmuth with 16 points. Carrie Gohlke, 12, and Bonnie Schiefer, 10, were also in double figures.

BAD AXE

Maybe part of the reason for the Hawks' sub-average performance against Frankenmuth was that they were sky high the night before at Bad Axe in an important Thumb B Association game.

Paced by Randall who poured in 33 points the Hawks won, 52-41, to preserve their unbeaten skein in the Thumb B. Cass City started and trailed, 18-12, at the end of the first quarter. A half the margin was points. A 17-10 third quarter margin moved the Hawks front by a point, 42-41, the stage for a 10-2 period margin that away the victory.

Cass City shot a respectable 51 percent from the floor, but was a poor 6 percent on charity tosses. Randall hauled down 14 rebounds and Michelle Fahrens sophomore, snared 12 in of her better games. She Lapeer scored five points and was credited with assists.

Hawks host local racing meet

The Cass City cross country squad gained a 4-3 mark Sept. 30 when it hosted the first Thumb B Association meet of the season.

All eight schools in the league competed on the three mile course in the Cass City Recreation Park, with scores compiled on a dual meet basis for the top five runners from each school.

That meant the Red Hawks defeated Vassar, 25-30; Lakers, 25-30; Bad Axe, 17-44, and Sandusky 27-28.

They lost to Caro, 19-42, North Branch, 20-39, and Marlette, 24-35.

Caro, whose top five runners placed first and fifth through eighth, won all of its dual meets.

Tiger Vince Pratt was overall winner in a time of 15:54. North Branch's Doug Ogden and Steve Jones were second and third respectively.

The first Cass City runner to finish was Greg Bliss in fourth place with a time of 16:18.

Other Red Hawks to count in the standings were Mark Mozden, 14th, 17:35; Scott Hobart, 23rd, 18:08; Dan Dickinson, 38th, 19:05, and Ed Hewitt, 45th, 19:55.

Other Cass City runners were Brian Wright, 47th, and Kevin Hobart, 52nd. A total of 54 boys ran in the meet.

Standings at the end of the day were Caro, 7-0; North Branch, 6-1; Marlette, 5-2; Cass City, 4-3; Lakers, 3-4; Sandusky, 2-5; Vassar, 1-6, and Bad Axe, 0-7.

There were 28 girls only Sandusky, Marlette and Caro fielded five runners each.

Brenda Essenmacher Sandusky finished first all at 19:30 for the miles, with Red J. Kristy Deering second 20:52. Only one other City girl competed, and did not finish.

Girls' standings were dusky, 2-0; Marlette and Caro, 0-2.

Bowlers to compete in Owosso

Twenty members of Bad Axe Women's Bowling Association will be participating in the 600 Tournament in Owosso 1-2.

To qualify, it was necessary to bowl a 600 series.

Participating will be McIntosh, Joyce LaRoc Elaine Romain, Mar Schember and June L. Cass City; Connie Swartz, truber, Uby; Joyce Blome, Ethel Gunden, na Deming, Naomi Nick Mary Lou Flügge, Dol Yahn, Doris Strauch, ginia Luckritz, Sally Bullen, Donna Fritz, Pig Elkton, and Elaine Sch Sissy Wood, Judy Ostran and Betty Mazure, Bad

Propose public jobs program

Gov. William G. Milliken has received initial approval from legislative leaders for a plan to ease the impact of his recommendation to eliminate most general assistance benefits by instituting a new $90 million public jobs program.

Such a state supported public jobs program is unprecedented in Michigan.

Legislative leaders said the proposal will make it much easier to accept the recommendation to eliminate welfare benefits for employable single adults.

The governor's jobs program would use $50 million in state funds and another $40 million in federal CETA funds for employment of about 50,000 persons for public work projects by local governments.

It would be tied to tax measures, not yet agreed to, raising about $50 million more in state revenues.

The governor's original recommendation would have saved the state $144 million by cancelling benefits to general assistance recipients ages 18-44 who are considered employable.

THE NEW PLAN DENIES assistance to those aged 18-62 while making jobs available to them.

About 20,000 jobs would be supported by the program, with the 50,000 participants working an average of three or four months each.

They would be paid minimum wage, thus making about $288 a month - about $100 more than provided under general assistance.

The participants would come from the 68,000 who would lose their general assistance benefits under the governor's recommendation.

