This one didn't get away, and Cathy Merkens can prove it. Cathy, of Muir Road, was honored last Saturday night at the Michigan Outdoors second annual banquet for her 1982 award winning walleye.

For the uninitiated, walleyes (also known as pickerel) are probably the best eating fish in the Great Lakes, and at 13 pounds eight ounces, and 32 and one half inches in length, it was a whopper.

To get technical with you, Cathy caught it early in the evening of Nov. 19. She was bait casting and using a pencil plug. Cathy admits the fish was caught in Lake St.Clair, but like all good fishermen, hesitates to say exactly where.

"I'd really like to see more women get into fishing," she said. "Lake St. Clair is one of the best fishing lakes anywhere and so close. Fishing is also inexpensive, and helps put food on the table.

Cathy's winning walleye was filleted, then frozen. She expects to get more than a few meals out of it.

Incidentially, for those future record holders out there, the all time state record for a walleye is 17 pounds, three ounces. Thar she blows!

Suddenly, it's time to make the decision all over again. "Spirit of the '80's Woman," is the theme for the 1983 Mrs. Michigan/America pageant to be held at the Fairlane Town Center, Thursday and Friday, Feb. 10 and 11, from 6 to 8 p.m.

The good, the bad and the hungry.

Seems several dozen Pointers showed up with a can of food in hand last week to take advantage of the 50 cent admission policy of the Esquire Theater.

If you recall, owners of the theater offered to let patrons in for four bits, if they showed up with non-perishable items of food for the needy. But what surprised owner Rob Putansu's brother, Brian who was tending the door that night, was the number of people who came in with whole baskets of food to donate to the

Crossroads East soup kitchen. "At least 10 persons came in with shopping bags full of cans when just one would have gotten them in for 50 cents," Brian

"I mean tuna fish, chili and expensive items like that. I couldn't believe it. I'm really impressed with the people of this community-despite what

School tax campaign aims at senior vote

By Joanne Gouleche

The Grosse Pointe Public School's millage campaign swung into high gear last week with the appointment of two residents to drum up community support for the March 7 election.

The appointment of Louise Te-Walt of Grosse Pointe City and Harry Thomalla of Grosse Pointe Woods were made by the Grosse Pointe PTA/PTO Council at its Jan. 24 meeting. Both appointees say with just five weeks away from election day, they are optimistic voters will approve a new three-year tax levy, despite the declining enrollment forecast the district is facing through the 1985-86 school year.

When asked what would happen if voters rejected the millage package, Thomalla said he didn't have an answer because he views that outcome as an unlikely possibility.

"The mood is very positive out there," Thomalla said. He added: "People are concerned about declining enrollment and the board's response to it. I think they are happy about the way the board is going about it.'

Thomalla, a financial executive with Stroh Brewery, said he was "quite surprised" to hear few negative comments, if any, about the millage proposal in light of the state of the economy.

A past president of the Ferry school parent-teacher organization executive board, Thomalla said he believes the Board of Education has shown fiscal responsibility over the last several years. "The board has been very responsive to citizen's desires to have the best education possible. When they have cut, they have been careful to preserve (what is important).

The millage package calls for a maximum tax levy of 25.35 mills for general operation of the school system and 1.30 mills to manage the public libraries. Those will be added to an 8.65 mill tax allocated by the county for a 35.31 total. (Each mill equals $1 for every $1,000 of state equalized valuation of property). The proposed tax levy represents a reduction of 1.20 and .23 mills, respectively, of the millage approved by voters three years ago.

While the school system could not provide an average school tax bill, a resident in Grosse Pointe City, for example, pays 54 cents out of every property tax dollar to the public schools. In Grosse Pointe Woods, residents pay about 57 cents out of every tax dollar to Amendment. The amendment states that property taxes cannot increase more than a rate of inflation measured by the Consumer Price Index.

A millage fact sheet published by the school system, points out the board is not expected to levy the maximum rates "any time during the next three years because of a complex interaction of the State Equalized Valuation (SEV) for property in this community, the rate of inflation as determined by the Consumer Price Index and features of the Headlee Amendment.'

Appointee Mrs. TeWalt, active in local senior affairs, says it's time for senior citizens to realize they have an obligation to educate youngsters in Grosse Pointe.

'Even if they don't have children in the school system, their obligation is to support the school system," she says. "The community put their children through the schools. Now, we have to help the next generation.

millage rate has declined.

The Esquire Theater played its last show Sunday evening and closed its doors - and its controversial video game arcade — in the dead of the night. The move was sudden and a surprise to the city, which was trying to shut down the arcade, and to the lawyers who represented the theater's owner in court.

The two sides were scheduled to meet in court tomorrow to get a ruling on the legality of the 14game arcade. Esquire owner Rob Putansu had maintained the game room revenue was essential to keeping the theater afloat financially. If the city succeeded in closing it down, he had publically threatened to switch its fare from family-oriented films-to x-rated and turn the arcade into the "Esquire love boutique."

RUMORS WERE circulating around the city this week that Putansu had sold the theater to a pornographic movie firm. The theater, located on East Jefferson at Nottingham Road, opened the game room last year and was doing a brisk business with teenagers and adults from Grosse Pointe and nearby Detroit. Putansu said his movie business has suffered in recent years since cable television has come to Grosse Pointe. He has acknowledged having trouble paying heating and tax bills and keeping up on maintenance. He was forced to close down for 10 days earlier cipal Finance Commission in Shores trustees moved forward bond-selling procedures. Under ception from the review procedure.

> THE TREASURY Department would have 10 days after receiving the request to either grant the exception or pass it to the finance commission, Stevenson said. The Shores should qualify for the exception, since it is in good financial condition, he added. Review of the sale by the Municipal Finance Commission is reserved for those cities wishing to sell bonds who have high rates of delinquent taxes, poor credit ratings and poor finances, he said.

The village could get the notice from the Treasury Department by mid-February, Stevenson said adding the village would then advertise the sale of the bonds in a financial publication one week before it began accepting bids from underwriters for the sale.

The second resolution setting the term of the bonds and the schedule for their retirement was necessary before the village could advertise its intention to sell them, Stevenson said. He presented trustees with retirement schedules for the bonds based on terms of 15, 20 and 25 years at an estimated interest rate of between 9 and 9.5 percent.

Trustees chose the 15 years, saying total payments of interest and principal on the $1.3 million sale would run about $2.4 million, compared to $3.1 million for 20 years and $3.7 million for 25 years. The 9 percent interest rate was an estimate based on the current bond market, Stevenson said.

In addition, he advised the trustees to take the shorter term bonds because of their appeal to investors. Schroeder agreed, pointing out the 20 and 25 year schedules would put the village in bonded debt until the next century. In addition, Schroeder, a certified public accountant who runs a Southfield firm that bears his name, said the longer term bonds may present investors with a psychological barrier since their terms run out into the next cen-

Shores bond issue

(Continued from Page 1A) on their yearly property taxes would hover around the 1.35 mill mark. That is, a resident with a state equalized property value of $100,000 would pay $135 a year for debt service on the bonds until they are retired.

One problem the village faces before beginning the project is the lack of a concrete dollar value on the cost of the project. Schroeder said the renovation of the Albert-Kahn designed building is estimated to cost $1.3 million, but could be higher after the final plans are drawn and the Shores begins taking estimates from contractors for the work.

Stevenson advised the council to sell the bonds before the final plans and bids are ready, since entering the market quickly would ensure the village the best possible interest rate and the most favorable deal from the bonds' underwriters.

Although state Treasury Department action would give the village nine months before having to begin the sales of the bonds, Stevenson said the two month wait for the architectural plans from Roger Wakely could mean higher interest rates when the bonds finally go on the market, costing the village more money in debt retirement. In addition, a spring bond sale by the county and the financial condition of the state could affect the sale of the bonds later in the year, he said.

SCHROEDER agreed, saying the best way for the Shores to get an interest rate of between 9 and 9.5 percent on the bonds would be to sell them as soon as possible.

