Seen & Heard Around Murray

A truck driver stopped for lunch at a roadside restaurant and ordered a hamburger, a piece of pie, and a cup of coffee. The waiter put all three in front of him along with the check. Just then three "Hell's Angels" walked in. One picked up the pie, the other the hamburger and the third cup of coffee. Putting the truck driver's check in his mouth. He got up without a word, put on his hat, paid the bill and walked out. As his truck drove away one of the "Hell's Angels" remarked to the waiter, "He wasn't much of a man was he?" "No, said the waiter, "he wasn't—and not much of a truck driver. He ran over three motorcycles as he drove off."

Fellow says it is tough to have distant relatives today with the modern transportation system we have.

There is a group in France, established in the middle 1600's, whose job it is to formulate a French dictionary of correct usage of words. They have been working on it for about 300 years and have gotten down to the letter "c". They are called "The Immortals". Now, no one in this group is 300 years old. You see, as folks die, they are replaced by other people.

One of the largest controversies underway today is that of conservationists vs. developers. The conservationists seek to retain many areas as they are now in order to maintain habitats for wildlife and to plan a wise use for superb natural resources. The developers, on the other hand, in the name of economic needs and progress, wish to construct dams at various points, fill in lowlands, and develop the properties.

Several areas in Kentucky, particularly in the east come into this category. One of great significance is the San Francisco Bay area. This bay stretches 50 miles from north to south and is from 12 to one mile wide. It is no deeper than 18 feet anywhere which lends it to filling by developers.

Conservation is highly important and is fighting an uphill battle because the world population is expected to double from three billion to six billion by the year 2000. These folks have to have some place to live and it is easier to encroach on the habitats of wildlife near developed areas than it is to form a new city out in the desert. If you enjoy wildlife, nature, open spaces, natural scenic beauty, woodlands, streams, etc., you had better get at it.

Brown Tucker Is Speaker At Meeting Of Mayfield Club

Brown Tucker, contracting officer for the West Forks River Watershed, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Mayfield Rotary Club held Monday evening.

Tucker described the West Fork as the most ideal watershed in the United States because of natural scenic beauty, location, market area, its adaptability to watershed construction and natural resources available.

He said the WFCR project is about 65% complete with plans to follow through until its completion. "The program will continue here and nationally the program is already looking a head 30 to 40 years," he said. He pointed out there are always some skeptics and these must be dealt with but once public programs are started they are usually seen through until completion.

He paid tribute to the directors and their progressive outlook toward conservation in Graves County. "Our work belongs to this generation and every generation has a job to do; each American must work to improve man's lot and we have a definite effort," he said.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Stanley F. Yolles, M.D., Director National Institute of Mental Health

HARD FACTS ABOUT "HARD" NARCOTICS

You hear much these days about drug abuse and addiction, and these columns have dealt with such subjects as marijuana, LSD, amphetamines ("pep" pills), and barbiturates ("sleeping" pills).

These are all mind-affecting drugs, and are widely misused or abused despite their hazards. Only the last two, the amphetamines and barbiturates, have any real medical treatment uses.

Although all these—and other—drugs that affect the mind are narcotics in a sense, the core of the problem is what some authorities call the "hard" narcotics.

The term generally refers to opium and pain-killing drugs made from opium, such as heroin, morphine, methadon, paregoric, and codeine. Several man-made or synthetic drugs, such as demerol and dolophine, are also classed as narcotics.

They are very much with us, as headlines frequently proclaim. Some authorities feel that narcotic addiction is increasing; others think that it remains about the same level. Whatever may be the case, the hard fact is that the narcotics problem is unduly large, has many ramifications, and is a despairingly difficult matter to solve.

Of the narcotics, heroin appears to be the drug used by most addicts today. More than 60,000 known addicts are listed by the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs. Most of these live in the cities and figures show that more than half of the addicts are under 30 years of age.

What is the life of an addict like? Getting a continued supply of the drug often becomes the main object of his life. This frequently prevents him from continuing his education or his job. His health is often bad. His life span may be shortened by 15 to 20 years.

Narcotic addicts are sick people. They need treatment for their physical addiction, and to develop adequate research to find answers to the many unknown factors about both narcotics and their users.

One encouraging development is the Federal Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act, which is now being put to work to benefit both the public and the addict. Next week's article will deal with this Act. Write to NIMH, Box 1080, Washington, D.C. 20013 for a free leaflet on narcotics. NIMH-120669

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, June 19, the 170th day of 1969 with 195 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history: In 1836 the Republicans adjourned their first national convention in Philadelphia, nominating John Fremont for President.

In 1912 the U. S. government adopted the eight-hour day for all its employees.

In 1934 Congress created the Federal Communications Commission to regulate interstate communications, including radio and television broadcasting.

In 1968 more than 50,000 persons took part in a "Poor People's March" in Washington.

A thought for the day: Willie Cather said, "There are all those early memories; one can not get another set; one has only those."

HOW NEGRO EDUCATION LEVEL LAGS

Years of Schooling Completed by Adults

Persons age 21 or over, March 1968 Source: U.S. Census Bureau

CAN WE NARROW THE EDUCATIONAL GAP? Lack of education is a major cause of Negroes' economic problems. Only 1 adult Negro in 22 is a college graduate, compared to 1 in 9 adult whites. Only 1 in 9 has attended college, compared to 1 in 4 whites. At the grade school level 1 in 6 adult Negroes has less than 5 years of formal education. The corresponding figure for whites is 1 in 24. Although progress has been made in the last few years—especially in the percentage of Negroes completing high school—the gap at all educational levels must be narrowed greatly if Negroes are to start realizing the benefits of economic growth to the same extent as whites.

