This 1906-manufactured, civilian version of the New Army revolver, retains about 55% of its original blue finish with most of the loss on the sides of the barrel and the grip frame. The areas of loss have worn to a light gunmetal gray with some scattered handling marks also visible. The hammer has traces of Nitre blue on the top with the remainder having worn to silver. The trigger retains most of its Nitre blue with the face worn to gunmetal gray. The hard rubber grips are not correctly numbered to the revolver and are of the Navy configuration with the word "Colt" in an oval. Overall, the grips are in very good to excellent condition with some of the wear to the diamond points on the right panel. All the appropriate parts except the grips have matching assembly numbers and the markings remain crisp. The revolver still times and locks up well and includes an unmarked flap holster. The holster shows some light crazing at the top of the flap with overall light handling wear. The seam is starting to separate at the top. (86617-1) {C&R} (250/450)

The current finish is worn on the high edges, has some light handling and holster wear with a faint turn ring on the cylinder and light oxidation blemish on the sideplate. The case-hardened colors on the hammer and trigger remain rich with light operational wear. The incorrectly numbered walnut grips rate near excellent with light handling marks especially around the butt. The patent breech shows some very light borderline engraving as does the long iron tang. The back action lock and hammer also show some light engraving with some light pitting on the hammer and in the area of the patent breech; the hammer itself shows the beginning of a slight crack, it is old and stable in nature. There are simple German silver escutcheons with a single iron wedge, a single spur brass triggerguard with the rearward grip swirl, a brass crescent buttplate and a brass New York style patchbox. The stock rates about very good with much original varnish, some drying checks, a crack on the left stock flat through the stock screw escutcheon, a crack on the right upper edge of the forearm toward the wedge and there is a 2 1/2" sliver missing ahead of the lock and breech bolster. The muzzle is turned for starter and there is no provision for a ramrod, clearly the gun was intended as a target rifle, the current sights suggest its later use as a sporter. An interesting New York State rifle with connections to two famous gunsmiths. HA Caswell was actually a son of JM Caswell to whom Nelson Lewis was apprenticed. (35856-21) {ANTIQUÉ} (300/500)

The frame and barrel are lightly New York scroll engraved with about 80% coverage on the sides of the frame and 30% on the barrels sides with a couple of small areas on the top of the frame also. The frame, barrel, and cylinder are numbered alike. This pistol functions mechanically. The barrel-to-frame fit has slight play; the right barrel hinge is cracked. Speckled textured oxidation is apparent on the rear of the lower tang. The bolt remains in-the-white, now turning to light brown patina. The lever shows strong case-hardened color on the forward surfaces, with the loop showing a finely textured brown oxidized surface. The walnut forend and straight grip buttstock show 90% original varnish, now showing a dry faded surface and starting to lift around scattered dark scratches and surface impressions. Dark water staining and shrinkage is visible where the wood contacts the buttplate, with several shrinkage cracks apparent at the toe. The crescent steel buttplate shows heavy textured brown oxidation on the heel and tang, with the remainder showing speckled fine oxidation. Overall a very nice 1906 manufactured 99A that has suffered from storage in a damp environment. The gun functions fine and would benefit from some careful cosmetic attention. 1159

1159. CUSTOM GERMAN MAUSER SPORTING MAGAZINE RIFLE

serial #4863, 8mm Mauser, 24" barrel with a very good plus to near excellent bore which shows a little scattered light frosting. The metal surfaces of barreled action are primarily a faded deep gray-blue original maker-applied blue. The small ring 98 action is Danzig-marked and the barrel is likely an original military barrel which was slightly sporter-contoured. The bottom metal is primarily a mix of plum brown and pewter patina with minor oxidation staining. The checkered classic style walnut buttstock has a left-side rounded cheekpiece and features a nice Schnabel forend tip and Oberndorf sidepanels; it rates about very good. The round knob pistolgrip buttstock is neatly checkered, there is a steel buttplate fitted for a 13 1/2" length of pull and European-style swivels on underside of barrel and at toe-line. The German sporting ramp has a later Lyman sight installed, the rear sight seat is now vacant and there is a Lyman receiver sight affixed over the boltstop. 1160. NEW ENGLAND STYLE PILL LOCK-CONVERTED FOWLER BY NOCK

About 20 bore, 44 1/2" part octagon part round barrel with a turned medial at the point of transition and an oxidized bore. The barrel is an overall oxidized plum brown patina with some areas of light pitting and has a simple steel bead front sight with no provision for rear. There are British proofs on the left diagonal barrel flat, flanked by a number of tool marks and many small dings, the muzzle as well showing impact marks and is slightly flared from being dropped or impacted. The lock shows some very light engraving and a small rear teat and is "H Nock" marked. The gun is converted to pill lock by a square drum with a cone-shaped recess, and a sharp conical striking portion on the blacksmith-made hammer. There is a simple brass tailpipe and an acorn front-extension on the triggerguard; the bow of the guard is lightly engraved. The brass buttplate shows some light engraving on its upper tang; all the brass is a tarnished goldenrod patina. The English walnut stock rates about very good showing a 3" chip missing from atop the rear portion of the lock, with a couple of cracks emanating from the tang. At some point the stock was cracked in half, with visible cracks below the lockplate, through the guard and up the left stock flat; it appears as though a satisfactory repair has been made and is sound. There is an antique ramrod affixed which is certainly from the period of use and the noseclip to the stock is not present. The lock seems to operate well mechanically. (36623-41) {ANTIQUÉ} (350/550)

1161. NEW ENGLAND FLINT-LOCK SMOOTHBORE MUSKET MARKED PRATT

50 caliber, 35 3/4" part octagon part round barrel with a heavily oxidized bore. The barrel is an overall brown and gray patina showing light oxidation with some spots of moderate oxidation about halfway down its length. There is a simple brass blade scant dovetailed front sight and simple flat-top wide v-notch rear sight in place. The top flat features a brass inlay which is marked "A Pratt Concord Mafs". The lockplate and swan neck cock are lightly borderline engraved with the plate marked "A Pratt". The frizzen spring has collapsed with age and no longer acts upon the tail of the frizzen and the hammer does not hold on cock. The gun is fitted with two brass thimbles, brass nose-cap, tailpipe, triggerguard, patchbox and butt and toe plates. All the brass is a dull ocher patina and the triggerguard is broken at the front portion of its bow. Patchbox features light engraving and a bottom-release which is no longer functional as the catch on the rear side of the patchbox lid has come on soldered and is not present. The American walnut stock rates about very good with numerous dings and dents from the years and a scant left-side cheekpiece. The left side cheek rest shows a German silver monogram plate engraved "Presented To/1837/Elijah Stepp/of the/Texan Republic/with the/Compliments/of/Alvin Pratt". While it is possible this is actually a period Alvin Pratt musket, it is doubtful it was ever presented to Elijah Stepp (Stapp) of Texas (it was consigned from the Western Finger Lakes Region of New York). The musket is fitted with double set triggers and there is a rudimentarily engraved monogram plate atop the wrist with "ES". An interesting, likely New England-made, musket overall. The gun does show some traits of an actual Alvin Pratt rifle, similar to examples he produced in the 1812-era. (36623-45) (ANTIQUE) (400/600)

1162. INDIAN MATCHLOCK TALWAR MUSKET

About .52 cal., 56 1/2" barrel with an oxidized bore. The barrel is an overall dark gray and brown patina and shows a lightly swamped muzzle with turned medial and the remnants of some gold, damascening. The flared breech section as well shows a turned medial and a small central rib running ahead of the flat-top rear sight and geometric gold damascening about 5 1/2" in coverage. The stock itself rates about good and is missing the fore stock section for about 18". The capucines which remain are of woven cord over-which was a black lacquer. The stock showed extensive floral and geometric lacquer and enamel work which has largely been lost and flaked to the years. The pivoting cover over the powder reservoir is no longer present however the match lock pivot mechanism itself is still functional. An interesting example which was rather fancy in its day. (36126-1) (ANTIQUE) (300/500)

1163. AFGHANI JEZAIL TOURIST MUSKET This is a somewhat interesting looking Afghan-style flintlock musket, normally seen with match or flint lock. The octagon barrel is about 28 1/2" in length and is overall oxidized showing some remnants of what was likely a black enamel. The lockplate is very rudimentarily constructed and shows overall light oxidation, a few spots which are moderate. It is affixed with nails and looks very loosely to be patterned after a British Brown Bess lockplate. The gun was never vented and the lock is only loosely mechanically functional. The stock rates poor and shows numerous bone inlays, it was broken in half through the wrist forward and is still loose, an old glued repair, poorly done has come loose. The butt is deeply curved downward and then curves upward again, the butt end itself flaring widely as well. There is a single iron capucine and two smaller brass ones affixing barrel-to-stock, the last 6" of the stock is missing and warped downward somewhat. (36136-1) (ANTIQUE) (40/80)

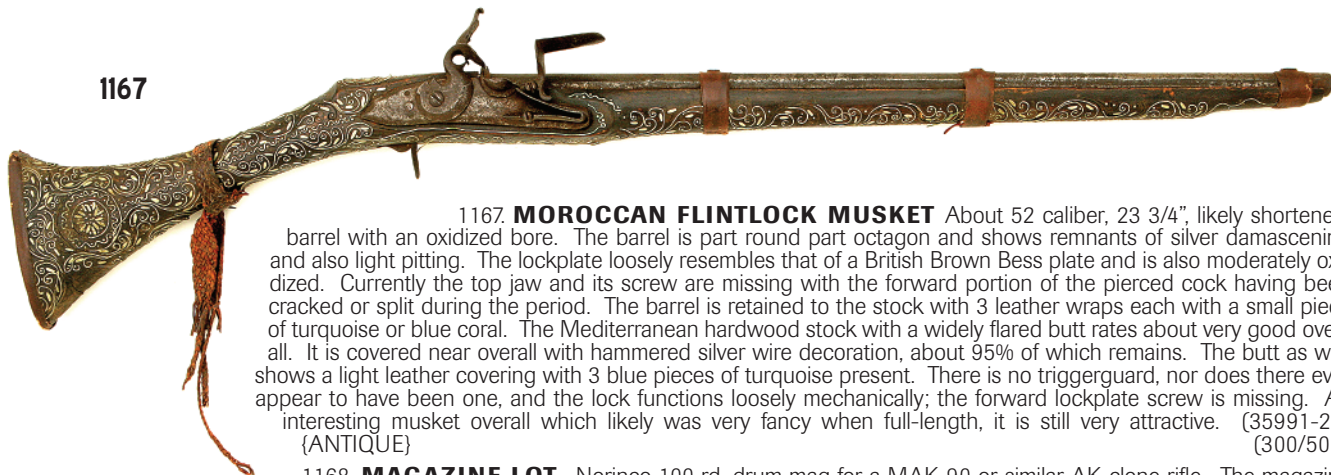

1164. AFGHANI JEZAIL PERCUSSION CONVERTED MUSKET About 60 cal. 42 1/4" hendecagon barrel with an oxidized bore. The barrel is an overall silvery patina with geometric inlays its full-length of both damascened brass and black enamel. The barrel is retained with 5 hammered brass capucines, most of which also show some light engraving. The gun is converted to percussion with a large square bolster on its right side, a simple flat, bar under-style lockplate with a lightly engraved hammer; these now a dull gray patina. The unusual Sind-shaped stock rates about very good with much original varnish crazing neatly with the years in the area of the butt. There are a couple of older glued cracks and the last 15" of the forend is newly-replaced wood. The lock is not mechanically functional and will not hold on cock. A somewhat interesting Afghani jezail overall which actually appears to have been a usable firearm. (36485-5) (ANTIQUE) (200/400)

1165. MOROCCAN BERBER SNAPHAUNCE MUSKET About 60 cal., 45 1/2" round barrel with swamped muzzle and an oxidized bore retained by nine hammered iron and brass capucines. The barrel is an overall oxidized brown patina with a couple of the capucines showing some minor geometric decoration. The long snaphaunce lock is a pewter and dull oxidized brown patina. The stock shows an overlay of hammered iron, the bottom of which is lightly engraved in geometric designs. The iron triggerguard is very lightly chiseled on its front extension. The butt, comb and toe wraps are all affixed with simple iron brads and are an oxidized pewter-plum. The exposed Mediterranean hardwood stock rates about very good and shows a half-dozen or more bone inlays with dual bone straps at the butt. The lock is currently not mechanically functional however there is an iron ramrod present. An interesting example overall. (36131-16) (ANTIQUE) (400/600)

1166. MOROCCAN BERBER SNAPHAUNCE MUSKET About 65 cal., 46" part octagon part round barrel with cannon-belled muzzle and an oxidized bore retained by ten hammered iron and brass capucines. The barrel is primarily a pewter and lightly oxidized brown patina with the iron capucines showing some minor geometric decoration; there are indecipherable impressed touch marks on the top and left diagonal barrel flats. The long snaphaunce lock is a pewter and dull oxidized brown patina and shows some very light incise engraving. The stock shows an underside overlay of hammered iron which is now overall lightly pitted. The brass triggerguard is a dull ochre patina and shows some very light geometric engraving. The comb and toe wraps are all affixed with simple iron brads and are an oxidized brown patina with pewter undertones. The exposed Mediterranean hardwood stock rates about very good and is somewhat spartan, also showing repaired chips around the barrel tang. The lock is currently not mechanically functional however there is an iron ramrod present. An interesting, somewhat plain example overall. (36680-10) {ANTIQUÉ} (300/500)

