'A' supporters make final push

Campaign workers supporting Proposal A are making a last-minute push to urge a yes vote. The proposal on Wednesday's ballot would cut school property taxes and raise the state sales tax rate.

Proposal A supporters have launched a final push in the Wayne-Westland School District to win votes for Wednesday's statewide ballot issue — viewed as a "once-in-a-lifetime opportunity" to slash property taxes and rescue money-desperate schools.

Consider:

- Volunteers have distributed 45,000 pieces of supportive literature, district spokesman Gary Dell said.
- School officials have mailed an equal number of letters to homeowners throughout the 16,500-student district.
- Educators and parents have launched a telephone campaign that continues this week.

■ A video made by the state Proposal A committee is being shown four times daily on city cable channels in Westland and Wayne, with an introduction by Wayne-Westland Superintendent Larry Thomas, Dell said.

Polls will be open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Proposal A would increase the state sales tax to 6 percent from 4 percent and cut school property taxes. In the financially beleaguered Wayne-Westland district, the tax rate would plummet from 47 mills to 27.

The northern portion of Westland, in the Livonia School District, would realize a more modest tax cut. Those residents now pay an operating levy of 31.50 mills.

(One mill is $1 per $1,000 of state-equalized valuation.)

Wayne-Westland would be one of the biggest benefactors under the plan, which officials say could thwart $14 million in budget cuts already approved for next school year. Massive layoffs and program cuts are expected if the proposal fails.

Swimming lessons begin June 21

It's never too late to get in the swim for lessons on how to swim carefully.

With the summer and trips to the cottage nearby here, the city of Westland's recreation department is offering swimming lessons starting June 21 and continuing through Aug. 27.

Session I will be June 21 to July 2, followed by succeeding two-week sessions. Lessons are $25 for residents and $15 for local infants and preschoolers. Non-residents will be charged $5 more.

All instruction will be at the outdoor pool next to the Bailey Recreation Center, on the south side of Ford east of Newburgh.

Times are 9-9:50 a.m. for those 5-10 years old; 10-10:50 a.m. for those 11 and older; 11-11:30 a.m. for those 3-5 years old, and 11:30 a.m. to noon for from 6 months to 3 years. Preschoolers in the program must be accompanied by a parent in the pool during the instruction.

Interested persons may contact the recreation department, 722-7620.

Joanne Berry, a humane society spokeswoman.

Inkster police contacted the humane society, which sent emergency rescue workers to transport the severely burned kitten to the veterinary hospital on Marquette, just east of Newburgh Road.

"His whiskers are all singed off, and his ears are all crumpled up from being burned," Ferguson said.

The veterinarian appeared encouraged that Scotty would surlive, however. The tiny kitten has been eating food and drinking water, Ferguson said, "and he can kind of get around on his own."

Scotty can still see and hear, Ferguson said. He was being watched by the veterinary staff for signs of infection, which would cause complications.

"He will remain under their constant and watchful care until he has recovered and can be placed in a permanent home," Berry said.

Some potential owners already have indicated a willingness to accept Scotty, even though he will require long-term care if he survives.

"We already have a few people interested in his fighting spirit, you might say," Ferguson said.

Witnesses saw the Inkster teen set the cat afire with a pocket lighter, Berry said. The teen has been identified and is expected to face a charge of maliciously injuring an animal, punishable by four years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Ferguson said she sees two or three cases each year in which animals are burned.

"It seems to be one of the more common forms of animal abuse," she said.

Many times the animals die. But Ferguson and others at the animal hospital are hoping that Scotty will be different.

Mayor unveils plan to fight drug abuse

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Mayor Robert Thomas has formed a task force to combat drug and alcohol abuse and the problems it causes in the city — crime, auto accidents, spouse and child abuse, school behavioral problems and workplace underproduction.

"We're going on the attack," George Gillies, the mayor's executive assistant, said Wednesday in unveiling the city's latest drug-fighting plan.

Thomas has invited 49 people — police officers, school district representatives, city officials and other community leaders — to join the task force. Twenty-five members have signed up.

The effort comes during an election year in which Thomas is seeking a second four-year term. Still, Gillies said the administration hopes to keep politics out of the project.

In its kickoff meeting, the task force recently suggested a flurry of drug-fighting proposals. Among them:

- seek state legislation giving a 5-percent reduction in workman's compensation premiums to businesses certified as drug-free workplaces;
- develop a Westland resource book to inform parents about various drugs, their effects and where to find help for drug and alcohol abuse. The manuals would be placed in schools, doctor's offices and other highly visible places;
- establish parent support groups;
- enforce a residential party ordinance that would "strengthen the home,"
- feature a monthly cable television program to inform viewers about Youth Assistance, the Community Commission on Drug Abuse and other organizations that combat drug and alcohol abuse;
- encourage neighborhood block clubs to discourage drug and alcohol use and establish a neighborhood youth activity center; and promote a substance abuse curriculum in local schools and offer awards, pennants and trophies to students who get involved. The program would complement DARE (Drug Awareness Resistance Education), a program that sends police officers into schools to warn students about drug and alcohol abuse.

Some of the proposals would cost money, such as publishing the community resource book. For that project, Thomas wants to seek monetary support from local businesses.

The task force cited concerns about drug-related problems such as crime, auto accidents, spouse and child abuse, the family breakdown, declining property values and business underproduction.

The panel also discussed how the task force could complement — not duplicate — drug-fighting efforts already in place, such as self-help groups, treatment facilities and DARE.

"We hope to enhance the quality of life for all who live and work in Westland," Gillies wrote in minutes of the task force's first meeting.

Weather chills marchers

The annual Wayne-Westland Memorial Day parade had everything its planners wanted — colorful marching bands, decorated cars and floats and the traditional holiday ceremony.

But there were two things present that the parade committee didn't want: a drizzle and chilly temperatures.

With parents and marchers wearing unseasonable warm clothing, the hundreds of participants took part Monday in the annual tradition which ended with a ceremony in downtown Wayne's Peace Park.

In the two-mile parade, which started from the Westland Kmart store parking lot at Wayne Road and Cherry Hill, were bands from local senior and junior high schools, veterans groups, Cub Scouts and the Spiriters baton twirling unit.

Reflecting the chilly weather, the John Glenn High School Rockets' marching band wore rain slickers for the parade.

At the ceremony in Peace Park, speakers urged the audience to remember the service men and women who have died in past wars.

The only other alternative will be for school officials to schedule a Wayne-Westland tax election this summer or early fall. But voters already spoke loudly on April 5 by crushing a local tax proposal.

During a school board meeting last week, Westland resident Walter Warren urged officials to fight relentlessly until Wednesday to win votes for what he called a "once-in-a-lifetime opportunity" to lower property taxes and secure school finances.

School officials also have won support from Westland Mayor Robert Thomas, who said he favors Proposal A.

"It will give them funding for education, and it will not come out of property taxes," Thomas said.

Thomas supports the plan even though the city of Westland would lose $350,000 if it maintains an operating tax rate of 7 mills in the next budget. Losses could top $1 million if the city reduces its tax rate to 6.84 mills, which Thomas said has been considered.

"It's not the best thing in the world, and it's going to hurt a little bit," he said of Proposal A, but added that the burden for paying for public schools must be lifted from property owners.

Voter turnout, meanwhile, is expected to be no more than 20 percent of the city's 51,469 registered voters, said deputy clerk Patricia Gibbons. She also said 2,400 absentee ballots have been mailed out.

Last week, some residents told school officials they are concerned that opposition to Proposal A may be growing. Warren, a Westland attorney and landlord, said he has heard widespread opposition in local coffee shops.

At least two groups, the Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education Committee, and the Westland Democratic Club have also opposed the proposal.

Paul Krarup, Democratic Club board member, announced that the group last week had board of directors and 12 members oppose Proposal A because the sales tax harms poor while property taxes will continue to increase.

Glenn choir back from New York

BY LEONARD POGER
Editor

John Glenn High School's choir took a big cultural bite of the Big Apple during the Memorial Day weekend.

The 38-member choir was scheduled to return home Monday night (May 31) after five days in New York City. Highlight of the trip was a Sunday performance in famed Carnegie Hall. They were part of a 160-voice choral group. Others were from a Southfield high school, a church choir as well as out-of-state singers.

When the choir, accompanied by eight adults, were greeted by state Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, at Detroit Metro Airport shortly before they left Thursday morning for New York City.

Barns read a House-Senate resolution to the group honoring it for its efforts.

With Barns reading the prepared resolution, students raised a large banner designed for the occasion which depicted a large apple, New York City's symbol, with its mouth opening, emulating a singer during a performance.

Manhattan-bound: John Glenn High School choir members and adults unfurled a banner as they left Metro Airport Thursday morning.

The resolution said the choir is having a "chance of a lifetime" in performing in Carnegie Hall and that the group of "dedicated and talented vocalists worked diligently to earn this honor."

The performance "brings pride to their school, community and families," the resolution concluded.

Choir director Judith Premin said that the trip for 46 persons costs $40,000, all paid with private funds. But the students and adults spent most of the past year raising money through numerous benefits. About 30-35 percent of the cost was raised through candy bar sales, car washes, a bowling and bottle collections with most generated at an auction in Mid-March, Premin said.

Besides the Carnegie Hall performance, the students and adults enjoyed other cultural activities in Manhattan. One was a supper at Asti's restaurant where Julliard School of Music students work as waitpersons and sing operatic selections for patrons.

Another was attending a Saturday night concert by John Rutger, who conducted one of his compositions. They also dined at Hard Rock Cafe, attended a "Phantom of the Opera" performance and dinner on a cruise ship while enjoying the view of New York Harbor.

Their trip concluded Monday with a walk through Central Park and its zoo.

SC to raise tuition $3 per credit hour

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Schoolcraft College trustees tended to a tower of business last week, raising tuition, adopting a tax levy, adopting a budget and raising the salary of 66 employees.

By unanimous vote, trustees Mary Breen, Michael Burley, Winifred Fraser, Harry Greenleaf, Steve Ragan, John Walsh and Patricia Watson raised tuition for in-district students from $40 a credit hour to $43, a 7.5 percent increase.

In the 29 years since Schoolcraft was founded in 1964, trustees have raised tuition 17 times. Fourteen of those increases have come in the 15 years since 1978.

Trustees also raised non-resident tuition from $60 to $64.50 and out-of-state tuition from $87.50 to $94.

However, Schoolcraft tuition still compares favorably with other suburban area community colleges. Next fall, students at Henry Ford, Oakland and Wash-tenaw community colleges are expected to pay $41, $45 and $47 per credit hour, respectively.

The reason tuition has risen so dramatically, Schoolcraft officials say, is that the state government's annual subsidies to all community colleges haven't kept pace with inflation. Years ago, the state subsidy accounted for roughly one-third of Schoolcraft's budget. Property tax revenue and tuition comprised the other two-thirds.

In the $32 million budget for 1993-4 approved last week, the state subsidy accounts for 26 percent, property taxes 39 percent and tuition 34 percent. The state subsidy fell by 0.78 percent in dollars, but by more than 3 percent if inflation is factored in.

The $1 million increase over last year's budget comes entirely from additional property tax revenue generated by new construction and by the tuition increase.

Trustees last week saw no alternative to raising tuition short of cutting programs. Greenleaf said the board will have to "take a concentrated look at the whole cost-containment area" in the next few years because the state subsidy isn't expected to rise anytime soon.

Ragan was more blunt. "Some universities are looking at drastic cuts in salary," he said. "We're going to have to look very hard at that."

Yet just a few minutes later trustees voted unanimously to raise the pay of the 12 top administrators and 58 clerical employees by 4.5 percent, effective July 1. Schoolcraft president Richard McDowell said the raises are consistent with what the unions at Schoolcraft are getting this year.

The top three salaries in that group of 12 are:

- $88,000 for vice president for instruction Conway Jeffress.

- $81,000 for vice president for business service Adelard "Butch" Raby.

- $81,000 for vice president for student services Barbara Geil.

McDowell, whose salary the board will consider raising later this year, currently gets $95,000 a year.

The board also set the next fiscal year's millage levy, reducing it from 1.9231 to 1.8521, in accordance with the Headlee Amendment to the state constitution. The Headlee Amendment says a taxing body has to reduce its millage levy if assessment increases rise faster than the rate of inflation.

Technically, Schoolcraft's authorized millage has been 2.27 since 1986 when voters approved the addition of 0.5 mill.

Although Headlee has reduced that millage levy almost every year since, new construction in the district and inflation have boosted Schoolcraft's tax collection from about $8 million in 1986 to more than $12 million this year.

House party bills heading to Senate

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Adult hosts of teen drinking parties face jail, and drunk drivers who seriously injure others could have their vehicles confiscated, under bills heading to the state Senate floor.

"I call it the 'house party' bill," said Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, sponsor of Senate Bill 154.

He listed teen deaths along old Grand River Avenue that occur every spring, adding, "There's nothing to prosecute the adult who had served alcohol in his home. This will send a strong message."

The bill, approved 3 to 0 Thursday by the Senate Judiciary Committee, would apply to adults in social gatherings in meeting halls, hotels, conference rooms, their homes, cottages, mobile homes, apartments and even tents. Penalties: up to 90 days in jail and a fine of $500.

Dillingham said the Senate had passed his bill twice in the past, only to have it bottled up in the House Judiciary Committee by chair Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor. Bullard has left the Legislature. "We won't get into the no-love-lost between Rep. Bullard and myself," said Dillingham.

"Is a $500 fine enough?" asked Sen. Virgil Smith, D-Detroit.

"It makes the point," said Dillingham.

His bill was supported by the Michigan State Police and Michigan Council on Alcohol Problems. MICAP chief Alan B. Rice said city ordinances prohibiting teen parties have been effective in Saline, Traverse City and Grosse Pointe.

Vehicles only

Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, sponsored SB 555 to authorize prosecuting units of government to seize the vehicles of drunk drivers who caused someone's death or long-term disabling injury.

The state Crime Victims' Fund would share in 25 percent of the vehicle's value.

Smith asked whether it would allow confiscating someone's home. "I told you I have my reservations about taking someone's home," he said.