Trustees asked what would happen if the bids from contractors came in at prices that would make the project prohibitive or Family Asthma impossible. Stevenson said the village could invest the revenue from the bonds and pay off their principal and interest from the investment interest while covering the difference.

Schroeder, however, said the village is committed to the renovation. "We should move with dispatch," he said. "We will work at this end to get this contract on

In other related action, the trustees approved an architectural survey on the site on which the municipal building stands and soil samples of the site since plans call for an elevator tower to service second floor municipal offices, and the addition of a ramped front terrace.

The renovation calls for moving most public safety offices to the first floor of the building, enlarging the present council chambers and moving municipal offices to the second floor of the building.

In addition, the building would be brought up to current building codes as well as offering a barrier-free design for handicapped persons. A parking lot and entrance to the lot from Lakeshore Road is also part of the plan, according to the village.

Municipal offices would be moved into Vernier School during the renovation work, officials

The village council also heard a presentation from a construction management firm about the benefits of using such a concept on the project.

Construction management allows the municipality to save some money on material while having a manager on the site during work to make sure the work is done to the financial benefit of the Trustees decided to investigate the idea of using a construction manager for the project, but made no decision whether they would use one.

Recently, the Woods used the construction management concept in the construction of the dormitory for emergency medical technicians behind the garage at the city offices. Administrative Aide Gerard McNamara served as manager for the job, which City Administrator-Clerk Chester Peterson said saved the Woods money. He added he liked the concept and would use it again.

'389 St. Clair not for sale'— Brummel

Brummel this week said the public school system's administration building at 389 St. Clair is not "actively" for sale.

School officials report receiving numerous phone calls about the sale ever since the Grosse Pointe News published a picture of the building indicating it has been the only real estate in the district put on the market by the Board of

The Board of Education in April, 1979, agreed with a recommendation from Supt. William Coats to put for sale signs on the administration building and old Kerby School located behind Farms municipal offices on Kerby Road. Both properties were listed for sale in an advertisement in the Grosse Pointe News on April 19, 1979. The advertisement, listing for all of our buildings.

School Supt. Dr. Kenneth Director of Support Services Ben Zenn as contact person, described the central office location and solicited proposals for the purchase of both buildings and lots.

But Dr. Brummel said this week that "although in the past there has been some talk about the sale of some of our buildings, including the administration building, no immediate action of that type is being planned at this time because of the future organization of the school system study in which the Board of Education is currently involved,

The superintendent added: Once the board makes some decisions about what organizational structure is best for this school system over the next few years, we can plan what has to be done to implement that structure, including making appropriate plans

Dr. Brummel said he will present the Board of Education at its February meeting with a "timetable for reaching those decision.'

"My objective is that we can have enough staff and community reaction to our specific recommendations so that the board can make its decisions about the future organization in June," Dr. Brummel said.

The superintendent also emphasized that the administration's recommendations would provide for several checkpoints over the next few years so that the board's long-range plans can be modified should changing situations dictate.

The committee to study the future organization of the schools has recommended the school system continue to own its property in case the current declining enrollment trend reverses itself.

Is the insanity defense valid?

A complimentary public forum on the issue of the "insanity" defense in criminal cases will be presented by the War Memorial next Wednesday evening, Feb. 9, at 8 p.m. The issue of the insanity defense was magnified when John Hinckley, Jr. was acquitted by reason of insanity after he attempted to assassinate President Reagan. Dr. Mark Weber (far left), Director of the War Memorial, will welcome Dr. Douglas A. Sargent (middle), psychiatrist and lawyer, and Robert H. Healy, assistant prosecuting attorney for Wayne County. Mrs. Jaon N. Woodhouse will chair the event. Free tickets should be picked up in advance at the Center's office, 32 Lakeshore Road.

Shores reports drop in crime

Last year was a bad year for both crime and criminals in Grosse Pointe Shores. Public Safety Director Joseph Vitale told village trustees at their Tuesday, Jan. 25 meeting.

Vitale presented 1982 crime statistics that showed a marked decrease in breaking and enterings, larcencies, sex related complaints, bike thefts, vandalism and injury-related accidents.

Breaking and enterings in the stolen compared to two snow-mobiles taken the year before, he said. Assaults also increased last year to 10 from four in 1981. Fire runs and fire losses were markedly less then the year before, Vitale said. Shores officers made 36 fire runs in 1982, four of them aiding other departments, compared to 53 fire runs the year before, he said, adding, "There were less fire runs last year than any year I remember.'

Auto accidents were down for the year, Vitale said, with 15 injury accidents reported last year, compared to 19 the year before. Non-injury accident also decreased, he said, from 49 in 1981 to 39 last year.

Shores officers patrolled fewer miles last year than in 1981, and issued fewer traffic violatations, Vitale said. More than 1, 850 tickets were issued in 1981, compared to 1,465 last year. However, officers used law enforcement computer systems more last year than the year before, Vitale said.

Those systems include the Law Enforcement Information Network, or LEIN, and the Computer-ized Criminal History Query, or C.C.H.Q. Officers got more LEIN hits while stopping fewer vehicles because officers called in license plate numbers before making stops, Vitale said.

Vitale credited resident involvement for the second yearly decrease in serious crime in the

So you want to go shopping but you can't find a ride and it's too far to walk. Or you want to attend that meeting but the car won't start. Worse, you have to take a bus, but it's raining or snowing or just too cold. What do you do?

Well, if you happen to be a Woods resident over the age of 60, you can call either one of two cab companies and get curb-to-curb service wherever you want to go. Show proof of age and residency with a driver's license, a Michigan identification card or a Woods park pass, and you can get a cab with a little added some-

That added something is a break on the fare. The Woods last week began its senior citizen subsidized cab service which offers qualified residents a $2 break on one-way fare. The rider will have to pay the difference, if any, between the $2 and the total fare at the end of the ride. The program, funded through the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority, has about $2,013 available for ride subsidies, so cab company officials from Shamrock and East Side cab companies ask riders to pool when for a week, despite massive injuries, then died just before the plane arrived.

Another featured a baby boy stricken with anthrax, a common disease in the region. His sister had carried him 25 miles for treatment. One shot of penicillin saved his life.

Father Pat then related the story of a man gored and disembowled by a cape buffalo. He was found by villagers, who pinned his wound together with safety pins, and carried him 30 miles to a clinic. There, the wound was reopened, washed out with a salt solution and put back together. The Flying Doctors took him to Nairobi for surgery.

"When I called about him a few days later, the hospital told me he had been discharged," said Father Patten. "They needed the beds. I learned he walked 250 miles back to his home.

Canada's finest soon to appear

Three of Canada's finest musicians will be performing Wednesday, Feb. 16, at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, 17150 Maumee. Soprano Gloria Gassi, flutist

Fiona Wilkinson and guitarist Ray Sealy will present a varied program including works by Handel, Faure and Rodrigo, as well as a new work by reknown Canadian composer, Harry Friedman.

All three are members of the music faculty of the University of Western Ontario. The perform- month. Donations for the Flying ance begins at 8 p.m., admission the Tanzanian people, said Father Patten. "They're a warm, generous, innovative people with great dignity," he said. "They face hardships we can't imagine. Detroit has real problems. At Christmas time I saw people pitching in to help one another. Food baskets, toys for tots, clothes for the poor. It was won-

'But I've seen infants die for lack of a single shot of penicillin," he continued. "In a village of a few hundred persons, maybe 30 children will die of measles. They die of cholera, TB, dysentary, parasites and malnutrition. That's why my Bishop sent me back. A plane can reach an area in 20 minutes that would take two days by trail bike and walking.'