1167. MOROCCAN FLINTLOCK MUSKET About 52 caliber, 23 3/4", likely shortened, barrel with an oxidized bore. The barrel is part round part octagon and shows remnants of silver damascening and also light pitting. The lockplate loosely resembles that of a British Brown Bess plate and is also moderately oxidized. Currently the top jaw and its screw are missing with the forward portion of the pierced cock having been cracked or split during the period. The barrel is retained to the stock with 3 leather wraps each with a small piece of turquoise or blue coral. The Mediterranean hardwood stock with a widely flared butt rates about very good overall. It is covered near overall with hammered silver wire decoration, about 95% of which remains. The butt as well shows a light leather covering with 3 blue pieces of turquoise present. There is no triggerguard, nor does there ever appear to have been one, and the lock functions loosely mechanically; the forward lockplate screw is missing. An interesting musket overall which likely was very fancy when full-length, it is still very attractive. (35991-20) {ANTIQUÉ} (300/500)

The brown leather handle shows light crazing but remains intact with light ingrained dirt within the grooves; the braided wire wrapping has separated and un-raveled but remains present. The leather scabbard with brass tip with drag and collar with stud rates fine overall, the leather moderately crazed with some spots of light flaking and oxidation, the seam remains intact; the brass shows a darkened tarnished patina with a few light dents and spots of oxidation staining. A good to very good example federal period officers sword. (56131-22). (400/600)
1229. SOUVENIR JAPANESE WAKIZASHI 20" unmarked blade with plain brass habaki, 35 1/2" overall. The blade has toned to an overall gun metal with a moderate covering of fine oxidation staining and pinprick pitting with a few light scratches and handling marks. The matching handle and scabbard is constructed of wood covered with bone carved with decorative oriental figures and foliate designs. The bone consists of eight segmented sections fastened by wood pegs which are no longer present. The handle and scabbard rate fair at best with numerous cracks and chipped and broken ends. (56298-9). (75/150)
1230. EUROPEAN SIX SHOT PINFIRE DOUBLE ACTION REVOLVER, 36 Cal., 4 3/4" octagon barrel with an oxidized bore. The metal surfaces show mottled gray brown patina overlaid with finely textured brown surface oxidation. Loose foliate scroll engraving appears on the frame, as well as on the top barrel flat. The pistol times and locks up somewhat loosely, with the cylinder pin retaining screw no longer present and old grease present on interior surfaces. A lanyard ring with turned finial is present on the bottom of the grip frame, with a turned post and bead front sight on the barrel. The original checkered wood grips are in good condition with a lightly soiled surface and a few flattened points. An interesting pistol that should display well after some judicious cleaning. (146518-13) (150/250)

1231. WM. S. BUTLER SINGLE SHOT PERCUSSION PISTOL, 28 Cal., 2 1/2" barrel with an oxidized bore. The metal surfaces of the barrel show a mottled gray brown patina freckled with areas of older surface oxidation. The one piece cast iron frame, shotgun type hammer and bag shaped iron grip all show about 20% older black paint, now chipped and worn with exposed metal showing as gray brown patina. Slot damage is visible on all three frame screws. The right frame side bears the raised cast-in marking "Wm S. BUTLER'S PATENT/PATENTED FEB. 3, 1857". The pistol cocks and locks loosely, with no hammer spring tension present. An interesting representative example in about good overall condition. (146131-11) {ANTIQUÉ} (200/300)
1232. EUROPEAN SIX SHOT PINFIRE DOUBLE ACTION REVOLVER, 36 Cal., 5" octagon barrel with an about good bore showing strong rifling with pitting throughout. The metal surfaces show about 80% dark reblued finish, with silvering at the muzzle and high edges. Areas of pinprick surface oxidation are scattered across the surfaces, with areas of older fine pitting and buffing marks visible under the added blue. The smooth wood grips are in good condition with numerous light impressions visible. A lanyard ring is present on the butt, with a simple triangular front sight dovetailed into the top barrel flat. Mechanical attention is required, as the pistol does not time or lock up, with the hammer no longer holding at full cock. The pistol appears as Belgian in origin, although no proof marks are present. An interesting display piece in fair condition. (146258-32) {ANTIQUÉ} (100/200)
1233. PAIR OF VICTORIAN REPRODUCTION HALBERDS measuring 92 1/2" in overall length. The metal surfaces show gray patina overlaid with patches of brown surface oxidation. The heads measure 21 1/2" overall with square sockets tapering to spear tips diamond in cross section. The crescent blades each show three simple cross style piercings, with four round piercings appearing on the beaks. All bladed edges remain dull and unsharpened. The wooden hafts show dark finish with lighter scuffs across the surfaces, and measure 71 1/2" in length. Both are loosely screw mounted to the sockets. Iron straps with four screws serve ornamental purposes only, being separate from the heads and providing no added strength. Leather collars are tacked at the sockets as well as at the base of the straps, and are now dry and cracking with age. Loosely styled after Revolutionary War period halberds, this pair will make a nice ornamental display. (145087-5)

1234. UNMARKED SINGLE SHOT PERCUSSION POCKET PISTOL, 38 Cal., 4" octagon barrel with a very good smooth bore. The metal surfaces show a smooth pewter patina as cleaned, with older speckled brown pinprick oxidation remaining visible. The delicately swamped barrel is mounted with the original nickel silver dovetailed front sight. The pistol features a diminutive back action lock with nicely styled hammer and pleasing snail bolt, ster, as well as a delicate trigger guard with flared bow and nicely filed forward finial. The smooth walnut stock with round grip remains in excellent condition as lightly cleaned, with pleasing figure and a carved schnabel tip. A very well made little pocket pistol in overall very good plus condition as lightly cleaned. (146313-4) {ANTIQUE} (300/400)

1235. ANTIQUE SOUTH AFRICAN ASSEGAI measuring 64" in overall length. The metal surfaces of the hand forged symmetrical leaf-shaped blade and open sided forged socket measure 30" in overall length, and show mottled gray brown patina toning to dark chocolate brown at the socket. The blade shows two hand struck cruciform decorations on each side, and measures 15 1/2" before tapering to a square shaft with hand struck crosshatched decoration and forged medial rings. A few older nicks are present on the edges of the blade, with the tip being slightly bent and missing about 1/8" at the point. The wooden shaft measures 33 1/2" in length and is possibly original, showing a dark aged surface with a carved and flared birdcage ornamentation about 15" from the butt. Numerous usage marks and age cracks are apparent across the wood surface. One structural crack is present 13" from the butt, remaining tight but showing slight movement under pressure. Overall a very nice Assegai ready to display with your Martini-Henry, or to simply wave about during the next rerun of "Zulu Dawn". (146312-6A)

1236. ANTIQUE BOARDING PIKE measuring 75 1/2" in overall length. The iron head shows a smooth mottled dark brown patina and measures 8" to the tip of the staff, with a leaf shaped blade of flattened diamond section. No markings are present. The head is attached to the staff with a rat tail tang imbedded in the wood rather than with the iron socket and strap mounting usually seen. The dark hardwood staff is antique in appearance with smooth surfaces, measuring 67 1/2" in length and tapering from 1 1/8" in diameter at the head to 5/8" at the butt. Several spatters of older red paint are visible towards the butt. Four shrinkage cracks surround the imbedded tang, with older glue stabilization evident. Overall a pleasing display piece with a well-aged if not original appearance. (146312-6B)

1237. MODERN REPRODUCTION HALBERD measuring 87" in overall length. The steel head measures 28 1/2" from the tip of the tapered spear point to the squared socket and is of welded construction with simulated forge marks and an overall faux patina. The crescent blade and beak have both been crudely sharpened with a grinding wheel. An ash staff has been fitted, remaining new in appearance with a clear oil finish and measuring 58 1/2" to the edge of the socket. The staff is square in cross section with roughly rounded corners and no taper. An interesting if somewhat crudely executed modern interpretation of a Revolutionary War period halberd. (146312-6C)

1238. ANTIQUE BARBED HARPOON OR FISH SPEAR measuring 67 3/4" in overall length. The round iron shaft measures 35" in length, 7/16" in diameter, and shows a rough forged metal surface with older surface pitting and dark patina. The pointed tip is square in cross section and has been pierced to allow forge welding of two rearward facing "U" shaped barbs, giving a total of four 1 1/2" curved tines each extending from one facet of the point. The arrangement and fitting of the barbs appears original, although the purpose remains a mystery as there is no way to remove the barbs or whatever the original user may have impaled. The wood staff measures 32 1/2" in length by 1 7/8" in diameter and is fitted with a forged iron collar to prevent splitting where the iron shaft is set into the wood. The wood appears original with an overall brown surface patina as well as scuffs and marks acquired through the years. The butt shows more substantial aging, with a diagonal section about 1/2" long having been worn away. An interesting and wicked looking piece that displays well, but remains of unknown purpose. (146312-6D)

1239. AUSTRIAN MARTINI ACTION SCHUETZEN RIFLE BY PETERLONGO 8.15x46R, 31 1/2" octagon barrel with a very good bore showing light roughness within the grooves. The metal surfaces of the barrel show decorative radial milling on the flats, now aged to primarily a brown patina with patches of pinprick oxidation; areas of textured orange oxidation are evident beneath the forearm. The frame is a dark blue gray patina with areas of pinprick pitting overlaid with patches of dried grease or varnish. More prominent pitting is visible adjacent to the wood of forearm. The right side of the frame bears the makers name "JOH. PETERLONGO" within an engraved banner, with the left side showing a similar banner engraved "INNSBRUCK". The breechblock shows a brown patina with pewter tones in recessed areas and features a milled hole extending through the rear of the frame to facilitate cleaning from the breech. The high comb rams-head schuetzen buttstock rates about good with checkered panels and soiled surfaces showing numerous scuffs and dings. An open structural crack appears at the right side of the wrist, extending from the top tang through to the triggerplate. The heavy schuetzen buttplate shows a mottled gray patina with peppered surface oxidation. The forearm rates about good and shows checkered panels now worn mostly smooth with a dry lightly soiled surface. A one inch chip is missing from the left rear edge with a 1" crack appearing above the right barrel wedge escutcheon. The rifle requires mechanical repair, as the action no longer cocks upon opening and the double set trigger no longer functioning. Both the adjustable rear schuetzen sight and the front sight are missing. In overall about fair condition this is a high quality rifle that has suffered from neglect over the years. (146599-67) {C&R} (300/500)

1240. UNMARKED GERMAN MARTINI ACTION SCHUETZEN RIFLE 8.15x46R, 30 3/4" octagon barrel with an excellent bore. The metal surfaces of the barrel show a mottled dark blue brown patina overlaid with areas of lightly textured surface oxidation along the entire length. The frame and ornate schuetzen trigger guard show about 50% dark blued surfaces, with spots of surface oxidation and pinprick pitting evident. The high comb rams head schuetzen buttstock rates about good and features a broad checkered panel with simple scroll edges on the right side as well as a carved thumb rest and simple floral carvings on the cheeks. A chip on the comb shows a poorly executed repair with expanding glue having lifted the chip about 1/4" from the original surface. Scuffs and dings from careless storage are apparent across the lightly soiled wood surfaces. The original heavy schuetzen buttplate with acorn finial remains intact but needs refitting as the adjoining wood has shrunken through the years. The forearm rates fair, with checkered panels and simple floral carvings adorning both cheeks. The barrel wedge remains intact but no longer secures the forearm to the barrel, with a band of clear heat shrink plastic now performing that function. The upper edges of the barrel channel show missing wood at all four corners, the largest being a 4" sliver missing from the left rear edge. Both the original adjustable schuetzen rear sight and the original adjustable front sight are intact, showing overall brown patina with light surface oxidation. A tired rifle with a great bore and a nice set of sights. (146599-72) {C&R} (300/500)

The interior leather lifting strap is missing. A very nice WWI Luger rig. (146623-64)