Adult hosts of teen drinking parties face jail, and drunk drivers who seriously injure others could have their vehicles confiscated, under bills heading to the state Senate floor.

Bouchard said the bill would apply only to vehicles as "the instrumentality of the crime." He added, "Where they've gone after a person's property, they've done it under the provision to take proceeds of drug activity."

MICAP's Rice also supported the bill, which the Judiciary Committee reported out under another 3-0 vote.

Bills delayed

Chair William Van Regenmorter, R-Jenison, delayed a hearing on his bill to ease some penalties for drunk driving.

His SB 631 would make it a felony for a drunk driver to cause "serious injury." Current felony law applies to "long-term incapacitating injury."

But the penalty for a third offense would be reduced from one year to 30 days.

A Senate Fiscal Agency impact statement said the bill would result in more convictions but a cost savings for the prison system. "In 1990, 42 individuals were sentenced to prison under this section of law with an average minimum sentence of 1.7 years. If, in the future, judges chose to sentence only half as many people to prison, annual costs for the Department of Corrections could decrease by $535,500," said the SFA.

Van Regenmorter canceled a hearing on SB 394 to reduce the definition of drunk driving from 0.10 percent blood alcohol content to 0.08. The 0.10 percent law has been in effect since 1972.

For hearing schedules or to comment on bills, write to Senate Judiciary Committee, 405 Farnum Building, Lansing 48913. It helps to refer to the bill number.

Lawmakers fail to curb state corrections spending

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Hold down soaring prison costs, the state house of representatives warned Gov. John Engler last week as it passed a record corrections department budget.

The vote was 78 to 18. Conservatives tried many amendments and succeeded on two.

"The fastest-growing category of state government in the last decade was corrections," said freshman Rep. Greg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills, a "no" vote.

"Corrections spending increased from about $200 million in the early 1980s to $1.15 billion in this appropriation. This trend is expected to continue through the 1990s.

"So why is Lansing spending $1.2 billion on free college education for maximum security prisoners when so many law-abiding families need tax relief to pay for their own offspring's education? Why are we debating today how to make it easier for prisoners to receive welfare upon their release, when so many working men and women need tax relief to feed their families?" said Kaza.

Rep. Kirk Profit, D-Ypsilanti, voted no for different reasons. "I do not support using 37.1 percent of all new revenues for (fiscal) 1994 for the department of corrections," said Profit, one of the inner circle of Democratic leaders.

Profit said the new money should go for "job creation efforts, environmental protection, educational opportunity, mental health and other, more positive, investment-oriented state efforts."

Engler warned

On final passage, all area lawmakers but Kaza voted yes and sent the bill to the Senate.

The real battle was over amendments.

Profit and Republican Bill Martin of Battle Creek won voice approval of an amendment to restrict prisoner workers: "The department shall not allow prisoners to perform any work that would require a license if performed by anyone other than a prisoner."

A second Martin and Profit amendment warned Gov. John Engler and Attorney General Frank Kelley "not (to) enter into a consent decree or judgment concerning the operation of a correctional facility without prior approval" of legislators. It passed by a voice vote.

It was the lawmakers' way of saying they were angry that $84 million in new spending was imposed by federal courts.

Vorva, Jamian lose

Freshman Reps. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, and John Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township, lost their efforts to amend the bill.

The House rejected Vorva's amendment to require the corrections department to "implement programs to recover the cost of imprisonment and education" by "recovery of costs from tax refunds, wages, judgments" and other payments.

The vote was 44 to 50.

Yes votes were cast by Republicans Penny Crissman of Rochester, Jamian, Kaza, Vorva and Deborah Whyman of Canton.

No votes were cast by Republicans Lyn Bankes of Livonia, Barbara Dobb of Union Lake, Jan Dolan of Farmington, and Shirley Johnson of Royal Oak; and Democrats Maxine Berman of Southfield and Richard Young of Dearborn Heights.

Missing the vote were Democrats Justine Barns of Westland and William Keith of Garden City.

Jamian, a second-term member, teamed with David Jaye, R-Utica, in a losing effort to add: "If a prisoner performs tutorial services for another prisoner, half of the funds appropriated . . . shall first be used to pay any amount of restitution owed by the prisoner or used to reimburse the cost of the prisoner's incarceration."

Jamian's amendment failed, 52 to 48, with 55 needed for passage.

Yes — Republicans Bankes, Crissman, Jamian, Kaza, Vorva and Whyman.

McNamara saves tax dollars in commission contract snafu

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Oops! It was recently discovered that the Wayne County Commission approved a contract in February with Belle Tires of Allen Park for a service the county already had a contract for with RAO Wholesale of Detroit.

All it took to set this error in motion, according to an April 23 agenda for the Committee of Roads, Airports and Public Services, was "a change in staff assignments" in the Purchasing Division.

The three-year $217,000 RAO

Wholesale contract was approved in April 1992. But, according to commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, someone erroneously posted a one-year "purchase order" for the contract.

A year later, another purchasing division employee noted the soon-to-expire purchase order, assumed the contract was of one-year duration, and set the wheels in motion to accept bids for another contract.

Then last Feb. 18, just 10 months after the RAO contract was put in effect, a second contract for the same thing was approved with Belle Tires.

Luckily for county taxpayers, county Executive Edward McNamara hadn't signed the new contract when "RAO said, 'Hold it. We've got a three-year contract,'" Amann said.

Deputy Executive Michael Duggan said "the mistake was caught before it did any damage."

The county commission is expected to officially rescind its approval of the Belle Tire contract at its next meeting.

Amann, an attorney, said the commission can rescind the contract without fear of a lawsuit from Belle Tires because McNamara never signed the contract.

Belle Isle attracts fans of all ages

Hands down holding flags of encouragement—the usual montage of smiling faces trying to squeeze into the camera view at major sporting events. However, this year at First of America Free Prix Day on Belle Isle, you may see a number of fans shying away from the camera.

Since the event is annually held on a Friday, many of the expected 60,000 race enthusiasts will be escaping from a day of work or school hoping not to be caught by the watchful eye of the camera. Dedicated fans are expected to travel from as far as Canada and northern Michigan to enjoy a day of racing excitement.

"I am completely enjoyed by the turnout into Free Prix Day," said Grand Prix President Robert McCabe, sponsor of the three-day race.

In addition to the record-setting number nearly 45,000 are expected to view the Grand Prix race on Sunday.

Race fans range in age and social backgrounds, from high-powered businessmen and women to fathers and sons reliving memories of past generations of racing legends. "The attraction of Indy car racing seems to stem from inside race fans and isn't definable by gender, race or social status," commented McCabe.

"The diversity of the audience itself plays a major role in the success of racing."

McCabe hopes track conditions continue to be as favorable as in past years.

Hart opposes Senate bill to deregulate state trucking

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Two area state senators will battle soon over a bill to "get Michigan out of the way of entrepreneurs in the trucking industry."

On the side of deregulation is Sen. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, sponsor of Senate Bill 581. He calls state regulations "a Byzantine nightmare" that forces truck companies over the border to Toledo and raises consumer costs.

Favoring continued regulation is Sen. George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn, whose district includes Garden City. "If intrastate (within Michigan) trucking is deregulated, smaller businesses will enter the industry, hiring non-union, inexperienced drivers.

"These drivers will receive less wages and longer hours. Smaller businesses will seek maximum profits at the expense of safety," said Hart.

With Hart dissenting, Honigman's Senate Labor Committee last week reported out SB 581 for full Senate action. The Capitol corridor outside the second-floor Senate chamber is likely to be full of truckers, Teamsters, lobbyists and voters when the bill comes to a vote.

George Hart

nette told a packed hearing room last week. "Every mile I travel in Michigan is empty coming back."

To Honigman, that regulation was wasteful — millions of miles traveled burning fossil fuel with no return cargoes.

"Five thousand operating authorities have been issued since 1982," countered Farmington Hills attorney Bob McFarlane for the Transportation Lawyers Association. "His (Vannette's) is the only one I'm aware of where an application has been denied since 1982."

Ron Thompson, traffic services manager for Spartan Stores of Grand Rapids and Plymouth, said the grocery chain's trucks log five million empty miles on return trips.

Honigman asked McFarlane, "What's your rationale for making Spartan Stores go back with empty trucks?"

"By making Spartan more efficient, you make other companies less efficient," said McFarlane. He added that Spartan is approved for carrying only commodities.

Helps minorities

John James of OJ Transport in Detroit, a certified minority auto parts hauler, said "Regulation helps minorities compete with the large companies. Big companies can't use predatory pricing to put small companies out of business."

James said Michigan would do more for trucking by cutting workers compensation rates and taxes. He said Michigan truckers pay 2.5 times as much for workers compensation than Indiana truckers. "Ohio and Illinois (truckers) don't pay sales tax on the equipment used in interstate commerce," James added.

Honigman liked those ideas. "We'll have you back when we do workers comp, unemployment comp and the single business tax," the senator said.

Honigman argued that Michigan regulations make it cheaper for a trucker to cross a state line for an interstate trip than to ship entirely within Michigan.

"Georgia Pacific Co. showed it pays 20 percent more to move goods from Detroit to Grand Rapids (149 miles) than from Toledo to Grand Rapids (174 miles)," he said.

Honigman said a small Lansing moving company, Two Men and a Truck, was hit by complaints from nine big truckers when it sought PSC approval to expand beyond Lansing. "Unable to afford the expensive legal fees to fight those challenges, Two Men and a Truck backed off," he said.

Hart said the federal trend toward deregulation has cost trucking more than 160,000 jobs since the early 1980s and resulted in the bankruptcy of 2,000 interstate carriers in 1991 and 1,600 in 1990.

No — Republicans Dobb, Dolan and Johnson; Democrats Ber- man, Keith and Young. Democrat Barns missed the vote.

3 new prisons

The budget measure provides the opening of three new prisons that had been built but mothballed for lack of operating revenue.

It also was a one-year appropriation, though Gov. Engler had proposed a two-year budget.

Jaye, the Utica conservative known for his desire to upset the Lansing applicart, cited a long list of objections to line items in the bill.

"The budget gives Michigan prisoners free college education with no repayment requirements, provides a $500,000 indoor exercise facility at each prison, provides for $200,000 annually for each prison to operate an electronic law library, free health care, free room and board, free laundry services and free entertainment.

"Civilian food testers ensure that mashed potatoes are served hot and Jell-O is served chilled.

"Michigan convicts are overloading court dockets and squandering $5 million annually with hundreds of frivolous lawsuits against the state. A rapist actually claimed he lost a clearinghouse sweepstakes because the state mailed his entry form too late. . . . Over 34 state-paid attorneys handle 4,008 inmate lawsuits now pending."

Meanwhile, lawmakers are moving to curb court appeals by inmates. The senate has approved a constitutional amendment lifting the automatic right to appeal of convicts who have pleaded guilty.

The house has yet to act. If placed on the 1994 ballot, voters will decide whether to limit prisoners' court appeals.

PSC regulates

The Michigan Public Service Commission (PSC) approves truckers' routes, certifies which products they may haul and regulates the rates they charge.

Competitors may challenge a company's application — as happened to Jim Vannette of Holland Special Deliveries, a 12-vehicle company hauling automotive parts and supplies.

"I applied for extensions of authority on four different occasions and was denied," Van-

Athletes who drive

Athletes come in many shapes and sizes, yet constant visions of physically superior "super-beings" pushing themselves to the limits seem to plague the minds of most Americans. This fallacy has led to the exclusion of many deserving athletic groups, one being race car drivers.

threatening decisions throughout a challenging three-hour race, displaying a level of concentration worthy of any athletic event.

Brayton set his sites on car racing early in life. The son of former Indy car driver Lee Brayton, Scott has been racing cars since he received a go-cart for his fifth birthday. Scott moved up from racing go-carts to open-wheel formula cars and the Formula Ford series. In 1981, Brayton, who hails from Coldwater, Mich., began racing ing a test of athletic ability? The car expends all of the energy, not the driver.

The rationale becomes clear when you examine the word "athlete." An athlete is someone who takes part in competitive sports. No one can deny that racing cars is a competitive sport. So although race car drivers like Scott Brayton, for example, may not be able to run a mile in under five minutes or bring in the winning run in the ninth inning, they can make hundreds of life-

Brayton started his Indy car career by driving partial campaigns almost exclusively for his family's team. However, he made his mark in 1985 when he set a track-record lap time of 214.99 mph and qualified with a four-lap average speed of 212.354 on opening day of the Indy 500. This year, Scott, sponsored by First of America Bank, will drive No. 22, Amway's Winning Spirit Indy Car in the Detroit PPG Indy Car race, the Indianapolis 500, the Milwaukee 200 and the Michigan 500.

Lawsuits: 'It's what a civilized society should do'

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Alleys and fists aren't the way to resolve conflicts.

"We are a country based and founded in law," said George Googasian, president of the Michigan Bar Association.

That means conflicts should be resolved in the legal system, including taking a fight to court, if necessary. "It is what a civilized society should do," Googasian said while speaking recently to the Canton Economic Club.

The head of the organization, which represents Michigan attorneys, bemoaned lawyer bashing and the general poor attitude toward the legal system. He referred to former vice president Daniel Quayle's complaint about how the 18 million civil lawsuits filed in the United States makes this the most litigious society.

"That is a lot of litigation. But there is in America more freedom," Googasian said.

Consider that fewer lawsuits are filed per capita today than in colonial America. Also consider that of the 18 million lawsuits filed, only 1.8 percent are for negligence or personal injury, Googasian said.

Admittedly picking on General Motors, Googasian said auto officials have complained that costly lawsuits hurt American corporations trying to compete in a global economy.

"There is no serious student of economics who thinks that Americans are buying Japanese cars because of what lawyers do," Googasian said.

When NBC stung GM with a contrived story about exploding gas tanks on its trucks, the automaker went straight to court. "They can't get equity in the newspaper. They can't get justice on TV."

As far as Googasian is concerned, going to court is the thing to do. "That is the forum in which it should be resolved."

Lawyers, Googasian said, have been unfairly blamed for many of America's problems, including the cost of health care. Health care costs increase 10-12 percent annually. But less than 1 percent of the total costs are due to legal costs.

"When it is time to be critical, lawyers are the ones who take the hit."