"BEST FOR... U.S."—Sitting alone on a dock near his Bimini, Grand Bahamas, retreat, Rep. He was accused of abusing his office as chairman of the Education and Labor Committee.

LIVINGSTON V. TAYLOR UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

FRANKFORT, Ky. - It's quite a jump from secretary in the Garrard County judge's office to the receptionist of the Governor of Kentucky.

But June Barge seems to have made the switch successfully without ever losing her perpetual good humor.

Since February, Miss Barge has served as Gov. Louie B. Nunn's receptionist in addition to her other duties as secretary to Loyd Murday, the governor's patronage aide.

The pace can get pretty hectic, particularly when the governor has a full day of appointments in the office. And sometimes additional visitors appear without an appointment and expect Miss Barge to get them in to see Nunn.

But it doesn't seem to rattle Miss Barge. "I don't think I've ever seen her made," one of her co-workers said. Miss Barge says she doesn't have to work on being cheerful. "I think it just comes naturally," she said. "I love people." The only problem in her job she'll admit to is "lack of time."

The governor has such a busy schedule," she said, "it's hard to make all the appointments right away."

Miss Barge's $7,344-a-year job is not one for the clockwatcher type. "I don't think I've ever had a 40-hour week," she said. Her day usually extends from 8 a.m. to 5:30 or 6:00 p.m. During the legislature, she has worked as late as 11:00 p.m.

A native of Lancaster, Miss Barge graduated from high school there and attended Camp bellsville College for a year. Then she worked in the county judge's office and for the telephone company in Lancaster. It was Murphy, a former Garrard County tax commissioner, who recruited her into state government. The contrast in images is unavoidable. While patronage man Murphy is often cast in the role of the hard-hearted politician, there is a touch of innocence about Miss Barge. She doesn't drink or smoke and one of her biggest thrills was her trip to the Republican National Convention last summer. It was her first trip to a national convention and to Miami Beach. "I had my picture made with Art Linkletter," she recalls. Needless to say, Miss Barge is a Republican and she is devoted to the Nunn administration. "I feel like it's such an honor to work for Governor Nunn" she said, with a smile.

BULDOZED - Police in Milwaukee, Wis., said an unidentified youth took a bulldozer from a tractor company, drove it over a line of cars at University Dodge, abandoned the dozer and disappeared. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

ed out 18 hits to rout the Giants. Tony Perez 4-for-4, Bobby Tolson 3-for-5 and Alex Johnson batted in two runs each to back Tony Cloninger's five-hit pitching.

Wes Parker knocked in three runs with a home run, a double and a sacrifice fly to power the Dodgers over the Padres. Don Sutton pitched a three-hitter to record his 10th victory of the season.

Parker homered off Johnny Podres in the first and hit a sacrifice fly during a three-run barrage in the third.

Ron Fairly doubled to trigger a two-run second inning and drove in another run in the fifth with a single to power the Expos over the Cardinals. Mike Wegener was touched for nine hits as he evened his record at 3-3. He had a shutout until Tim McCarver homered for the Cards in the ninth.

A year ago today, Jerry Kosman won his 11th game in 13 decisions. Wednesday night he evened his record at 4-4 and said he couldn't be happier.

Kosman, who finished 19-12 last year as a rookie, pitched a four-hitter to pace the New York Mets to a 2-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. The important thing to the young lefthander, however, was the fact that his bothersome left shoulder was without pain.

"No, there's no pain at all in the shoulder," said Kosman. "It sure feels great. I'd like to have 10 or 11 wins now but I'll settle for what I have as long as I'm physically able."

Kosman has been proving himself to be more than "O.K." in the last two weeks. He has allowed only three runs in his last four decisions, winning three and dropping a 1-0 game. Not included in that total is a 10-inning shutout performance against Los Angeles in a game in which the Mets won the inning after he was removed.

Elsewhere, Cincinnati clubbed San Francisco 11-2, Houston downed Atlanta, 3-1, Pittsburgh shaded Chicago, 3-2, Montreal ripped St. Louis, 5-1 and Los Angeles trounced San Diego, 10-1.

AL Action

Ed Kranepool and Wayne Garrett had run-producing singles to back Kosman's performance. Kranepool followed Cleon Jones' sixth-inning double with his hit and Garrett's hit drove in Tommie Agee from second in an inning later.

Rookie Jose Martinez singled home Roberto Clemente from second base with two out in the 10th inning to give the Pirates their fourth consecutive victory over the Eastern Division leading Cubs.

Clemente led off with a double and two outs later Al Oliver was intentionally walked to set the stage for Martinez' hit. The Cubs had gained the lead in the eighth on Ron Santo's two-run triple but the Pirates tied it in the same inning on Clemente's two-run homer.

Denny Lemaster pitched a five-hitter and hit a home run leading off the ninth inning to pace the Astros over the Braves. Lemaster's homer, his second hit of the game, dealt George Stone his first loss after six consecutive victories.

Drives in Four Runs

Lee May drove in four runs with his 19th and 20th homers of the season as the Reds pounded the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Washington Senators, 3-2, the Minnesota Twins beat the California Angels, 3-1, the New York Yankees topped the Detroit Tigers, 4-2, the Cleveland Indians shaded the Boston Red Sox, 2-1 and the Seattle Pilots scored a 6-5 victory after losing to the Chicago White Sox, 7-3, in other American League games.

Boo Powell's two-run homer in the sixth inning enabled the Orioles to beat the Senators and game Jim Hardin his third victory. Powell's homer followed a walk to Paul Blair, who had tripled and scored the Orioles' first run in the first inning. Jim French homered for the Senators.