1242. GERMAN WWI PHOTOGRAPH ALBUM LOT This lot consists of one early photograph album documenting the travels and experiences of a German soldier during the Great War. The album consists of 24 pages bound in a heavy textured gray paper cover featuring an embossed Iron Cross with silver outline and bearing an interior 1914 date, as well a crown over centered "W" symbolic of the reign of Kaiser Wilhelm. The cover is bound with thin twisted cord in alternating red, black, and white Germanic colors, with small knotted tassels now frayed with age. The cover shows light soiling wear to the edges with age cracking and fold wear at the binding, the rear cover being absent entirely. Interior photographs are pasted on both sides of each page, and comprise a total of 208 images, ranging in size from 2"x3" to 8"x10", with all larger images postdating the war. All images are gelatin silver prints on paper and remain in excellent fully visible condition, with some images showing fading and yellowing from silver oxidation and/or sodium thiosulphate staining. Most pages have been carefully annotated in neat Germanic script with dates and place names fully legible but difficult to decipher unless the reader is German fluent. The album begins with the soldier's departure from Munich in 1914, showing a troop train and regimental group photo on the first page. From there the album progresses through various field postings at the front, documenting Christmas celebrations, field gun emplacements, burials, and fellow soldiers. Three photographs on page six document are dated 1915 and show soldiers in the trenches of St. Mihiel with Mausers trained across the lines as artillery bursts in the background. Several images are humorous in nature, with comrades in arms mugging over a cask of wine. One image pokes fun at several soldiers urinating in a trough latrine. Numerous images of communication stations show early telephone systems at the front. Daily trench life is documented with images of soldiers at rest in trench bunkers or cooking meals. One particularly poignant series of nine photos documents the interment of one J. Toten in 1917, showing soldiers with bayonets and shouldered gas-mask cannisters laying a wreath on the rough board casket. Another series documents a visit to the town of Allgau in the Bavarian Alps, and features actual sprigs of Edelweiss still pressed between the pages. The war images end in 1918, with the last seven pages of the album dedicated to documenting an electric generating plant in the early 1920's, indicating the original owner's probable occupation as an electrical engineer. Altogether a fascinating and historic collection of images that will please the discriminating WWI collector. (145984-115). (400/600)

GREENER BIRMINGHAM marking as well as the mark III designation, '16 date, broad arrow mark, and British proofs. The right side of the frame bears the serial number as well as Greener elephant trade mark. The barrel latch, trigger and hammer show mottled gray brown patina peppered with older pinprick surface oxidation. The smooth walnut grips rate very good plus showing strong original finish with the left panel having one 1" tight crack at the cheek as well as a 1/2" crack at the toe. Both grip panels are numbered to the pistol on interior surfaces. Some slot damage is evident to both the grip screw and the barrel pivot screw. Some light dings and tool marks are visible on the exterior surface of the right mold half. The interior faces and cavity surfaces remain clean and smooth. The walnut mold handles remain smooth and solid, showing only the lightest of handling marks. The brass ferrules remain tight and show a smooth ochre patina. Overall a very fine Winchester 32-40 mold that will pair excellently with the preceding model 1894 loading tool. (146328-47)

1248. MARLIN MODEL 39A LEVER ACTION RIFLE serial #P6997, 22 S.L.L.R., 24" barrel with a very good bore that is mostly bright but has a ring and bulge about 3/4" from the muzzle. The walnut beavertail forearm rates excellent, the pistolgrip buttstock has a few cracks; the buttplate is slightly proud. The original sights are intact, the front sight is missing the hood. The rosewood grips are correctly numbered to the gun and rate good displaying light handling wear with a crack visible on the inside of the right grip panel. The ejector rod is broken off and the bolt stop assembly is missing. The revolver still cocks and de-cocks correctly and the pawl still rotates the cylinder. (86556-5) {ANTIQUE} (25/75)

All metal surfaces are now a chestnut brown hue from oxidation with scattered pitting, dents and handling wear. The smooth grips are incorrect for this model with the left one displaying a vertical crack on the backside that runs 3/4 of the grip length. The end of the mainspring and mainspring screw have broken off and some rather interesting frontier style gunsmithing involving steel and wooden wedges were used to get it working again. Despite those efforts the mainspring is weak, the firing pin is broken off, the cylinder catch is missing parts and all markings including the serial number are no longer visible. Surprisingly the action still functions but the cylinder stop no longer does. (86258-19) {ANTIQUE} (200/400)
1255. COLT MODEL 1903 DOUBLE ACTION REVOLVER serial #266466, 32-20 Winchester, 6" barrel with an excellent bore. The trigger retains most of its Nitre blue with the face worn to gunmetal gray. The hard rubber grips are not correctly numbered to the revolver and are of the Navy configuration with the word Colt in an oval. Overall, the grips are in very good to excellent condition with some wear to the diamond points on the right panel. The finish on the cylinder has oxidized in the bolt stops, part of the cylinder face and some of the flutes. The frame has light oxidation blemishes around the loading gate and recoil shield for an overall retained finish of about 95%. The revolver was heavily buffed during the preparation for re-finishing and removed all markings and rounded the edges. The smooth Gutta Percha grips are in very good to excellent condition with light handling wear but are not correctly numbered to the gun. The barrel, cylinder and cylinder pin are correctly numbered to the gun. This first issue style Merwin copy has seen some frontier gunsmithing that includes a fabricated replacement triggerguard, several chambers have been hand reamed or polished leaving them out of round and the cylinder release has been cross hatched for better purchase. The saddest alteration is the removal of the retention collar at the front cylinder and a spacer soldered onto the barrels cylinder pin hole effectively removing its multiple ejection capability. (86298-2) {ANTIQUE} (300/500)

Checkering on the grip is worn and soiled but remains crisp on the forearm. The forearm has a unique push button release which has been reblued but has oxidation spotting and there is a plain steel decorative tip. A fluted hard rubber grip cap is in place and the original checkered hard rubber buttplate is present, both turning slightly brown and showing some wear. The stock has a length of 13 7/8" with drops of 1 5/8" at the comb and 2 1/2" at the heel. The gun features double triggers, extractors, and an automatic safety and the action is tight. With a little TLC and light loads this might be a good gun to use. (116225-44) {C&R} (275/375)

1357. PERCUSSION FOWLER BY WILLIAM READ OF BOSTON This fowler is a 16 bore and has a part round part octagon barrel with oxidized bore. It is marked with British proofs and has a banner on the top flat next to the breech marked "William Read Boston". The barrel shows good damascus pattern under the forearm but the remainder has been painted black. The under rib which holds the two ramrod thimbles is unattached but the thimbles are solid. The lock is also marked with Read's name and it has some worn simple foliate engraving and the brass triggerguard displays similar engraving and has a nice detailed pineapple finial. The straight stock rates fair as sanded showing proud metal around the tangs and buttplate. It is cracked on the left side around the action screw and remains unfinished. A brass buttplate with comb extension exhibits flaking black paint. There is a pewter nose cap and what appears to be the original ramrod is present missing the small cleaning or patch pulling end. A worthy project. (116271-6) {ANTIQUÉ} (100/200)

1358. AMERICAN STANDARD TOOL HERO SINGLE SHOT PERCUSSION PISTOL serial #4591, 34 cal, 2" barrel with a very good partially mildly pitted smooth bore. The brass frame rates about fine with a light tarnish, a couple of small dings, and "HERO" stamped on its left side. The iron barrel is primarily a pewter gray with some small areas of gray-brown patina showing and a few minor handling marks present. The hammer is gray with some scattered mild pitting and a few spots of oxidation. The bag shaped maple grips rate excellent, are ill-fitting, and are likely a later replacement. (126229-557) {ANTIQUÉ} [Elliott Riggs Collection]. (175/275)

1359. STAR MODEL B SEMI-AUTO PISTOL serial #229211, 9 mm, 5" barrel with an excellent bore. This Colt 1911A1 clone retains about 95% of its original finish with light oxidation marks on the slide and some scattered light scratches on the firearm. The double diamond- checkered wood grips rate good to very good, exhibiting heavy wear on the diamond points, some light chips on the edges, scratches and scuff marks. The pistol features a thumb safety, slide release and lanyard ring mounted on the lower left side of the grip frame. Two, 9-round magazines are included. One magazine has "STAR" marked on the base and the number 211 hand engraved on the back. The other does not have the STAR mark, but is hand engraved with the number 401. This is an inexpensive variant of the 1911A1 in a light recoiling caliber and generally makes a good shooter. (86220-1). (200/300) serial #299916, .32 cal. CF, 4 1/2" percussion barrel with an about good bore. The barrel and loading lever on this cartridge-converted revolver are numbered to a different gun and are primarily a deep gun metal gray with a near overall freckling of light brown oxidation and some pinprick pitting. The cylinder is a gun metal gray patina with brown oxidation speckling nearly overall and some generous traces of factory nickel plate; the cylinder scene is about 95% intact. The frame retains only traces of original nickel and is a dull gun metal gray with near overall oxidation speckling and some light pitting. The straps have toned primarily to a dull ocher patina, retaining perhaps 20% silver plate. The smooth one-piece walnut grip rates very good plus with some added varnish, showing perhaps an old light cleaning leaving the front edges soft showing light dings and handling marks; they are numbered in antique ink pen "9916". The gun seems to function mechanically although the hammer spring is somewhat weak. All the numbers on the back half of the gun are matching. An interesting cartridge-converted revolver with a percussion front end. (36258-51) {ANTIQUÉ} (275/375)

1361. AMERICAN ARMS COMPANY MODEL 1890 HAMMERLESS REVOLVER serial #1995, 32 S&W, 3 1/4" ribbed barrel that has a very good bore with a few areas of light pitting throughout. The metal surfaces retain about 85% of the original nickel finish that is lightly flaking and has some specks of light surface oxidation and a few small handling marks as well. The checkered hard rubber grips rate excellent, there is a small gap at the base between the left grip panel and the frame and the grips are scratch-numbered to match. The top strap is marked with patent dates of "May 28 '86 / Mar. 11 '89 / June 17 '90". An interesting turn-of-the-century made revolver that incorporates a grip safety and is in excellent overall condition. (46120-21) {C&R} (150/250)

1362. BELGIAN COPY OF PHILADELPHIA DERINGER PERCUSSION POCKET PISTOL .44 caliber, 2 1/2" barrel with an oxidized bore. This is a rather nice copy of an actual Henry Deringer-made Philadelphia percussion pistol. The barrel is now a pewter gray patina with some brown oxidation speckling and features a brass blade front sight. The patent breech shows extremely light, somewhat rudimentary engraving and the top flat is marked "Deringer Phila", actually stamped two or three times; the right diagonal flat shows a Belgian "view" proof mark. The tang shows some simple loose engraving and is actually cracked in two places but seems stable. The lockplate and hammer as well as a dull gun metal gray patina with some light loose flowing scroll. There are German silver wedge escutcheons, a nice silver triggerplate and triggerguard which closely approximates Deringer's work. The front extension of the triggerplate is chiseled into a pineapple finial and neatly engraved as-is the bow of the guard. There is a German silver sideplate, teardrop buttcap and shield-shaped monogram plate atop the wrist; the German silver flash guard below the nipple bolster, normally seen ahead of the lock is not present. The stock itself rates good plus to very good with much original varnish, light dings and handling marks and small cracks left and right; one at the nose and the other just above the wedge escutcheon. The lock is crisp and mechanically functional, the barrel wedge is a common steel replacement. A really interesting example overall of a glaring attempt to capitalize on the quality products made by Henry Deringer. (36258-67) {ANTIQUE} (275/375)

1363. GARATE ANITUA EL LUNAR DOUBLE ACTION REVOLVER serial #80320, 8 mm Lebel, 5 1/8" barrel with bright but lightly pitted bore. The barrel and frame retain 70% of a high polish blue with scattered scratches and broad areas of fine pitting. The cylinder exhibits 60 to 70% of a nitre blue with an obvious turn ring and fine pitting. The checkered wood grips have a dull finish with scratches but with robust checkering and no cracks. The serial number is stamped around the lanyard ring on the bottom of the grip. An obscure but decent revolver. (115308-32){C&R} (100/200)
1364. JAPANESE TYPE 38 ARISAKA NAVY BOLT ACTION TRAINING RIFLE serial #19327, 6.5 Blank, 31" barrel with a very good, but lightly pitted smooth bore. The metal surfaces retain about 80% original blue that is fading and flaking to brown. The top of the receiver has a crisp naval anchor with chrysanthemum in center logo and is otherwise unmarked. The hardwood stock rates excellent and has several light dings and handling marks and is marked on either side of the butt with bordered Japanese characters, one is a box, the other a circle. The rifle appears to be complete and included is a correct cleaning rod. A nice, interesting example of a Japanese Navy training rifle. (46120-99) {C&R} (100/200)
1365. CONESTOGA RIFLE WORKS FULL STOCK PERCUSSION RIFLE, .50 cal., 35" octagonal barrel with an oxidized and pitted bore. The metal surfaces are predominately a brown patina with scattered dents and scratches especially around the breech end of the barrel. The lock is a dark smoky gray patina with hammer mostly a lighter gunmetal gray. The brass furniture has turned to a pleasing golden straw color and remains in near excellent condition. The lock and the barrel are both marked Conestoga Rifle Works Lancaster PA. The hardwood stock rates good overall with a thin 3" crack through the wrist and long repairs approximately 16" from the muzzle along the barrel with a modest amount light handling marks, dents, scratches and crazed flaking finish. Some of the stock pins and hardware are modern replacements and do not fit the wood properly. The lock still functions but the ramrod is obviously not correct for the rifle and is too short. These rifles were reported to be economy rifles for the local trade marketed by Henry Lemman under his trade name Conestoga Rifle Works. (86190-4) {ANTIQUE} (100/200)