Despite his complaints about lawyer bashing, Googasian admitted the profession and the legal system has its shortcomings. He also acknowledged that some of the public's poor impression of attorneys comes from some of the less-than-quality advertising, particularly on late night television.

According to a study, approximately 36 percent of the population has negative feelings about lawyers because of advertising. Yet only 2-3 percent of the population finds a lawyer through those advertisements, while 12-13 percent find one through the Yellow Pages.

The state bar, however, is working to regulate advertising. "We want to keep advertising tasteful. We want to keep advertising truthful. We want to keep advertising meaningful," Googasian said.

Other efforts by the state bar include a task force on domestic violence, as well as a law school for legislators so they understand how they affect the already overburdened legal system with some of their legislation.

Initiatives also include finding ways to help children, a great many of whom sooner or later will find themselves in the legal system. In 1940, teachers said the top problems with children were gum chewing, noise, running in the halls and problems with following the dress code.

In the 1980s, teachers say the big problems for children are suicide, rape, drug and alcohol problems and pregnancy. "You can obviously see this a society where our children are in crisis," Googasian said. "The burden falls on the legal system to come up with some answers."

“ Without a good education I would not be a doctor to help sick people, or a teacher to help children like me. ”

POINTS OF VIEW

Proposal A ought to cure tax complaints

BY MICHAEL DUGGAN
SPECIAL WRITER

Maybe it's just that we like to complain. Sometimes I think Michigan residents are getting like that. Whether it's the ongoing closing of our auto plants, our long and icy winters, or the annual collapse of the Red Wings in the playoffs, we're always complaining about things we can't change.

I understand those complaints — somehow they make us feel better. What I don't understand is the constant complaining about things we can change — as if we can just stay busy enough complaining, we'll have an excuse for not solving our problems.

From the time I was in grade school in Livonia, the people of Michigan have complained chronically about escalating property tax bills and about the unfair fund of our schools. "Blame Lansing," has been the cry for years.

Twenty years later, we're still complaining and nothing has been accomplished.

"Do something about school funding," people demanded in 1989. Governor Blanchard and the Legislature did. They put on the ballot Proposal A to raise the sales tax 1/2 cent for schools. In November 1989, the voters overwhelmingly rejected the plan. "We don't want higher taxes!" they said.

And the voters blamed Lansing for drawing up a bad plan.

"Do something about property taxes," people demanded in 1992. Governor Engler and the petition gatherers did: They put on the ballot Proposal C to cut property taxes and cut state spending. Last November, voters overwhelmingly rejected this plan. "We don't want the cut in services!" they said.

And the voters blamed Lansing for drawing up a bad plan.

Then in 1993 all hell broke loose.

Double digit property tax assessments drew outrage and people poured into city halls across Michigan in record numbers to appeal. At the same time, a school district in Kalkaska actually closed for lack of funds and even wealthier districts like Livonia, Plymouth-Canton and Westland face serious layoffs and cutbacks.

"Do something!" the people of Michigan urgently demanded of Lansing. And, in a display of bipartisan cooperation rarely seen in these parts, Governor Engler and the Democratic leadership in the Legislature did.

They came up with a plan that rolls back the assessment increases, cuts property taxes, shifts the burden of school funding to the sales tax and then locks all the money from the sales tax increase into funding our schools.

And the people of Michigan reacted skeptically. "If it came out of Lansing, it can't be trusted," they're saying.

And we wonder why, 20 years later, nothing has been done. Maybe the problem isn't all with Lansing.

Ed McNamara and our administration are strongly backing Proposal A — not because Wayne County will get more money (we won't) and not because we support John Engler (we don't).

We're supporting Proposal A because it's a good plan. We're supporting Proposal A because it gives the biggest tax cuts in Michigan to those who now have the state's highest school taxes — most of the communities in Wayne County.

Under Proposal A, Livonia get five times the tax cut of Birmingham.

Westland, Plymouth and Canton get more than six times the tax cut of Bloomfield.

Garden City and Redford get seven times the tax cut of Novi.

We get bigger cuts because we now pay higher tax rates.

The McNamara administration is supporting Proposal A because it means you can tear up the double digit assessment increase you received in February. You'll get a new assessment, rolled back to 3 percent, cutting your tax payment this July. And your future increases will be capped to inflation, no higher than five percent.

We're supporting Proposal A because the money from the sales tax increase is constitutionally guaranteed to go to schools.

I'm not saying Proposal A is the perfect plan — it's the product of much compromise and we all have something we would like to change. But it does eliminate double digit assessment increases, it does cut property taxes and it does stabilize school funding. In short, it's an improvement — a big improvement — over what we have today.

In the seven years I have owned my home in Livonia, my assessment has gone up nearly 50 percent. Many have had it worse than I have. I'm done complaining.

In the last month, I've done more than 40 presentations all across Wayne County in favor of Proposal A. On June 2, I'm going to vote "yes".

This proposal may not pass, but at least I've got the satisfaction of knowing that this time, I did more than just blame Lansing.

Michael Duggan is deputy county executive for Wayne County. You may reach him at the 350 Wayne County Building, Detroit.

LETTERS

'A' is analyzed

Let's try to understand this Proposal A:

Property taxes rolled back to 3 percent for 1993; sales tax up 50 percent; school millage rolled back to 18 mills; properties sold or transferred to be assessed at current market value; sales tax and lottery fund put into Constitution for schools.

Now, from the way I see it, the hidden facts are: property tax and millage rollback means: less taxable write-off; sales tax increase means no deduction; sales for big ticket items like cars or boats go down; job cutbacks due to lost sales; more money for the state; millage rollback means "cap of 27 mills" a joke and millage increase allowed to cover deficits and bonds; allowance for 9 additional mills with voter approval; current market value assessments means: Assessment made at 50 percent of purchase price; no more state equalized value; buyer pays more taxes than neighbor for same type of property; big tax increase for first-time buyers.

Also more money for the state; sales tax and lottery in Constitution; sales tax goes to general fund for two and a half months until state gets to fulfilling promise. Lottery still in general fund after 20 years. Sounds like same old song and dance.

Also there is no break for renters; considerable loss of Homestead Credit for senior citizens; attempt to eliminate Headlee Amendment, and a wide-open door for future tax increases by state.

I suggest the state put the lottery back the way it was and Constitutionalize it before trying to tax the people anymore. Then we can talk.

Doesn't it seem strange that this proposal comes on the heels of some of the highest assessments in Michigan in a long time? Looks to me like more green for them, more in the red for us.

Evidently Gov. John Engler and company think the residents of this state are so stupid that they can pull the wool over our eyes. I hope not.

Seems they need to be reminded who pays the wages and who their employers really are. We are watching you.

Timothy Polidori, Westland

'A' gives schools hope

For years, people who are touched by educational funding, whether they be property owners, parents, employees, journalists, school board trustees or legislators, have seen a system that is broken.

The inequities between school districts, property taxes, per pupil spending and communities are driven by it.

That is why I am so very excited about Proposal A. This proposal will fix it.

How? It will put everybody back into the formula. Everybody is so busy figuring out how much this will cost them, or save them, from high income, to senior citizen, to low income they are missing the point. We the people have the perfect opportunity to point our state in the right direction. We are finally "The Special Interest."

By equalizing the millage rate with other districts, the percentage of income will be the same as well. We will no longer be expected to go back to the voters for more millages because we won't be able to. We will also be expected to control our costs by this constitutional change for the same reason.

The long term effect of Proposal A is being questioned by many people. I don't understand this reasoning. Maybe it's the income factor of the increase in sales tax, but everyone knows the sales tax revenue does go up every year. There is long term effect for property taxation, equity in spending and school finance.

Successful passage of Proposal A will allow us to restore all programs that have recently been cut and increases our revenue by 3 percent. I think every voter in the Wayne-Westland school district should be behind this proposal 100 percent and thank the state government for finally doing something about funding education and fixing something that is clearly broken.

Vote yes on June 2.

Laurel Raisnen, Wayne-Westland Board of Education secretary

Exec opts for new juvenile training building

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

When local mayors and supervisors talk, Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara listens.

Because most of the county's mayors and supervisors were against him, McNamara gave up his plan to fund a program for juvenile delinquents with money that, according to the 1988 ballot language, was supposed to "acquire, build and operate a juvenile work/training institution."

The money, about $2.5 million a year, comes from one-tenth of a 10-year, 1-mill tax voters approved five years ago.

Until recently, McNamara has clung to a legal opinion rendered by his attorney that says juvenile "programs" are the same thing as "institution."

County commissioners and the Conference of Western Wayne have long contended that an institution is a building, not a program.

"We decided to go along with their wishes," said deputy executive Michael Duggan. "These mayors have been our biggest supporters."

The Conference of Western

Wayne, an alliance of 18 mayors and supervisors from western Wayne County, recently opposed McNamara's plan and called for a second ballot proposal to ask voters what should be done with the money.

McNamara met with a CWW committee, including Westland Mayor Robert Thomas and Plymouth Mayor Robert Jones, but couldn't convince them that he was right and they were wrong.

Duggan said that McNamara's juvenile program, which would permit non-violent juvenile offenders to stay at home under strict supervision instead of being locked up in a juvenile jail, will continue.

The building might not be a brand-new structure, Duggan said, but perhaps an existing one the county would rent or buy. He has no idea where, when, or what that might be.

The program, Duggan said, might be run in conjunction with the institution, whereby some kids would be kept there all the time and other kids be permitted to go home at night.

"We're exploring all the possibilities,"

Part of the problem is that all but $6.6 million of the money collected to date has been spent. McNamara has claimed in the past that $100 million would be required to put up the work/training institution.

McNamara's decision came as a surprise to CWW members. "The county officials have continually told us that building a facility would be too expensive," said CWW director Daniel Gilmartin.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Here are answers to your questions

Your cards, letters and Voice Mail messages have been piling up so I thought I'd make some time to respond to your requests.

You can drop me a note in care of this paper or you can call my Voice Mail number listed at the end of the column. Either way, rest assured that I do return all my calls and that sooner or later, your questions will be answered.

Laura Montambo called with a hot recipe that called for fresh cranberries. She couldn't find any and called for help.

Sorry Laura, I called three wholesale fruit vendors and they all agreed that fresh cranberries are unheard of this time of year.

I located some frozen cranberries at Erwin Farms in Novi, but your best bet are the dried cranberries which are available at most specialty food markets, including Merchant of Vino, and health food stores.

Soak them in water, wine or cranberry juice to plump, then drain well and use as directed. They might be a bit powerful since once dried, their sugar content goes ballistic. Cranberries freeze well so when October rolls around, you might want to flash freeze some for next summer.

Bernie Zachari, Brigitte O'Brien and a host of readers called about my mentioning a few restaurants that are personal favorites. Unfortunately, space does not allow me to go into great detail but I will tell you that DePalma's Restaurant is in Livonia, 31735 Plymouth, 261-2430.

Giovanni's Ristorante is at 330 S. Oakwood Boulevard, Detroit, 841-0122.

Zosia's is now called The Polish Village Cafe, and it's at 2990 Yemens Street in Hamtramck, 874-5726.

MOMMA'S PORK CHOPS

Christine LaBelle and a host of other readers called in response to the story of my momma which ran on May 10. Rest assured I give momma a big kiss "everytime" I see her. I've included a smothered pork chop recipe culled from her old recipe box in this column.

Jeff Williams called to say that he misplaced a recipe that ran three years ago that was a sweet and sour sauce served with Chinese Pot stickers. I found a great source for home-tasting pot stickers at the Oriental market at Newburgh and Six Mile in the Laurel Commons strip mall in Livonia. They come frozen but are nothing short of spectacular when pan fried or steamed.

Last but certainly not least, I really appreciate all the messages received after my somewhat derogatory story on New Orleans cuisine. I had no idea there were so many crawfish and "Louisianne" coffee lovers out there. I'm headed back there in the fall and this time I'll bring my own coffee and cockroach spray. Bon Appetit!

SWEET AND SOUR POT STICKER DIPPING SAUCE

- 1 tablespoon fresh ginger, chopped fine
- 1 clove garlic, chopped fine
- 3 tablespoons light soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon red wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon hot pepper oil or sesame oil (optional)

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Serve at room temperature with the hot dumplings.

MOMMA'S SMOTHERED PORK CHOPS

- 6 1/2-inch pork chops, trimmed of most of the fat
- 1/2 cup all purpose flour
- 1/2 cup fine bread crumbs (dry)
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/4 cup Parmesan cheese, grated
- 4 tablespoons oil or bacon drippings
- 2 cups homemade gravy

Rinse and pat dry pork chops. Set aside. In a bowl, combine flour with bread crumbs, pepper, paprika, salt, garlic powder and Parmesan cheese. Mix well.

Roll chops in coating while heating oil or bacon drippings in a heavy skillet. Place coated chops in hot fat and brown on both sides for 4-5 minutes. Remove from skillet and place chops in a shallow oven-proof baking dish.

Cover with gravy. Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Cover casserole dish with foil and bake in oven for 1 hour. Serves 4 to 6.

To leave a Voice Mail message for Chef Larry Janes, dial 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, then mailbox number 1886. Be sure to tell him what city you live in, and leave a phone number, and time you can be reached for a return call.

Rekindle flame safely

Keep it simple, hold the sauces, choose leaner cuts of meat and try to prevent that "charred look" by avoiding prolonged exposure to flames for healthier barbecuing. Remy Berdy of the Kingsley Inn and other area chefs offer tips for safe grilling.

BY ROBERT STRIKS
SPECIAL WRITER

Healthy barbecuing is a contradiction in terms. At least that's what doctors and researchers would have you believe.

"How to barbecue has become at least as important as what to barbecue," said Chef Remy Berdy of the Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills.

"People are much more conscious than ever before about what they eat and how their foods are cooked. Today, when we barbecue, we need to pull back from the flames a bit and lighten up."

For healthier barbecuing, gas grills are preferred. There are basically two styles. The less-expensive type features visible gas jets with lava rocks to conduct and diffuse heat.

The other style features gas jets hidden under bars that allow fats and oils to fall through into a collector. The popular grills in this category come from the Weber "Genesis" collection. Retailing for around $500, they're considered among the best and safest when it comes to healthy cooking.