NERVES Experience will eventually teach a man a great lesson if it doesn't worry him to death first.

Tough Sandusky next for home-coming

Broncos cut Hawk win string, 24-8

It's home-coming time for Cass City Friday when the Red Hawks host the Sandusky Redskins in a Thumb B Association clash that rates as a toss-up. It's regarded as anybody's game even though the Hawks are in a four-way tie for the league lead with Caro, Vassar and North Branch. The Hawks fell from first place alone when they were soundly beaten by North Branch in a cold, wet miserable night, 24-8, last Friday. Sandusky has only won once in three starts but two of the losses were in overtime against North Branch and Caro. The Redskins are for real despite the record. It's likely that Coach Don Schelke is hoping for the weatherman to smile on the team and provide moderate dry weather. A wet field tends to nullify

Cass City's quickness which helped the Hawks to victories in the first four games. In all of its league wins Cass City came on strong in the last half to post the victories. The same pattern was followed against North Branch, but the Hawks simply let the Broncos pull too far in front in the first two quarters.

North Branch took the opening kick-off and rolled down the field as the hosts' offensive line opened gaping holes for Bronco backs.

A 74-yard drive was capped by a 10-yard run by Gordie Porritt. A run was good for the extra points.

Early in the second period the winners started another touchdown drive. They marched 53 yards in a sustained drive. A key play in the drive was fourth and 2 on the Hawk 9-yard line. Cass City was off-side and the Broncos had a first and goal on the four. From there Porritt cracked over on the next play.

Meanwhile, the Hawks were unable to get anything going in the mud and slime other than an occasional first down.

The Broncos then raced the clock down field in the waning moments of the first half to take a first on the Cass City 13. Don Smeznik then split the uprights on a field goal attempt. The 3-pointer made it 17-0 and sounded the death knell on any chance that Cass City had of pulling another of its patented second half rallies.

Although they trailed the Hawks didn't give up. They came out in the second half and staged a 60-yard drive that was capped by a 23-yard run by Rob Sawdon. A pass from Brian deBeaubien to Sawdon was good for the extra points.

That ended the scoring until the last few minutes of the game when the Hawks turned the ball over inside of their own 10-yard line instead of kicking and the Broncos ran it in for a meaningless marker.

Schelke named Randy Severance as Red Hawk of the week. On defense Severance was credited with 19 points under the coach's rating system. Severance is a 2-way player. Tops on defense alone was Shawn Papp with 25 points.

STOPPED AFTER A sizeable gain was the Broncos' Gordie Porritt. North Branch dominated the first half to knock the Hawks from the undefeated list.

Volunteers building facility at O-G

Fans and athletes at Owendale-Gagetown outdoor sports events won't have to run as far in the future, thanks to a group of dedicated volunteers.

Robert McPhail, are building a restroom building at the north end of the football field. The new facilities may be ready in time for the homecoming game Friday, although the structure won't be done until spring, McPhail said, when bricks from the old high school are put on the outside of the concrete block structure. Students will do that part of the project. Construction began about five weeks ago. When the building is ready, it means spectators and athletes will no longer have to walk to the restrooms in the high school building.

RESTROOMS -- It was too wet Friday to get any work done, but among those building the restrooms at the Owen-Gage football field are volunteers, from left, Sandy Peters, Danny Ondrajka, Robert McPhail and Dick Glidden.

In addition to football, the building will be available for use during spring sports and summer softball games.

Those working on the structure have been McPhail, Dick Glidden, Jim Sontag, Danny Ondrajka, Sandy Peters, Carol Howard, Mike Mandich, Dennis Pavlichek, Ron Susalla, Rodney McCallum and Supt. Ronald Erickson.

According to Erickson, Pigeon concrete supplier Dave Vollmer is supplying the blocks and cement, in exchange for which he is getting two old school buses and about 25 bus tires the district was going to sell.

The Band Boosters and Owendale Lions Club are splitting the cost of the lumber, doors, etc. and any remaining costs will be borne by the school board.

Value of the building when done will be about $5,000.

Being an underdog can help.

Owen-Gage, predicted to be the loser Friday by most pundits, knocked off Akron-Fairgrove, 12-0.

The Vikings had been the only team left with an unblemished mark in the North Central D League. There are now five teams with one loss.