Harmon Killebrew hit a two-run bases-filled double after an intentional walk to Tony Oliva in the eighth inning for the runs which gave the Twins' Jim Kaat his seventh triumph. Reliever Hoyt Wilhelm yielded two-out singles to Leo Cardenas and Ted Uhlander and walked Oliva on purpose before Killebrew connected. The loss was the sixth against two victories for the 44-year old Wilhelm.

Tie-Breaking Run

Jerry Kenney's sacrifice fly drove in Jake Gibbs with the tie-breaking run as the Yankees rallied for three runs in the eighth inning to end the Tigers' winning streak at seven games. Bobby Murcer followed with a run - scoring double and Steve Hamilton shut out the Tigers in the last two innings to preserve rookie Bill Burtch's fourth victory.

Sam McDowell was touched for nine hits but struck out seven and walked only one in chalking up his eighth win for the Indians. Russ Snyder scored the seventh inning when he eluded catcher Russ Gibson's tag to score from third base on Max Alvis' fielder's choice.

Gary Peters pitched a seven-hitter and Ed Herrmann hit a three-run homer for the White Sox in their opener but in the second game when Tommy Davis doubled home Tommy Harper from second base with two out in the 11th inning. Harper stole four bases in the second game, raising his season total to 35.

PITTSBURGH UPI - Pitcher Bob May, Pittsburgh's No. 1 draft choice in the free agent selection, was signed by the Pirates Monday. The 17-year-old right-hander pitched three no-hitters for his Merritt Island, Fla. high school team this year.

Wolman Has Mystery Backer

BALTIMORE UPI - Former Philadelphia Eagles owner Jerry Wolman said Wednesday he has a "mystery backer" who will provide enough money to pay debts and repurchase the National Football League team.

However, Leonard Tose, the Morrisstown, Pa., trucking executive who bought the Eagles from Wolman for $16,155,000 on April 31 in a conditional sale, said he didn't think Wolman would be able to buy the team back.

Wolman said the Eagles in a fund-raising move on the condition he would retain the right to repurchase the team by Aug. 1 if he paid off creditors.

Lunch talks in a motel room!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm a happily married woman with two children and a husband who is handsome, successful and hard-working. While hanging up his coat last evening, a motel key (from a local motel) fell out of his coat pocket. Since we live right in town I wondered what he needed a motel room for, so I asked him.

He told me that he has a lot of office business to talk over with his secretary, and he can't very well take her out to lunch in public because she's a divorcee with quite a colorful past, and people might talk. So, since he values his reputation as a straight-laced family man, occasionally he rents a motel room, where he takes her for lunch and discusses.

Abby, I've never had reason to mistrust my husband in the past, but what do you think of this explanation?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Tell your husband that if he's concerned about "talk"—there would be more "talk" were people to learn that he rents a motel room in order to "talk" business with a secretary who has a colorful past.

DEAR ABBY: I know a widow in her seventies who is quite remarkable. (I'll call her "Aunt Mary".) Circumstances are such that this lady has had to make her home with her daughter for the last 10 years. Aunt Mary is active, cheerful and a joy to be with. Best of all, she knows how to keep from being "in the way."

Aunt Mary makes herself available to stay in the homes of parents who want a responsible adult there for week-ends or longer.

She does this not so much for the money [which she can use, of course] but she likes to get out of her daughter's home for a while. I have even known her to spend her own money to go to a motel for a "few days"—saying she needs HER privacy, when it is really her wish to give her daughter's family their privacy.

What do you think of a woman like that? SALLY

DEAR SALLY: I think she deserves to be nominated for "mother of the year."

DEAR ABBY: How my husband has put up with me for 23 years I'll never know. All these years I thought I had married an over-sexed man, but now I have to admit there was nothing wrong with him. It was me, I'm afraid.

If mothers would only teach their daughters how to love wives it would do them more good than learning how to cook and keep the house. All these years I have kept a spotless home, and earned a reputation for being a fine cook. I even served, and took care of my garden, but what my husband needed was ME, and I foolishly turned my back on him. We are of moderate means, but we have never had words about money, sex, yet, but money.

I know it's not easy to do all of a sudden realize that sex between man and wife is clean and beautiful and right, after having it drummed into your head that it is dirty and sinful and wrong.

Print this. It may help a younger woman.

LEARNED TOO LATE

DEAR LEARNED: It's never "too late." At least you learned.

DEAR ABBY, I've read your column for years and have wanted to write and comment on some of the letters and your replies, and now I finally have a reason.

I recently came across an article on "ANTIQUES" published in TIME magazine, May 2, 1969. With it appeared a picture of a couple serving SOUP from an antique CHAMBER POT!

No doubt these are the same people who objected so strenuously to bathing babies in the kitchen sink.

Miss Cynthia Sue Humphreys Becomes Bride Of Larry Thomas Ragsdale In A Lovely Ceremony, First Baptist Church

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Thomas Ragsdale

Miss Cynthia Sue Humphreys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duell Thomas Humphreys, became the bride of Larry Thomas Ragsdale, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Albert Ragsdale, in a double ring ceremony on Friday, May 30.

Dr. H. C. Chiles, minister of the First Baptist Church, performed the impressive ceremony at half past two o'clock in the afternoon at the church.

As the guests assembled, Miss Beverly Paschall, pianist, cousin of the bride, presented a program of nuptial music. Miss Linda Darnell, vocalist, sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and "One Hand One Heart" and "Whither Thou Goest". The traditional wedding marches for the processional and the recessional were played by Miss Paschall.

Larry Elkins and James Edwards lighted the candles.

The vows were exchanged before an altar centered with brass candelabra holding fifteen tapered candles. Each side of the candelabra were palms. White Grecian columns and urns held arrangements of white snapdragons, shasta daisies, baby's breath, and leatherleaf greenery. These were flanked by two brass spiral candelabra holding burning tapers. The baptistry held a tree shaped arrangement of leather and lilies of the valley.