But what is "safe?" And what is it that we are trying to avoid when we

Here are some tips for healthier barbecuing from Chef Remy Berdy, Chef Marcus Haight, Chef Rocky Rachtwitz, and Leslie Lundmark, registered dietitian.

■ Make sure your grill and utensils are clean before you barbecue. That means soap, water, and a wire brush for most grills. This is most important because carcinogens have a cumulative effect if allowed to build up on cooking surfaces.

■ If you are using charcoal, don't cook until the coals are white hot. That way, you're certain not to get

Burgers — don't beef about same old grind

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Burgers on the grill are everyone's favorite, and we're not just talking "hamburgers."

"Shopping for ground meat used to mean one thing: hamburger," writes Rick Rodgers, in "365 Ways to Cook Hamburger and Other Ground Meats," (HarperCollins Publishers, $16.95).

"But America's love affair with new flavors and a healthy, vital interest in good nutrition has given rise to a variety of ground meats never before available."

"Twenty years ago if you made a burger from hamburger people would say it was tasteful and good," said Jack Trabue of Word of Mouth Foods and The Porterhouse Meats in Plymouth. "Hamburger is fatty, there's a lot of flavor, but tastes have changed, and people aren't accustomed to eating it."

"Technically, hamburger is ground meat blended with additional fat, seasonings, and flavorings. These additives can supply up to 30 percent of the hamburger's weight," writes Rodgers in his book.

For better burgers, Trabue recommends using either ground round, which averages 85 percent lean, 15 percent fat. Or ground chuck, which averages 80 percent lean, 20 percent fat.

His "ultimate" burger is made with 50 percent ground chuck and 50 percent ground sweet Italian sausage.

"Just buy a pound of ground chuck, and a link of sausage. Take the sausage out of the casing and mix it with the ground chuck. The taste is unbelievable," said Trabue. "I like to baste my burgers with barbecue sauce. Brown both sides of the burger, then add barbecue sauce."

If you're counting calories, try burgers made with ground turkey. But read the labels, some ground turkey products are high in fat.

"Make sure you buy ground turkey made with boneless, skinless turkey breast," said Trabue. "You might want to add a little water to keep them moist."

Cook ground turkey over medium heat to retain moisture. Because of the low fat content, sometimes as low as 7 percent, ground turkey tends to dry out. Your burger is done when the meat is white, not pink, through to the center.

barbecue? "Smoke and carbon are our biggest enemies when we barbecue," said Chef Marcus Haight of The Lark restaurant in West Bloomfield.

What Haight is referring to are carcinogens, cancer-causing agents believed to be in smoke and in chemical reactions that take place when we barbecue.

"You can get a terrific smoked flavor in foods without prolonged exposure during cooking," said

Haight. "And the carbon build-up, that 'charred' look, is easily avoided."

Healthier barbecuing involves making important substitutions. "Select meats that are naturally lower in fat like poultry and veal. And if you choose beef, try to find cuts that don't have much visible fat," said Chuck "Rocky" Rachwitz of Livonia, chef/owner of Rocky's in Northville. For example, choose tenderloin over sirloin.

"All fish are healthy choices for barbecuing — even fattier fish because they are full of omega-3 fatty acids," said Leslie Lundmark, a clinical dietitian for Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

"Omega-3 fatty acids have an effect of maintaining proper triglyceride levels in the blood. These fish oils may reduce the risk of heart disease by making blood less 'sticky' and therefore less likely to clot."

Haight puts healthy barbecuing in its proper perspective. "My feeling is that barbecuing is, in itself, healthier than other forms of cooking because people tend to keep it simple," he said. "You don't use heavy sauces, and you generally don't use foods that are high in fats and calories."

It's easy to barbecue healthier. All it takes is a little planning, and a bit of common sense. Remember to have all your ingredients ready to go, and think safety first.

any lighter fluid taste in your food.

Make sure your grill is super hot before placing food on it. Then, wipe down the grill with a bit of oil to prevent food from sticking.

If your meat or fish have been marinated, drain off all marinade and pat dry. Then, just before placing the food on the grill, lightly brush the marinade on the food.

You never want to cook in flames so watch out for using too much oil. If flames arise, quickly and carefully move the food to another part of the grill until they subside.

Don't mash foods that are on the grill. This forces fats and moisture out and can cause flare-ups. Mashing also causes grilled foods to be dry and less flavorful.

Firm seafoods such as swordfish, mahi-mahi, tuna, shrimp, lobster and salmon are best for grilling, but they are higher in fats. Other flakier and less-fatty fish may be cooked in or on the grill through direct heat. This is done by creating an open aluminum foil pouch in which the fish sits on top of diced carrots, celery and onion. You then place this pouch on or in the grill where the seafood will pick up the barbecue flavor during cooking.

If you plan to use flavoring chips such as mesquite, hickory or chichory, soak them in water first.

Try sprinkling small amounts of herbs such as rosemary and thyme directly over the heat to season foods.

Flavorful combinations put sizzle into burgers

See related story on Taste front. Recipes from — "365 Ways to Cook Hamburger and Other Ground Meats," (HarperCollins Publishers, $16.95) by Rick Rodgers.

TRUCKSTOP MEATLOAF BURGERS

- ½ cup fresh bread crumbs
- ½ cup ketchup
- ¼ cup minced onion
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ pound ground chuck
- ½ pound ground veal
- ½ pound ground pork
- 5 hamburger buns
- Optional: Crisp cooked bacon slices, ketchup, mayonnaise, mustard, sliced tomatoes and onions, shredded lettuce Prepare a hot fire in a grill or preheat broiler. In medium bowl, combine bread crumbs, ketchup, onion, egg, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper; stir until mixed. Add ground meats and working as quickly and gently as possible, mix with seasonings until blended. Lightly form into 5 patties about 3½ inches in diameter and ¾ to 1 inch thick.

Place patties on a lightly oiled rack and grill or broil about 4 inches from heat, turning once, until just cooked through but still juicy, 8 to 10 minutes if grilled, 6 to 8 minutes if broiled.

Toast buns on sides of grill or under broiler, 1 to 2 minutes. Place cooked burgers in buns and let everyone choose their own fillings. Serves 5.

POTATO CHIP BURGERS WITH GRILLED ONIONS

- 1½ pounds ground round (85 percent lean)
- 1 cup crushed no-salt potato chips (about 4 ounces)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 large onions, sliced ½ inch thick
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 4 hamburger buns or Kaiser rolls
- Optional: Mayonnaise, ketchup, mustard, tomato slices, shredded lettuce

Prepare a hot fire in a grill or adjust broiler rack about 4 inches from source of heat and preheat broiler. In a medium bowl, working as quickly and gently as possible, mix ground round with crushed potato chips, salt and pepper. Lightly form into 4 burgers about 1 inch thick.

Brush onion slices with olive oil and place on an oiled grill set 4 to 6 inches from coals or place in broiler. Cook, turning once, until lightly browned and tender, 5 to 7 minutes. As onion cooks, transfer to a plate and cover with foil to keep warm.

Place burgers on grill or broiler and cook, turning once, until outside is well browned but inside is still pink and juicy, about 8 to 12 minutes for rare to medium-rare, or longer if desired.

Meanwhile, split open buns and toast on side of grill or under broiler until warm and lightly browned, about 1 minute. Place cooked burgers in buns and top with grilled onions. Let everyone choose their own fixings. Serves 4.

SALSA TURKEY CHEESEBURGERS

- 1½ pounds ground turkey
- 1 cup tomato salsa, well drained
- 1 tablespoon chopped cilantro
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup shredded Cheddar cheese
- 4 hamburger buns
- Optional: Mayonnaise, shredded lettuce, avocado slices, red onion slices, additional salsa

Prepare a hot fire in a grill. In a medium bowl, combine ground turkey, salsa, cilantro, and salt. Using wet hands, form into 4 patties about 1 inch thick.

Place patties in center of an oiled grill set 4 to 6 inches from coals. Grill, turning once, until browned on both sides, about 4 minutes. Transfer burgers to outside edge of grill and continue to grill until burgers are cooked through and meat springs back when pressed lightly with a finger, 10 to 12 minutes. Just before removing burgers from grill, sprinkle cheese over tops of burgers, cover grill and cook until cheese melts, about 1 minute. (Never cook turkey burgers less than medium well-done).

Meanwhile, open buns and toast on sides of grill until warm and lightly browned. Place cooked burgers in buns and let everyone choose their own fixings. Serves 4.

TURKEY BURGERS DIJON

- 1½ pounds ground turkey

- 1 scallion, chopped
- 2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
- 1 teaspoon tarragon
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 4 French or Italian rolls

Optional: Mayonnaise, sliced tomatoes, shredded romaine lettuce Prepare a hot fire in a grill. In a medium bowl, mix ground turkey with scallion, mustard, tarragon, salt and pepper. Using wet hands, lightly form into 4 rectangular patties about 1 inch thick, shaped to fit into French rolls.

Place patties in center of an oiled grill set 4 to 6 inches from coals. Cook, turning once, until browned, about 4 minutes. Transfer burgers to sides of grill and continue to cook, turning once, until burgers are cooked through and meat springs back when pressed lightly with a finger, 10 to 12 minutes.

Meanwhile, split open rolls and toast on sides of grill until warm and lightly browned. Place cooked burgers in rolls and let everyone choose their own fixings. Serves 4.

Top burgers with a variety of cheese

From Minneapolis to little Rock and Los Angeles to Washington D.C., great-tasting burgers are on the grill. Even President Bill Clinton likes cheeseburgers, which makes them the unofficial "first food."

To create your own presidential-style burger, don't be conservative; take advantage of the growing variety of delicious cheese offerings. Here are some suggestions from the American Dairy Association.

■ The Deli Cabinet — The supermarket deli offers a wide selection of cheeses that can be sliced to order. Request extra-thick slices of Muenster or Swiss or ask the deli to slice a block of smoky sharp Cheddar or hot pepper cheese.

For one-stop shopping, pick up other innovative burger condiments such as roasted vegetables or coleslaw at the deli counter.

■ The Burger Mandate — Surprise your "House" with cheese-filled burgers. Use two hamburger patties (about ¼ inch thick) for each burger and place shredded Cheddar or the cheese of your choice in the center of one patty and top with the other.

Gently press the edges together to seal. Cook burger to medium doneness. Enjoy!

■ Made in the USA — Spreadable cheeses — usually cream cheese, processed cheese or Neufchatel combined with vegetables, herbs and spices earn "widespread" popularity.

Crescent chicken square recipe corrected

There was an error in the Crescent Chicken Square recipe in the Recipe Makeover on May 24. Here is the corrected recipe.

CRESCENT CHICKEN SQUARES

- 3 ounces fat free Philadelphia cream cheese, softened
- 2 cups cooked, cubed boneless, skinless chicken

- breast

 - 1 package filo dough
 - 3/4 cup fat-free bread crumbs

Keep a cooler in the car when you shop

"Spring has arrived and sometimes it is easy to forget that it is warm outside," said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service. Most cars retain heat so well that even a pleasant spring day of 70 degrees can actually be too hot for food to be left in the car for longer than an hour.

It's a good idea to keep an extra ice chest in your car for summer grocery shopping. Cold foods can be kept safer this way. Often unplanned emergencies arise and you end up making several stops along the way home.

Here are a few more food safety tips for hot weather.

- Put groceries away immediately after shopping — perishables need to be refrigerated first.
- Perishable foods should not be left out more than two hours.
- Defrost all frozen foods in the refrigerator — never at room temperature.
- If you are eating outdoors never leave food out in the hot sun. Provide a source of cooking such as a bowl of ice to set food in and keep food in a shaded area.

If you have other food safety, food and nutrition or food preservation questions, call the Food and Nutrition Hotline, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, 858-0904.

June offers prime conditions for spotting planets

June is the month of good news and bad news. The good news: Summer officially arrives. The bad news: It's all down hill from here as the amount of sunlight we receive begins to decrease.

This will be an excellent month for spotting planets; all five of the naked-eye planets will be visible. Mercury will be especially well-placed for locating, Venus reaches maximum elongation from the sun, and Jupiter continues its extremely close grouping with the star Eta Virginis.

You can't miss brilliant Jupiter; it will be high in the south southwest 45 minutes after sunset. (Sunset on the 1st will be at 9:07 p.m. EDT.) Jupiter, located within the constellation of Virgo, is a mere four arcminutes from the star Eta Virginis.

These two objects will appear to be so close together, the star will look like one of Jupiter's moons when viewed through a telescope or binoculars. At least that will be the case until June 7, after which Jupiter's motion will have carried it far enough away from the star to end the illusion. In actual fact, Eta (the seventh brightest star in Virgo, hence the distinction of the seventh letter of the Greek alphabet) will be much brighter than Jupiter's moons and easy to identify.

Notice the star five degrees to the left of the moon on the evening of the 1st. This is Alpha Librae; it is the brightest star in the constellation of Libra, hence it is designated by the first letter in the Greek alphabet. It also has a "proper" name, one that is much more interesting to say: Zuben el Genubi (ZOO ben el gen YOU beu).

Zuben el Genubi means, the "southern claw." This star was once considered to be a part of the neighboring constellation to the east, Scorpius the scorpion. Above and to the left of Zuben el Genubi is Beta Librae, also named Zeuben Eschamali (ZOO ben es sha MA lee), the "northern claw."

On the evening of the 3rd, the moon will be located three degrees (six full moon diameters) above Antares (an TAR ees), the "heart" of Scorpius. Also known as Alpha Scorpii, this is the 15th brightest star in the sky. (Notice that the "alpha" star in Scorpius is considerably brighter than the "alpha" star in Libra.) Antares, which means "rival of Mars," has about the same color and brightness as the red planet. The moon will be approaching Antares once again at the end of the month.

Full moon will be at 9:02 a.m. on June 4. The moon will be located behind the earth, as seen from the sun, and will be fully lighted. In fact, the moon will be exactly behind the earth, and it will pass through our planet's shadow, resulting in a total eclipse of the moon. That's the good news; now for the bad. Since the moon is opposite the sun, where do you think it will be located at 9:02 a.m., which is about three hours after sunrise? That's right: the moon will be below the horizon. Obviously the eclipse will not be visible from Michigan. If you want to see it, you'll have to try Hawaii.