The metal surfaces on this antique air pistol retain about 90% original nickel, the loss is due to a few flakes on the top of the action but more prominently on the left and right side of the grips and some of the sharp edges. The metal beneath has toned to a dark pewter-gray with some flaking to brown. The top of the receiver flat shows 2 of this model of air pistol, crossed, with the "E.G." of Eisenwerke Gaggenau (Gaggenau Ironworks in English). The right side of the frame is marked only "patent" and the bolt seems to operate properly; it cannot be ascertained whether the gun will cock (the cocking tool is not present with the gun). There is a crack at the top of the grip at the rear of the frame, it is old and appears stable. The front sight is intact, there is a simple v-notch rear sight atop the frame. 1386. LOT OF GUS LEHNERT EPHEMERA First is an insurance policy from Northwestern Mutual Life for Gustave A. Lehnert dated November 20, 1879. The policy, for $4735 each year insures the life of the Gustave A. Lehnert, gunsmith, of Louisville Kentucky for $1000, for a 20 year period. An interesting read, it shows Gustave was born in Prussia in January of 1849, he has never had the smallpox but he has been vaccinated. He had two brothers and three sisters, it would appear both brothers died as infants. He has never used alcoholic beverages or other stimulants nor is he engaged in the sale of such. Additionally there are two receipts for payment of premium on this policy, one dated November 20, 1881 the other dated November 11, 1880. The receipts are from the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company's agents in Louisville Kentucky, Cowen & Robinson. These papers were tucked in a ledger book which shows dates from 1883-1887 and while Lehnert's name does not appear anywhere in the book it is likely his, showing numerous entries for normal everyday household goods but also entries for barreled actions and machine tools, the only real firearms names mentioned are "AG Spalding Brothers" and "Pittsburgh firearms" as well as "E. E. Eaton". The stock of guns pistols and supplies and materials on hand was worth $8800. Tools, lathes, drills and reamers were worth $800. The very last page also shows payment to the Hanover Fire Insurance Company of New York for insurance on his tools, this for the year ending 1888. The life insurance policy is very readable and mostly bright with light foxing on one of the pages and a small tear along one of the folds with some mildew and darkening on the eras of the policy that would've been exposed to the air when it was folded. The ledger book shows a separating spine, some mildew, light foxing and an antique stain on the cover which has affected a number of the pages beneath. A neat grouping overall relating to this famous and well-thought-of gunsmith. (34217)

2056. U.S. MODEL 1840 NIPPES CONTRACT PERCUSSION-CONVERTED "BLANKET GUN"

.69 cal. bolster-type percussion conversion, 14" barrel with an oxidized bore. All the metal surfaces are an overall dull brown oxidized patina showing some light pitting, more moderate in the flash areas surrounding the nipple, bolster and lockplate adjacent to it. The muzzle shows a slight bit more silvering and an attempt at some artificial aging through multiple peen and impact marks with some tool. The stock rates very good showing nice crazing, old antique varnish; it is sound and there are no remnants of any cartouches. The stock has been decorated with the addition of 4 brass tacks in the shape of a star on both the left and right side of the butt, with 6 brass tacks in line on both left and right of the forearm. The lock is crisp and mechanically functional and a shortened ramrod from the period of use is present, it appears to be a trapdoor rifle cleaning rod. The hammer screw is a replacement. (36364-4) {ANTIQUÉ} (350/550)

2057. ANTIQUE BRITISH NON-XLL BOWIE BY JOESPH ALLEN & SONS This knife measures 9 1/2" overall with a 5 1/2" tapered full tang blade marked "NON-XLL" along the obverse top edge and Allen & Sons Sheffield makers mark on the ricasso. The blade is an overall pewter gray with scattered spots of oxidation staining more prevalent on the reverse side with more moderate oxidation and pinprick pitting on the ricasso; the edge shows light silvering and scratching from being sharpened. The oval German Silver guard has nicely mellowed with a few specks of light oxidation and the cream colored jugged bone handles have darkened nicely with age and are fastened by three small iron brads. Knife includes a brown leather sheath with metal tip and thin leather belt loop stamped "Made In Germany" in the rear of the loop. The leather shows some light crazing but remains supple with previous owners name scratched in the front of the sheath and a stitched and glue repair to the rear of the belt loop which started to separate once again. A good to very good condition Sheffield bowie. (55706-45) (200/400)

2058. ETCHED IRON INDIAN DAHL SHIELD This is a hammered iron shield with rolled edge and an overall etch-engraved face. Remnants of some light colored damascening can be seen, likely some type of a silver wash or plate, but predominantly the shield is a soft lightly brown oxidized patina. There are images of tiger, elephants and what appear to be Durga, in some cases riding her Tiger; Shiva may be present as well. The edge of the shield shows geometric riveted appliques and there appears to be Hindi writing in 4 different panels. The shield had four hammered rondelles, 3 of which remain present which serve as anchors for the handle rings on the backside of the shield. The rings are present, the handles are not. The center textile cushion remains intact showing remnants of its burgundy baize covering, much of which has worn away; the stitching remains intact. The shield is an overall 17 1/2" in diameter, the back showing a bit more active oxidation. Very pleasing overall with the etching still fully visible. (35393-2)

2059. LOT OF WINCHESTER PROMOTIONAL PAPER This lot consists of 19 copies of Winchester Western 1980 Sporting Arms and Ammunition catalog. Catalogs are all very good plus to excellent, perhaps with some very light foxing here and there, most are likely unread. They feature the 101 line, the 23 XTR line, the Super X Model 1's all manner of 94 and model 70, the commemorative for that year was the Oliver F Winchester Model 94. A single Winchester Western 1976 Sporting Arms Ammunition Reloading Components catalog is included as well. It rates very good with the complete product line, the 101 and 21 shown with the model 52 in the International Match with laminated stock and D-handle palm rest included as well; the commemorative for that year was of course the Winchester Bicentennial 76. Three copies of the Winchester 1973 Sporting Arms and Ammunition catalog are included, they rate very good showing a couple minor wrinkles here and there, showing the full product line with the introduction of the Model 37 single shot shotgun and introducing the Win-Choke system at no extra cost rather than as an added extra. The model 94 Antique is shown as are Winchester air rifles and pistols. Next is a Winchester ammunition promotional poster. "What America Shoots", showing all manner of centerfire rifle, pistol, rimfire and shotshell ammunition, promoting Super X, and Supreme brand lines (likely 80's-era). The poster rates excellent and was likely not even unfolded before being consigned. Measures 33 1/2"x22". Last are (2) Winchester BRI sabot slugs promotional posters measuring 22 1/4"x15"; they too rate excellent. (36512-5)

2060. LOT OF WINCHESTER IN-STORE PROMOTIONAL POSTERS This lot consists of some interesting Winchester ammunition posters. The first is a large black-and-white poster promoting Winchester Supreme Ammunition. The poster reads "Winchester Supreme Frees Your Time to Pursue Other Things" with a photograph of a large bull moose amidst a woodland high country backdrop, likely Alaska; copyright-dated 1988. The poster rates about excellent with a couple little minor wrinkles and one light scuff on the right edge, it would still look wonderful framed. Measures 21"x30". Next is a Winchester ammunition promotional poster. "What America Shoots", showing all manner of centerfire rifle, pistol, rimfire and shotshell ammunition, promoting Super X, and Supreme brand lines. The poster rates excellent and was likely not even unfolded before being consigned. Measures 33 1/2"x22". The next poster is Winchester Ammunition and 1989-dated. Again centerfire pistol, rifle and shotshells promoting Super X, AA Plus, Super X Buckshot and Super Steel. The poster rates about excellent with a few very minor wrinkles. Last are (2) Winchester BRI sabot slugs promotional posters measuring 22 1/4"x15"; they too rate excellent. The moose poster comes in an original outer cardboard shipping sleeve from Winchester which reads "If You Could Put Up with More Ammo Sales Put Up These Materials in Your Store" "Winchester Fall Promotion Materials" along with the horse and rider logo. Really a neat set of posters, the moose very seldom encountered these days. (36512-12)

2061. SAVAGE STEVENS FOX PROMOTIONAL PRINT

This is a colorful promotional print from Savage-Stevens-Fox, "First In the Field" by artist Henry "Hy" Hintermeister (amusingly normally Remingtons slogan). Printed on textured paper, no doubt from the 50s or 60s, the depiction of two English Setters on point remains vivid. The white outer border does show some light soiling from the years but overall the print rates very good plus to near excellent, the 4 corners each show pinholes from being displayed at one point, one of those torn out towards the outer edge, they would disappear when framed and matted. Measures 26"x19 3/4". A very nice depiction overall. (36512-12A)

2062. LOT OF WINCHESTER IN-STORE PROMOTIONAL MATERIALS This lot consists of an enameled tin sign for one of Winchester's "Ammunition Advisory Center" promotional stores. Designed to be hung suspended, the sign features the Winchester Ammunition Advisory Center logo on both sides beneath the horse and rider logo. The sign rates excellent and features a lightly stamped or beaded edge and is unblemished but shows an extremely light bend along one top edge, likely could easily be rectified. Included with the sign is a print of the famous 1923 Winchester calendar top showing the Philip Goodwin print of a hunter with Winchester model 1895 rifle straddling a rocky outcropping looking down on bighorn sheep. This is printed on textured paper and features a "High Country Classics" ink stamping on its back backside. The poster rates excellent with each corner having a tiny hole from a tack; they would disappear when framed. A very nice lot of Winchester accessories overall for your gun room or Winchester display. (36512-11)

serial #1422, This lot consists of a Bluegrass Cutlery commemorative edition of 3 pocketknives. This was the 100th year anniversary of the introduction of the Winchester model 1894 rifle, the set issued in 1994. Includes a set of 3 pocketknives with specially etched 100 year anniversary blades and embossed depictions of Winchester model 94's on their scales. The copper-colored scales feature the "Winchester Model 94 Rifle". The silver-tone scales feature the "Winchester Model 94 Rifle Takedown" while the gold-tone scales feature the "Winchester Model 94 Carbine", each showing an identical "100 Years of Model 94 Excellence/Winchester/1894-1994" legend adjacent to the horse and rider on their reverse scales. Each blade is marked Winchester/Trademark/Made in USA" with the knife's model number "1994-2", "1994-3", and "1994-4". The knives are as-new, as-received and are serial numbered 1422 out of 2000. A couple of the blades do show some minor scuffs but they are as-received from Bluegrass Cutlery. The knives come in an attractive gold and black tone flip-top box with black-baize lining the interior while the lid shows a depiction of the A.B. Frost painting of 2 hunters shooting at a distant deer, which was the bottom edge of the 1895 calendar. Included with the knives are a Certificate of Authenticity, numbered to the knives and signed and one-year warranty statement. The outer edge of the lid as well features a sticker "1422" with the serial number of the knives. An excellent set of 1894 Commemorative Knives for the 120th anniversary of the introduction of what is arguably Winchester's most famous and most popular model lever gun. (36512-16)

2064. LOT OF BB/PELLET PISTOLS AND RELATED ACCESSORIES

This lot consists of 2 air pistols. One is a Crossman Arms Company Model 454. The gun is CO2-powered and shoots BBs only. It is metal and appears very good plus with minor holster wear and high edge wear retaining likely 98% plus original enamel. The mottled red-black-brown grips rate about excellent with only minor scuffs. The gun appears complete and the parts seem to work well. The tab which operates the feed plunger has had the protruding portion break off but will still work with proper manipulation (some small tool like a bobby pin is required to push the plunger along and lock it down while the BBs are loaded); included with the gun is the Crossman speed loader BB loading-tube. Next is a Crossman Model 357 .177 caliber CO2-powered pellet revolver. The gun rates about very good and retains perhaps 85 to perhaps 90% original enamel, the most loss due on the high edges of the "cylinder"; it is of metal and plastic construction. The rifled barrel appears very good plus to perhaps excellent. There is some light residue which may be hardened oil or some kind of paint overspray in some places on the gun but it likely would clean easily. The faux wood-scale grips rate very good. The rear sight blade seems to be missing from the pistol but it seems to operate mechanically properly. The revolver cylinder which is included is the gray-tone 10-shot version. Included are 18 CO2 powerlets, being a mix of Daisy and Crossman, a partial box of Crossman pellets and BBs and what would appear to be an over-full box of Daisy .177 cal. premium grade "Max Speed" airgun pellets. A good lot overall which likely would still perform well in the backyard, basement or afield. (36512-3)

