PROGRESSIVE LUNCH RUN 5th NOVEMBER 2000

The organisers of the lunch must have spoken to the right people when organising the weather. The day was just right, sun shining, not many clouds but not too hot to affect the cars.

A number of cars left the clubrooms heading in various directions but all made it to our first stop at Carisbrook Reserve. We were one of the last to arrive, the Morris is not known for its speed. What a wonderful sight greeted us. The largest turnout of cars I have seen from the club. The soup line, although long, moved quickly and we were soon into the bread rolls and soup.

After a while some of the cars started to leave for the next stop via a scenic route through One Tree Hill. One question that seemed to be asked in most cars was, "How far is 500 metres and when is a cross road a T junction?" Those who did not answer correctly finished up at Humbug Scrub and those who, after arguments, got it correct, finished up at Gawler. When we arrived there were about 10 cars at Deadmans Pass Reserve. Over the next hour all the cars drifted in to the reserve from various directions. The most important arrival was the 4wd with trays of pies and pasties on board. These were efficiently distributed and the noise around the area dropped dramatically, showing we had good manners. An addition to the menu was to follow in the shape of donuts, either chocolate coated or iced with sprinkles. When all the food was successfully devoured the activities started. The fitter members walked along the cross-country horse trial track though I did not see anyone attempt the jumps. The children played in the water. The bigger kids gazed under the bonnets or looked longingly into new upholstered interiors.

About 2.30pm there was a general exodus heading for the afternoon tea stop at Fremont Park, Elizabeth. The afternoon tea consisted of delicious cheesecake served to the seated members by the children of the organisers. By now most members had had too much to eat, were tired and sinking fast so they started to head off home.

The organisers are to be congratulated on a great day and when the calories have been worked off we will be waiting with anticipation for the next progressive lunch.

Ladies Day

Ladies Day, Wednesday October 13th

The time has come for me to do a report, couldn't get out of it, no one else to ask really, so here goes.

Wednesday 13th dawned chilly & drizzly rain but I set off to town with the knowledge that it would be just me plus Dawn if she made it, not taking names was a mistake I think.

Arrived in town & walked from the station to the Botanic Gardens & made it to the Museum of Economic Botany building just before 11am. Went inside to be greeted with the words, "Sorry but we are closed"! Amid protests from me declaring that I have travelled from the other end of the metropolis to view this building & it's contents I was eventually allowed to look at the exhibits. They were preparing one end of the building for an exhibition starting on the Friday. No sign of Dawn so I carried on alone. She did eventually arrive & we pressed on with our education re plants, seeds etc. I personally learnt a few things. For instance that in the 1800's prostitutes used lemons as a contraceptive. The mind boggles!!! Also tha frankincense looks just like crystallised ginger.

At one stage a few other people attempted to enter the building, once in the door was locked as it was obviously getting to be too popular. When we were let out we wandered round to the kiosk to enjoy lunch before making our way back to the station.

Heather

Wednesday 10 November 2010

This month we will again have a craft/lunch day at the Morris Register clubrooms, situated on the corner of Harrison Road and Simpson Avenue, Devon Park.

Come and join us at 10.30 for a bit of Christmas craft, chat, cuppa and lunch. Kits will be supplied at a minimal cost. If you would like to do your own thing, then just bring what you need for yourself. Also a shared lunch, and remember the kitchen staff are on holidays so preferably nothing to be heated up in the oven.

Don't be put off if it is hot, as we have fans that will keep us cool until after lunch.

Hope to see you there - open to anyone! Anne

Wednesday 8 December 2010.

Christmas lunch this year will be at the Lakes Resort Hotel, 141 Brebner Drive, West Lakes.

Numbers are definitely needed for this one and a deposit of $5.00 per person is required by 24 November.

Also, remember to bring a gift to exchange to the value of $2.00.

Hope to see you there - anyone is welcome, bring a friend if you wish.

Thanks Anne (82559446)