Incidentally, since the full moon is always opposite the sun, and since the sun is at its highest point in the sky in June, the full moon that occurs in June has the LOWEST trajectory of any full moon during the year. The June full moon was called the "Rose Moon," "Flower Moon" and "Strawberry Moon" by various Native American Indians.

The week beginning with June 7 will be the best for spotting Mercury in the evening sky. Use binoculars and look eight degrees (16 full moons) above the west northwest horizon, about 45 minutes after sunset. Once its location has been spotted with binoculars, it should be possible to see it with the naked-eye. (If the ancient skywatchers could see it, so can you!) The moon will pass Mercury in two weeks and help in locating the planet, but by then Mercury will have faded considerably in brightness.

Look for Mars in the west southwest on the evening of the 8th. It will be located in Leo, about eight degrees to the right of Regulus (REG u lus), the "heart" of the lion. Mars will be moving about one-half of a degree (with respect to the stars) from night to night. The two objects will be less than one degree apart in two weeks.

Venus will be at its maximum elongation (greatest angular distance) from the sun on June 10. It will be 46 degrees east of the sun, and will be 15 degrees above the horizon 45 minutes before sunrise. If you look at Venus with a telescope, you may be surprised to discover it will look like a last-quarter moon. (This is best done after the sky has begun to brighten with morning twilight to reduce the contrast between the bright planet and dark sky.)

Venus, which gets its light from the sun like all planets, goes through phases! The planet will remain visible for the next several months, during which time telescopic views will show it slowly changing into a crescent.

Host families needed for exchange students

High school students from Germany, France, Spain, Holland, Brazil, Poland, Russia and Hong Kong will arrive in August to spend five or 10 months studying in an American high school.

The students range in age from 15-18 and need host families. All students have studied English for at least four years, have full medical insurance and have enough money to cover their personal expenses.

Flexible, open-minded, fun-loving families, without or without children of their own, are needed to provide temporary homes for these foreign visitors. Although host families do not get paid, the IRS permits a small tax deduction.

For more information on the program or to select a student, call Lynne Levenbach at 453-8562 or 453-6851.

ROLL CALL REPORT

House approves global catalyst bill

Here's how Observer & Eccentric-area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending May 21. The Senate conducted no roll call votes.

Global Competitiveness: By a vote of 243 for and 167 against, the House sent the Senate a bill (HR-820) using government as a catalyst to make U.S. manufacturing companies more globally competitive.

The bill authorizes $1.54 billion over two years on programs such as Commerce Department outreach centers, financing large-scale research and development consortia, and providing research assistance and federal aid to individual companies.

Supporter Don Johnson, D-Ga.,

called the bill "a major contribution toward restoring the manufacturing base in this country to world-class competitive standards," particularly helpful to job-producing small and medium businesses.

Opponent Robert Walker, R-Pa., said the bill "looks, sounds and smells like industrial policy. The bill subsidizes the commercial development of a relatively limited number of federally chosen technologies (and) increases deficit spending."

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Bob Carr, D-Pontiac, Dale Kildee, D-Flint, Sander Levin, D-Southfield and William Ford, D-Ypsilanti. Voting no: Joseph Knollenberg, R-Birmingham.

To Reject Cut: By a vote of 208 for and 213 against, the House rejected an amendment cutting 10 percent, or about $150 million, from legislation (above) using an array of government programs to improve U.S. global competitiveness.

Sponsor John Duncan, R-Tenn., said "this amendment gives members an opportunity to do more than just pay lip service to doing something about the deficit."

Opponent Tim Valentine, D-N.C., said the amendment would "deny the president the opportunity to carry out his mandate" to revive the American manufacturing base.

A yes vote was to trim 10 percent from the $1.54 billion measure. Area representatives voting yes were: Knollenberg. Voting no: Kildee, Levin and Ford. Not voting: Carr.

"gets us over into immigration, policy of the United States."

A yes vote was to limit competitiveness aid to U.S. citizens and legal residents. Area representatives voting yes were: Carr, Knollenberg. Voting no: Kildee, Levin and Ford.

Forest Land: By a vote of 317 for and 101 against, the House sent the Senate a bill (HR 873) authorizing acquisition of 80,000 wilderness acres just north of Yellowstone National Park for $12 million to $20 million. The government would use exchanges or cash to acquire the land from a private company that could soon begin harvesting its timber. The acreage would be protected as part of Gallatin National Forest in Montana.

Sponsor Pat Williams, D-Mont., said "if this legislation isn't enacted, we face a public lands disaster on Yellowstone National Park's northern border" in the near future.

Opponent Dan Burton, R-Ind., said "the world is not going to come to an end if the government does not buy another 70,000 acres when we already own one-third of the nation (or) if they develop that and put some housing up there in a responsible, ecologically well-thought-out way."

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Carr, Kildee, Levin and Ford. Voting no: Knollenberg.

Benefits for Citizens: The House adopted, 263 for and 156 against, an amendment preventing the $1.54 billion competitiveness bill (above) from directly paying for those who are not U.S. citizens or legal residents.

Sponsor Mac Collins, R-Ga., said "if we are going to expend this kind of money... we ought to expend (it) on people who are citizens of the United States of America."

Opponent Tim Valentine, D-N.C., objected that the amendment

A healthy walk: Pat Kananer, (left) and Pat Geiseman, members of the Canton TOPS, exercise together at the Plymouth-Salem High School track and support each other in the weight loss program. Canton and Plymouth also offer two other TOPS groups.

Group sheds weight sensibly

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

In the first quarter of 1993, they collectively lost 181 pounds. In February alone, they lost 94 pounds. But they are not Christie Brinkley wannabees.

"We don't want to look like her because we're not her," said Kim Lehmer, a member of Canton TOPS — Taking Off Pounds Sensibly — which meets Thursday evenings at a western Wayne County church.

What they are women — about 18 active members — ranging in ages 20-60 who are sensibly losing weight and working to change their attitudes about food and its emotional role in life.

"There's a food focus to everything you do," said Mary Barry-Bodine, group leader and a registered nurse at University of Michigan Hospital.

Sometimes the problem is also with time management, even laziness. "For women, a lot of the times it's emotional. When our emotions run rampant, we overeat," Lehmer said. Member Pat Geiseman agreed. "We need to overcome the reasons why we overeat."

TOPS members are working on that. Most members use a 1,200-calorie exchange diet. Members are encouraged to diet under medical supervision. The group also concentrates on exercise, food plans and support.

"We feel the support comes from people knowing we have a weight problem," said Lehmer, who is also a registered nurse.

When members, the majority of whom have become friends, are having a bad day, they phone each other; they meet to talk and exercise. Each knows what the other is going through.

"We've been to all the other weight loss programs," said Geiseman, a homemaker. "Here we talk to each other. It's more personal. We talk about the things that affect me, like going to the refrigerator and wanting to eat."

Sure. Losing weight and keeping it off is tough work. But TOPS members are having fun. At their weekly meetings, they have contests, such as Babe Bingo. It's just like regular Bingo but the square on the cards pertain to losing weight.

Members can make a pledge to help themselves. They can pledge to lose let's say one pound per week. If they do, the group's $1 weekly fee is waived. If they don't, the fee is $2.

"Many contests are incentives. And they work well for people like me who are motivated by money," Lehmer said.

The group also encourages members to use food charts. Members plot what they have eaten and how much they exercised throughout the week. "You bring that to the meeting and you can realize what you're doing to yourself," Geiseman said.

Unlike other weight loss programs, members say TOPS is more of a club than a money-making venture. The non-profit national TOPS uses its money for obesity research, Barry-Bodine said.

Members, particularly those who have tried other programs, say TOPS allows them to lose the weight that is good and safe for them, as well as ensuring their privacy and their dignity.

Chorus wins competition

Metropolitan Detroit's Spirit of Detroit Sweet Adeline Chorus and its director Sylvia Karpinsky returned from their recent regional competition in Grand Rapids with their 84 members wearing first-place blue ribbons.

Composed of women from 41 communities in and around Detroit, the chorus is now entitled enter international competition in Reno, Nev., in the fall of 1994.

Local women also took honors in quartet competition.

Winner of the quartet contest was "Accolade," comprised of Dottie LaMarte of Waterford, Sue Gleason of Waterford, Jeanne Lundberg of Plymouth, and Lynn Clevenger of Ann Arbor.

Spirit of Detroit invites women of all ages to visit rehearsals at 7 p.m. any Tuesday night at the VFW Hall at I-96 and Inkster in Redford Township. For more information, call 534-4468.

Ground breaking: Frank Doczi, president of Home Quarters Warehouse, throws the first shovel of dirt at the company's first site in the metro area.

Home store chain breaks ground here

Home Quarters, an upscale chain of home improvement warehouses, used a groundbreaking ceremony in Livonia last week to announce a new concept for its metro area stores.

"We are very excited to be in the Detroit market," said Frank Doczi, president of Home Quarters Warehouse Wednesday at groundbreaking ceremonies at its site in Livonia at 13700 Middlebelt (corner of I-96).

The warehouses in Livonia, Roseville, Madison Heights and Southgate will be modeled after a new prototype which stresses intensive customer service.

"Customers think conceptually," said Doczi. "They want to start their project with a plan. Yet today, there is simply no place they can go to get truly professional assistance and support in designing a stylish, functional and affordable room addition, deck, kitchen, bath or other remodeling project. The new HQ will be their definitive resource."

The warehouse in Livonia will have several features, including a custom decorating center, a classroom for do-it-yourself clinics, a tool rental area, on-site child care and a 4,600 square-foot greenhouse.

More than 100 types of tools and outdoor power equipment will be available for long- or short-term rental. Tools and equipment include carpet cleaners, generators, chain saws, rototillers, lawn mowers, wheelbarrows, ladders, pneumatic tools, and welders.

The warehouse also will offer installation services to install products, at the customer's request. Installation services will range from kitchens, decks, bathrooms, carpeting, garage doors, attic stairways and fencing.

The warehouse also will have a special desk to serve the needs of commercial contractors.

Supervised care will be offered for children ages 3-8 and will include a play area.

Weight Loss Shocks Scientists

Seattle - A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete food tablet would eliminate world hunger, until the study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause weight loss without dieting.

Scientists in Europe found that an ingredient in the product named Food Complex 3 actually caused people to lose weight, even though they weren't changing their eating patterns. According to a study published in the British Journal of Nutrition, scientists had speculated that the weight loss was due to a reduction in the intestinal absorption of fat grams.

The development of Food Complex 3, a project of First Lite Int'l, Inc., could not be used to fulfill its intended goal but it has been a great success for overweight people. A Miami Beach, Florida, man struggling with a weight problem for 15 years used Food Complex 3 on the recommendation of his doctor and lost 43 lbs. He said, "My cholesterol dropped 96 points and I lost 43 lbs. Now I have to buy all new clothes." In another report from Mesa, Arizona, a pharmacist lost 16 lbs. in 14 days with Food Complex 3 and never felt hungry.

Food Complex 3 is available through physicians and pharmacists without a prescription. Food Complex 3 is not a drug and only contains natural ingredients known to be safe by the FDA. Copies of the references are available from First Lite Int'l, Inc. 3370 N. Hayden Rd., 123-157, Scottsdale, AZ 85283. Please allow $3 for shipping and for each request.

Students win top honors in TV contest

Madonna University students took the top three positions at the statewide Television Public Service Announcement competition recently sponsored by the Michigan Cable Television Association.

Judges of the contest, titled "Cable from the capitol," sought out originality, technical accomplishment and creative presentation. The theme of the 60-second announcements was positive issues surrounding government.

Students in Madonna's advanced editing workshop worked individually on original ideas and together on the technical aspects such as camera work, lighting and audio. The course was taught by the husband and wife team who produce the nationally distributed talk show "Madonna Magazine," Sue and Dan Boyd.

"We all brainstormed collectively and once we decided what we wanted to do, we would turn to Dan and say OK, how do we do it?" said Sue Boyd.

The winner of the contest was Stephen Geresy of New Boston, whose announcement was titled "Freedom for everyone." His piece focused on a young boy flipping the pages of a coloring book where images turn to video clips of Americana. Geresy was awarded $500 for himself and $500 toward Madonna's video communications program.

Madonna also took the two finalist positions with Scott Lemerand of Trenton's "Voters awareness test" featuring a takeoff on the emergency broadcast sound alert test to "get out and vote."

Madonna winners: Scott Lemerand, Stephen Geresy and Judy Reyes took top honors at the statewide public service announcement competition recently. The trio attend Madonna University.

Judy Reyes of Westland, whose video was titled "Threads that unite," focused on allegiance, unity and freedom presented through the imagery of the United States flag.

Other Madonna participants were Linda Leone of New Baltimore and Mike McEvoy of Farmington Hills.

"We're very proud of all our students," said Dan Boyd.

Suburban reps say KKK threat unlikely

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

White suburban Wayne County commissioners recently disputed the claims of a black Detroit commissioner that the Ku Klux Klan is alive and well in Wayne County.

Although the discussion never became openly angry, sprinkled as it was amidst more weighty deliberations at the commission's May 20 meeting, the comments of commissioner George Cushingberry, D-Detroit, obviously frosted suburban commissioners.

While expounding at great length and volume on the meaning of some 1988 ballot language, Cushingberry referred to the Klan's presence "out there," allegedly in western Wayne County.

After four suburban commissioners took issue with Cushingberry's off-the-cuff assertion, he countered with, "In Wayne County we have a significant Klan/Nazi operation."

Commission chairman Arthur Blackwell, D-Detroit, who is black, told Cushingberry that if he did not intend to imply that the Klan thrives in Wayne County suburbs then he should apologize to the suburban commissioners.

Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, said, "As an Irish-Catholic I've never met a klansman in western Wayne, nor would I want to." (McCotter also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township.)

Commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, said, "I'm like commissioner McCotter. I don't want to meet one either." (Amann also represents Canton Township.)

Commissioner William O'Neil, D-Allen Park, said he's lived in western Wayne for "41 1/2 years and I have yet to meet a klansman in my life."