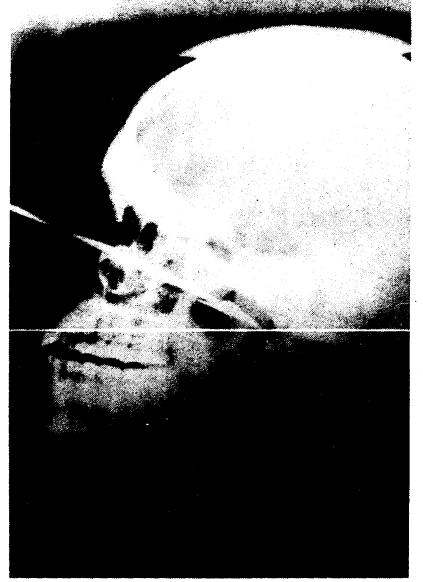

So far, his campaign has met with partial success. He's managed to line up one full time pilot, and another who promises a year of service. He sent his proposals out in December, to over 60 charitable foundations.

Thus far, he's received about 40 negative replies. One donation of $60,000 was made by the Irvin L. Young Foundation, of Palmyra, Wis. Private donations have brought in another $10,000.

"I guess I'm not very good at begging," said Patten. "With another $70,000, we could start the project from Tanzania. Then we'd try and raise $50,000 over a two year period. In three years, we'd be self sufficient.

"I know it seems like a lot," said Patten. "But it's really not when you consider the good it will do for 150,000 men, women and children.'

Father Patten will be at home in the Woods for about another Doctors Service, Diocese of Arusha Project may be sent to Father Patten, 1758 Manchester, Grosse Pointe Woods, 48236.

This x-ray shows another type of injury handled by the Flying Doctors in Tanzania. This unfortunate gentleman caught some thieves trying to rustle his cattle. He scared them off, but received an arrow in his face for his troubles. According to Father Patten, he walked 15 miles to an "under the wing" clinic to have to removed. X-rays at the hospital showed the barb had stopped a scant two millimeters from his spinal column. The lone doctor for the 5,000 square mile parish clipped off the barb, then withdrew the shaft. The patient made a speedy recovery.

Corps looking for new clowns plans to produce a play on bicycle safety in cooperation with the traffic safety divisions of police and public safety departments in the Pointes and Harper Woods.

The Corps, according to chairman-president Arthur Kuehnel, is hoping to dramatize the information traffic safety officers discuss with students at local schools.

The impetus for the play, which the group hopes to have ready for May production, was the death of the University Liggett School student last year in a car-bicycle accident, Kuehnel said. The Corps hopes to have the dress rehearsals and final arrangements, shooting for a production day in early May, Kuehnel said. A new member registration also will be held Wednesday, April 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the Woods public safety building basement.

Cooley grads plan reunion

Three Detroit advertising men have begun organizing a 45th reunion for the class of 1938, 1939 and 1940 of Detroit's Cool-ey High School. Bill Ryan, marketing communications director for Maxitrol Corp., Tom Heap, retired ad agency man and Bob Cartwright. advertising sales manager for Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association, have begun contacting graduates of Cooley from 1938, as well as graduates from the classes of 1939 and 1940.

Heap obtained some names from Cooley records and contacted the people directly. but; the men said, there were only 35 to 40 of the more than 2,100 people who graduated those years. After eliminating several hundred who would have died in WWII and the Korean conflict and those who died for other reasons, Ryan, Heap and Cartwright said they believe there are still from 1,500 to 1,800 living members of the three classes.

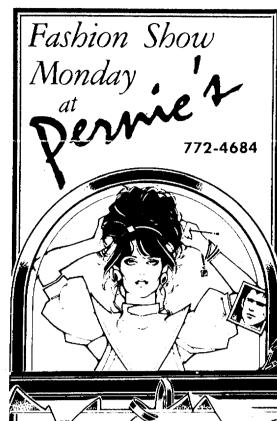

Of this group, the men said they will try to contact between 10 and 20 percent and have asked any members of the classes to contact them through P.O. Box 101, Lathrup Village, 48076. They also suggest that each person who answers provide the names and addresses of other former classmates if possible.

For Senior Citizens—

People apologize, deny and secretly indulge but there is little doubt that most people do it — watch television, that is. Americans rank first in the possession of television sets. According to the latest survey there are an average of two televisions in every household. They certainly are not bought for ornaments.

When you think about it, why shouldn't people admit that they watch the 'boob tube' as it is scathingly referred to?

What's wrong with watching the news to learn what's going on in the world? True it doesn't give the whole picture. You need to read a newspaper to get that, but it does provide a good overview.

AS FOR MOVIES, if you can take them in bits and pieces, a film interspersed with advertising (let's be fair. Someone has to pay for them) and if you wait long enough, you will see many of the movies you missed at the theater. Some of them you will be glad you didn't pay to see. True, a 19 inch or even a 25 inch screen is not the same as seeing a film on a wide screen with Dolby sound, but the home version is not a bad substitute.

For the elitist, public television provides some special programs featuring the major symphony orchestras, operas and great artists.

As for theater, how many viewers have watched in rapt attention such presentations as "Death of a Salesman," "The Glass Menagerie," "The Doll House" and other classics beautifully acted and presented on television?

Even those who claim to never turning on their television will have to admit that the selective viewer can successfully mine gold if he or she sifts through the ashes of sit-com hanglity.

of sit-com banality.
Yet one hesitates to down-grade those programs. They amuse, they divert and provide an escape into a world of adventure and sus-

However if you really want to hear protests against the quality of television, just bring up the subject of soap operas, but be prepared to have a barrage of scathing remarks rain down upon your head.

Again one has to wonder why these programs are blocked into prime time if no one watches and if they do watch them, why viewers only reluctantly admit it. They are far from being alone Statistics show that more than 55 million Americans watch soap operas, They live in all regions of the nation, rural and urban. They are housewives, students and blue collar workers. They are professors, doctors, stockbrokers, writers and politicians. The point is that the audience is not limited to lonely older people who turn to 'soaps.' People of all ages watch them at lunchtime, students skip classes and it has been written that judges declare court recesses to coincide with their favorite 'soap.' If you do watch 'soaps' don't be hesitant to admit it.

You can ignore those snide remarks made by those who claim that soap operas have no place in their lineup of pastimes. These same deriders have been at it for 50 years and the 'soaps' have survived. These people are the same group that scorned radio soap operas and you know what an outlet those programs provided for mothers in those days when older women of today were young mothers. That was when the "World Turned" around husband, home and babies. 'Soaps' on radio were great to listen to while washing dishes, clothes, floors, walls and kids. You name it. Women then did it all as they laughed at the antics of "Fibber McGee" and "Ma Perkins" or agonized over episodes in "As The World Turns." It didn't bother them one bit that radio 'soaps' were filled with stock characters involved in improbable melodramatic incidents. They were in direct contrast with the television 'soaps' which are sometimes too realistic as they deal with recognizable people wrestling with the problems of the world we know.

BUT EVEN TODAY'S 'soaps,' in spite of their realism, have a therapeutic value. Depressed people who watch them seem better able to cope with their own problems. They come away feeling better about their own future.

Actually, watching the 'soaps' is a form of visual daydreaming and everyone appreciates the therapeutic value of daydreams. We may not live in the never-neverland of the 'soaps' but for an half hour we can visit them in their perfectly appointed homes, admire their beautiful designer gowns, listen in on their stimulating conversations and take part in their highly-charged lives.

Aside from their entertainment value, 'soaps' are a big business which should lend them some prestige. If you are impressed with Dow Jones averages, consider this; the average half-hour soap opera nets about $31 million a year in advertising revenues. The average cost of production is about $6 million. That's quite a return on an investment. And it is a dependable investment. Most of the soap operas have been on the air for more than 12 years and some for more than 20.

'Soaps' have been dignified in the academic world. Doctoral theses have been written about them. David Tucker, who surveyed the literature on soap opera for a doctoral dissertation, came up with the conclusion that "the soap opera has been able to create a band of loyalty between itself and its audience that no other program has been able to duplicate. The soap opera viewer not only likes television but uses it."

A Northern Illinois University study confirms this. It surveyed college students and found that along with their formal education a number of college students were getting vicarious liberal education in thwarted love affairs, divorce and bisparse discosses.