2065. MISCELLANEOUS SHOOTERS ACCESSORY LOT

This lot consists of a Remington refreshment tray of varnished softwood. The tray features dual handles and measures 17 3/4 x 11" overall. The tray portion features a deeply impressed "Remington UMC/First in The Field/Long-Range High Velocity Loads", superimposed over the image of a flying Canada goose over a green circle, perhaps trying to be the moon or sun. The tray rates about excellent overall with some minor scuffs and handling marks. The next item is a Scotch game call; this particular example is the number 1401 duck call. This is a bellows style call, hand operated without the necessity of blowing into the call. It rates excellent to very nearly as-new and comes in its original box. The next item is an Olt model A-5 goose call. It rates about very good and comes with instructions and its original sleeve. There are 3 VCR tapes included: Woods Wise Callmasters Afield "Screaming Gobblers 2 the Right Place" tape on turkey hunting; a Remington Arms Company instructional tape on the safe use and care of your Remington firearm; last a New Hampshire Public Television episode of the New Hampshire Crossroads television program "Just up the Road/North of the Notches with Fritz Weatherby". Flex choke with tightening wrench in plastic pouch. This is a Winchester Win-choke, made for Sears, it is full. The chokes are as-new and appear unused. 2067. MEDITERRANEAN MIQUELET BELT PISTOL

About .79 cal., 10 3/4" swamped octagon barrel with an oxidized bore. The barrel is an overall oxidized brown patina with silver damascened appliques of scroll, toned now to a blue-gray tarnish. The patilla style lock is also an oxidized brown patina with a single star-shaped touch mark on the lockplate and a lightly engraved brass accent plate in the flash area of the pan. There are light silver inlays on both hammer and frizzen which are the same tarnished dull gray-blue patina. The Mediterranean hardwood stock rates very good plus and shows overall light silver hammered floral and scroll inlays, about 98% of which are present. The ramrod thimble, tailpipe and triggerguard are crudely cast brass. The lock is not completely functional mechanically and requires manipulation to drop the hammer completely. What is likely the original ramrod is present. An interesting and rather attractive, likely North African, belt pistol overall. (36535-2A) (ANTIQUE) (350/550)

The handle and matching scabbard is constructed of bone carved with foliate and oriental figures and designs having some light chips and cracks. There is a filled in chip in the front of the handle and the wooden pin the secures the handle to the knife tang is missing leaving the handle loose and the two piece scabbard has an old glue repaired crack at the seams which loose and separated and only half of the wood liner is present. 2305. POWDER CAN LOT This is an unusual size can by the Robin Hood Powder Co. measuring 9" in height with a diameter of 8". The can rates about near excellent, exhibiting strong seams and retaining about 95% of its bright green paint with loss due to scattered handling marks where surface oxidation is present and it exhibits minor dings in an isolated area. 2306. POWDER CAN LOT This is a five lb. size can by the Robin Hood Powder Co. measuring 6 1/4" tall with a rectangular body that is 6" long and 4" wide. The sides exhibit moderately crazed forest green paint as a backdrop to the dull and faded graphics comprised of the Robin Hood logo on the front and all three sides and an information panel on the back that exhibits illegible blurry text. Purportedly the crazed paint is characteristic for the manufacturer's cans of this size. The top shows mottled oxidation over most of the surface and that of the included original cap which has a small hole at the top edge due to oxidation. The bottom retains about 90% of an original gold or copper like lacquer finish showing scattered oxidation staining. The can is still strong with virtually no dings or dents and light scattered scratches. An interesting fully intact piece with an almost pebble grain like appearance. (76779-25B)

2307. POWDER CAN LOT This is 1/2 lb. size can by the Robin Hood Powder Co. measuring 4 1/2" tall with a rectangular body that is 3 1/2" long and 1 1/4" wide. The intact can features a dark green painted surface with faded white print on the front panel that exhibits a blurry red image of Robin Hood against a white background to form the company logo. Above the image, the text reads "Half Bulk Pound./Robin Hood" and below it: "Smokeless Powder/For Shot Guns./Manufactured By/The Robin Hood Powder Co./Swanton, VT." The back of the can consists of red print against an even more faded white, almost close to yellow, panel serving as a warning and directions for use. The text on the front is legible with the exception of the left side of "Pound" and the image of Robin Hood is faded with a dark spot towards the top. The back panel of this fully intact can also shows similar spots and the overall mottled spotting including some of light oxidation leaves the small print on the back difficult to discern. Also evident in scattered areas are handling marks and light dings. The bottom shows mottled oxidation staining while the top is a more consistent dark tone that extends to the included original cap. A nice 1890's era can from the Vermont maker. (76779-25C)

2308. POWDER CAN LOT This is a 1/2 lb. size can by the Robin Hood Ammunition Co. measuring 4 1/2" x 3 1/2" with a diameter of 1 1/4". The fully intact can is green with red and white graphics including a front featuring a crisp company logo and above it: "Half Bulk Pound./Robin Hood" while below it is "Smokeless Powder/For Shot Guns/Manufactured By/The Robin Hood Ammunition Co./Swanton, Vt.". The back reveals a warning message and general directions in the form of red print over a white background with a decorative rectangular border. This panel exhibits a yellowed tone with the exception of a small area that apparently made contact with some liquid as it cleaned it to a whiter tone with a brown surrounding outline. The text is clearly legible as is that on the front which also reveals some reddish and darker spots and within the logo, some handwritten notes, likely in pencil. Also evident along the sides are scattered spots of loss that reveal a glistening silvery surface. The bottom retains about 70% of a gold like lacquer finish with loss due to surface oxidation that is progressing to pin prick pitting in some areas. The top exhibits a dark almost even patina of surface oxidation including that of the included cap. A fine addition to your powder can collection from the period when the Vermont company also manufactured ammunition. (76779-25D)

2309. POWDER CAN LOT This is a 1 lb. size can measuring 6"x4"x1 1/2" from Robin Hood Powder Co. The white print above it reads "One Bulk Pound/Robin Hood". Below the logo is: "Smokeless Powder/For Shot Guns/Manufactured By/The Robin Hood Powder Co./Swanton, Vt.". The back consists of the guarantee and general directions in red print over a white rectangular backdrop outlined by a decorative border. Overall, the paint exhibits a crazed texture with somewhat dull graphics on the front showing mild staining of dirt and grime while the back shows more of the same, along with some darker discoloration, likely from contact with liquid. Some scattered small handling marks are also evident revealing a bright silver body beneath. The top and bottom panels retain about 90% of their original gold lacquer finish, a correct cap is included. Your chance to acquire this infrequently available can from this desirable New England maker. (76779-25E)

2310. POWDER CAN LOT This is a 1lb. size can measuring 6"x4"x1 1/2" by the King Powder Company. The mint green painted can exhibits a front center design with the trademark "King's" within the image of a crown above a yellow banner reading "Semi-Smokeless/Pat. Jan. 17, 1899" and beneath that is "A New Composition/Mechanically Incorporated/For Rifles and Shot Guns.". All of this is contained within a red circular border containing "High-Velocity-Low Pressure/Manufactured By/The King Powder Co., Cincinnati, O. U.S.A.". In addition, the upper top reads "One Pound Bulk/12 Ozs. Net". The sides of the intact can each feature black print in the form of ribbon like banners with the left stating "Extreme Cleanliness" and the right "Quick Ignition". The back of the can consists of another circular design, this one in black print with general information within an outer ring that reads "King's Semi-Smokeless for Rifles and Shot Guns" and at the very bottom in tiny print: "A.C.CO.10AM" The can retains about 92% original paint with only light fading, some spots of white pitting and black grime and scattered scratches. The bottom retains about 85% gold lacquer finish with loss due to scattered oxidation staining with some pitting evident. The top which exhibits a correct cap retains about 15% finish with the balance a consistent brownish oxidation. A rare can with bright crisp graphics. (76779-25F)

2311. POWDER CAN LOT This is a powder can measuring 7 1/2" tall with a diameter of 6 1/4" by the King Powder Co. The maroon painted can features a bottom label encompassing nearly the entire panel with a virtually redundant smaller (2 1/2" diameter) label placed at its center. This smaller one includes the trade mark company logo as its center focal point and consists of the image of a crown with a front that reads "King's" and within its interior, "FFFFG". Below it is a light teal-colored ribbon-style banner proclaiming: "Quick Shot" and below that is "An Improved/Black Powder/For/Rifles & Shotguns.". All of this is enclosed by a light yellow ring consisting of "Quick, Clean, Strong, Light Smoke" as a top section and at its bottom: "Manufactured By/The King Powder Co., Cincinnati, O.U.S.A.". The label shows light dirt and fading with minor peeling evident at the circumference. The larger label beneath it is identical in graphics with the exception of the banner which in this case is a bright blue with a matching blue serving as the color of gemstones decorating the crown and the same blue making up the two outer rings serving as a border. A few sections towards the outside of this label are missing with others peeling back a bit with small tears in isolated areas. The colors and black print are quite bold. The top also includes a label identical in design to the smaller one on the bottom. This one reveals a portion of the outer area missing at the upper right including a small amount of text, as is the case with a smaller one below it that extends slightly further into the label that shows more peeling on the left side and overall light fading and mild staining from dirt and possibly oxidation transfer from the top panel marked "1.C.C.1.3". The can retains nearly 90% surface paint that could almost be described as brick red with most of the loss at the top. There is light scattered pitting evident including within the outline of where a 4 1/2"x3" label was once placed. Also evident is a small white spot caused by some chalky substance, a few dings and dents and just the beginning of separation at the side seam. Also included is a properly fitting cap. An opportunity to obtain an obscure piece. (76779-25G)

2312. ADVERTISING LOT This is a point of sale display counter mat promoting the Robin Hood Powder (later Ammunition) Co. of Swanton, Vt. The 21"x13" felt cloth piece consists of a red border and lettering stitched over a forest green backdrop. The 4 1/2" tall letters simply and boldly read "ROBIN HOOD" encompassing the entire length at its center. The red areas exhibit a somewhat uneven light fading as does the green but with some bright almost fade-free areas including several round spots where items were likely displayed. Also evident at some of these locations are impressions and some nearby areas with light brown staining that blends inconspicuously with the green, and some pin-head size holes, with maybe one or two having penetrated entirely through. The back reveals fully intact stitching over a robust forest green that is characteristic of items from this highly desirable maker. A very rare piece in about near excellent condition. (76779-51A)

2313. WINCHESTER CATALOG LOT This original copy of Catalogue No. 81 measures 8 1/2"x5 1/2" and features a light brown paper-back cover bound by glue at its spine and consists of 213 pages plus an index, bound by two fully intact staples. The cover is highlighted by the trademark company name towards the top in raised red letters with black borders, the back with the big bold red trademark "W" in raised lettering towards the bottom. The spine also contains the same style Winchester name, and like the front also identifies this as "Catalogue No. 81", in this case in red as opposed to the black print used on the front bottom right. The front and back each exhibit matching decorative red borders near the perimeters. The top and bottom of the front each have splits at the spine measuring about 1" on the top and 2" at the bottom where there is also a small section that has become unglued but is still faintly attached at the back. The top of the spine reveals less separation and some light creasing, the middle area with minor darker discoloration. The front reveals barely visible isolated areas of discoloration and also exhibits faint scuffing and a couple of creases at the bottom. The back reveals a couple of areas of light grime and creases with more light dirt evident where it meets the spine. The top edge of the body reveals light foxing and dirt with even lesser amounts at the side and bottom edges. The cover opens to reveal a title page that includes "Repeating and Single Shot/Rifles, Repeating Shotguns, Metallic Cartridges, Empty/and Loaded Shells, Brass/Shot Shells, Gun Wads,/Primers, Percussion Caps,/Shot, etc.". This page also contains a small penciled in note at the upper right consisting of an old price and the year of this catalog: "1918". This page also reveals some light foxing originating from and more pronounced at the spine. The foxing continues but decreases onto the ensuing pages until it is barely detectable at about page 15. The back pages exhibit similar characteristics in this regard. The balance rates near excellent with very faint discoloration along the interior edges, and a slight crease on the upper right of some pages. As mentioned on the title page, this catalog covers a wide range of products and includes hundreds of illustrations including cutaways and component parts of iconic models such as 86, 95, 12 and 97. A true collector's item in near excellent condition. (76679-18A)

2314. WINCHESTER CATALOG LOT This original copy of Catalogue No. 80, 1916 is the Fiftieth Anniversary issue and measures 8 1/2" x 5 1/2". The paperback book has a brown vinyl cover with a front that reads "Winchester/Repeating Arms Co./New Haven, Ct./80 (within a circle) 1916" in gold embossed print with scroll type font and decorative accents. The spine also features embossed print in the form of the trademark bold W as end caps for the company trademark name and "No. 80", the back cover is plain. The cover exhibits mild to moderate wear most prominently where the binding webbing is exposed where the front meets the spine at the midsection, the extreme top and bottom of the spine where it is exposed, and the front lower right corner which is missing a small section. The book opens to reveal a title page with red, green and gold embossed graphics that also constitute the back page. The catalog consists of 224 pages of information including hundreds of detailed illustrations of the multitude of items available through Winchester at the time. The most prominent characteristic of this collector's item may very well be the uncommon indexing tabs at the far right of their respective pages: tabs marked with iconic models such as 1873, 1886, 1894, and categories such as Rifle Ctgs., Shot Shells, and Pistol Ctgs. The tabs do exhibit wear with several folding back somewhat, a scant amount with corners having worn off slightly. With all pages present and showing near excellent condition and the back cover rating excellent through most of its surface, the overall condition of this scarce item comes in at about near very good. (76678-78)