Commissioner Andrew Riehner, R-Grosse Pointe, weighed in with, "There are, to the best of my knowledge, no klansmen in (my district), although I haven't met everyone yet."

Shamrocks lose Catholic final, 5-1

Redford Catholic Central and Warren DeLaSalle met for the Catholic League baseball championship for the second straight year and this time the outcome was reversed.

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

The Madonna University baseball program is getting a pitcher who is undefeated at Tiger Stadium.

Warren DeLaSalle senior right-hander Kurt Wilczynski, who signed last week with Madonna, tossed a four-hitter Friday as the Pilots beat Redford Catholic Central 5-1 for the Catholic League A-B championship at Tiger Stadium.

Wilczynski, who played third base when DeLaSalle lost 3-2 to CC in last year's A-B final, allowed only one runner to reach second base after the second inning.

Wilczynski struck out five and walked four and also contributed two hits and two RBI. He is 3-0 in starts against CC and 8-1 overall.

The Pilots are 28-8 overall. "Kurt can pitch, play second base, third, is a great hitter and a hell of a competitor," said DeLaSalle coach Brian Kelly, who would have trouble finding more adjectives in Webster's Dictionary. "He's been hot lately (allowing only one run in his previous three starts)."

The Shamrocks' top four batters were a combined 1-for-13, and Wilczynski also received strong defense. Third baseman Derek Brackon made consecutive plays on tough ground balls in the fourth, and right fielder Matt Mlynarek made the play of the day when he made an over-the-shoulder catch near the warning track to rob Jeff Gutt of extra bases in the sixth.

"With the defense I have, I don't worry about anything," said Wilczynski, who added he got stronger as the game progressed. "If I give up many runs, it's in the beginning. That's when I get going (in the late innings)."

GUY WARREN/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Safe: DeLaSalle's Ryan Soldan dives safely into second base as the ball gets away from CC's Mike Brusseau. The Pilots rounded the bases five times in the victory.

CC took a 1-0 lead in the second inning and the Shamrocks almost had two runs, had it not been for a controversial call at home plate.

With two outs, Dave Susalla singled to score Aaron Babicz from third base. Eric Justice, who led the Shamrocks with two hits, also tried to score on the hit but was called out after elbowing catcher Andy Rama in a collision at home plate.

Rama dropped the throw but Justice was ruled out for interference.

"It looked to me like Eric didn't have enough room (to touch home plate)," CC coach John Salter said. "It changed the momentum, but we still didn't play that well."

Susalla, the first of four CC pitchers, suffered the loss in three innings of work. Susalla won his previous start against DeLaSalle to clinch the regular season Central Division championship.

But after holding DeLaSalle scoreless in the first two innings, the Pilots scored two runs in the third, thanks to a pair of hits and two CC errors.

Susalla's error on a sacrifice bunt attempt by Brackon put two runners aboard and Wilczynski delivered a two-run single with one out.

Senior right-hander Brian Paluk relieved Susalla but got in trouble in the fifth.

Leadoff batter Jim Kerr doubled and came home one out later on a single by shortstop Don DeDonatis to put the Pilots ahead 3-1. Paluk was replaced by Jerry Nozowski and the first hitter, Ryan Soldan, hit into a fielder's choice to force DeDonatis at second.

After a walk to Greg Peterson, Soldan came home on an error by Babicz, CC's first baseman, for a 4-1 lead. The Pilots scored a run in the fifth without the benefit of a hit. Rama walked, was sacrificed to second and came home on consecutive passed balls for a 5-1 lead.

"They're a good hitting team and we gave them extra help," Salter said. "Give them credit. Their third baseman made two good stops and the right fielder made a great play."

Salem, Canton 1-2
in Western Lakes

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

There was a little more suspense to the Western Lakes Activities Association girls track meet Wednesday, but the outcome was still what everyone expected.

The host Plymouth-Canton schools dominated the meet again, winning 11 of 17 events between them, and heavily favored Salem captured its second straight championship.

The Rocks won by a much slimmer margin than last year, 142 to 136½ over Canton. Salem scored 170 and the Chiefs 137 last year, but a change in the scoring format to 10-8-6-5-4-3-2-1 partially accounted for that.

But the team finish was nearly identical, with Livonia Stevenson (96), Walled Lake Western (53) and North Farmington (51) rounding out the top five once again.

"It was a great team effort this year, because we scored in places we were not real sure of our scoring potential," Salem coach Mark Gregor said. "On this team, everybody wants to make a contribution even if it's one point. You win championships with a team and not a group of individuals."

The winner was not decided until the final event, which made every point more valuable and the contest more suspenseful.

Going into the 1,600-meter relay, the Rocks led 132-130½ over Canton. A first-place finish for the Chiefs would have given them the title, but Salem won the race and Canton was third.

"We had a shot; we gave them everything we could and just came up a little short," Canton coach George Przygodski said.

The Chiefs were leading by several points midway in the meet, but Salem had a strong finish in the final seven events. The Rocks won three of them and scored a lot of points in all but the 3,200 run.

"We came to the meet to win and we were not surprised at all to be in that position," Przygodski said. "Salem is just so strong when it comes to the 400 on up. You're running right into the strength of their team."

"We're confident once we get to the 400 dash that we can put up some heavy numbers and we did," Gregor said. "The 400 dash, 300 hurdles and 800 run) have carried us the last few years, and we're pretty confident

Churchill advances to regional tourney

BY DAN O'MEARA

Nick O'Shea and Mary Kay Hussey were coaching opponents Saturday morning when their girls soccer teams met to decide a district tournament championship at Southfield High School.

But they had to quickly bury the hatchet since they were paired together that afternoon in brother Danny O'Shea's wedding party.

"We made a pact at the rehearsal dinner last night to keep it Danny and Lisa's day no matter what happened here on the field," said Livonia Churchill's O'Shea after his Chargers defeated Livonia Stevenson 2-1.

"But this makes it easier for me to smile. It will make it easier to meet her half way in the aisle and grab her arm than if we had lost the game."

The Chargers (11-5-2) advance to the regional tournament at Northville High School and will play Plymouth Canton (17-1-1) at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. The final is Saturday afternoon.

Churchill dominated the first half and finally broke a scoreless tie with 3¼ minutes left in it.

On a restart in front of the Stevenson goal, the Spartans used a trap play and moved their defenders up, hoping to catch Churchill offside.

But Erin Stacherski lifted the ball over the defense, and three Chargers were alone in front with only the keeper to beat. Freshman Marie Spaccarotella scored her team-leading 24th goal.

"We spent 25 minutes yesterday working on that exact play because we knew they did it," O'Shea said. "The first thing the girls said when they came off the field was 'It's a good thing we worked on that.'"

The Spartans, with the wind at their backs in the second half, were on the offensive more and tied the score in the 55th minute. Amy Marcoe turned the ball out from the corner to Holly Kimble, who lofted a shot from the sideline over the keeper's head.

"Our mids got tired," said O'Shea of the second-half reversal. "If we don't get any pressure on their mids, it makes for a long day. Our system is designed for working hard and when we're tired it can't work."

"They put their top two players (Michele Brach and Laura Fedrigo) on our forwards to keep the score down. They didn't want to get into a run-and-gun game, and it worked for all but the last five minutes."

Emily Beeton scored the winning goal with six minutes left, tapping in a cross from Spaccarotella, who outmaneuvered a defender to advance the ball on the right side.

Stevenson, with 18 freshmen and sophomores on its varsity, finished with a 10-6 record.

"Obviously, when we come back (after losing 4-2 in the regular season) to give them a run for their money, we've played a better game," Stevenson's Hussey said. "Am I accepting the loss because we have a young team? No. Maybe in a month, yes; but we had two seniors playing today and we came here to win."

when we get there we'll do well." Senior Tonya Wheeler and sophomore Sarah Hamilton were key players in the Salem victory.

Wheeler won the 400 with a meet-record time of 57.9 and was sixth in the 200. Hamilton was first in the 200 and second in the 400. Both helped the Rocks win the 800 and 1,600 relays, also.

"Sarah is the heir apparent to the track queen around here (Wheeler), and she's a worthy athlete to pass that title along to," Gregor said.

Salem junior Sarah Makins won the 100 hurdles, and the Rocks also got first in the 3,200 relay. Stacy Witthoff and Courtney Sheldon were on the 3,200 and 1,600 relay teams, too.

"Sarah Makins has become one of the elite hurdlers in the state in the 100s," Gregor said. "I think she can go faster, and that could mean some points in the state meet."

"That would be nice because she's such a hard worker and an enjoyable young lady. You like to see good things happen to those kids."

Canton junior Ndu Okwumabua set a meet record with a winning high jump of five feet/four inches, won the 100 dash anchored the winning 400 relay.

"Ndu was tremendous. She had a great, great day," Przygodski said. "We talked about stepping up to the next level, and Ndu certainly has done that this year."

The Chiefs also had first places from Selena Bastine in the discus and Lana Boroditsch in the 1,600.

Stevenson had two winners and both ran impressive races in the finals. Stacy Prais edged Makins in the 300 hurdles, and A.J. Koritnik ran away from the field in the 3,200.

Koritnik ran 11:21.4 to finish ahead of such fine runners as North Farmington's Emily Shively, teammate Bridget MacKinnon and Boroditsch.

"Eleven-forty is as fast as (Boroditsch) has ever run," Przygodski said. "Koritnik is just a tremendous runner and so are Shively and MacKinnon. You run 11:40 and finish fourth; what does that say about the level of competition?"

The other winners were April Boyce, Western (800); Wendy Forster, Northville (long jump); and Lisa Rankey, Westland Glenn (shot put).

Senior catcher Chrissy Daly contributed two hits Wednesday, including an RBI triple, sparking Livonia Churchill to a 4-1 girls softball victory at Westland John Glenn in Western Lakes Activities Association crossover.

Stacey Fields added an RBI single for Churchill (15-5).

Junior right-hander Karen Jose (15-2) struck out six, walked one and gave up two hits over seven innings to earn the victory.

Jamie Cook knocked in Glenn's lone run with a single.

SALEM 15, FRANKLIN 2: Jenny Garvey threw a four-hitter Wednesday for host Plymouth Salem (11-10), which took five innings to mercy Livonia Franklin in a WLAAs crossover.

Garvey also hit three singles and had three RBI. Dawn Marrocco and Lori Thomczek each had three hits and two RBI for Salem. Jamey Viau added an RBI triple before being taken to the hospital after being hit in the foot by a wild pitch.

"This was probably the best game we've played all year," said Salem coach Al Campbell. "We made the plays today, and we've had trouble doing that this year."

Rutherford throws Raiders a curve

Even though his shutout bid was foiled in the seventh inning Wednesday, Mark Rutherford still proved to be the difference in Livonia Churchill's 7-1 baseball victory over visiting North Farmington.

The senior right-hander scattered six hits, while striking out 11 and walking none to help the Chargers improve to 11-9 overall.

Mike Aubuchon, who threw the first four innings and final 2 1/3 recorded the win.

"He started then came back to get the win," Franklin coach Jim Karoub. "Not bad for a 10th grader. I think next year he will help out a great deal. He has good mechanics."

Pete Quinn lined two hits and knocked in three Eagle runs. John Adams finished 3-for-5 for Thurston. Nick Werth, the third of three Thurston hurlers, pitched the ninth and took the loss.

WESTERN 10, STEVENSON 5: Livonia Stevenson was the victim of a low blow Wednesday in its Western Lakes crossover loss at Walled Lake Western.

Quick goals sting Ladywood in district clash, 5-0

By BRAD EMONS

Livonia Ladywood finished its 1993 girls soccer season feeling a bit deflated in Thursday's Class A district semifinal matchup with host Livonia Churchill.

The Blazers had the air let out of them early in the first half, giving up four goals within a five-minute span as Churchill ran away with a 5-0 victory.

Ladywood ended its season at 10-5-1 overall. The Blazers dropped their final two games, losing May 22 to Farmington Hills Mercy in the Catholic League championship game, 3-2 (in a shootout).

"If we had played this game like the way we played against Mercy, no way would it have been a 5-0 score," Ladywood coach Ron Predmesky said. "We scored 53 goals this year and only gave up 20, but tonight we couldn't get a shot on goal."

With standout midfielder Aimee Cousino, a junior back in the lineup after sitting out four games with pulled hamstring, Churchill was ready to meet the challenge.

At 13:20, Erin Stacherski scored the first of her three goals on an assist from Cousino.

Stacherski, a senior forward, struck again from freshman Marie Spaccarotella at 14:24. Only 1 1/2 minutes later, Spaccarotella scored her 23rd of the year from Andrea Zawislak.

Stacherski then made it 4-0 at 18:12 from Spaccarotella.

"The first 20 minutes we came out hard and fast and they couldn't keep up with our speed," Churchill coach Nick O'Shea said. "Their defense was up tight on the ball, and once we put it over the top, we had a breakaway opportunity."

With the early four-goal cushion, O'Shea sent Cousino to the bench to rest up for Saturday's district championship game city rival Stevenson.

"When she (Cousino) is in there, we hit on all cylinders," said O'Shea, whose team improved to 10-5-2 overall.

The Chargers added an insurance goal in the second half,

Spaccarotella, her 24th, from Stacherski, with 13 minutes remaining.

"They're fast up front, no doubt," Predmesky said. "But we'll be prepared next year, both physically and mentally."

"I watched the way we warmed up and I knew we were in trouble. I saw it coming. The first 20 minutes we just watched them go every which way."

Ladywood loses seven seniors to graduation.

"We played our hearts out in the Catholic League final when the game was on the line," Predmesky said. "Maybe that took something out of us emotionally. And we had a couple of kids playing with injuries, but we can't use that as an excuse."

Gundry tearing cover off ball; Hines Park quickly out of gate

The sound of aluminum is ringing loud and clear off the bat of Ed Gundry, who has sparked Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury to a 4-0 start in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League.

Gundry, a third baseman, is 11 for 18 with five triples, two homers and 13 RBI.

The former Plymouth Salem High product, who helped the Rocks win the 1991 state Class A championship, went 5-for-6, including a triple, homer, three RBI and four runs scored in Hines Park's 12-5 triumph Wednesday over Little Caesars at Livonia's Ford Field.