There will be one fewer after this Friday, as Owen-Gage hosts Peck in homecoming night at Owendale.

Bulldog coach Arnie Besonen describes Peck as "the biggest team around," with two tackles in the 210-pound range. His players will have their work cut out for them in gaining yardage.

Owen-Gage is now 3-1 in the league, 4-1 overall, while Peck is 2-1 in league play, 3-2 overall.

In contrast to its previous game, when the Bulldogs had to struggle to an overtime win over Kingston, Besonen said, "We had only three penalties and didn't make many mistakes this time. We didn't turn the ball over at crucial times."

The fact that Akron-Fairgrove was favored to win, he felt, took a lot of pressure off his team, especially the younger players.

The turning point, he said, came in the first quarter, when the Vikings advanced to the Bulldog 1-yard line, only to be penalized five yards and then were unable to score. Owen-Gage got the ball back on its own 8-yard line.

The first score came in the second quarter on an eight-yard run by Craig Gettel to cap a 10-play, 48-yard drive. Gettel's pass attempt for an additional two points was incomplete.

In the third period, Scott Gaeth scored on a 4-yard run, the four-play drive totaling 28 yards. A bad hike killed the planned two-point conversion attempt.

The game was played under miserable conditions, in rain and near freezing temperatures. From the middle of the field, it wasn't possible to see the end zones, Besonen said.

As a result, most of the yardage gained was on the ground. The Bulldogs rushed for 232 yards in 44 carries. The Vikings gained 115 yards in 38 carries.

Gettel passed nine times, had four completions and no interceptions, for a gain of 52 yards, for total offensive yardage of 284.

The losers had only one completion of four attempts, no interceptions, for 7 yards gained.

The Vikings tried to contain the Bulldog offense by bottling up Jim Glidden, but Gaeth broke loose for 172 yards in 20 carries. Glidden carried the ball 10 times for 21 yards. Gettel gained 22 yards in nine carries.

Top Akron-Fairgrove ball-carriers were Scott Lindenburg, 17 carries and 52 yards, and Jesse Ruiz, nine carries and 35 yards.

Dan Glidden caught two passes for 35 yards. A third catch, while he was on his knees, was disallowed. Brother Jim caught two passes for 17 yards.

The winners made 13 first downs, were penalized three times for 25 yards and didn't fumble. Their opponents made eight first downs, were penalized twice for 20 yards and fumbled four times, but recovered three of them.

Gaeth made 10 tackles, Kendall Howard had 10 plus one fumble recovery and Gary Erickson made seven.

John Montgomery made 10 tackles for the Vikings

O-G cagers move into second with key win

Owen-Gage moved into second place in the North Central D League girls' basketball standings Sept. 30 when it edged past North Huron, 45-42.

The Bulldogs led by two points at the end of the first quarter, by one at the half and by six at the end of the third quarter.

Becky Howard was the top scorer for Owen-Gage with 18 points. Barb Irwin collected 10 for North Huron.

The Bulldogs, now 4-1 in the league, resume action Thursday at Peck and entertain Carsonville-Port Sanilac Tuesday.

FIRESTARTER, by Stephen King (fiction). A shocking and exhilarating novel about an eight-year-old girl and her father, both psychic, on the run from a U.S. intelligence group. Andy McGee, who by giving another person a psychic "push" could impose his will, and Charlie, his daughter, born with a variety of psychic powers, the strongest of which was pyrokinesis. She could start fires simply by thinking. By the author of "The Dead Zone" and "The Stand."

MERV: AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY, by Merv Griffin (non-fiction). For two decades, Merv Griffin has been singing, hosting, quizzing, and above all, interviewing the world's most fascinating folk. Here is his most intimate self-portrait. From his parochial school days to his first singing job to superstardom, Merv recounts the highlights of his life, including his best (and worst) on-the-air moments, his favorite (and least favorite) guests, and his most memorable interviews. "Merv" is a funny, touching autobiography.

FOXFIRE 6: SHOWMAKING, 100 TOYS AND GAMES, GOURD BANJOS AND SONGBOWS, A WATER-POWERED SAWMILL, AND OTHER AFFAIRS OF JUST PLAIN LIVING, by Eliot Wigginton (non-fiction). Back-to-the-land dwellers and even those who make that transition only in their heads will enjoy this latest "Foxfire." For the spirit, one finds instructions for playing 50 games and making gourd banjos, cornstalk fiddles, and 60 toys. For more earthly needs, the author lays out plans for mountain homes and farms, as well as giving a detailed look at a sawmill.