The family pews were marked with southern smilax and decorative satin Dior bows.

Bride's Dress

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She wore the family traditional wedding gown of her cousin, Mrs. E. C. Burchett, Jr., of Clarksville, Tenn. The gown was also worn by her sister, Mrs. W. C. Adams, Jr., of Lexington.

The full length gown was of magnolia imported Chantilly lace poised over matching taffeta fashioned with a scoop neckline and fitted princess waistline. The long fitted lace sleeves were pointed over the wrist and the neckline was accented with scalloped lace trimmed with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. The very full skirt of unpressed pleats extended into a court train.

Her full bouffant veil of imported illusion was elbow length and was attached to a pill box fashioned of Chantilly lace with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. The bride carried a Colonial bouquet of pink sensation roses, yellow and white butterfly roses, and baby's breath. The gold wedding band of the bride's maternal grandmother was tied in lovers knots of the matching streamers that gently fell from a White Bible presented to her by the YWA in a White Bible ceremony.

Mrs. W. C. Adams, Jr., of Lexington served her sister as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Jan Reagan and Miss Cheryl Jones.

The matron of honor wore a yellow formal gown, Empire style, with lace bodice trim of ruffles, matching chiffon overlay of yellow and olive green velvet band at the waist with Dior bows in the back. She carried a nosegay of yellow carnations encircled with Alceon lace, long green velvet streamers matching the waist band and bow. Her headpiece was a triple yellow bow caught with her shoulder length veil.

The bridesmaids, dresses were identical in style to the matron of honor but were of petal pink color with hot pink velvet bands at the empire waist with an overlay of chiffon petal pink. Their nosegays were pink carnations encircled with Alceon lace and streamers of hot pink velvet.

Outman Farley served as best man for Mr. Ragsdale. The groomsmen were Larry Elkins and James Edwards.

Mrs. Humphreys chose to wear for her daughter's wedding a pink crepe dress accented at the neck and waist with decorative design. She chose accessories of matching shade to complete her ensemble. Pink glamelias were used for her corsage.

Mrs. Ragsdale, mother of the groom, was attired in a pale mint green knit dress. She wore complimenting accessories and her corsage was of white glamelias.

Mrs. E. C. Burchett, Jr., of Clarksville, Tenn., cousin of the bride, presided at the register table which was overlaid with an antique satin cloth and centered with an arrangement of white carnations, shasta daisies, and baby's breath in a silver compote accented with leather leaf. Mrs. Burchett was attired in a lovely summer frock of yellow with matching accessories. A green cymbidium orchid was her corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Ragsdale left on an unannounced wedding trip with the bride wearing a toupe and pink outfit with pink accessories. For going away the bride chose to wear her mother's corsage of pink glamelias.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Loman Coleman and Mrs. Rose Perry, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hulslander and children, Ente, Evon, Raymond, and Bonnie, of Romulus, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Knight and sons, Jeffery and Jason, of Madison Heights, Mich.; Mrs. William A. Turrell and daughter, Marsha, of Calvert City; Mrs. E. C. Burchett, Jr., and son, James of Clarksville, Tenn.; Mrs. W. C. Adams, Jr., of Lexington; Miss Marion Belote of Louisville.

Mrs. A. B. Crass Speaker At Meet Of Newcomer Club

Mrs. A. B. Crass was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club held on Thursday, June 12, at seven-thirty o'clock in the evening at the Community Center.

"What's Happened to the Truth in Packaging?" was the topic of her talk. She pointed out several ways that the packaging law signed on November 3, 1966, will aid the shopper make intelligent price comparison.

Mrs. Crass said the act requires net weight in standard form and anything that holds from one to four pounds must state quantity declaration for easy comparison. It also has provisions that could help the government reverse the trend to proliferating package size, curb deceptive claims on cents off labels, clamp down on over sized packages and standardize the meaning of "regular", "giant", and "king", she said.

The big problem facing the Federal Trade Commission and the Food & Drug Adm. is the cutback in federal finances necessary to enforce the truth in packaging law that goes into effect July 1, 1969, according to Mrs. Crass.

The key to success in comparison shopping lies in mandatory federal standards for package size," Mrs. Crass said. Other factors that would aid the consumer would be to amend the law to require unit pricing, grading of all food stuff and standard size containers rather than tall optical illusion bottles. A letter writing campaign to your Senator and Representative would be in order to bring about this change.

Mrs. Crass concluded her talk with a brief review of bills affecting the consumers under consideration by the Federal government.

The door prize, a cake, was won by Mrs. Robert Kimball.

Mrs. H. Ford Martin was a guest. Mrs. Jack Keene and Mrs. Kimball were the hostesses.

Project Spans World, Runs on Shoestring

by GLEN CARPENTER
LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — One woman's passion to person literary project is helping to teach others in the world about the American way of life and also to win friends to it.

The program is International Book Project (IBP), which has its headquarters here in the heart of the Bluegrass, at 17 Mentelle Rd.

Founder of the project and its director is Mrs. Harriet D. Van Meter, wife of a Lexington physician.

It all began in 1966 after Mrs. Van Meter returned from a trip to India.

"Wherever I went I had requests to send back information in English," she said. "I found myself so involved in sending things myself it got to be a part of my life."

So was born the clearinghouse which distributes names of book-hungry persons in other countries to people willing to donate them. The project operates on an annual budget of about $3,000.

The first donors came as a result of newspaper stories and magazine articles.

"People wrote to me and of course I had a good many contacts," she said. At first she made speaking appearances, too.

"I got asked a lot because people are always looking for a free talk," she said.