Tracy Ewald contributed two hits and three RBI.

Winning pitcher Steve Ross went six innings, scattering six hits and two walks before giving way to Chris Kirkey, who pitched the final inning.

Losing pitcher Dave Roman, who went 3 1/3 innings, suffered the loss.

Jerry Shippe had a two-run triple for Caesars.

On Monday, Hines Park pitcher Jeff Paluk (Saginaw Valley State) went the distance, scattering four hits with nine strikeouts in a 7-4 win over Caesars at Concordia College.

Mark VanAmejde suffered the loss.

Offensive leaders for Hines Park included: Jason Riggs, two hits and two RBI; Scott Kapla, 2-for-3 with two runs; Gundry, triple, homer and two RBI; and Gary Pierce, 2-for-3.

Lawrence Scheffer had a two-run double for Caesars. Roman tripled and later scored on a groundout.

Hines Park opened its season May 23 by sweeping Del-Wal in a double-header, 12-0 and 11-6.

Kapla, a freshman at Eastern Michigan, hurled a three-hitter in the opener. He struck out four and walked only one.

Ewald (College of Ozarks) homered, while Gundry knocked in four runs. Pierce went 3-for-3 and teammate Kevin Craggs contributed two hits.

COLLEGIATE

Andrew Margolick pitched six innings of five-hit baseball to give Hines Park the victory in the nightcap. Margolick relieved Scott Rodgers, who walked seven batters during the opening inning.

Craggs went 3-for-4 with two RBI and three runs scored, while Ewald and Gundry each contributed two hits and three RBI.

Westland Federation

Westland Federation, a new-comer in the LCBL, ran its record to 3-0 with a 4-3 eight-inning victory over the Tecumseh, Ontario Green Giants in a game played Wednesday at John Glenn High.

Chad Grievelt belted a solo homer, while pitcher Bobby Arellano earned the victory.

Grieve also socked a three-run homer and was the winning pitcher in relief as Westland beat Wendy's in the May 21 season opener.

Westland also defeated Walter's Appliance, 6-4, as Jeremy Blaylock (Central Michigan University) struck out 12 and scattered seven hits and seven walks in going the distance.

Pete Gallagher, who worked five innings, took the loss.

Walter's loses

Lance Stepaniak struck out 12 in seven innings Wednesday, leading Wendy's to a 12-5 triumph over the defending LCBL playoff champions.

Jim Solak went 3-for-4 with an RBI in a losing cause. Mike Zielinski added two hits and knocked in a run.

John Collins had two hits, including a three-run homer for Wendy's. Dan Schmitzer contributed three hits and scored three times, while John Arvai went 2-for-4 with a double. Ryan Grabetz, who allowed five earned runs in four innings, took the loss.

Del-Wal nips Caesars

Winning pitcher Derek Wirebaugh (five innings) and reliever Todd Boike (two innings) combined on a three-hitter Wednesday as Del-Wal defeated Caesars Wednesday at Ford Field, 2-1. Boike worked out of a bases loaded jam in the seventh, fanning the final three batters to gain the save.

Matt Recht (University of Michigan) and Chad Cilley (Siena Heights) each contributed RBI singles for the victors, who collected five hits.

Mark D'Antonio (University of Detroit-Mercy) threw a complete game for Caesars, but suffered the loss.

House wins historic designation

By JANICE JONES
SPECIAL WRITER

When Robin Margraf first saw the large, restored Victorian house in 1990, she wasn't thinking about history. She was looking for a comfortable home for herself, husband, Joe, and sons, Conor and Rory.

"It was love at first sight," said Margraf. "I had such good feelings just walking through it."

The century-old western Wayne County house has two staircases and lots of interesting corners for young boys to explore. It also has a story which was recently pieced together by an American Association of University Women branch which designated the house as a historical landmark May 20.

A mystery

Dr. Mary Fritz, head of the AAUW's study group that did the research said, "It's like a mystery. We kept working until we unraveled it."

To qualify for landmark status a building has to be 75 years old and have some architectural or historical significance.

Fritz and her committee searched through old deeds, checked tax records, and interviewed people to get the following facts.

Local banker and real estate developer, William O. Allen near downtown Plymouth in 1881. The house was a copy of another Main Street home built in 1879 by H. L. Bennett. A third house was built from the same plans at the corner of Main and Starkweather by Will Scotten.

In 1896, Allen married Kate Penniman and moved into her home (the present rectory of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church). The Main Street house was then occupied by Allen's brother, David, until his death in the 1920s, after which it stood vacant until it was purchased in 1925 by the Alfred Smith family.

In 1949, the Allen home and two neighboring houses were purchased by the Plymouth school district to make way for an addition to the high school. Robert Jolliffe bought the house and moved it to its present site on Adams Street, where he converted it to apartments.

House moved

Mildred Essick of Adams Street remembers the day in 1950, when she watched from her front porch as the house was moved. "It was something to see. It came across the school grounds, and they set it down right on the basement," she said.

The Allen House is the only one of the three identical houses to survive. The Dairy King now stands on the site of the Bennett house, and the Scotten home was torn down to make way for the Hi-Speed Gas Station.

In its new location, the Allen house was rental property for about 30 years, passing through different owners, and falling into disrepair. In 1986, it was bought by old house enthusiasts, David and Kate Solomon who painstakingly restored it to its original splendor.

When contacted by the AAUW about the landmarking, Margraf was excited by the idea. She appreciates the work done by the Solomons, and is adding to it with ideas of her own.

On the outside, the original clapboards, decorative barge boards, and brackets are painted Italianate cream. The Margrafs recently added a picket fence, and are planning to repaint the wooden, porch floor. Visitors were welcomed by a pair of tall, red doors with ornate glass windows.

"They were wheel cut," Margraf said. "One of them is original and the other one was broken at one time and replaced with an etched glass copy."

The foyer shows off a serpentine wooden staircase leading to a second floor landing. The large front parlor now serves as the living room. Margraf has added an oak fireplace to one wall, and is painting a fireplace screen.

Space for boys

A second parlor, set off by a wide arch and pocket doors, is used as a family room, with space for the Margraf boys' trains. The walls are beige linen and the crown moldings are painted red. Margraf has added a set of red-matted lithographs that are family heirlooms and tied-back draperies in a floral print.

The tall windows with their original glass and the high ceilings give the house an open, airy feeling, while the antique furnishings radiate warmth. Wet plaster walls, crown moldings and high baseboards speak eloquently of the past.

The kitchen features some of the original, built-in, cabinets, painted wedgewood blue. Red and white cafe curtains, and a pine table with high-backed chairs add charm to the setting. The breakfast room appears to have once been an enclosed porch. A powder room, mud room and laundry room were added on in 1986.

A large guest room with private bath occupies one corner of the main floor. The space doubles as Margraf's sewing room, where she is making window treatments for the house.

Upstairs, the 10-foot ceilings easily accommodate the yellow pine, canopy bed of the master bedroom, with room to spare for a ceiling fan. Above the windows are hand-painted arches of flowers and ivy, done by Kate Solomon. Margraf has carried on this theme with ivy-covered shades, ivy-filled sconces, and stems of ivy, used as curtain tie-backs.

The bathroom has lots of white tile, windows on two sides, recessed soffit lighting, and a refinished, claw-footed tub that sits on a corner platform.

"So many people have lived here and influenced the house," Margraf said. "We think of ourselves as the latest occupants. The bottom line is, it's home."

When you first reach the Stage, you'll probably find yourself inwardly moaning "Oh, no." (I know I did.) But if you can get past the dumpy, out-of-date looking outside-appearances of this eat in/takeout restaurant and deli, you just might be pleasantly surprised.

Not that the inside is any more aesthetically pleasing, but imagine yourself being able to accept the fact that when this place was new (a mere 35 years ago) when yellow Formica tables and orange vinyl-covered chairs and booths were en vogue. My guess is, however, that even in 1958, more than a few pair of legs stuck to those seats on a hot summer day.

The Stage's menu features a large and interesting enough selection, so prepare yourself for a good read before ordering. Although this place is considered to be a Jewish deli, hot spicy chili is offered right along side cold borscht, and if your leery of sinking your tooth into marinated herring in sour cream, you can always order a "Swankee Frankee," an innocent-looking hot dog, filled with cheese and wrapped in bacon.

Homemade soups are a hot ticket on the menu, and if you happen to order the matzo ball soup, you're in for good laugh. Don't get me wrong — the soup's great. It's just that this particular matzo ball is one of the biggest I've seen and you're liable to draw a crowd around your bowl.

The Stage also offers a unique selection of salads — colorful fruit salads, tangy salads with herring and Greek olives, and a real scary salad called the Charlie Manos Salad Bowl that consists of crisp lettuce topped with julienne TONGUE (gee, how else would you slice it?), turkey and anchovies. You, of course, get to pick the dressing.

Under the heading of "Never Too Late," omelettes, eggs with minced lox and onion, silver dollar pancakes and kippers and onions are available well throughout the dinner hour.

Huge can't-get-your-mouth-around-them sandwiches and the best Roumanian Pastrami you'll ever have will be the things that will bring you back to the stage for an encore. And the meats used in these sandwiches are lean — you honestly won't have to tear your sandwich apart to find the "good" parts. Tasty potato salad or a huge plate of fried onion rings go well with any sandwich selection.

And their rice pudding is fantastic. Cheesecake, apple strudel, and yeah, even Jell-O are listed among the sweets. The guys behind the deli counter will even whip you up a malt or an ice cream sundae, if you wish.

It seemed as though the Stage had enough of a stash in their pantry to make anything. What's more, the staff was more than accommodating. So relax, pull up a vinyl-covered chair. And don't worry about your legs sticking to the seat; they've put in air conditioning since 1958.

There's just something truly spontaneous about The Great Northern that leaves you on the edge of your seat. At first glance, this place seems to harbor all the makings of an up-north lodge with a southwestern flair. But once you're seated and are able to look around, you begin to get the feeling that you've stumbled on to one of the most distinctive, unusual restaurants around.

Surprises are everywhere in this open air, three-room establishment; and the Great Northern's interior beckons you to investigate every nook and cranny. The place is kind of like a museum. Or is it a gymnasium? An Indian reservation? Maybe a hunting lodge? It might just be a Greek coliseum. Who knows...

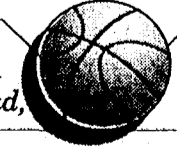

It's hard to tell, because you'll be sitting next to what appears to be a tree trunk and as your eyes wander upward, you'll spot a beautiful Greek column at the top. Fun. While you're admiring the beautiful Navajo tapestries, lining many of the booths and doorways, don't be surprised if you hear the sounds of a nearby basketball game. The Great Northern houses an enclosed mini basketball court for patrons interested in perfecting their swish-shots (no one-on-one allowed).

Copper Bald Eagle chandeliers hang from the A-frame ceiling in the main dining area; varied, original birdhouses poke out of several different corners; and snowshoes, birch bark kayaks, sailboats and a larger than life hunting license make up many of the features that make this place a constant visual treat.

Harmony:
Sometimes Why — Dave Dean, Kenneth Karasek, John Taminski and Jeff Pelione — honed the skill at blending their melody and harmony with the groove on stage at an early age.

Sometimes Why has the answer

With influences like The Alarm, U2, the Red Hot Chili Peppers, The Beatles and Led Zepplin, you might wonder what kind of music Sometimes Why performs. Simple, say band members, who blend melody and harmony with the groove.

BY KYLE GREEN
SPECIAL WRITER

There is no looking back for the four-member band Sometimes Why, even though today the members laugh about their past.

"We played a lot of shows with our parents in the audience only because (club owners) wouldn't let us play otherwise," said John Taminski, remembering when he and fellow bandmates were too young to perform. "It gave us a stage presence. It was kind of a live rehearsal."

Today with the average age of the members at 20, the band uses its past as a foundation to construct what they hope will be a career.

In preproduction for recording its first release, band members hope their alternative rock sound will appeal to radio listeners, their main goal.

"It's hard for local bands, not saying we are anything great because we do have a contract, because I do realize that many local bands have contracts with local labels and not so local labels, but I think with a label behind your stuff and a producer and studio behind your stuff, it might be easier to get on the radio," Taminski said.

STREET BEATS

Each member contributes musical ideas, influenced by such groups as The Alarm, U2 and the Red Hot Chili Peppers. Nevertheless, the members say they examine their musical roots which include The Beatles and Led Zepplin for inspiration.

"From the time I can remember this was the stuff my dad listened to," said drummer Kenneth Karasek, a Troy resident. "When Dave (Dean) and I got together we looked at our dad's record collections and there were a lot of harmony groups like Simon and Garfunkle.

"I guess what we are trying to do right now is blend our melody and harmony with the groove and the riff and that's what you would call classic alternative."

"I don't want you to get the idea that because we are into these classic groups that we are some classic rock band," Dean added. "It all comes out of us differently and obviously it's modern coming out of us."

However, it comes out, the band discovered that the best way to write is to simply play together and feed off their energy, therefore developing up to 60 songs.

"What I find is that when we jam and come up with something it seems to be the most energetic stuff, the stuff with the biggest groove to it," Dean said.

"To me, I haven't heard one that I dislike," Karasek added. "we just keep getting better and better and song ideas keep coming faster and especially now we've been learning a lot of songs and as you can imagine it spears everyone on."

The guitar-based songs contain subject matter obtained from a broad spectrum which the band hopes will find mass appeal.

"In the beginning it was a lot of social, political ideas," Karasek said. "After hanging around Dave for about a year..."

"I've cheapened him," interjected Dean with a laugh.

"He was writing cheap love songs, and I loved it," Karasek said about Dean's work. "My first love of music was The Beatles and it reminded us so much of that and I was getting off onto U2-Fresh Basething, so lately I've been writing love songs. Dave, I don't know what he's writing about... not-so-cheap love."

Sometimes Why will perform with Verve Pipe, Groovespoon, Majesty Crush, The Charm Farm, Rhythm Corps, BOP (harvey) and Black Market at Summer Jam '93 near Cafe Max in Waterford, 11 a.m. to midnight Saturday, June 5. A portion of the proceeds will benefit the Midwest AIDS Prevention Project. For more information, call 666-2030.