Retired Ugly businesswoman dies at 89

Josephine Lenton, 89, Ugly businesswoman, church and civic leader, died Saturday at the Ugly home of her brother, Ralph Brown, after a short illness.

She was born March 22, 1891, in Bingham township, the daughter of Joseph and Margaret (Donaldson) Hagen.

Miss Hagen and Fred Lenton were married Aug. 25, 1920, in Ugly. She was one of the first graduates of Ferris State College, Big Rapids, and a member of the Ferris Golden Eagles. She taught elementary school in Bingham township, and Helena and was a bookkeeper for the Nestle Corp. in Ugly for many years.

She and her husband operated the Lenton Lumber Yard in Ugly from 1933-70. After Lenton died Aug. 3, 1970, she ran the business for two more years.

Mrs. Lenton, the oldest living member of the First Presbyterian church, Ugly, was a former church treasurer and also taught Sunday school. She was a member and former treasurer of the church ladies aid society.

Mrs. Lenton was a lifelong member and past matron of the Ugly Miriam Chapter 214, Order of the Eastern Star, of which she had been a member since 1920. She was also a member of the Ugly Women's Club from its beginning in 1932 until its end in 1975.

She was also librarian and a board member of the Ugly Village Library for many years, an honorary member of the Ugly Fox Hunters Club and, in 1972, was honored by the village with a testimonial dinner and "Josephine Lenton Day."

On March 30, she was honored with a special celebration by the congregation of the Ugly Presbyterian church.

She is survived by one brother, Ralph Brown, and several nieces and nephews. Services were held Tuesday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church, Rev. Robert von Oeyen officiating. Burial was in Valley cemetery.

Village President Earl Longuski asked Ugly businesses to close during the services.

A memorial service was conducted by the officers of the Ugly chapter of the Order of Eastern Star Monday evening at Zinger Funeral Home.

When a fellow travels at too fast a pace, it's no problem determining which direction he's headed.

NEW LOOK — The Garfield Street railroad crossing has taken on a new look this year, with a vast improvement in field of vision for westbound motorists. The railroad depot at the southwest corner was taken down last spring; the grain elevators at the northwest corner last month, and Garfield Street between the tracks and Doerr Road was rebuilt this summer (plus Doerr from Garfield to Main). Yield signs were erected at the crossing, by order of the village council, after photo was taken.

VILLAGE OF GAGETOWN
GAGETOWN, MICHIGAN
ORDINANCE NUMBER 103

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE PUBLIC MORALS AND CONDUCT AND PROVIDE FOR A PENALTY UPON VIOLATION THEREOF.

ARTICLE I. DISORDERLY CONDUCT.
SECTION 101. Definitions.
101.1 "Public place" as used in this Chapter means a place to which the public or a substantial group of persons has access. Among places included are any:
(a) Highway, street, road, alley, sidewalk, park, parking lot, river, public water, wharf, stock waterfront, or publicly owned or controlled open ground;
(b) Publicly owned or controlled building, excluding any interior portion thereof being used as a dwelling;
(c) Place of business;
(d) Place of amusement, entertainment, recreation or education open to the general public;
(e) Place where services are rendered to the public or a substantial group of persons;
(f) Transport facility;
(g) Public conveyance;
(h) Place of religious worship;
(i) Place of manufacturing;
(j) Railroad right-of-way,
(k) Hospital;
(l) Cemetery;
(m) Common area of any hotel or apartment building;
(n) Private meeting place when a privately employed special-duty police officer, special-duty deputy sheriff or a special police officer or deputy sheriff is on duty there;
(o) Grounds appurtenant to any of the above designated;
(p) Parking facility used in connection with any of the above designated.
The foregoing enumeration shall be deemed partial and shall not operate to exclude other places which are within the general terms of this definition.
101.2 "Loitering" as used in this Chapter means:
(a) To stand or lounge around or move slowly about, to spend time idly, to saunter or loiter;
(b) To repeatedly pass the same place without any apparent reason.
SECTION 102. Causing or Risking Public Inconvenience, Annoyance or Alarm.
102.1 No person shall purposely cause, recklessly create a risk of or knowingly contribute to inconvenience, annoyance or alarm to any person in a public place by:
(a) Engaging in fighting or threatening, or in violent or tumultuous behavior;
(b) Jostling or roughly crowding persons unnecessarily;
(c) Making unreasonable noise or offensively coarse utterance, gesture or display, or addressing abusive language to any person or group present;
(d) Creating a hazardous or physically offensive condition by any act which serves no legitimate purpose of the actor.
SECTION 103. Failure or Refusal of Disorderly Persons or Bystanders to Disperse upon Official Order.
103.1 When any person is participating in a course of conduct described in Section 102 of this Chapter, which is likely to cause substantial harm or serious inconvenience, annoyance or alarm, a peace officer may order the participant and others in the immediate vicinity to disperse. No person shall refuse or knowingly fail to obey such an order.