"Since its beginnings, the IBP has sent books to 30 countries, with about 98 per cent going to India. There are about 1,500 donors with the majority located in the United States. Others live in Canada and Australia and there is one in Switzerland."

Last year four large donors sent over 50,000 books overseas.

Mrs. Van Meter started by subscribing to the International Edition of Hindu Weekly Review, which was published in English. In a letter to the author, she said she would attempt to find books for Indians if they would write her.

Within five days, hundreds of letters poured in and she still receives several letters each day.

One recent letter ran, "I will never forget you. Yours is a grand help. Thank you again and again." The letter was from a student working on a master's degree in literature.

"May we request you and your friends through you to send us biographies of great Americans — presidents like George Washington, Abraham Lincoln; humble men who rose to the top in their field by hard work like Ben Franklin," wrote the headmaster of a high school in India. "They will inspire our children to aim high and reach high also."

The IBP was incorporated with Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.), former ambassador to India, accepting the honorary presidency.

Mrs. Van Meter assigns book requests to the donors who ship them overseas. She works from home. A study and basement are her headquarters.

Most of the books are sent to schools and libraries, but the IBP likes to send them on a family to family or person to person basis when possible.

"A family has a good feeling about America because they know someone in America they can respect and write to," she said. "In a family, everybody uses books."

"The most frequently requested ones are children's stories, modern texts of all kinds and levels, and technical manuals."

There are also requests for religious books but Mrs. Van Meter said she felt it was best not to get too involved in this field. However, the IBP has received wide publicity through the "Catholic Digest."

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

WHAT ever happened to the man in the gray flannel suit? He's gone groovy. He's turned in his sober uniform. He's turned on with clothes that have color and flair. It's a whole new fashion game and gradually even diehard conservatives are giving in . . . at least a little.

The truth of the matter is there's a little Walker Mitty in every man. Now come clothes that bring him to the surface. Why look dull and drab when you're really a debonair type? Why, indeed.

The winds of change have been blowing with such gale force all through the men's wear field that now he reads fashion news as eagerly as she does, for there's always something new and appealing and interesting in the way of styling coming along.

Pictured today are he-man fashions for vacation days that tell what it's all about. The fabrics by Galey & Lord are bold and bright. The styling by top designers is bound to make a man feel as dashing as he looks.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK UPI - The market is once more on the defensive, having retreated to the low end of the 1969 trading range, Wisconsin Investment Report says.

The ease with which the list has retreated, the deterioration in breadth and the virtual disappearance of bids are symptomatic of waning confidence, the firm adds. It says, although, near-term the market is approaching an oversold condition, suggesting some rally, it probably will look to lower levels to find an important bottom.

Reflecting the public's concern over the money squeeze, the Dow average, except for two minor one-day rallies, has continued to drift downward during the past two weeks, Spear and Staff notes. Until there is some favorable break in the Paris peace talks, the firm believes, it can be expected to continue on the downside. "There is no indication of any imminent dramatic turnaround."

Stock prices are reflecting a more cautious approach by investors, says Alexander Hamilton Institute. However, prices respond to psychological pressures as well as fundamentals, "and the far reaching effects of a gradual ending of the Vietnam War are not likely to be discounted for long." The firm believes the market is poised for a summer rally and "needs only a small amount of encouraging peace news to get started."

The market lacks any strong incentives for buying, says Standard & Poor's, and this lack could remain unfulfilled for some time. In the meanwhile, the firm says, "There could be new tests and some additional weakness."

Add 1 cup of grated swiss cheese and cook over low heat, stirring until mixture comes to a boil and thickens. Serve in a chafing dish or a fondue dish with chunks of french bread to be dipped in cheese mixture. Makes about 1 cup, enough for 2 to 3 servings.

A COMEDY OF ARMY ERRORS, MAYBE—Pfc. Charles Tinker and wife study his U.S. Army record in Gilman, Ill., where he is wondering if he is in the Army or isn't he? He was drafted in 1965, scheduled for Vietnam in 1966 and was turned down for "compassionate reassignment" (mother ill), but was told to go home and await orders. While waiting he got a job and got married. In October two officers showed up, asked him where he'd been and a month later he was summoned to Ft. Sheridan, where an investigating officer concluded "the Army was at fault." He told Tinker to go home and await discharge, by then 16 months overdue, and to call every two weeks. Later he was told to call only once a month. Now, way into 1969, he's pondering an Army call telling him he is A.W.O.L. So it's back to Ft. Sheridan to see what's what.

Shark Attack

By Joseph Myler

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If a shark should come nosing around while you're swimming without benefit of "deterrent devices," remember this rule: "At no time should a shark ever be provoked."

Provoked, even the comparatively docile nurse shark has been known to commit mayhem on people, particularly "on adventurous divers who have pulled their tails or tried to ride them."

CAPT. H. DAVID BALDRIDGE of the Naval Aerospace Medical Center, Pensacola, Fla., and Dr. Scott Johnson of the Naval Undersea Warfare Center, San Diego, discussed "antishark measures" in a recent issue of naval research reviews.

A lot of antishark measures have been proposed and tested, some of them somewhat effective, others useless. The lesson that comes through time and again is that it's dangerous—no matter what "deterrent devices" you may have at the ready—to annoy a shark.

"If the shark becomes sufficiently excited to attack," the authors said, "the odds are highly in its favor."

IT HAS the greater tooth power, so to speak. Some devices seek to balance things by supplying the human swimmer with greater fire power. But such weapons have to work the first time.

"An inaccurate shot can produce a very unhappy shark in an extremely excited state."

Certain drugs, hypodermically driven into the shark with a long spear, may after some minutes incapacitate or kill the beast.

But "in the first seconds after application, the shark may become highly agitated," and agitating sharks is not a safe thing to do.