One side reads "500 R.H.A.Co. 12 ga./Load No.224/Eclipse/Loaded With/Near Smokeless/Powder/3-1". The opposite side includes the categories but is not stamped with the specifics. It is also worth mentioning that the top line is partially devoid of ink, retaining however slight impressions at the point of contact. All other stamps are legible, albeit somewhat faded and the wood shows very little finish present. The box, which is of finger joint construction and features inset handles, shows slight separation at one upper corner, chips at several corners and edge areas, and light wear in scattered areas. The interior reveals large areas of a mild white discoloration, the exterior with a few spots of maybe white paint in one isolated area, but overall the crate is intact with a pleasing honest appearance and rates very good to excellent. (76678-42A)

2316. AMMUNITION CRATE LOT This wood crate by the Robin Hood Ammunition Co. measures 15"x9 1/2"x9" with a front and back stamped in the trademark forest green with the company logo at its center including an outer ring that reads "Loaded with Robin Hood Smokeless Powder" around the image of a sloping landscape only, as the originally stamped Robin Hood figure has faded away. Also included is "Robin Hood Shells" above the logo and below it is "Manufactured By/The Robin Hood Powder Co./Swanton, Vt.". Each side panel includes the logo with one side devoid of any marking within the inner circle and the other without Robin Hood himself, and also included within the rectangular border is "500" and "12 Ga.", each within a circle and located at the top and at the bottom is "Drs. Oz. No. Shot" all stamped in green. The box is of finger joint construction with inset handles and shows a few chips and handling marks and may have been previously cleaned with a light added finish applied. The interior is quite clean but it does reveal a nail protruding slightly from the bottom to the inside of the wall. Overall a nice looking intact collectible box from this Vermont maker. 2341. COLLECTIBLE REMINGTON LOT This lot consists of two interesting factory sealed packages containing .22 cal. ammunition. First is the Remington 22 Ammunition & Playing Card Gift Set comprised of 200 rds. of High-Velocity LR cartridges with "Golden Bullets" contained in a decorative hinged antique style tin and two decks of poker-sized playing cards. Both the tin and the cards feature a wonderful illustration of mallard ducks inhabiting a grassy pond area with either a sunrise or sunset in the background and the Remington name and slogan "First in the Field" displayed at the top. The items are contained in a wood grain style decorative cardboard display box with the image of the cartridges and cards featured prominently at the bottom. The other gift pack is comprised of 300 rds. of "Golden Bullet" High Velocity 22 cartridges and a genuine Remington pocket knife. The ammunition is contained in six 50 rd. boxes with three displayed on either side of the knife housed in a dark wood grained cardboard box with a window exhibiting the knife reminiscent of the 1920's original with a dark stag handle. A fun lot for the Remington, ammunition or knife collector. (76679-17)
2342. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is a factory sealed two piece cardboard box with a one piece yellow label with a faded top section that features an image of an enclosed round at its center and above it in black print: "50" at each upper corner bordering the trademark Winchester name and the line below that reading ".22 Long Rifle Cartridges". Beside the image is the head stamp "H" logo to the left and to the right is "Made in U.S.A.". Below that is "Lesmok" just above "Precision 75" which sits above the company name and address. There is a faded red stripe that runs up and down diagonally through the entire top. The side panels are identical, showing much more vibrant yellow, and feature the trademark big bold red "W" as a background to ".22 Long Rifle/Target Cartridge/Precision 75/Lesmok/Winchester Make". The label extends to cover about 2/3 of the bottom panel with a right side that includes the guarantee message along with the code "2532" and "5-20". The left side shows small round impressions to the extent that the box panel is visible. The label also shows minor scattered spots and very light wear. The front box panel exhibits mild spotting at the lower right and scattered light discolorations appear on the back as well. A rare item particularly in this condition and factory sealed. (76679-36A) {This lot pictured on page 103}
2343. COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION BOX This is an opened two piece cardboard box containing 45 rds. of Winchester .22 Lr. The box has a one piece maroon label with a top section exhibiting black print including at the center an image of an enclosed round and to its left the trademark "H" logo and to the right is "Rim/Fire". The top of the label contains "50" on either side of the trademark "Winchester" name. Below that is ".22 Winchester Rim Fire" and below the image resides "Smokeless Rifle Cartridges/Adapted to Winchester Model 90 and Single shot Rifles/Made in U. S. A.". The bottom line consists of the company name and address. The sides are identical and read ".22 Winchester/Rim Fire/Smokeless/Rifle Cartridges/Winchester Make", all over the big bold "W" which in this case is formed as a result of a white outline. The bottom panel retains one side of the label only with it showing wear at the edge. The balance of the label also shows some scattered areas of loss with the graphics somewhat challenging to discern due to spattering of minute spots of label wear. The exposed parts of the box reveal a dark patina from what appears to be ingrained dirt and there are also scattered wear marks throughout the surfaces. The lid features thumb cutouts and the ammunition rates near excellent with nice dark gray tips and fairly bright cases. (76679-36B) {This lot pictured on page 103}
2344. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is an opened two piece cardboard box containing the full 50 rds. of Winchester .22 Lr. The box has a teal colored top label with black print featuring an image of an enclosed round at the upper center and within it is ".22 Winchester/Rim Fire" with the trademark "H" as a head stamp. To its left is "50" and ".22" at the right. Below this is "Winchester/Rim Fire/Cartridges/7 1/2 Grs. Powder. 45 Grs. Bullet/Manufactured by the/Winchester Repeating Arms Co./New Haven, Conn., U. S. A.". The label exhibits light foxing and perhaps contact with grime or liquid but the text is easily read. The yellowish orange colored side sealing label has front and rear panels that read ".22 Caliber/Winchester/Rim Fire./Model 1890." and sides that read ".22 Winchester Rim Fire/Model 1890.". Portions of the word "Winchester" are missing from the unsealing process at the front and the label shows areas of minor loss, and ingrained dirt. The underside reveals a label as well, this one being in the form of a guarantee with the company name in cursive below, although much of the message has worn off. There are also spots of dirt particularly at the corners. The corners of the top show more wear but the box in general has fairly sharp edges. The ammunition has held up extremely well as it exhibits clean tips and cases and rates excellent, the box itself approaching that condition rating. (76679-36C) {This lot pictured on page 103}
2345. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is a factory sealed two piece cardboard box containing 50 rds. of Winchester .22 short. The box has a top label that was originally a light green or teal color but has faded to an almost transparent green. The black print however remains strong and features an image of an enclosed round near the center of the label and within it lies ".22 Short" and the trademark "H" head stamp. To its left lies "Rim Fire" forming a semi circle above the head stamp logo. To the right of the cartridge is "Stetson's/Patent/Oct. 31, 1871". The top of the label exhibits "50" at each corner and bordering the trademark "Winchester" name, and below that is a line of a trademark statement. The lower half of the label reads "Lesmok (within quotations) Rifle Cartridges/Manufactured by the/Winchester Repeating Arms Co./New Haven, Conn., U. S. A.". The bottom left corner contains the code "8", while the right has "9-14". The bright yellow side label reads "50 .22 Short/Target Cartridges/Lesmok (within quotes) Powder/Winchester Make." On the front while the back contains an extensive statement of guarantee in small but still easily discernible font with a larger company name in cursive below it. To its left is the code "141" and beside that: "9-14". The sides each contain a big bold "W" as a backdrop to "50/.22 Short/Lesmok (once again in quotes)". This side label overlaps the tan sealing tape which is firmly attached to a plain buff colored and quite clean bottom panel which contrasts to the lid whose exposed edges reveal a darker but mostly even tone. The box has nice sharp edges and only one portion of the labels has any blemishes worth mentioning, that being some marks on the front that have obscured portions of some letters. A very collectible item indeed. (76679-36D) {This lot pictured on page 103}
2346. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is a factory sealed two piece cardboard box containing 50 rds. of Winchester .22 short. The box has an emerald green label with black print that includes an image of an enclosed round bearing the "H" head stamp and "Short" along the case. A shadow effect is also presented in the illustration bordered by "50" at its left and ".22 cal." to the right just above the patent logo which includes an 1871 date. The line below reads "Rifle Cartridges." with "Smokeless" running diagonally over it in red. The lower portion of the label contains the company name and address, the "H" logo at its left and "15 10-8" to the right. The faded orange side label includes a front with the guarantee statement, a back with "50 .22 Short/Target Cartridges./Smokeless (in white within a pointed black oval)", a left panel with a red big bold "W" and trademark statement below it as a backdrop to "Smokeless (in white within a black oval)/.22 Short", and a right panel with the sunburst trademark logo containing "Winchester/Smokeless". The underside is plain and reveals a clean buff colored and fully intact seal over a surface showing the slightest of wear and maybe a minute spot or two. The exposed edge of the lid shows a darker, somewhat uneven patina with minimal wear. The labels show only very light blemishes overall with the exception of the back side with spots of dark discoloration. An example that has withstood the test of time remarkably. (76679-36E) {This lot pictured on page 103}