This five-year study showed that students not only watched soap operas but discussed them. It ranked with talk of football and the opposite sex as a conversation topic. It is interesting to note that while their elders feel sheepish about watching 'soaps, college students did not. In the survey students said they were intrigued with the plot but also watched because the troubles of the television characters made their own problems seem trivial.

HOWEVER NOT even the most loyal 'soap' fan would contend they are educational in the true sense of the word. None of them explore issues, just personalities and personal goals. But in the process there are some practical lessons to be learned. Probably the lessons learned by older viewers are more subliminal, such as the importance of mouthwash and choosing the right denture cream. But 'soaps' can, through the emotional confrontations that make up their plots, teach people of all ages to cherish and respect their own feelings and those of others. They bolster our faith in the future. We may not be extraordinary but if we believe, we may yet experience a life of extraordinary intensity and fulfillment. It is evident from letters which viewers write that they believe this to be true. The way characters manage their situations does seem to have an effect on viewers for some use the characters as role models to work out their own problems.

Another feature that endears the 'soaps' to viewers is their dependability. Unlike friends who move away or are too busy to share their time, the soaps are always there. At precisely the same time, each day with a flick of a switch, they are waiting to share their lives and fortunes.

So what, if every event is reduced to personal crisis, where large issues are ignored in favor of small personal ones, where life is a simple melodrama in which options are good and bad, right and wrong, black and white. Life is not really like that, but it is a relief to view it as though it were for a little while.

If you think people don't long for such a world remember that "In the Days of Our Lives," as we "Search for Tomorrow" knowing that we have "One Life to Live" and that we all share a "Love of Life," we hope to find a "Guiding Light" as we hurtle toward the "Edge of Night" "As the World

It is interesting to follow the rise of the soaps from the innocence of radio to the realism of afternoon television to the brassiness of the evening offering.

We are too sophisticated for what satisfied radio soap opera fans and hopefully have too much taste to perpetuate the nighttime fare. While afternoon 'soaps' can and do move out into areas that shock us, by and large they simply expose viewers to a world of excitement, adventure and luxury.

Handicapped tax breaks

If you are handicapped, or you can be included with your medical Rave a handicapped dependent, you may have more special mediral expenses than most people. and they are deductible on your dederal income tax return. But the RS tax code does not define handicapped," which may result in confusion and possible lost benefits to the handicapped, according to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

The only tax break specifically designated for the handicapped is the $1,000 exemption for blindness. n 1980, more than 185,000 taxpayers claimed that exemption. Because this exemption reflects only one segment of the total handieapped population (which may be as high as 36 million) it's important to be aware of all potenlial tax savings.

Some expenses fall into more than one deduction category, such as "business" or "medical." For instance, a blind person who must hire a "reader" to help do his job could claim that expense as a business deduction. The same applies to a handicapped professional who pays the expenses of a companion to accompany him on a business trip to help him deal with problems of traveling, lodging, meals or medical treatment.

Cable program helps hobbyists

A new cable program that hopes to showcase the efforts of local residents interested in turning their hobbies into businesses will premiere on Grosse Pointe Cable TV on Saturday, Feb. 5, at 11:30 a.m. on Channel 17.

For a $15 fee; residents can appear on "Job Mart" for up to three minutes to advertise their businesses, according to the program's creator Nora Satrun.

The program is designed for persons who are turning hobbies into profit, for persons trying to earn a second income, and for persons who are attempting to break into a field, Ms. Satrun

So far, Ms. Satrun says two women who are making feminine sweatsuits and a chemical salesman who works as a magician have been lined up for the pro-deductions.

Most other special expenses for the handicapped qualify as medical deductions, but the entire expense is not necessarily deductible. The cost of a special tele-phone or a "captioned" television set for a deaf person is deductible only to the extent that it exceeds the cost of an ordinary instrument. That principle also applies to Braille books or a specially built car. (Devices installed on an ordinary car to assist the handicapped, are entirely deductible.) Some capital improvements can be taken as partial deductions. If a doctor requires you or your handicapped dependent to have a pool at home for hydrotherapy. you could be eligible for tax benefits. If the pool costs $5,000, but adds $3,000 to your property value you can deduct $2,000 — the difference between the cost and the increased value. Maintaining the pool, by the way, is entirely deductible.

Other capital expenses that may qualify for deductions include air conditioning, elevators, barrier removal, special additions or garages needed to accommodate the handicapped person.

The cost of buying and caring If you must pay someone to for a guide dog is deductible you engage as a guide if this is necessary for a handicapped per-

> Special education expenses for handicapped people may also be deductible as medical expenses: the cost of a note taker for a blind or deaf student, for instance, or the cost of training in lip-reading. The general rule here is that all educational costs are deductible as medical expenses if they prepare the handicapped person for a normal life and are pertinent to

Traveling costs to receive medical treatment or therapy are deductible. And if you must accompany your handicapped dependent, or you hire someone else to do so, those expenses are also deductible. If a handicapped person is required by his doctor to drive a car, as part of the therapy, then operating costs are deductible at nine cents a mile.

Special foods or beverages ordered by a doctor may also be deductible if taken only as part of the treatment. However, a doctor's statement is necessary to back this up.

WSU biochemist receives grant

Dr. David Evans, associate proining the components," Evans said. fessor of biochemistry at Wayne State University, is working hard these days researching a multifunctional protein called CAD, according to a release from the Detroit Medical Center.

Because this protein is found in all mammalian cells, it is present in all human cells. According to Evans, the protein is one of the control points of the enzyme system that makes DNA and RNA.

Evans has successfully isolated the CAD molecule and is now studying its structure in hopes of discovering how it works, he said. "Each part of the molecule does

NOTICE OF THE LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION OF THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE GROSSE POINTE PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM, WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN FOR THE SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD ON MARCH 7, 1983

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF SAID SCHOOL DISTRICT:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a Special School Election will be held in said School District on Monday, March 7, 1983. At said Special Election, the following separate propositions will be submitted to the vote of the qualified electors of the School District:

PROPOSITION I

GENERAL OPERATING MILLAGE PROPOSITION

As a continuation of authority to levy a portion of operating millage previously approved by the electorate, which millage expired in 1982, shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all taxable property in The Grosse Pointe Public School System, Wayne County, Michigan, be increased, for a period of three (3) years, the years 1983 through 1985, both inclusive, by twenty five and thirty five one hundredths ($25.35) dollars (25.35 mills) per one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars of the state equalized valuation of all taxable property in the School District, for the exclusive purpose of providing funds to meet general operating expenses of the School District?

PROPOSITION II

PUBLIC LIBRARY OPERATING MILLAGE PROPOSITION

As a continuation of authority to levy a portion of public library operating millage previously approved by the electorate, which millage expired in 1982, shall the limitation of the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all taxable property in The Grosse Pointe Public School System, Wayne County, Michigan, be increased, for a period of three (3) years, the years 1983 through 1985, both inclusive, by one and thirty one-hundredths ($1.30) dollars (1.30 mills) per one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars of the state equalized valuation of all taxable property in the School District, for the exclusive purpose of providing funds to meet operating expenses of the Public Library System operated by the Board of Education in the School District?

Section 1052 of Act 451, Public Acts of Michigan, 1976, provides as follows:

"The inspectors of election at any annual or special election shall not receive the vote of a person residing in a registration school district whose name is not registered as an elector in the city or township in which the person resides or whose name is not in the registration file in the precinct in which the person offers to vote when city or township registration records are used in school elections as provided in

THE LAST DAY on which persons may register with the appropriate city or township clerk of the city or township in which they reside or at a Secretary of State Driver's License Bureau in order to be eligible to vote at said Special Election is February 7, 1983. Persons registering after 5:00 o'clock P.M., Eastern Standard Time on said February 7, 1983 will not be eligible to vote at said Special School Election.