IF YOU'RE NOT geared to fight back, according to the experts in undersea warfare, try not to draw the shark's attention. One sure way to attract a shark's interest is to "thrash around." Another is to stimulate its smelling apparatus—with blood from a cut, for example.

If, in spite of all good advice, you find yourself the subject of an overly attentive shark, here are some "last-resort" suggestions—with emphasis on "last-resort":

"People under attack have sometimes been successful in driving away the shark or sharks by shouting underwater; kicking the animal in the nose, eyes, or gills; or moving toward it in an aggressive manner."

"SOME HAVE escaped by simply playing dead."

The effectiveness of such actions," said the authors, "is highly questionable. But, as the term implies, last-resort efforts must rely on even the slightest possibility of success."

Meanwhile, if you can avoid doing so, never provoke a shark.

Life Expectancy

By Delos Smith

NEW YORK (UPI) — Statistical science has revealed a group of males with longer life expectancies, up to the age of 70 years, than females of the general population.

That's a startling reversal of an almost statistical certainty, that at any given age and generally speaking, women have longer life expectancies than men.

The reversers are male members of the Protestant sect, the Seventh-Day Adventists (SDA's). Female SDA's have longer life expectancies than they do but their advantage is not nearly as great as that of females over males in the general population.

DR. FRANK R. LEMON and Jan W. Kuzma, public health scientists, have been compiling health statistics of 34,217 SDA's since 1958. They have now put the statistics to exacting "life-table" analysis and compared the SDA life-table to that of the general California population.

At age 35, the male SDA can statistically expect to live 42.4 more years while the male in the general population statistically justified in expecting 36.2 more years.

The 35-year-old female in the general population can expect 41.45 more years and the SDA-female can expect 45.06 more years. These ratios of life expectancies remain approximately the same up to 70 years.

Statistical differences between SDA's of California and the general California population reflects differences in ways of living, and these differences Lemon and Kuzma enumerated as follows:

SDA's do not smoke cigarettes—or anything else. They are "virtual" abstainers from alcoholic beverages. They "are somewhat less resident in metropolitan counties." The ypractice "modified vegetarianism to an unmeasured extent" and may have "an above average interest in health matters."

IN THEIR report to the American Medical Assn., Lemon and Kuzma said the longer life expectancy of SDA males was one more statistical proof of the "biologic cost of smoking."

It is "sufficient to reinforce the concept of the serious threat which smoking presents to our efforts to prolong productive human life. This is particularly true when we think of the enormous effort and advances that have had to be made medically and environmentally in the United States during the past 40 years just to equal the longevity salvage approximated by non-smoking," by SDA's.

Kuzma works in the Loma Linda University School of Public Health, Loma Linda, Cal., and Lemon now is at the University of Kentucky School of Medicine, Lexington.

Temporary Jobs Open

Mixing Business With Pleasure Means a Paid Vacation in Britain

BY MURRAY J. BROWN

NEW YORK (UPI) American women with a hankering for travel abroad can spend the summer and fall in England this year without wrecking the family finances if they don't mind a little work along the way.

Temporary jobs are available for experienced stenographers, secretaries, typists and other office workers through a "Holiday Work Program" sponsored by an American company.

WE CHECKED into work-travel opportunities abroad in response to letters from readers of a previous column on working vacations in the United States.

The program abroad is run jointly by the Dictaphone Corporation's Dot Girls, which also provides temporary office help in the United States, and its London-based counterpart, Office Services International (UK) Ltd.

It runs until Oct. 31, the close of the British "holiday period" during which citizens from other countries are permitted to work temporarily in England.

ROBERT LATTANZE, administrative manager of the firm's international division, said applications already have been received from women across the country and some already are working in England.

One of the first applicants was Miss Margaret Joan Loos, 24, of Inwood, N. Y., a secretary who said she had never been outside the United States except for one trip to Nassau.

Miss Loos, who is planning to spend four months in England, said, "The thing I like about the program is that I will get to know the English people by working and living in London." "Another advantage is that my free time and week ends won't be programmed as they are on ours. I'll be able to make my own plans and go where and when I like."

TO QUALIFY for the program, Lattanze said, applicants must be skilled in office work and be a registered Dot Girl. There is no fee for registering with the service.

"She can then apply and we will assist her in obtaining a temporary work permit from the British Ministry of Labor," he said. He noted that work permits are issued only to British firms, take six to eight weeks to obtain and are valid for four months.

"Any girl can apply," he said. "The only restriction—that's by English law—is that she must be over 19 years of age."

A U. S. PASSPORT will be needed to travel outside the United States.

Applicants must agree to spend a minimum of eight weeks in temporary assignments while in London. They also must pay their own travel fare and other expenses.

The company, however, will assist in making travel arrangements from the United States and for temporary accommodations in London until more permanent quarters are found. The program also provides help in arranging tours, theater tickets, and offers guidelines for eating, dress and other helpful tips.

"DURING A girl's stay, she will be assured temporary assignments," Lattanze said, adding that "every effort will be made to match job requests with positions available."

He said job opportunities range from working for a member of Parliament to operating office equipment.

Each woman will receive literature on British office routine and terminology, places to go, things to see, restaurants suitable for her budget, maps and transportation information and facts on British currency.

Lattanze said British office routine is pretty much the same as in the United States but the Americans "will probably find their bosses in London a bit more formal and proper."

He said the normal working hours in London are from 9:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. with an hour for lunch and week ends off.

THE PAY scales there are lower than in the United States, he noted, but "if a girl manages her salary carefully and adheres to the British standard of living, her salary will cover normal living expenses." A senior secretary can earn about $53 for a 35-hour week; a skilled typist about $48. The company advises girls to bring along a minimum of $150, in addition to buying a roundtrip trans-Atlantic ticket, to cover initial expenses and incidentals.