SECTION 104. Order to Move from Public Hazard.
104.1 No person in dangerous proximity to a fire or other hazard shall refuse or knowingly fail to obey a reasonable official request or order to move for the purpose of maintaining public safety.
SECTION 105. Obstructing Public Passage or Place.
105.1 No person shall, without legal privilege to do so, any when acting or with others, purposely or recklessly obstruct or cause to be obstructed any public passage or place.
105.2 No person in a gathering shall refuse or knowingly fail to obey a reasonable official order or request to move to prevent obstruction of a public passage or place.
105.3 "Obstruct" and "obstruction" mean render impassable or unusable without unreasonable inconvenience or hazard.
105.4 When persons are lawfully assembled in a public place to communicate publicly or to listen to or observe such communication, no person (including communication) so assembled shall be convicted of recklessly obstructing in violation of Subsection 105.1 above unless he has first been given a reasonable opportunity to comply with Subsection 105.2 above.
105.5 No person whose lawful behavior attracts an obstructing audience shall be guilty of violating Subsection 105.2 above if the obstruction can be easily remedied by reasonable police control of the size or location of the audience.
SECTION 106. Disrupting Meetings and Processions.
106.1 No person shall, with purpose to prevent or disrupt a lawful meeting, procession or gathering:
(a) Do any act tending to obstruct or interfere with it physically;
(b) Make any utterance, gesture or display designed to outrage the sensibilities of the group.
SECTION 107. Cause Public Alarm.
107.1 No person shall initiate or circulate a report or warning of a fire or an impending bombing or other catastrophe or crime knowing that the report or warning is false or baseless and knowing or recklessly disregarding that it is likely to cause evacuation of a building, place of assembly, or facility of public transport, or otherwise likely to cause public inconvenience or alarm.
SECTION 108. Prowling or Loitering. No person shall loiter in a public place in such a manner as to:
(a) Create or cause to be created a danger of a breach of the peace;
(b) Create or cause to be created any disturbance or annoyance to the comfort and repose of any person;
(c) Obstruct the free passage of pedestrians or vehicles;
(d) Obstruct, molest, or interfere with any person lawfully using public place.
108.2 Among the circumstances which may be considered in determining whether such alarm is warranted is the fact that the person,