Wallflowers don't shy from stagelights

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Wallflowers lead singer Jakob

Dylan has learned how to teach journalists that he's not into discussing his famous lineage.

The Wallflowers:

"I don't answer incredibly well," Dylan said with a snicker about his father Bob Dylan. "I don't give up too much."

Dylan and the rest of The Wallflowers — Greg Richling, Rami Jaffe, Peter Yanowitz and Tobi Miller — will play St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit Tuesday, June 2, with special guests the Vudu Hippies. The tour is in support of the band's self-titled debut album which was released in August.

The album has a rather dark and moody feeling which reflects the band's early style, Dylan said.

"I like to think that it's a snapshot of what the band was doing at the time," he said.

The new album, which the group will begin recording after this tour, will have a different feeling, although Dylan wasn't specific about the new sound.

Although the unpretentious roots rock album has received a favorable response from the likes of "Rolling Stone" and "Musician" magazines, Dylan is still apprehensive about his headlining tours.

"We're playing St. Andrew's Hall this time; that's a big place, right? ... I hope there's not a lot of echo," he said.

As the group tours, Dylan, 23, is seeing the fan base picking up. To get that far, The Wallflowers landed opening spots for the Spin Doctors, 10,000 Maniacs and Virgin Records label mates Cracker.

"It's paying off a little more. We get our name out there and we start getting the rewards," said Dylan.

The Wallflowers, with special guests the Vudu Hippies, will perform Wednesday, June 2, at St. Andrew's Hall, 431 E. Congress, Detroit. Tickets are $6.50. Call 961-MELT for more information.

'Hot Shots!' sequel: As parodies go, it's non-original America is in crisis. Once again, brave patriots on foreign soil have been taken hostage by a malevolent despot bent on exacting revenge on the United States.

President Tug Benson (Lloyd Bridges) wants action — and he knows only one man can do the job. And that man is "Topper" Harley (Charlie Sheen).

Topper Harley returns to action at the behest of the president in "Hot Shots! Part Deux," the sequel to the international comedy hit of 1991.

After three failed missions, the president turns to Topper — to head a commando team into enemy territory to rescue the men who went in to get the men who went in to get the men.

Twentieth Century Fox presents "Hot Shots! Part Deux," a Jim Abrahams film starring Charlie Sheen, Lloyd Bridges, Valeria Golino, Brenda Bakke and Richard Crenna. Jim Abrahams directs from a screenplay by Jim Abrahams and Pat Proft, who is also executive producer. Bill Badalato is producer. Greg Norberg and Michael McManus serve as associate producers.

"So many sequels seem to be just expensive remakes of the original," said writer/director Jim Abrahams. "We wanted to do something different and expensive. Since this is parody, we wanted to move into a different genre — besides, we kind of ran out of flying jokes."

To describe in detail the plot of "Hot Shots! Part Deux" would be to describe any number of other movies that were just as funny — they just didn't know it.

"No originality" is our credo," said Abrahams. "What we set out to do first was to find a genre that takes itself seriously, and that whole genre of 'going in to get the guys' is a genre that takes itself very seriously. Then, keeping in mind our motto — No originality — we had to steal our loves stories and our bad guy stories and the rest of our stories from real movies."

From "Rambo III," the filmmakers found the inspiration to place Topper in a monastery at the outset of the film, where he lives peacefully among affection-starved monks.

They added a new element to the character, which would find Topper exposing a whole new side of himself.

"When Charlie read the script, he must have said, 'Whoops, I'm going to be running around with my shirt off this whole movie. I'd better do something.'"

"I've been an athlete my whole life and kept in pretty good shape, but I knew I had to take it to a different level in this film," said Sheen.

He flew to Maui with a personal trainer and a cook, setting up an intensive training program he eventually called "Death Camp '92."

From dawn until dusk, he followed a six-day-a-week regimen of road work, weight training, yoga, swimming and martial arts. His diet was carefully balanced to provide the high carbohydrates and high protein needed to attain the goal of muscle bulk and low body fat.

"The results are absolutely phenomenal," said Jim Abrahams. "He came in for wardrobe and hair tests, and when he took his shirt off and everybody saw what he had invested in his role, it was a very positive moment for the movie because it said, wait a minute, this is for real. Charlie set the tone for everyone with his bodybuilding and his efforts."

With twice the body, it's only fitting that Topper should have twice the love interests. Still pinning for Ramada (Valeria Golino), who jilted him at some point following the first film, Topper is on the rebound with the lovely and brilliant CIA operative Michelle Huddleston (Brenda Bakke) when Ramada unexpectedly re-enters his life — albeit in a slightly different guise.

The psychiatrist/equestrienne/sculptor/torch singer has added "mercenary" to her resume, playing an important, and lethal, role in Topper's mission.

The movie is rated PG-13 — (Parents are strongly cautioned. Some material may be inappropriate for young children).

Survivors take stock in aftermath of shootings

BY KEVIN BROWN

Hiding under her bed, Janette Madsen's 15-year-old daughter told the 911 operator on Wednesday, "My mother's just been shot several times."
"Who did it?" the operator asked.
"I think my dad."
Police played the tape of the 5:40 a.m. call from the home on Paciocco Court in Plymouth Township for reporters on Thursday — just hours after Madsen's estranged husband, Donald, committed suicide after a police standoff in Northville.

Donald Madsen, 41, told police over his cellular phone on Wednesday he'd shot his wife over a custody fight. The couple were in court seeking a divorce.

After locating him in his condo on Seven Mile Road near Sheldon, area police surrounded the unit, cut off his phone and electricity, and eventually found him dead in his Cadillac after he shot himself.

Don Tappan, Janette Madsen's brother, said after the standoff, "We're all relieved it's over."

"The children can grieve the loss of their parents and get on with their lives," he said Thursday. "They're still basically in shock; we've had a few tears."

Asked if Donald Madsen had demonstrated behavior that suggested he could murder, Tappan said no.

"I don't want to sit up here and trash the father of my niece and nephew," he said.

He thanked counselors who've talked with the Madsens' children, ages 15 and 8, during the ordeal. They were taken after the shooting to the Plymouth Township offices and are now with relatives.

While Donald Madsen sounded remorseful in some conversations Wednesday afternoon with police, Plymouth Township police Chief Carl Berry said that Madsen also issued threats — to himself, Berry, the judge who was presiding over the divorce, and others.

After leaving a shotgun at the scene of his wife's shooting, Madsen was holding a 9 mm automatic gun and a .22 caliber pistol.

Not long after the shooting, police were able to determine he was in a three-mile radius north of Plymouth — even though he told some friends over his cellular phone that he was at another residence in Brighton.

"We think he was at his condo in Northville the whole time," Berry said.

By 4:30, the calling stopped — Madsen decided to take a nap.

After waking, "He would call many times, angry and despondent, saying he did not want to go to jail."

Police agreed to Madsen's wish to see his children without being handcuffed — but this never happened because he didn't turn himself in to police.

Jan Madsen's divorce attorney, Garth Jackson, said that while Donald Madsen maintained the shooting was over a denial of his rights to see his children, this wasn't true.

"He had spent three weeks with the children in Australia in November 1992," Jackson said, adding Madsen also had weekly visitation rights.

Somerset, Laurel Park
For two feathered friends with an attitude, the tres upscale Somerset Collection and the stately Laurel Park Place must resemble Palm Springs.

"We were hoping the double doors would eliminate birds flying into the mall," explained Tom Miles, manager of the Somerset Collection. "But every once in awhile we still find one flying around and nesting in our palm trees. We've got to catch this one before he disturbs the diners in the open air Cafe Jardin."

"We need a fishnet," mall housekeeper Rhonda Sunn yelled to her associates as they crept up on the startling drinking water from the mall's pool. Spying their approach, the bird hopped into the poolside greenery and vanished.

The management staff at Laurel Park Place in Livonia recently called a pair of wildlife enthusiasts to relocate a mother duck and her 10 ducklings squawking near a high automobile traffic area on the shopping center's property.

When the babies hatched, many of the mall's employees, including Joe Shevala of Y Not Yogurt fed the feathered family.

"Croissants and water seemed to be the favorite snack," joked Shevala.

Linda and Steve Gray of Garden City, volunteers with the Howell Nature Center, moved the family to a more rustic residence at Hines Park.

How Proposal A will affect local taxpayers

Figuring out how your taxes will be changed by Proposal A is like solving a Rubik's Cube, the puzzle where anything you touch affects something else.

Proposal A, if approved Wednesday by Michigan voters, would affect your local school property taxes (mostly down), your state sales tax (up) and your federal income tax (mostly up).

Accountants from Arthur Andersen & Co. figured some typical tax results for some typical people in many communities.

This newspaper provided the firm median income figures from the U.S. Census and median owner-occupied home value figures from the marketing sources. We took half the home value as the state equalized valuation (SEV) on which the property tax is based.

The state Senate Fiscal Agency provided figures on current school millages and expected millage changes if Proposal A passes.

The accountants calculated the impact on the property tax bill and the typical increase in sales taxes. Then they figured the increase in federal income taxes (because property taxes are deductible from income but sales taxes aren't) and the state income tax increase (because of the loss of the Homestead Credit).

Here are the median family figures:

Garden City School District — net increase of $60. Based on city resident with median family income of $32,975, home SEV of $29,850, property tax savings of 17.6 mills or $525, sales tax increase of $239, federal tax increase of $32, state income tax increase $315.

Livonia School District — net increase of $201. Based on Livonia 481154 median family income of $45,371, home SEV of $47,400, property tax savings of 5.9 mills or $280, sales tax increase of $296, federal tax increase of $17, state income tax increase $168.

Livonia School District — net increase of $158. Based on Westland median family income of $29,4495, home SEV of $31,700, property tax savings of 5.9 mills or $187, sales tax increase of $222, federal tax increase of $11, state income tax increase $112.

Plymouth-Canton School District — net cut of $2. Based on Canton Township 48187 median family income of $36,633, home SEV of $54,650, property tax savings of 13.94 mills or $762, sales tax increase of $257, federal tax increase of $85, state income tax increase $457.

Plymouth-Canton School District — net cut of $204. Based on Plymouth Township median family income of $41,665, home SEV of $63,600, property tax savings of 13.94 mills or $887, sales tax increase of $280, federal tax increase of $85, state income tax increase $317.

Redford Union School District — net increase of $59. Based on Redford 48240 median income of $30,930, home SEV of $28,750, property tax savings of 17.4 mills or $500, sales tax increase of $229, federal tax increase of $59, state income tax increase $300.

South Redford School District — net increase of $130. Based on Redford 48239 median income of $32,680, home SEV of $28,750, property tax savings of 11 mills or $316, sales tax increase of $238, federal tax increase of $19, state income tax increase $190.

Wayne-Westland School District — net increase of $158. Based on Westland 48185 median income of $29,495, home SEV of $31,700, property tax cut of 20.1 mills or $637, sales tax increase of $222, federal tax increase of $38, state income tax increase $382.

Clarenceville School District could not be calculated because it is in three Zip codes with no separate home SEV figures.

Angelou has message of love and courage

By BONNIE SHELLNUT
SPECIAL WRITER

Maya Angelou, one of the country's most visible poets, said she came to Livonia recently to speak about love.

Although the message she brought was simple, her presentation was both romantically lyrical and deeply spiritual. As if she were composing a poem on stage, Angelou, a tall, rich-voiced, woman in her 60s, punctuated her delivery with humor, music and metaphor.

Invited to serve on President Clinton's commission for women in the mid '70s. She also served as a cultural ambassador to Ghana. Angelou has spent her life exploring humanity.

Inaugural poetry
A popular writer with 12 books to her credit, millions saw Angelou for the first time on television on Jan. 20, when she read her commissioned poem "On The Pulse of Morning" for President Bill Clinton's inauguration. She was the first poet to be given that honor since Robert Frost delivered his poetry for President John F. Kennedy's inauguration in 1961.

Simple style
David A. Spencer, president of Walsh College, asked the poet what gave her the creative spark to write, act and produce. She answered: "I'm a practicing Christian . . . Some say they are 'already' Christians, but I am still practicing. And it is in the ecstasy of the spiritual flow that . . . the creator smiles on it."

The WTWS-TV (Channel 56) City for Youth Choir, featuring more than 50 young Detroit area male and female voices, and directed by Dr. Deborah Smith, presented two songs to close the program.

After Angelou had taken her seat in the audience and the children had lined up in four rows in front of the stage, Angelou — true to her simple, unassuming style — got up from her seat, came to the stage and asked that the podium be removed so that the choir could sing on the stage. She even started to help Spencer remove the podium.

She advised young and old alike to go to the library to find meaning to life, as it has been written about by so many wise people.

Defining love as "the courage to build bridges and to reach other human beings," she also challenged audience members to practice courage, the "most important virtue."

Words to live by

Although Angelou spoke about the black experience, she encouraged everyone to live by a spiritual standard of having the courage to do that which is right.

During the lecture and Angelou's personal philosophy of life was evident.

■ Life: "Life is our most precious gift."

■ Contribution to society: "Everything you do is for the entire species. Everything you leave undone is a loss to the entire species."

■ Racial separatism: "I will not give one inch of what we gained nor will I take one inch from anyone . . . We have given up the best of what we had to take the worst of what they had."

■ Inequality: "The world is filled with strife — ageism, sexism, racism . . . I must have a sense of self-love or I will be unable to deal with these issues fairly."

■ People: "Humans are more alike than we are unlike." "We are all worth something."

It's Prom Time

MMeet John. He will graduate this June. He's on his way to pick up his tux for his senior party.

John's an average student and will graduate somewhere in the middle of his class. He's the kind of young man that, if anything happened to him, people would say, "he was such a nice boy, loved sports and was always so willing to help you—not like some of these kids today."

However, nothing is going to happen to John on prom night because he doesn't drink or use drugs.

It's not that he's what the kids call a "dork," it's just that he thinks substance abuse is stupid. And, in this, he's smart. Very smart. He knows that the number one cause of death in teens is drinking or drug related automobile crashes and that drinking and driving claims the lives of thousands of teens and adults each year.*

All right! John!

*Drunk or drugged driving crashes is the number one cause of death for 16-to-24-year-olds.