Dot Girls has offices in principal cities in the United States, including Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, New York and Washington, D. C.

Kirksey Class Former Murray is Named To Position With Civil Service

graduates have been sent for the barbecue, but all former teachers, former class members, and friends of the class are invited to call at the James' home on Doran Road after 7:30 p. m. on July 5 to meet and talk with one another.

When the class started as a freshman group in the fall of 1940, there were over forty members of the class, but several dropped out or moved to other schools. All of these are invited to attend the open house after the barbecue.

The senior class president was Wilma Jane (Billie) Jones, now Mrs. Vernon Cochran of Louisville. Miss Malvena Harris of Mayfield was the valedictorian and Roxie Workman, now Mrs. J. W. Burken of Nashville, Tenn., was the salutatorian.

Among the teachers through the four years at Kirksey were J. H. Walston, Mrs. Aldrich, Mrs. Ray Treon, Mrs. Mabel Pullen, Mrs. J. H. Walston, Paul Montgomery, Mrs. Otis Patton, Bear Darnell, and H. P. Blankenship.

Mrs. Stubblefield is Oaks Medalist

Janice Stubblefield was medalist for the regular ladies day golf held at the Oaks Country Club on Wednesday.

Low putts went to Doris Rose and Neil Tackett, had low on No. 4. Essie Caldwell had the most pars and Jane Cochran had the most golf.

Margaret Tidwell was the golf hostess.

A luncheon was served at the noon hour with Betty Buckingham and Lilly Johnson as chairman of the hostesses.

When selecting gift slacks for Dad on his day, consider the shirts and sportcoats in his wardrobe. Pick from slacks of dressy fabrics to complement his blazers and sportcoats, or from casual wash 'n' wear permanent press slacks and walk shorts for active sportswear or for "just lounging."

Perspiration is an enemy of silk garments. Its salt will deteriorate the sturdiest of silk yarns.

Newest sports socks for men are more colorful and employ novelty knits as well as handsome patterns. There are socks to match, harmonize or contrast with the new slacks, sport shirts and accessories. Some have cushion soles to pamper golfers and tennis players and many are in the stretch construction that fit smoothly, won't wrinkle and stay up.

NOW YOU KNOW by United Press International Because of competition from mechanized equipment the horse and mule population of the United States dropped from over 25 million in 1920 to fewer than three million in 1960.

AAUW Told Educated Women Should Be As Angry as Nation's Youth

CHICAGO (UPI) The President of Barnard College says the educated women of the nation should be "as angry as the young are" at the ills of society and resist punitive legislation aimed at young rebels on college campuses.

Miss Martha Peterson told delegates to the national convention of the American Assn. of University Women they must "resist with all the energy individuals can muster, legislation that is punitive and deprives educational opportunity."

"WE MUST introduce some sanity to the fears expressed by the legislators and point out that punitive legislation that deprives opportunity for education is not the way (to correct the situation). What we need is a better opportunity for education."

Miss Peterson said a way must be found to close the generation gap between the "educated woman and the young frustrated idealists 'who care.'"

"We need to be as angry as the young are—and show it—when misery is tolerated, when human values are ignored, when individuals are incapacitated by poor medical care, when drugs ruin lives, when carelessness and lack of concern pollute our environment," she told the convention's opening session.

"IT IS TIME for anger and high emotion if we are to direct our society in the different way. If there is not a personal commitment to at least try to correct society's defectiveness, what is the value of life?"

The Barnard president referred to the remarks of a young woman graduate during commencement exercises recently and said, "It is not only the obligation but the responsibility of the educated woman to make the impossible possible."

"When we sit aside the nihilists, the violent, the disturbed, the selfishly immature on the college campus, there are an alarming number of students who are critical of their education because it fits them for the society as it is and they are not at all sure that the society as it is respects the human being as a thinking, rational person whose joy is in the dignity of each individual in the community where concerns and ideals are shared."

"These young men and young women, not discouraged, disciplined intellectual effort; they ask that it serve them, their friends, their world."

Nursing home costs are a fast-growing area of coverage for health insurance. The "Faith Insurance Institute says the coverage can range from 60 to 730 days, depending on the policy.

Income Tax Questions and Answers

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - It's been 3 months since I filed and my refund still hasn't come. What should I do?

A - Write your regional IRS service center or telephone your local IRS office. Be sure to give your Social Security number, name, address, and when your return was filed. This information is needed to trace your return.

Most refund claims have already been processed and the checks mailed out.

Q - The agent examining my return wouldn't allow all the contributions I'd claimed. Is there anybody else at IRS I can talk to about this?

A - You may request a district conference to discuss the disallowed deductions. Procedures for doing this are explained on the notice you receive explaining the adjustment.

This conference will provide you with an independent review of the items questioned. Legal counsel is not needed but you may bring someone to represent you if you wish.

In a district conference the taxpayer meets with an experienced conferee, who is not associated with the audit group that examined his return.

Q - Is any tax deduction allowed for expenses connected with duty in the military reserves?

A - The cost of your uniforms in excess of clothing allowances and their care and maintenance are deductible. Travel costs to evening reserve meetings are not deductible unless you worked at your regular job the day of the meeting.

Then you can deduct cost of a direct one-way trip from your job to the meeting, even though you may go home for dinner first.

Q - We are having a teenager stay with us this summer. Can we claim him as a dependent?

A - If he will be with you for just the summer no dependency exemption may be taken. To qualify as a dependent, a person not related to you must be a member of your household and live with you the entire year, in addition to meeting the other tests.

Q - When is a student taxed on what he makes working summers?