2347. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is an opened one piece cardboard box with tray containing the original full 50 rds. of Winchester .22 Lr. The box features a mix of red, white and blue graphics including a top with an image of an enclosed cartridge as its centerpiece and the trademark Winchester name at the top and "Trade Mark Made in U. S. A." between them. The left of the drawing reads ".22/Long Rifle", the right "50/Lesmok" and below is "Precision 200". The front and back share identical graphics with text that includes "Precision 200/Target Cartridges" presented above the company name and address. Both side flaps have separated and the sole remaining one consists of a top that reads "Caution!/Dangerous within/1 Mile" and side with "Winchester/(trademark info.)/.22 Long/Rifle/Precision/200/K 2238 R". The bottom panel consists of the guarantee statement and "Made in U. S. A." below it. The edges show mild to moderate edge wear, the front left corner has a scuff that has obliterated a small portion of the address and the upper left corner of the top is beginning to tear and peel back a bit as is a smaller section at the upper center. The white sections of the graphics have faded to an uneven tan but the red and blue have held up quite well. The virtually blemish free tray has a split on one corner, and a bottom stamped "105 28". The ammunition rates very good to excellent with nice bright tips and light tarnish on some cases. (76679-36F) {This lot pictured on page 103}
2348. COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION BOX This is a two piece cardboard box containing 24 rds. of Winchester 22 Lr. The box has a faded green label with black print consisting of the trademark Winchester name in quotation marks and "50" on either side of it, all forming the top line, and below it is "Trademark.". The next line includes a drawing of an enclosed cartridge with "H" and ".22 Winchester/Rim Fire" depicted on it, and to its left is "Pat. May/28, 1912." and at its right "45 Gr./Bullets". The lower half reads "Rifle Cartridges/Manufactured by the/Winchester Repeating Arms Co./New Haven, Conn., U. S. A.". Also included is the trademark "H" logo at the lower left corner and to its right is the code "18", while the lower right consists of "3-13". The orange sealing label includes a front that reads ".22 Caliber/Winchester/Rim Fire/Model 1890/Winchester Make.", and back with the guarantee statement and below the signature company name lies the code "112" and "1-10". The sides exhibit identical graphics consisting of a red big bold "W" as a backdrop to ".22/Winchester/Rim Fire/Model 1890/Winchester Make." in black and below that in red is "Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat./Off.and through't the world". This label has very small portions missing as is common at the point of separation on this style box and the top label shows light foxing that has had little effect on the still bold black print. The box shows very light overall wear and scattered areas of ingrained dirt, predominantly at the edges. The box is intact with the exception of the right edge of the lid which has split and the ammunition rates very good to excellent with a very light scattered film on the cases emitted from the tips. (76679-36G) {This lot pictured on page 103}
2349. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is a factory sealed two piece cardboard box containing 50 rds. of Winchester .22 short. The box has a one piece wraparound label with a faded teal colored top section and black print that features a drawing of an enclosed cartridge as its main focal point. Also prevalent is the trademark Winchester name at upper center and "50" at each upper corner. Just above the cartridge is ".22 Short" and to its left lies the "H" head stamp logo and beside it is "Rim Fire". To the far right reads "Stetson's/ Patent/Oct. 31st, 1871". Below that is "Lesmok Rifle Cartridges/Made in U. S. A." above the company name and address. The balance of the label is a bright yellow including sides with identical graphics consisting of the big bold "W" in red as a background to ".22 Short/Rim Fire/Lesmok/Rifle Cartridges/K2254R". The label extends to the underside where the left side reveals the statement of guarantee and below the company signature lies the code "2538" and "7-20". The right extension is plain exhibiting small round spots revealing the buff colored panel below. The exposed sections that are not labeled show isolated dark spots predominantly at the front left but are virtually free of wear as is the label with the top showing whitish contact areas. All text remains bold black with the underside obscured slightly as a result of a small area of dark discoloration. (76679-36H) {This lot pictured on page 103}
2350. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is a factory sealed one piece cardboard box with a buff colored wraparound label with a top section featuring red print that reads "Danger-High Pressure/S. A. A. M. I. Standard/ Definitive Proof Loaded Cartridges/50 22 Long Rifle/For Use Only In Proof Range/Gun to be fired only from a fixed rest with operator properly protected/Tinned cases with bullets lacquered red indicate high pressure/Winchester Repeating Arms Company/Division of Olin Industries, Inc./New Haven, Conn., U. S. A.". The box rates excellent with sharp edges and virtually no wear marks. There is a dark spot on the text that is the size of the period that it lies upon, a light impression at the top left seam, and a gray spot on the back panel that is very thin. The front panel shows traces of a light streak, likely just age spotting. A scarce item, factory sealed and rating excellent overall. (76679-36I) {This lot pictured on page 103}
2351. COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION BOX This is a two piece cardboard box containing 29 rds. of Winchester .22 Lr. cartridges. The box has a faded yellow top label with a black outline and teal colored border. Featured is an accurate portrayal of an enclosed cartridge in the form of a drawing with copper case, "H" head stamps and dark gray tips. The cartridge is bordered on each side with an uncommon characteristic for a Winchester product: a dual bodied one headed image of a lion-like creature. At least one source suggests that it might be as a result of a collaboration with Sellier & Bellot. Above these illustrations is text consisting of "50" at both upper corners with the Winchester trademark name at their center. Below them lies ".22 Automatic Rifle" in white print over a red banner-like background. Below that is "Smokeless Powder Cartridges/Trade Mark Registered In U.S.A.". The lower left corner reads "Manufactured/By The", the center: "Winchester Repeating Arms Co.," and the lower right: "New Haven/Conn. U.S.A." The front panel displays the statement of responsibility, the back, the company trademark name above ".22 Automatic Rifle (in large red print)/Winchester Make". All of the back's text is background to bullets travelling in a diagonal pattern. The left side of the sealing label consists of red text as follows: "Winchester/Trademark/.22 Automatic (within a black oval)/Winchester/Make.". The left side exhibits the sunburst logo including "Winchester Smokeless" at its center. The top label is 99% intact, with the left lower corner missing a miniscule amount and the balance showing scattered light wear. The side sealing label is near excellent with the exception being the back has about 25% has peeled off. The exposed sections of the buff colored box show uneven fading and ingrained dirt but little wear. The ammunition rates near excellent with just the onset of tarnish on some. A rare box with interesting graphics. (76679-36J) {This lot pictured on page 103}
2352. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is a factory sealed two piece box containing 50 rds. of Remington UMC .22 extra long cartridges. The box has a bright green top label with black print featuring an image of the cartridge along with a "U" head stamp and ".22 Ex. Long" on the case. Above it is ".22 Extra Long R. F./50 Rim Fire Cartridges". Also included is the red dot logo with "Remington/UMC" in white to the left of the drawing and "40 Grs./Bullet" to the right. The lower portion of the label reads "Remington Arms-Union Metallic Cartridge Co./Union Metallic Cartridge Works/Bridgeport, Conn., U. S. A." The code "25" is present at the extreme lower left. The front of the matching green sealing label features another red dot, this one housing only "UMC", and the Remington trademark name in red within a white oval. These form a border for "Specially adapted for fine Target/shooting,/also for/sporting purposes./ See Guarantee on bottom of box". The back reads "These cartridges are carefully/tested in all arms adapted to this/size. Their superior quality is/ guaranteed". Below this is the company name in cursive and above it is the code "25". The side panels have identical graphics consisting of the red dot logo with "Remington/UMC" within it and serving as a backdrop to ".22 extra Long R.F./black Powder". The bottom contains a pink label containing English and Spanish versions of the guarantee statement under a now illegible purple ink stamp. This label has crisp bold black print and pronounced pink color. There are small brown spots mainly along its edge that extend to the buff colored bottom section. The side sealing label has whitish areas that present an almost camo-like pattern and the top label is virtually perfect, though having been applied at a slight angle at the factory. All three labels and the box are fully intact with virtually no wear, the bottom showing a slight amount. The lid exhibits a couple of dark spots, but the box remains in remarkable condition. (76679-36K) {This lot pictured on page 103}

2353. COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION BOX This is an opened two piece cardboard box containing six rds. of Remington UMC .22 Lr. The box has a green top label with a black border and print that reads ".22 Long Rifle R.F. Lesmok/50 Hollow Point Cartridges" over from left to right: the red dot logo containing "UMC", an image of the cartridge with head stamp "U" and ".22 Long/Rifle" on the case, and the Remington trademark name in red against a white backdrop. Below these resides the company name and address information. The matching green sealing label has a front that reads "Specially adapted for small/game shooting in all arms/adapted to this size./See Guarantee on bottom of box.". The back contains a similar message but the opened seal has obscured some of the text. The sides feature identical graphics that consist of the red dot trademark logo with "Remington/UMC" within it and serving as a backdrop for ".22 Long Rifle R.F./Hollow Point/ Lesmok Powder (in white print)". The bottom label is a faded pink and serves as a guarantee with the code "4-A" depicted at the upper left corner and a faint purple stamp at the center. All three labels are nearly completely intact with the loss comprised of a small section at the upper left portion of the top label at the first two letters of "Long" and the aforementioned nearly unavoidable minor loss where the seal is broken. The top and side labels exhibit some mild dark spotting and the right side has a small spot or two of light blue. The black unlabeled sections of the box show mild to moderate scuffing, mainly at the edges and the box has not been separated at the back, resulting in it acting as a hinge. When opened a nice white interior is revealed with minor spotting to the outer bottom compartment. The ammunition rates about very good with light tarnish and mild oxidation at the tips. (76679-36L) {This lot pictured on page 103}
2354. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is a factory sealed two piece cardboard box containing 50 rds. of Winchester .22 Automatic. The box has a yellow top label with black, red/orange and white print that includes "50" at each upper corner bordering the trademark Winchester name and patent information. Below that is ".22 Automatic" within a red banner backdrop. The lower half of the label consists of "Rim Fire" with an image of the cartridge, with "H" and ".22 Automatic" depicted on it, presented between the two words and all of that above "Smokeless Powder Cartridges/29 For Winchester Rifle Model 1903 6-15/Manufactured By The Winchester Repeating Arms Co. (address partially missing)". The sealing label is comprised of the same color combination and includes a front section that reads "Winchester/22 Automatic/Smokeless Greaseless/Winchester Make" with a series of bullets resting atop it. The back contains the guarantee statement signed with the company name and the lower left shows what remains of an otherwise scuffed out code: "12(likely 0, scuff)15". The left side consists of the sunburst logo including "Winchester/Smokeless" and the right "Winchester/.22 Automatic (within a black oval)/Winchester Make" and all of that over the big bold "W". The labels have scattered spots of scuffing with the most noticeable being at the front left where the caliber is almost entirely missing. The side label exhibits brighter colors and bolder graphics than the more faded top. The box is fully intact with an impression evident at the upper left corner but the balance is quite sharp with minimal wear and minor scattered dark spots. (76679-36M) {This lot pictured on page 104}
2355. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is an opened two piece cardboard box containing the full 50 rds. of Peters .22 Lr. The box has a one piece wraparound label with a top section consisting of a faded red border to a green main body with black print and the Peters name within a black oval at the top center. Also featured at the lower center is a facsimile of an enclosed cartridge in the form of a fine drawing with a copper colored case, a gray tip and a "P" head stamp. The text consists of "50" at each upper corner and below: ".22 Long Rifle R. F. Rifle Cartridges". "Semi-/Smokeless/Powder" resides at the left of the cartridge and to its right is "Non/Corrosive/Priming". Below the image is "The Peters Cartridge Co./Cincinnati, O., U. S. A.". The side panels contain identical graphics consisting of a large red "P" logo with "Peters" in white and No. 2221/.22Long Rifle R.F./N. R. A.)" in black. The underside consists of the extensive instructional and guarantee statement in black text over a green background with red border. It reveals mild scuffing particularly at the bottom and right side, with nearly all of the text remaining legible. The side sections of the label have small edge sections missing but virtually no wear or blemishes are evident. The top label has minor loss at the bottom but like the sides is clean. Where it differs from the balance is the red border has faded to contrast considerably to the other red areas, but all other graphics remain strong. The buff colored box has a lid with a split through the lower right half of the top, a couple of minor spots, and features thumb cutouts. The bottom compartment is intact with maybe the early stage of a split occurring at a lower edge but is clean with a darker tone at the cutouts. The original ammunition rates about very good with flaking forming at some tips and mild tarnish to the cases. (76679-36N) {This lot pictured on page 104}
2356. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is a factory sealed two piece cardboard box containing 50 rds. of Peters .22 Win. cartridges. The box has a wraparound label with a top portion comprised of a red background to a light, almost turquoise main section with a yellow and black border. It consists of an image of an enclosed cartridge including a copper case with "P" head stamp and gray tip. Bordering it on each side is the company logo in the form of a "P" within a circle. Also included is the logo consisting of "Peters" in white within a black oval and "50" at either corner and below it is ".22 Win. R.F. Rifle Cartridges/Inside Lubricant". The lower portion reads "The Peters Cartridge Co./Cincinnati, O., U. S. A.". The label extends to the sides, each revealing identical graphics in the form of a large red "P" with "Peters" in white and within the top bar, and ".22 Win.R.F./Inside Lubricant/Semi-Smokeless" in black against the turquoise like background. A second label lies beneath it and wraps around the front and back. The upper front center features the same logo as the upper top and below it is ".22 Winchester R.F./Rifle Cartridges/Semi-Smokeless Powder" in black against a green background. The back has the same green and reads in black "Trade Mark (round logo with P) Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.". The bottom has its own single panel turquoise label with black text in the form of an informative message and guarantee. It shows mild scuffing mainly at the edges, leaving the text essentially unfaded. The front and back have larger areas of loss due to scuffing, the right side showing considerably less, and the left showing virtually no wear but a dark spot from contact with some liquid, possibly oil. The spot extends to the top where there are several others over about 50% of the surface, showing light wear as well. The box is fully intact without much edge wear and features thumb cutouts. (76679-36P) {This lot pictured on page 104}
2357. COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION BOX This is an opened one piece buff colored box with printed graphics consisting of a dull orange body with red borders and logos and black text. The top portion reads "Peters/Rustless/.22 short R.F. Cartridges/Smokeless (image of cartridge) Powder/The Peters Cartridge Co./Cincinnati, O., U. S. A.". The upper left corner contains "50" in white and the lower right has the round logo with the "P". The front and back have identical graphics with a very similar layout as the top but with no drawing or address. The fully intact end flaps each feature the large "P" with the company name and ".22 Short", in white and within the upper and lower bars respectively. Also included is "No. 222028" and "Smokeless/Rustless". The bottom contains the information and guarantee statements. The box shows mild edge wear and a handling mark or two but is clean overall and fully intact with crisp graphics. The fully intact correct tray currently houses approximately 30 rds. of mismatched Peters .22 cal. rating about very good overall. (76679-36Q) {This lot pictured on page 104}
2358. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is a factory sealed two piece cardboard box containing 50 rds. of Western .22 W.R.F. The box has a green top label with black print and the trademark Western diamond logo in red with white print and featured at the center. Also included is "50" at each upper corner above "Rim Fire Cartridges". To the left of the logo is ".22 Cal." and to the right "W.R.F.". The lower half of the label reads "Lesmok Powder/Manufactured By/Western Cartridge Company,/East Alton, Ill., U. S. A.". The deep red colored side sealing label has a front that reads "Adapted To/.22 Cal. Winchester/Repeating Rifle, Model 1890; Winchester/Stevens And Remington Single Shot Rifles;/Also Other Arms Of This Caliber." above the company address. The back contains a four line statement of guarantee followed by the company signature, and beside it to the left is the code "WT-20". The left side includes an image of an enclosed round with ".22 W.R.F." within it. Above it is "50/.22 Cal." and below it is "Winchester/Lesmok/Powder", all laid out in a diagonal pattern. The right side consists of "Western (in its trademarkursive)/.22 cal./W.R.F./Lesmok Powder". The bottom is stamped in purple "T27AO". This stamp, as is the case with all of the graphics on this box, is outstanding, bold and crisp. The box is fully intact with sharp edges, clean label surfaces, some minor discoloration along the buff colored top edge, and just a couple of small handling marks. This is a factory sealed box in truly outstanding condition. (76679-36R) {This lot pictured on page 104}