(a) Takes flight upon appearance of or investigation by a peace officer;
(b) Refuses or fails to adequately identify himself;
(c) Manifestly endeavors to conceal himself or any object.
The above paragraph shall include the making of unsolicited remarks of an offensive, disgusting, or insulting nature or which are calculated to annoy or disturb the person to, or in whose hearing, they are made.
This enumeration shall be deemed partial and shall not operate to exclude other circumstances which are within the general terms of Subsection 108.1 of this section.
108.3 Unless flight by the person or other circumstance makes it impracticable, a peace officer shall prior to an arrest for an offense under this Section afford the person an opportunity to dispel any alarm which would otherwise be warranted, by requesting him to identify himself and explain his presence and conduct.
108.4 No person shall be convicted of an offense under this Section if the peace officer did not comply with Subsection 108.3 of this Section, or if it appears at trial that the identification and explanation were true and investigation by the peace officer at the time would have dispelled the alarm.
SECTION 109. Prowling or Loitering about Schools or Educational, Religious or Recreational Centers.
109.1 No person shall prowling or loiter on foot, in a motor vehicle or in any other manner in or about any of the following places without an apparent legitimate purpose reasonably connected therewith:
(a) School building;
(b) Recreation center for minors;
(c) A public place where an educational, religious or recreation activity for minors is being conducted;
(d) Grounds or parking lots appurtenant to or used in connection with (a), (b) or (c) of this Subsection; or
(e) A street or alley in the immediate vicinity of any above mentioned place.
109.2 Among the circumstances which may be considered in determining that such loitering is not for an apparent legitimate purpose reasonably connected therewith is the fact that:
(a) The person takes flight upon appearance of or investigation by a peace officer;
(b) The person refuses or fails to adequately identify himself;
(c) The person manifestly endeavors to conceal himself or any object;
(d) The person is not within the age group to which the educational, religious or recreation center or activity is directed; or
(e) The peace officer has knowledge or reliable information that the person has quit school or been expelled therefrom or that the person has been ordered to stay away from the educational, religious or recreation center or activity by a person in charge of supervising said activity.
This enumeration shall be deemed partial and shall not operate to exclude other circumstances which are within the general terms of Subsection 109.1 of this section.
109.3 Unless flight by the person or other circumstance makes it impracticable, a peace officer shall prior to an arrest for an offense under this Section afford the person an opportunity to manifest a legitimate purpose reasonably connected with said place or activity, by requesting him to identify himself and explain his presence and conduct.
109.4 No person shall be convicted of an offense under this Section if the peace officer did not comply with Subsection 109.3 of this Section, or if it appears at trial that the identification and explanation were true, and if believed by the person's presence and conduct.
SECTION 110. Prowling or Loitering about Toilet in Public Place.
110.1 No person shall toilet or prowl in or about any toilet in any public place without legitimate purpose.
110.2 Unless flight by the person or other circumstance makes it impracticable, a peace officer shall prior to an arrest for an offense under this Section afford the person an opportunity to identify himself and explain the purpose of his presence and conduct.
110.3 No person shall be convicted of an offense under this Section if the peace officer did not comply with Subsection 110.2 of this Section or if it appears at trial that the identification and explanation were true, and if believed by the person's presence and conduct.
SECTION 111. Unlawful Occupancy.
111.1 No person shall occupy, lodge or sleep in or on any structure, vehicle or other means of conveyance, or vacant land without owning same or without permission of the owner or person entitled to the possession thereof.
SECTION 112. Desecration of Venerated Objects.
112.1 No person shall purposely desecrate:
(a) Any public monument or structure, or any place of burial or worship;
(b) In any public place the national flag or any other object of veneration by the public or a substantial segment thereof.
"Desecrate" means deface, damage, pollute or otherwise physically mistreat in a way that the actor knows will outrage the sensibilities of persons likely to observe or discover his action.
SECTION 113. Influence of Alcohol, Narcotic, Drug, Other Stimulant or Depressant.
113.1 No person shall appear in any public place manifestly under the influence of alcohol, narcotic, drug, or other stimulant or depressant to the degree that he may endanger himself or other persons or property, or annoy persons in his vicinity.
113.2 No person shall be convicted of an offense under this Section where he proves that:
(a) The influence arose solely from medicine therapeutically administered by, under the supervision of or at the direction of a duly licensed physician; and
(b) Where the medicine is at the direction of a duly licensed physician, the person complied with all instructions of said physician and all instructions on the label on said medicine pertaining to the use of said medicine.
SECTION 114. Malignous Destruction of Property.
114.1 No person shall maliciously destroy or injure any public property or any private property not his own.
SECTION 115. Criminal Trespass.
115.1 No person shall willfully and without lawful authority:
(a) Enter upon the lands or premises of another after having been forbidden to do so by the owner, occupant, person in control thereof, or the agent or servant of the owner, occupant or person in control thereof; or
(b) Being upon the premises of another neglect or refuse to depart therefrom after being notified to do so by the owner, occupant, person in control thereof, or agent or servant of the owner, occupant or person in control thereof.
SECTION 116. Harassing, Alarming or Offensive Conduct.
116.1 No person shall, with purpose to harass or alarm another, or with reckless disregard of the sensibilities of another:
(a) Insult, taunt or provoke another in a manner likely to challenge violent disorderly response; or
(b) Frighten or attempt to frighten another by threat or menace or unlawful bodily harm to any person; or
(c) Subject another to an offensive touching; or
(d) Commit any lewd, obscene, immoral or indecent act which he knows is likely to be observed by another who would be affronted or alarmed thereby;
(e) Make a communication anonymously or at extremely inconvenient hours or in offensively coarse language; or
(f) Make a telephone call without purpose of legitimate communication.
SECTION 117. Engage in any other course of harassing, alarming or offensive conduct serving no legitimate purpose of the actor.
SECTION 117. Window Peeping.
117.1 No person shall engage in window peeping.
SECTION 118. Begging.
(18.1) No person shall:
(a) Engage in begging; or
(b) Place himself in any public place for the purpose of begging or receiving alms.
SECTION 119. Disturb Peace of Neighborhood.
119.1 No person shall purposely disturb, recklessly disregard, or incite any person to purposely disturb or recklessly disregard the peace and tranquility of any neighborhood.
SECTION 120. Illegal Business or Occupation.
120.1 No person shall:
(a) Engage in any illegal business or occupation; or
(b) Attend or frequent any place in which an illegal business is conducted or permitted.
SECTION 121. No person shall:
(a) Draw, handle, flourish, discharge or fire any firearm within the village; or
(b) Have in his possession any firearm which is loaded.
121.2 This Section shall not apply to:
(a) A law enforcement officer or a member of a duly authorized military organization when acting in discharge of his duties; or
(b) A person acting pursuant to a license under the law of the United States or the State of Michigan to carry a concealed weapon.
(c) A person lawfully defending his home, person or property, or
(d) A person within his own habitation or within a building owned by him or a person so acting within such habitation or building of another with the permission of the latter; or
(e) A person shooting at an educational or training program under adequate supervision.