A - When earnings for the year reach $600, a return must be filed. However, with the taxpayer's personal exemption and the minimum standard deduction, there will be no tax to pay until income reaches $900.

Don't forget that if tax is withheld from your earnings, a return must be filed to obtain any refund that may be due.

Q - Do summer employees have to be included in a self-employed retirement plan?

A - No, part-time and summer employees may usually be excluded from these plans. Details on these plans are contained in IRS Publication 560, "Retirement Plans for Self-Employed Individuals." Send a post card to your IRS district office to obtain a free copy.

TRAFFIC STOPPER—Mrs. Lucila Holohan might be a traffic stopper in Glenwood Springs, Colo., even without that sign. She and four other females are flag girls at the construction site where U.S. 6 is being widened to become Interstate 70.

KENTUCKY BUMPER - W. D. Armstrong, UK fruit specialist, has developed a device for thinning peaches. The Kentucky peach tree bumper, as he calls it, is used by striking the limb. The tool is heavy enough to knock peaches off, but padded so that the tree is not damaged.

FASTER METHOD TO THIN PEACHES - Three or four men stationed on a slow moving wagon and tractor can thin peach trees much faster than the old method of walking around the tree with a pole thinner. Using the Kentucky peach tree bumper, one or two strikes per limb usually is enough to do the job.

College Gets Merton Works

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) - The late Thomas Merton, Trappist monk, author, theologian and poet who died in Thailand last December, left the bulk of his literary and personal writings to Bellarmine-Ursuline College here.

Merton was electrocuted in Bangkok, Thailand, when he touched an unwrapped cord on an electric light in his hotel room.

Hundreds of his unpublished manuscripts and other works will be deposited in the college's Merton Room. The room was opened in 1964 in his honor.

Merton, 53, spent the last 27 years of his life at the Abbey of Gethsemani, a Trappist monastery near Bardonia, Ky.

Manuscripts of some of Merton's early works, including "The Seven Storey Mountain," which brought him international fame, are not included in the collection. Merton gave them away to friends.

Early Beauty Treatment Born Of Necessity

TRENTON, N. J. (UPI) — More than 40 years ago face lifts were virtually unknown. It was a time of trolley cars, ice boxes, silent movies. Beauty treatments were in the embryonic stage.

But the theory of tightening excess skin to eliminate the tell-tale creases on the face made good sense to Alice Taylor.

She hit upon a specialized adhesive-back cloth which, purely from a sense of whimsy, she cut into the shape of wings.

The best time to stick it on, she figured, was at night. Facial muscles are relaxed during sleep and can be manipulated more easily. As a working woman, proprietor of Trenton's first ready-to-wear dress shop, she also knew it was most convenient to apply the wrinkle fighting wings at night.

Thus began a nightly regime of cleansing, massaging and tightening. Soon, and almost as much to her surprise as her friends', the hateful wrinkles disappeared. And equally surprising she found herself the entrepreneur of a thriving — if non-paying business: producing hundreds of her patented "wings" for friends with similar problems.

Aided by her good friend, Trenton's famous woman banker Mary Roebing, she launched what was to become a thriving business. One request followed another and "Hollywood Wings" were born — the Hollywood added in recognition of the many demands pouring in from filmdom where a wrinkle could mean unemployment.

Today the business, marking its 40th anniversary, is carried on by the inventor's daughter, Betty Taylor Kersey, also of Trenton.

"I suppose you could say it's just another 'better mousetrap' story," Mrs. Kersey says. "Our advertising budget is small. It's mostly a case of one woman telling another."

"Wings" scrapbook of letters reads like a "Who's Who of Beautiful Women," but they're not for publication.

"We've become a very public kind of society," Mrs. Kersey said. "But a lady's wrinkles still are just between her and her Maker."

Regarding beauty advice, Mrs. Kersey will only quote her mother in saying — "Start early."

"Don't wait to see that first wrinkle. Replenish the natural oils daily with a good rich cream, massage the face and neck, methodically and religiously, apply a frisky stimulant to spur circulation and, of course, use Wings in the danger zones."

The danger zones: between brows, on the forehead and around the mouth.

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Air travelers beginning their trips at Baltimore's Friendship Airport can book only one-way service to at least 16 cities, including Louisville, Ky., Little Rock, Ark., and Phoenix, Ariz., according to Rep. Samuel Friedel (D-Md.).

Friedel said lack of round trip service to such important cities is an example of inadequate scheduling. The congressman, Chairman of the House Subcommittee on Transportation and Aeronautics, has introduced a bill to force the Civil Aeronautics Board to require airlines to provide better service.

KILLED BY MISTAKE—Donald L. Oughton (above) was shot to death by mistake in Los Angeles by a policeman looking for a freeway sniper. Oughton, 29, who had a severe speech impediment, was being frisked and when he reached for his wallet to show a card explaining his condition, the policeman thought he was pulling a gun. It was nighttime.

Prayer Book From A Queen

FULTON, Mo. (UPI) —

A prayer book, inscribed by the Queen Mother of England, rests in the Winston Churchill Memorial and Library here after being used in dedication services in May. The Book of Common Prayer, used by the Church of England, was sent by the Queen Mother to Dr. Robert L. D. Davidson, president of Westminster College, where the re-hallowed church of St. Mary the Virgin, Aldermanbury, now stands.

The Queen Mother wrote on the flyleaf of the gilt-edged volume:

"Presented to the church of St. Mary, Aldermanbury, moved from London in 1966 and restored on the Westminster campus in Fulton as a memorial to Sir Winston Churchill. From Elizabeth R. Queen Mother, May 1969."

The Christopher Wren church, destroyed in a Nazi bomber attack in early World War II, is a memorial to Churchill's "Iron