Under the provisions of Act 451, Public Acts of Michigan, 1976, as amended, registrations will not be taken by school officials, except when deputized by the appropriate city or township clerk, and only persons who have registered as general electors with the appropriate city or township clerks of the city or township in which they reside, or through registration at a Secretary of State Driver's License Bureau, are registered school electors. Persons planning to register with a city or township clerk must ascertain the days and hours on which the clerk's office is open for

New program offers seniors achievements

A new program has been formed to help older residents fight off loneliness, boredom and feelings of uselessness by offering incentives to use their free time, energy and skills to help themsel-

Senior Achievement, formed by a group of residents, city and school officials, began meeting recently in the basement of the Woods Public Safety building, 20025 Mack in the Woods.

The program is patterned after Junior Achievement, a national organization which gives high school students a chance to make and market products while learning a little about business.

Senior Achievement, organizers say, combines volunteer work with personal gain in an attempt to enhance each individual's quaiity of life. The group has organized small workshops which range from dramatics to sewing, with hopes of selling the items at an upcoming fair.

The program is intended to replace the all-too-common reliance on one's productive past with a productive present through a community effort to establish and meet the goals of each project, organizers say.

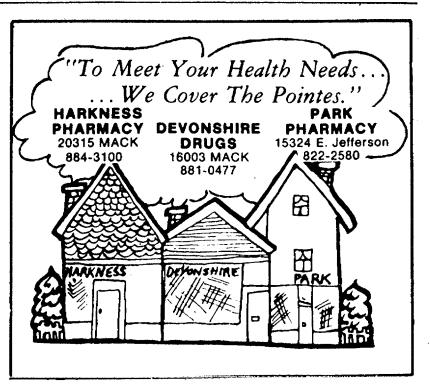

Proposed plans for the workshops include the manufacturing of Christmas ornaments, toys, games and a horticultural bazaar relaying on a person's learned skills and the desire to learn more, organizers say.

Senior Achievement recently received a $150 donation from Manufacturer's National Bank. Branch executive manager Bill Cole said the bank's donation came from a ribbon of $5 bills that was cut when Manufacturer's opened a new branch.

Traditionally, the bank offers the donation of the ribbon of money after a new branch is opened, he said. The bank considered the group a worthy cause and donated the ribbon, Cole ad-

Arts chairman looks at future

University Liggett School Department of Creative and Performing Arts Head Edward Jacomo addressed the Massachusetts Association of Independent Schools near Boston last month.

The conference, entitled "Arts in 80s - A Dialogue for the Future" was organized by the National Association of Independent Schools for heads of schools, directors of studies and arts professionals from throughout the New England area, and was conducted at Bancroft School in Worcester.

Jacomo said administrators should examine the arts as learning styles, assimilate research findings about the arts and discuss these areas in regard to curriculum implications.

With Jacomo's guidance the group also began planning sequential curriculum in all the arts for their schools, and responded to a draft document about the arts, in independent schools being produced by the Arts Planning Group of NAIS through its Teacher Services Committee.

The University Liggett School varsity debate team took first place in the Macomb-Oakland League Dec. 11, which is the largest debate league in the state, the school announced recently.

The team had a 14-4 record which also will earn it the state award for excellence in debate. The affirmative debaters were Jim Cargas, John Hadjisky and Harold Colby. The negative de-baters were Jeff Sweet and Charles Colby. Individual top speaker awards also were won by ULS debaters. Charles Colby received second place, John Hadjisky received fourth place and Jeff Sweet received seventh place.

At the same league, the ULS novice team composed of Fred Chang, Carolyn Seydel, Robert Niccolini and Mike Brozowski also won first place in its division with a 16-2 record. Robert Niccolini received the first place speaker's award, Mike Brozowski received second place award and Fred Chang received the fourth place award.

Foreign youth says Americans are friendly

By Lexa VanDoren South High

Coming to Grosse Pointe from a foreign country can be very difficult for anyone, but what is it like for a student visiting a new country and a new school, too?

Monica Rivas came here from Mexico City in early September to spend a year in Grosse Pointe and to attend South High School, Having already graduated in Mexico, Monica will relive her senior year.

"Everyone is really friendly, to adjust.

Monica says she has noticed important differences between Grosse Pointers and Mexicans. "Americans are more open than the Mexicans," she says, "Everyone really wants to get to know me, they don't just say 'hi' and travel. "I would like to go to Japan. Anyplace, really. I have never been to Europe."

The changing Pointes

The profile of the Pointes that emerged from the state. Such figures are hardly surprising in Susan McDonald's review of the census figures in last week's Grosse Pointe News reflects the changing nature of our society, even though it is also clear that the Pointes are hardly in the forefront of revolutionary change.

It is no secret that our population is growing older, a fact which helps account for the continuing decline in the school population. But the divorce rate is rising here, as it is throughout the country, while the proportion of children under 18 who live with two parents continues to decline, although not at as rapid a rate as it does in the country as a whole.

SURPRISINGLY, the number of blacks living in the Pointes actually declined from 96 to 87 since the 1970 census but the number of minorities more than tripled, from 313 in 1970 to 1,062 in 1980. And another surprising figure shows that more than 4,000 persons in the Pointes do not speak English as the primary language at home. Those figures hardly reflect the picture of the unchanging Pointes.

In both per capita income and median family income, the Pointes are well above the national figures. The Shores leads the way with a median family income of $57,951 and a per capita income of $27,813, which is one of the highest in a community heavily populated with business and professional people.

More surprising to the uninformed, perhaps, is the fact that the census found about 1,564 Pointe families living below the 1979 poverty level. That figures out to about 3 percent of the population, about the same rate as in 1970 but well below the 11.6 percent of the national population that is living below the poverty level, according to the census findings.

Even though they are adapting to change, the Pointes still have a reputation for stability. Part of it reflects the high percentage of home ownership, which rises to 94 percent in the Farms, 95 percent in the Woods and 97 percent in the Shores. Such high proportions of owner -occupied units obviously leaves a small percentage of Pointers living in rental units and reflects a shortage of such units that is often criticized.

COLD FIGURES alone cannot define or describe life in any community. Yet these figures show that the Pointes are a stable but changing community, still relatively well to do but also touched by poverty, with an aging population that is, however, adapting well but sometimes reluctantly and slowly to the new conditions of A national tax bill?

The fact that each level of government from the local to the federal — has its own methods of raising revenue complicates life for the average taxpayer who in the end is the person who has to pay the tab for governmental services.

Yet most politicans, including the president and the governor, speak as if the taxes imposed by their particular level of government were the only ones that the individual taxpayer will have to pay. Thus the president hopes that the third phase of his federal income tax cut program will help stimulate business by making more money available for purchases and investments. But at the same time the governor insists that the state income tax be raised to such an extent that it would wipe out any federal income tax savings to be achieved next July. So what happens to the stimulation of business if a number of states adopt Michigan's solution to its crisis problem?

Over the years there has been talk of getting the various levels of government to agree to avoid duplicating taxes. Yet this has become little more than talk. In Michigan, for example, we're now paying federal, state and city of Detroit taxes on our income and we're paying both state and federal taxes on such items as cigarets and gasoline. So much for the effort to avoid duplicating taxes. Perhaps what we need is one national tax program — not Henry George's single tax — which would assess every taxpayer in a single figure each year the amount he owes in all taxes, federal, state, regional and local. The assessment of each person's national tax bill would be based on the size of his income, the value of his property and investments, the amount of his expenditures, the number of his dependents and other factors that now enter into calculations of income, property and sales taxes.

This single bill would be so large that it would probably have to be issued on a monthly basis. Thus, the average taxpayer would pay for his public services every month, just as he now pays for his electricity, natural gas and telephone service. If paid in advance, the monthly bill would serve to collect a kind of withholding tax.

THE NATIONAL tax bill would have the virtue, too, of enabling the taxpayer to know where his money is going because it would be possible to indicate the amounts assigned to defense, education, social services and so on. Even better, the issuance of such a bill would ease the work, pain and confusion for the average taxpayer who now spends so much time, effort and money figuring out his returns and paying the myriad tax bills that shower down rive in our time - but if it did the paying of one national tax bill covering all charges for public services certainly would be a boon for the hard-pressed taxpayer. Unfortunately, it's just another impossible dream.