2359. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is a factory sealed two piece cardboard box containing 50 rds. of Western .22 cal. extra long. The box has a green top label with black print and border and a red Western diamond logo with white text as the centerpiece. Each upper corner contains "50" and below them is "Rim Fire Cartridges". Also included and to the left of the logo resides ".22 Cal./Extra Long", to its right is "Lesmok Powder". The lower portion of the label reads "Manufactured By/Western Cartridge Company/East Alton, Ill., U. S. A.". Outside of the border, at the lower left corner is the code "WT-25". The red sealing label has a front that reads "Adapted To/.22 R. F. Extra Long/Repeating And Single Shot Rifles/Also Other Arms" above the company name and address. The back consists of a guarantee statement with the company signature in cursive below it, and perpendicular to it at the left is once again the code "WT-25". The left side features an image of an enclosed cartridge presented in a diagonal position with ".22 Extra Long" added to the length of the case. Provided as a backdrop to the drawing is a large and bold "22". The right side of the label consists of "Western" in its iconic cursive font and below it lies ".22 Extra Long/Rim Fire/Lesmok Powder". Under the labels lies an adhesive buff colored layer that covers the sides and overlaps the edges of the top and bottom which exhibits a strong purple ink stamp: "7U3L" over its plain gray surface. The labels show scattered small scuffs over the strong colors and print with the exception of the red within the aforementioned diamond logo which has faded considerably to almost pink. Structurally the box is outstanding with sharp edges and fully intact labels. (76679-36S) {This lot pictured on page 104}
2360. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This is an opened two piece cardboard box containing the full 50 rds. of C. I. L. 25 Stevens long cartridges. The box has a yellow wraparound label with red and white graphics and a top portion consisting of a yellow horizontal section between two red ones including an upper one featuring an image of an enclosed cartridge with the head stamp and caliber depicted on the case. To the left of it is "25 Long/Stevens" and to the right "Lesmok". The middle consists of the C. I. L./Dominion oval logo to the left of "Adapted To/Stevens, Marlin, Cooney, Remington and Winchester/Single Shot Rifles, Also Stevens And Marlin Repeating Rifles.". The lower portion has "Made in Canada By/Canadian Industries Limited/Dominion Ammunition Division/Montreal, Canada.". The side panels feature identical graphics consisting of "Fifty/25 Stevens Long/Super-Clean (within a small window)/R. (the company logo) F./Lesmok Powder", all within a red border. Below it is what originally read "Cut Seal Here" but is somewhat obliterated where that occurred and to the far right is the code "73". The bottom panel portion consists of a seven line message stating the product's reliability. The top of its left corner is peeling back but fully present and there is scattered light surface wear that has left the text essentially unfaded. The right side label has a small handwritten price sticker adhered diagonally at the left side of the logo but otherwise the sides are excellent. The top shows light foxing and is virtually free of wear with only slight fading. The buff colored fully intact box includes a front with very light isolated contact marks and is stamped "DN" in purple ink at its upper right. The back exhibits a darker overall patina particularly at the edges. The lid features thumb cutouts and when lifted reveals a clean bottom tray with darker areas at the cutouts, housing cartridges with bright cases and just the onset of light powder forming on most tips. Also enclosed is the original packer/inspector slip. (76679-36T) {This lot pictured on page 104}
2361. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This lot consists of two full one piece, 50 round boxes of Peters .22 Lr. The first one is yellow with blue, white and red graphics including a top section featuring the image of a law officer aiming a revolver at a target and above it is "Police Match/.22 Long rifle Lubricated/50 Rim Fire Smokeless Cartridges/Made in U. S. A./Peters Rustless". The front and back each read "Peters/Dupont (within oval)/Police Match (placed diagonally)/Ammunition". Each side consists of the "P" logo at each upper corner and between them is "Peters" and below that is "Rustless/Police Match/22 Long Rifle Lub./No.2223". When opened the end flaps reveal tops that read "Range-One Mile/Be Careful". The bottom is comprised of a message of reliability and a guarantee statement in addition to the company name and address. The fully intact box is in excellent condition with strong graphics (the white has faded to a pleasing off white), sharp edges and virtually no wear outside of maybe a corner or two. The ammunition rates bright excellent. The second box is green with red, blue and somewhat faded white graphics. The top reads "50" Peters/Outdoor/Tack Hole/.22 Long Rifle R. F. Cartridges/Special Lesmok Powder". Below this are two Dupont logos bordering one of Peters. The front and back have identical graphics consisting of three logos over: "Out Door Tack Hole (presented diagonally)/Special Lesmok Powder". The sides read "Peters/.22 Long/ Rifle" over the same diagonal presentation, and below that "No. 2226/For Ranges Up To 250 Yards". The flaps' tops contain "Dangerous/Within 1 mile". The bottom provides general information and a guarantee with the company name and address at the bottom. A portion of this text is difficult to discern due to light wear which is less prevalent throughout the balance of the fully intact box. The box has sharp edges and strong graphics overall with the top having faded down a notch or two. The ammunition rates near excellent with clean tips and the onset of dark spots on most cases. A great pair of Peters boxes. (76679-36U) {This lot pictured on page 104}
2362. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE BOXES This lot consists of two empty two piece cardboard boxes for Winchester .22 cal. cartridges. The first one has a one piece wraparound label with an olive green top that features an image of the enclosed round with no wording on it, but with the "H" head stamp. It is displayed at the center with the "H" logo and "Rim/Fire" at its sides. Above these is "50" at each upper corner and between them "Winchester/.22 Long Shot". The lower section has "Lesmok Rifle Cartridges/Made In U. S. A.". Below that in very small font is the company name and address. The balance of the label is yellow with the sides including a big bold red "W" under ".22 Long Shot/Rim Fire/Lesmok/Rifle Cartridges/K2232R/Winchester Make". The label extends to the underside with a left portion consisting of the guarantee, the right is missing. The label overall has a pleasing aged look with a light mixture of foxing, ingrained dirt, fading and handling marks. The fully intact buff colored box features thumb cutouts and mottled discoloration from dirt and grime, the interior is clean. The bottom compartment is mostly devoid of blemishes, with some at the cutouts and more where the bottom label separated. The second box has a top label that is also olive green and features a drawing of an originally enclosed cartridge, this one bearing the head stamp and ".22/Short" along the body. Beside it are the "H" logo and the Stetson's Patent Oct. 31, 1871 statement. Above these are "50" at each upper corner and the Winchester trademark name between them. The lower portion of the label consists of "Lesmok (in quotations)Rifle Cartridges./Manufactured by the/Winchester Repeating Arms Co./New Haven, Conn., U. S. A. 3-12". The yellow side label consists of the guarantee on the front, and "50 .22 Short/Target Cartridges/Lesmok (in quotes)/Winchester Make.", on the back. All that remains of the buff colored seal is most of the bottom portion and it reveals a spot of blue ink. About 40% of the left side label is missing, with the back of it showing a split at the word "Short". The label was originally applied at a slope running downwards from right to left. The top label is peeling a bit at the lower right corner and it exhibits light fading and foxing. The buff colored box shows a lid with an overall dark patina and mild edge wear, the bottom with lighter panels with a couple of spots and an underside nearly matching the shade of the lid. A nice pair of Winchester .22 boxes. (76679-36V) {This lot pictured on page 104}
2363. COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION BOXES This lot consists of two empty two piece cardboard boxes for Winchester .22 cal. cartridges. The first one has a green top label with black print with "Smokeless" presented over it in bold red and in a diagonal layout. The upper portion consists of an image of an originally enclosed cartridge including shadow effect between "50" and ".22 cal./Stetson's Oct. 31, 1871 logo)/Rifle Cartridges". The lower half includes the "H" logo, the code "15 10-8" and the company name and address. The yellow side label consists of a front with the guarantee, a back that reads "50 .22 Short/Smokeless/Target Cartridges/Greaseless Bullets", a left side with "50/.22 Short/Smokeless/(trademark info.)" all over the big bold red "W", and a right with the round Winchester Smokeless logo. Most of the buff colored seal remains and is peeling back. The labels share a common amount of light foxing and wear, the lid showing mild edge wear, the bottom tray a relatively large area on the left interior that has made contact with what appears to be a greasy substance that has dried and subsequently clung to dark particles. The under panel seems to have absorbed some of it and also shows other light discoloration. The second box is in significantly better condition and has a light green top label with "50" at each upper corner and between them is the Winchester name in quotations with "Trade Mark" under it. Below that is ".22 Long Shot Cartridges/Loaded With/Soft Shot./Trade Mark Registered in U. S. Pat. Office./Manufactured by the/Winchester Repeating Arms Co./New Haven, Conn., U. S. A.". The far left lower corner contains "19", the far right "7-6". The label is fully intact with nice color and bold black print, essentially free of foxing or wear marks. The buff colored covering under it extends to the edges of the underside and is excellent with the exception of a spot on the bottom that appears to be paint, the oil from which has spread slightly to form a ring around it. There are also a couple of other minor spots and possibly faint ingrained dirt or just age fading. In addition it is handwritten in ink: "PR03-18". The bottom interior shows marks from the once enclosed cartridges. The lid has a split at the upper left corner but otherwise the box is fully intact with sharp edges and it appears to have been carefully cleaned up along the seal. (76679-36W) {This lot pictured on page 104}

2364. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This lot consists of two cardboard boxes of Remington UMC .22 cal. cartridges. Above them is ".22 Long Rifle R.F. Lesmok/50 Cartridges". The lower half consists of the company name and address and in very small font on either side are "New York" and "London", respectively. The lower left corner has the code "54-N.S.". The front shows an image of a slide action rifle with sling hanging, the UMC and Remington logos, and "These Cartridges Are Specially Recommended For Use In Remington N R A Target Rifle". The back reads ".22 NRA Target/These Cartridges Are Specially Adapted For fine Target Shooting Up To 250 yards." With the company signature below it and "See Guarantee on Bottom Of Box" below that. The guarantee is in both Spanish and English. The sides are identical and read ".22 Long Rifle/(red dot logo) NRA Target/Lesmok". The box shows only light wear marks in scattered areas, a couple of spots of grime and fading isolated to the top and ensuing edges. The box is fully intact as is the bottom compartment housing cartridges with mild tarnish and oxidation. The second box is a two piece containing 47 rds. of .22 Win. It has a top label with blue print that includes an image of an enclosed cartridge at its center and "U" and ".22 Winchester/Smokeless" draped across it. The lower portion consists of the company name (in an almost semi circle configuration) over the address. Also included at the lower left is the code "28". The sealing label has a front that reads "Specially Adapted for Winchester Model 1890./Remington-UMC.", the back with the message that the cartridges are for the Model 1890. The left side consists of the red dot under ".22 W. R. F./Ungreased/Inside Lubricated/Smokeless". The bottom consists of the dual language guarantee. The surfaces exhibit an overall uneven tan/light brown patina with mild edge wear and much of the sealing label missing including portions with text and graphics. The ammunition rates very good to excellent with light tarnish. (76679-36X) {This lot pictured on page 104}
2365. LOT OF COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION This lot consists of two boxes of C.I.L. Bisley .22 Lr. First is a full 50 rd. one piece box with multi colored graphics and a top section featuring the image of a shooter with forest backdrop and to the right is "Bisley (in quotations)/Target/Cartridges". The upper portion consists of ".22 Long/Rifle" to the left of "Dominion/Super-Clear" (both in quotes). The front features the company logo beside "Super-Clean"/Non-Corrosive" and below lies "Made in Canada By/Canadian Industries Limited/Dominion (in quotes) Ammunition Division/Montreal, Canada". The back provides nine lines of general information. The sides each read "Bisley/Super Clean (in quotes)/.22 Long Rifle/(company logo)/50 R.F./Smokeless Greased" and the tops of the flaps read "TT-55/Dangerous/Within 1 Mile". The bottom contains nine lines of maintenance advice. The box is in excellent condition with minor scattered edge wear and traces of light foxing to the top. The ammunition rates near excellent with the onset of flaking to the tips. The second item is also a one piece box, this one containing 49 rds. with green, red and white graphics over a yellow background. The top has a main section with "Bisley/22 Long Rifle" beside "50" and an image of an enclosed cartridge. Under that is "Intermediate/Velocity" to the left of the C-I-L logo and then "Greased". The front discusses the attributes of the product with the back providing a French version of it. The sides are identical and read "Bisley/(C-I-L logo)/22 Long Rifle/Greased", the top flaps: "RF-37/#". This box is also excellent with sharp edges and colors, very isolated edge wear and a little discoloration at the top extending to the back. The ammunition rates excellent as does the plastic yellow tray that it is housed in. (76679-36Y) {This lot pictured on page 104}
2366. COLLECTIBLE AMMUNITION BOXES This lot consists of two Winchester .22 Lr. two piece boxes. The first one has a forest green top label with black and red print with an image of one of the ten enclosed cartridges at the upper center with ".22 Long" presented along the case. To the left is "50" and to the right ".22 Cal.". Below that is "Rifle Cartridges"/Smokeless" over the company name and address. The far lower left reads "15", the right "9-15". The side label is of red, yellow and black with the front reading "50 .22 Long/Smokeless/Target Cartridges/Greaseless Bullets", the back with the guarantee and the sides with logos. The box rates about very good with a bold green label, the cartridges about that as well with lightly oxidized tips. The second box is empty and has a faded green label with diagonal red stripe and reads "Winchester/.22 Long Rifle Cartridges/"H" logo, image, Made in U.S.A./Lesmok/Precision 200/ (company address)".