Contract okayed with school union

The Tuscola Intermediate School District (TISD) administration and the union which represents its aides, bus drivers, secretaries and custodial workers, reached tentative agreement on a three-year contract at a five-hour bargaining session last Wednesday.

The more than 100 members of the Michigan Educational Support Personnel Association (MESPA) were scheduled to vote on the pact Tuesday. If approved, the TISD Board of Education will vote on the contract Monday, Oct. 13.

The board is also scheduled to vote then on the three-year contract tentatively agreed to Sept. 16 between the administration and the Tuscola Intermediate Education Association, which represents the professional staff, provided those union members approve it. They vote Friday.

The contract with MESPA, according to spokesman Ed Crosby, gives the union members a 10 percent pay increase each of the three years.

The board, which had been paying $40 per month per employee for health insurance, will increase that to $45 for the current school year, $50 in 1981-82 and $60 in 1982-83.

There were also some changes in contract language, he said, including giving aides with senior choice of classroom assignments when a vacancy occurs.

The negotiators met for about 4-9 p.m., with agreement being reached with aid of state mediator William Borushko.

ISD Assistant Superintendent Jerome Thienes said the two sides were "pulled apart" when the session began.

The MESPA negotiators, he indicated, got about what they wanted in pay, but were compromised on the amount they wanted for health insurance.

During the two-week strike by the professional staff, the aides and bus drivers were out of work. MESPA filed a grievance claiming that their old contract required 30 days advance notice of any layoff. They had continued to work under their old pact under agreement on a new one.

According to Thienes, the union said that as part of agreement on the new contract, it would drop the grievance.

The assistant superintendent expected to have figures available on the cost of two new contracts available by the time of the board meeting Monday.

VILLAGE OF GAGETOWN
GAGETOWN, MICHIGAN
ORDINANCE NUMBER 105

AN ORDINANCE TO PROHIBIT THE JUNKING OF MOTOR VEHICLES AND MOTOR VEHICLE PARTS WITHIN THE VILLAGE OF GAGETOWN AND PROVIDING FOR PENALTY IN THE EVENT OF VIOLATION THEREOF.