A little help from a friend

To the Editor:

As I drew up to a Grosse Pointe bank the other day, I noticed a very crippled young man trying to get through the doors. I called to him to wait but just as I got to him, he fell in the vestibule.

He had a crutch fastened to one arm and no apparent use of the other. Naturally I couldn't help him but told him I would get someone to help him up. The only male in the lobby was a young man writing in a checkbook so I rushed up to him, told him a crippled man had fallen in the vestibule and would he please come out and help him get up.

He looked at me, said nothing and went on casually writing his check. I couldn't believe my eyes. I repeated my request with emphasis and left to go back to the vestibule. By then, the fallen man had somehow managed to get up so another woman and I led him to a chair. I am still haunted by the eyes that looked up at me, so frightened.

Yesterday,I drove up to a self-serve gas station. I am well over 80, but still scotch enough to pump my own gas. However, just as I was going to pay my deposit, a young man stepped up and said, "You stay inside where its warm, lady, and I'll fill your tank.

I thanked him most profusely. "No problem," said he. When I came out I thanked him again and he said "If you need any off jobs done, please look me up in the Grosse Pointe News under Odd Jobs. As I drove away, I thought what a difference between these two young men — one giving no response, the other helping an elderly woman and trying to find work at the same time. It made my day and somehow I think he had a warm feeling also.

Higher taxes or bigger cuts?

competition in the Detroit metropolitan area is see the basic arguments as the ones that citiprovided by the sharply different viewpoints regularly expressed on the editorial pages of the Detroit News and the Detroit Free Press. An excellent example appeared last Sunday in the editorial reactions of the two papers to the governor's budget-balancing proposals.

Gov. James Blanchard had proposed both a 38 percent increase in the state income tax and another $225 million cut in state spending to try to eliminate the deficit. The conservative News centered its fire on the size of the income tax increase while the liberal Free Press expressed concern about the effect of additional cuts in spending for schools and other state services.

The News is worried that the governor's big permanent tax increase would, when added to earlier tax hikes voted by Lansing, damage the state's future economic prospects. The Free Press, on the other hand, wondered how much more can be cut from state spending without harming the quality of life in the state.

What are the newspapers' solutions? The News calls for a combination of further spending cuts and a temporary income tax increase, a program that apparently means more spending cuts and a lower tax increase than the governor proposed. The Free Press, while supporting a tax increase, concludes the question "is not only what we can afford to pay but how much more we can really afford to cut.' We may not have done justice to either eventual solution.

One of the advantages of daily newspaper paper's position in this brief summary but we zens will now read and hear during the legislative debate on the governor's program. In general, the News appears to reflect the GOP position that more cuts in spending may be possible while the Free Press supports those Democrats who are critical of further cuts.

Blanchard did propose a bigger tax increase and a smaller total of cuts in state spending than recommended by his crisis council, apparently because he, too, thinks further cuts would damage state needs and services. But the bigger increase in income taxes that he recommends does raise concern about Michigan's future ability to compete with neighboring states and, indeed, whether the higher taxes will deter the state's recovery. In our view, the state needs to improve both its business climate and the quality of life available to its people. Without an improved business climate, the state never will collect the revenues needed to maintain its quality of life. But cutting too deeply into education and the other services that make possible a better quality of life could also endanger future business expansion. It seems to us that the two factors are so closely interrelated it will be almost impossible to have one without the other. This kind of compromise seems more sensible than the position of either of the Detroit dailies even though it may not be of much help to the state legislators who have to provide the

You may or may not see Lou Wilcox at the Detroit Review Club's program luncheon in mid-February. If she feels up to it, you can bet your bottom dollar she'll be there: arriving at the University Club's dining room via freight elevator would not ruffle Lou's dignity one little bit. In fact, if you know Lou, you can imagine her saying, "What's dignity FOR, except to be ruffled!" - and enjoying the trip immensely.

It all depends on how she feels that day. "This being grounded until my heart mends is hard on me, darn it! But I'm determined to follow doctors' orders. I don't intend to wind up in Intensive Care again if I can help

She never intended to wind up in Intensive Care in the first place. She never thought, when she opened the front door of her Loraine Road home to members of her Review Club Literature Group on Dec. 20, that she'd be sneaking out the back door a few hours later, leaving the ladies, guests at her traditional Christmas party, singing carols as their hostess was driven by a special friend (sworn to secrecy, of course; Lou was SURE she'd be back in time for the final chorus) to Cottage Hospital's Emergency Room.

One guest wrote later that Lou's acting was such that no one seemed to realize she was ill. "So much for being leading lady in the senior play umpteen years ago," says

She missed the last Noel on Loraine Road. She missed Christmas at home, but reports that there are some advantages to spending Christmas in the hospital. "I lost a little weight. Who wouldn't when Christmas luncheon was a cup of clear broth (no salt), a cup of tea and strawberry Jello (small portion)?'

The good news was that Ed Wilcox got to eat Christmas lunch with his wife, and Cottage goes all out for visitors on Christmas. Ed got a full tray of holiday goodies, including a yummy-looking cake. The bad news was that Lou had to watch him eat it.

Despite the fact that she really doesn't want to go back, Lou can't say enough good things about the nurses and aides at Cottage Hospital. Being Lou, she countered their insistance on checking out her vital signs with a few vital questions of her own. "I found out most of their birthdates. Many were born in July or October/November." Interesting information from an astrological point of view, and Lou, noted for her horoscopes, likes to KNOW these things.

At Home and Resting(?)

At home now, and taking it easy, she's promised Ed she won't spend too much time on the phone, checking out/checking up on the many irons she has in the fire. If she does; Ed says, he's going to take the phone out. She persuaded him to let her have her typewriter, but he

Miss Remus to say vows

The engagement of Kimberly Sue Remus and Bruce Blake Buckmaster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Buckmaster, of Mayville, has been announced by the bride-elect's father, Stanley R. Remus, of Severn Road. An early August wedding is planned. Miss Remus, a graduate of Our Lady Star of the Sea High School, and her fiance, a Mayville High School graduate, are both attending Michigan State University. She is majoring in Marketing. He is majoring in Animal Science, and is a member of FarmHouse fraternity.

Pearse-Alderson rites in Toledo

The candlelight wedding of Judith Ann Alderson and Christopher Warburton Pearse Friday, November 26, in Jesu Church, Toledo, Ohio, was followed by a reception at the Toledo Club, after which the newlyweds left to vacation in Hawaii. They are at home in Houston, Tex.

Father Edward Laska officiated at the 6 o'clock ceremony. Several members of the Toledo Symphony Orchestra accompanied the organist in church and played at the reception before the dance orchestra began.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Frank Alderson, of Toledo, wore a Victorian gown of off-white silk-satin brocade, styled with leg-o'-mutton sleeves featuring double tiers of Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls and a yoke and high collar banded in matching seed pearl-studded lace.

Her veil of English net was held by the heirloom Rosepointe lace crown worn by the bridegroom's weddings. She carried a cascade of gardenias, stephanotis, mixed greenery and English ivy.

Mary Beth Alderson, of Cincinnati, honor attendant for her sister, and bridesmaids Mrs. Larry Tompkins and Janet Dowatt, both of Chicago, and Carole Coleman, of Chattanooga, Tenn. wore floor length, princess style gowns of emerald green velvet styled with short, puffed sleeves, and carried cascades of apricot roses, stephanotis, two-tone philodendron and English ivy.

Miss McGraw to be married

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Alexander McGraw, of Vendome Road, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Kathryn, to Charles Gordon Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rynn Berry, of New York City and Oyster Bay, Long Island. An April wedding is planned.

Miss McGraw is an architect with Kohn Pedersen Fox Associates in New York. She is a graduate of the Madeira School, the University of California at Berkeley and the Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science and Art.

She is a grandaughter of
Mrs. Robert Stoepel, of Grosse
Pointe, and the late Mr. Stoepel. and of the late Dr. Theodore A. McGraw, of Grosse Pointe, and the late Esther Longyear McGraw Murphy. She is a great-grand-daughter of the late Henry Uihlein, of Milwaukee, president of the Joseph Schlitz Brewing Company from 1879 to 1916.

Her fiance, an associate with the law firm of Milbank, Tweed, Hadley & McCloy in New York City, was graduated from the Buckley School, Groton School and summa cum laude from Yale University. He received a post-graduate degree from Cambridge University, where he was a Melion Fellow at Clare College, and a J.D. from Columbia Law School.

He is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Lee Ward, of New York City, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chamberlain Berry, of Los Angeles. His father is a senior partner in the law firm of Fish & Neave in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Pearse

Mr. Pearse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Paul Pearse, of Westchester Road, asked his father to act as best man. Guests were seated by Paul T. Pearse, of Troy, the bridegroom's brother, William Alderson, of West Bend, Wis., and David Alderson, of Simsbury Conn., brothers of the bride, and by Clint Pace, of Cincinnati, Peter von Gal, of Greenwich, Conn., and Mr. Tompkins.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of hyacinth chiffon and a matching coat, featuring a jeweled neckband and cuffs. She pinned gardenias to her matching purse. The bridegroom's mother chose a drape-bodiced, formal length gown of honey beige Qiana crepe. Her corsage, pinned to her purse, was a rubrum lily.

extracted a promise for that favor, too: Lou types in moderation, or Ed takes the typewriter away.

He's all for her going to the DRC luncheon at the University Club Wednesday, Feb. 16 — IF she feels up to it. NOT if she just wants to go so badly that she persuades herself she feels up to it. Lou agrees. It was an interesting experience, but she'd just as soon never wind up in Intensive Care again.

An Interesting Afternoon

Mrs, Robert Gerisch, DRC president, will conduct a board meeting at 10:30 a.m. prior to acting as official hostess at the cocktail and luncheon gathering. Mrs. Daniel C. Beattie is the University Club sponsor for the

Mrs. James Houlihan will introduce the guest speaker. Mary Ellen Kirby, investigative reporter for the Metropolitan Bureau of the Detroit News, who will talk on "Challenging Stories on the Metro Beat," including "The Girl in the Snow," a rape victim whose throat was slashed before she was left for dead, and the incredible tale of a young woman from a good social background who was falsely accused of stealing eye make-up (which she never uses) from a major department store, and her ordeal in the courts.

Mary Ellen has won a writing award from the Michigan Women's Press Association for a feature on Detroit's Emergency Welfare Shelter. She's won 11 community service awards. She's a Michigan State University graduate, has edited a company magazine, was assistant editor on a trade magazine and served as both Club and Beauty editor at the Detroit News before being assigned to the Metro Bureau.

She's been a regular Review Club speaker ever since she put on a fashion show for DRC's 80th anniversary party. Let's Go to Greece!

Assumption Cultural Center promises armchair travelers a very special evening a week from tomorrow, Friday, Feb. 11, featuring world renowned film producer and travelogue host Robin Williams as guide to a tour of the Greek Islands.

Greece is the birthplace of Western Civilization. Williams' film tells the story of man from the ancient Minoan Period through the Age of the Caesars and the Ra of the Crusader Knights to modern times, via visits to Mykonos, Delos, Santorini, Rhodes, Patmos, Crete, Telendos and Corfu.

And that's not all: Greek Islands Odyssey will feature live Greek dancers, authentic mezethakia (hors d'oeuvres), pastries and Greek wine, plus the movie. Tickets for the complete program, which begins at 7 p.m., are $7 per person. Reservations may be made and further information obtained by calling 779-6111.

Assumption Center is located on Marter Road, at the border between Grosse Pointe Woods and St. Clair Shores.

'A Woman's Voice'

The Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women will hold a general meeting this Saturday, Feb. 5, at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. The program, following luncheon at noon, is "A Woman's Voice," a dramatic narrative on growing up female and coping with transition and tradition.

It will be presented by Women Employed in Dramatic Outreach (We Do): Marilyn Rowens, author, creator and director, freelance writer, cartoonist and drama teacher, Barbara Helpern, private speech consultant for the Detroit Public Schools, and Judith Schneider, who has a Masters degree in Social Work from Wayne State University and conducts dramatic workshops for children and continuing education for the elderly.

Reservations are being taken by Bonnie Woods, 886-3496, and Mary Leech, 886-4155.

Bible program at GP Baptist

Grosse Pointe Baptist Church, located on Mack Avenue in Grosse Pointe Woods, will host a six-week Bible Study program on Wednesday mornings, Feb. 16 through March 23, conducted by Peg Ran-kin, who will be teaching from the Book of Galatians.

Each meeting will begin with a coffee hour at 9:15 a.m. Nursery care will be provided.

Mrs. Rankin, a former high school English teacher, now a homemaker and mother of three young men, lives with her husband, Lee, a business executive in the field of medical electronics, in Birmingham. She conducts Bible Study programs throughout the area and speaks at prayer breakfasts, women's luncheons and retreats, and before church groups.

She is the author of two books: "Yet Will I Trust Him" and "Glorify God and Enjoy Him

The Rankins often share engagements. As an extension of their ministry, they have formed "Rankin File," a private organization dedicated to presenting Jesus Christ to men and women through the written and spoken word. Privately, they publish pamphlets and duplicate cassette tapes for distribution.

All are welcome at Mrs. Rankin's programs at Grosse Pointe Baptist Church, Further information may be obtained by calling the church, 881-3343.

Do You Know How Much Your House is Worth?

Probably not. A Realtor* is competent to judge the fair market value of your house. Call a Realtor* if you plan to buy or sell. Remember, guess work can be costly.

A REALTOR* is a professional. He or she has a lot of background in the field, and is better equipped to do what is called "strategic marketing." Today's marketplace requires that kind of sophistication. Get some for yourself. Call a REALTOR*.

Pointer of Interest

By Peggy O'Connor

Bob Coyle faces unemployment every six weeks, often spends time wondering where his food and rent money will be coming from, and worries a lot about stretching out his paychecks. And while lots of people have those same problems, Bob Coyle's approach to that kind of lifestyle is different - he loves it.

Bob Coyle is an actor. And worrying about things like unemployment, food and rent go hand in hand with being an actor . . . but it's the acting part Coyle loves so dearly.

'Basically, I'm lucky because I'm fairly mindless," Coyle tea-sed. "If I ever really thought about it I'd quit. This kind of lifestyle - facing unemployment, wondering how you'll pay the rent - it's totally illogical.

"I love it."

Coyle was struggling through Wayne State University liberal arts courses and working at a law firm when he found out that acting was what he really wanted to do. He'd been active in Grosse Pointe Children's Theatre and did some acting at Grosse Pointe South High School, but it was when a friend encouraged him to audition for a show at WSU that he realized theater, not law, was the life he wanted to lead.

"I joined the theater department at Wayne, but I got tired and frustrated and decided I wanted out. I'd applied to go to a university in Ireland on a whim and was accepted. So I went over there to study philosophy.

"Finally, I realized why I was so edgy: it was simply being in university. I realized I needed to get into theater," Coyle said.

HE ALSO REALIZED that going back to the United States, even if he moved to another city in the U.S., would almost guarantee his falling back into the university/degree/getting-a-job pattern. He decided to stay in Ireland. And it seems both Coyle and his new country adapted to each other quickly.

"I started theater workshop there, realized I liked Ireland and gradually got further into theater. I thought I should be hired — that was probably cocky of me - but I went to an audition and was hired for Oliver!

"I'm very adaptable, but I think it was quite a challenge to work in a foreign country and be accepted. I sort of landed there and once there, I made it work,' Coyle said. "I think I've been accepted there very well. At first people thought I was sort of an oddity . . . you know, I was being introduced as 'Bob Coyle, the American.' Now I'm introduced as 'Bob Coyle, the actor.'