The Village of Gagetown ordains:
Section 1: The purpose of this ordinance is to protect the health, safety, and general welfare of the residents of Gagetown by prohibiting the junking of motor vehicles and motor vehicle parts in the Village of Gagetown.
Section 2: Definitions. For the purpose of this ordinance—
(1) "Junked motor vehicle" is defined as any self-propelled, wheeled vehicle which:
(a) is substantially damaged and will not operate under its own power; or
(b) is dismantled or partially dismantled.
(2) "Person" is defined as any person, firm, partnership, corporation, or other entity.
(3) "Village of Gagetown" is defined as the area within the Village limits.
Section 3: It is unlawful for any person to store on or permit to be stored or placed on or allowed to remain on any platted or unplatted parcel of land located in the village a junked motor vehicle or any dismantled part of a motor vehicle unless the vehicle and part are kept in a wholly-enclosed structure. The presence of any junked motor vehicle or dismantled part of a motor vehicle on a parcel described in the preceding sentence is hereby declared to be a public nuisance. This section shall not be construed to permit parking or placing of a junked motor vehicle on any street or alley of the Village.
Section 4: This ordinance shall apply to a junked motor vehicle or any parts of a motor vehicle located on the premises of a garage, service station, or other business enterprise engaged lawfully in the repair, storage or sale of motor vehicles if such vehicles or parts of a motor vehicle are located on the premises for a period of more than 90 days, unless the vehicle and/or parts are kept in a wholly-enclosed structure.
Section 5: If any person violates this ordinance, the Clerk shall send a notice by registered mail to (1) the owner of the junked motor vehicle or parts at his last known address; and (2) if different, to the owner of the premises on which the vehicle or parts are lying at his last known address. The notice shall contain a description of the motor vehicle and dismantled parts and their location; a statement that the person is in violation of this ordinance; and the statement that if the violation continues for 14 days from the date of the notice, the vehicle and parts would be applied and the motor vehicle and parts impounded. If the owner of the motor vehicle or parts, or both, cannot be determined after a reasonable search, notice shall be by publication once a week for two weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the Village.
Section 6: If the ordinance is not complied within 14 days from the date the notice is mailed or after notice by publication for two weeks where appropriate—
(a) The person violating the ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100.00, and each day that a violation continues constitutes a separate offense and;
(b) The Village may impound the motor vehicle and dismantled parts, and it may sell them for junk or destroy them.
Section 7: The provisions of this ordinance are hereby declared severable and if any clause, sentence, word, section, paragraph or provision is declared void or unenforceable by a court of competent jurisdiction, it shall not affect any other portion of this ordinance.
Section 8: Effective Date: This ordinance shall be effective upon publication and expiration of time proscribed by law.
ADOPTED: October 6, 1980.

VILLAGE OF GAGETOWN
GAGETOWN, MICHIGAN
ORDINANCE NUMBER 104

AN ORDINANCE DECLARING IT TO BE A TRESPASS FOR PERSONS TO GO UPON AND LOITER AND REMAIN UPON BUSINESS OR COMMERCIAL PREMISES DURING CLOSE OF BUSINESS HOURS, AND PROVIDING PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION THEREOF.

The Village of Gagetown ordains:
SECTION 1.
This ordinance shall apply to all premises in the Village of Gagetown on which are located business, commercial or industrial establishments.
SECTION 2.
It shall be a trespass and unlawful for any person, during close of business hours, to go upon and loiter and remain upon vacant portions, including driveways and parking areas of any privately owned business, commercial or industrial establishments within the Village of Gagetown, for any purpose not connected with attending to business in the establishment on said premises.
SECTION 3.
Vacant portions shall include doorways, entrance ways and indented or bay areas of any storefront.
SECTION 4.
It shall be a trespass and unlawful for any person, during close of business hours, to loiter and remain upon or against any business, commercial or industrial building within the Village of Gagetown, including standing or sitting in doorways or door steps, sitting or leaning against windows or doors of buildings, or other projecting parts of buildings, or leaning against windows or doors of buildings, for any purpose not connected with attending to business within said building.
SECTION 5.
Any owner may post a notice in or on a business, commercial or industrial building visible from outside of said building stating the business hours of establishment and that such notice is posted pursuant to this ordinance. Any acts prohibited by this ordinance committed within the posted business hours shall be a violation of this ordinance.
SECTION 6.
Any person on conviction of trespass under this ordinance shall be punished by fine not exceeding $100.00 for each offense and costs of prosecution, or by imprisonment in the county jail of Tuscola County not exceeding 90 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court.
SECTION 7.
This ordinance shall take effect and be in full force after publication.
ADOPTED: October 6, 1980.