It probably helped matters that "Bob Coyle, the actor" wasn't threatening to take away the jobs of Irish actors. Coyle's forte is singing and dancing; most Irish actors are trained for dramatic roles. He probably also convinced the Irish acting establishment of his complete sincerity as an actor. For it is very obvious that despite his struggles, Coyle is very sure about what he wants - and what he expects — from his profession.

Coyle said he knows that his acting experiences have not all been, nor will they always be, good ones. "I'll do anything for applause . . . when you don't get it, you hurt. And people tend not

Germans arrive at International Institute Feb. 6

Did you know that the builder of the Brooklyn Bridge was a German immigrant? That the chuckwagon was invented by a German who settled in America, and the Amish people of Ohio, Indiana and Iowa originally came from Germany?

On the anniversary of 300 years of German immigration to America, the Federal Republic of Germany has sent an exhibit to the United States entitled "Germans to America: Three Hundred Years of German Immigration 1683-1983." It will be on view at the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit, located on East Kirby Street at the corner of John R across from the Detroit Institute of Arts, from Sunday, Feb. 6, to Friday, Feb. 25.

The exhibit will be opened Feb. 6 by the Consul General of the Federal Republic of Germany, Dr. Josef Deutz, during a 2 to 4 p.m. open house featuring refreshments and entertainment. The event is open to the public.

During the next three weeks, the public may view the exhibit free Monday through Friday, between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Guided to blame a director or the writer: people don't want to think any further than the actor.

"BUT YOU TAKE all the glory, as well. For every bad notice you can get a good one. And even if it isn't your 'fault' you take it . . as long as they spell your name

But so far, bad experiences haven't really been part of Coyle's repertoire. "I've never even thought about them," he said. "I've never planned on them because I've never believed they would happen."

What Bob Coyle believes will happen is simple: success as an actor. "I want to be a star . . . my ideal life is being able to work in New York, London, or Dublin. I want to work and live all over the world. And all I really want to do is entertain people . . . and be able to work all the time.'

Coyle said he may be a while away from those goals. "I'm a good five years off where I should be in my career. But then I always have something to strive for, there's always another role there to challenge me. And that's as it should be.

"If you think you've made it, you're in trouble.

So far Coyle has made what one might call a respectible start in his career. He's had roles in about two dozen stage productions, both in Ireland and in the U.S.; has added two featured parts in Irish television commercials to his credit; and done some limited work in films and in the technical aspect of theater.

Coyle looks forward to gaining experience in several acting mediums. "At this point I prefer the stage, but then I really haven't done major television or film work. Those are immediate mediums in terms of the work, not the audience acceptance. The charge is to do the piece in the turn up. It always does."

tours are available by reservation (call 871-8600) on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

The comprehensive display of photos, illustrations, artifacts and documents traces the German immigration movement America from Colonial times to 19th century "Little Germanies" to the post-World War II period.

"This is the first in a series of events in Detroit marking the Tricentennial of German immigration to America. I'm proud to present this exhibit in a city with such a large German-American community and hope many young people have the opportunity to visit it. Through this exhibit, we hope to promote a better understanding between America and Germany," said Dr. Deutz.

The guided tour program includes an introductory film. It is available to anyone. A special invitation is extended to students of German.

Congress has passed a joint resolution designating 1983 as the Tricentennial Anniversary Year of German Settlement in America, and the German Bundestag has issued a resolution calling for the space of time allotted, making it work in a split second. That's the challenge.

"BUT THEN AGAIN, you can't beat the thrill of an audience.'

At least Coyle hasn't found anything that beats the thrill of an audience or the thrill of being an actor. For Coyle, being an actor beats the 9-to-5 lives most people lead; it beats law and philosphy; and it even makes living in a one-room studio and occasionally babysitting or working in a friend's bar to make ends meet, easy to tolerate.

Bob Coyle can't find enough words to describe what acting means to him. It means being free from that "edgy" feeling of not knowing quite where he fit in. And it has meant enough for him to convince his always-supportive but sometimes skeptical parents how important his career is to

"My parents have always given me support. My dad would sometimes ask me if I was sure — and I found out quite recently my career didn't quite set with him but he wanted to make sure acting was what I really wanted. Now I think my parents are thrilled," Coyle said.

Covle has been home visiting his parents, three brothers and his sister since the Christmas holidays. He returns to Ireland this weekend, and although he isn't quite sure what he's returning to, employment-wise, Coyle is still excited about the prospect of going back.

"I'm content over there. I do miss my family, and that's rough, because we're fairly close. But I'm lucky in that I always have enough to eat and drink and I have my friends. That's what is important in life and I hope that will always remain a value for me," Coyle said.

"As for acting, something will can cultural relations. The nationwide Tricentennial celebration includes the issuing of a United States commemorative stamp on March 6. In October, an honorary dinner will be held in Philadelphia. United States President Ronald Reagan and Karl Carstens, President of the Federal Republic of Germany, will attend.

The German-American community in Detroit is one of the oldest, largest and most influential. We at the International Institute are delighted to host this outstanding exhibit on their behalf," noted Mary Ball, executive director of the Institute.

At the end of the exhibit, the International Institute will offer a special Ethnic Enrichment Experience on Germany, based on exhibit information, for children. This program, geared to 4 to 12 vear olds, will feature participation activities including learning a German folk dance called "Laendmaking "Scherenschnitte" (German papercuttings), playing the German version of musical chairs and hearing the story of the Brementown Musicians.

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol - and penny-wise - cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, a quartet of delicious VEG-ETABLE DISHES.

BROCCOLI RING

2 pounds fresh broccoli

1/4 tsp. garlic powder 2 Tbsp. unsalted margarine

2 Tbsp. flour 1/2 cup evaporated skimmed milk

1/2 cup skim milk

4 eggs, separated

Salt and white pepper to taste Clean the broccoli and cook in vegetable steamer until tender. Remove from steamer to bowl and chop broccoli into small pieces. Melt margarine in saucepan, stir in flour until smooth. Gradually add the evaporated skimmed milk and skim milk which have been mixed together. Cook until thick; add beaten egg yolks and broccoli. Slowly fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites, and season. Pour into oiled and floured ring mold. Place in a pan of boiling water in a preheated 350° oven for 30 minutes or until silver knife inserted in center comes out clean. Makes 8 servings.

SAUTEED MUSHROOMS AND ARTICHOKES

2 pkgs. frozen artichoke hearts 1½ lbs. fresh mushrooms, sliced 1 medium onion, grated

3 Tbsp. unsalted margarine

1/8 tsp. salt 1/8 tsp. white pepper

Drain thawed artichoke hearts and cut in half. In large skillet melt margarine; saute onion and mushrooms for 3 minutes; add artichokes and seasonings. Cover and simmer for 10 minutes. Serve in center of broccoli mold. Makes 8 servings.

LEMON PARMESAN CAULIFLOWER

1 medium head cauliflower Juice of 1 lemon, divided 21/2 Tbsp. margarine, melted 2½ Tbsp. Parmesan cheese 1/4 tsp. paprika

Salt and pepper to taste

Cook cauliflower in 1-inch boiling water with juice of 1/2 lemon in covered saucepan until tender, about 15 minutes. Drain. Sprinkle with remaining lemon juice and margarine. Combine cheese and paprika; sprinkle over cauliflower. Season to taste. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Sports

Thursday, February 3, 1983

Any day now they should be coming out with the television ratings for last Sunday's pinnacle of excess in boob tube-land, the Super Bowl. Statistics show that EVERY-BODY whose brain waves haven't gone flat line watch the Super Bowl. Except for me.

I didn't watch the Super Bowl last Sunday. I didn't watch Super Bowls I through XVI and I doubt if I will ever sit down and watch a Super Bowl. Super Bowls are the perfect example of what is wrong with sports on television. And while there are plenty of things I just plain don't like about televised sports, I will limit myself to the following Five Worst Televised Sports.

1. THE SUPER BOWL.

I make it a practice to stay away from anything which attaches such a lofty title to itself before the event occurs. How do they KNOW it's going to be super? It could be a really terrible game between two bumbling, awful teams and there they would be, stuck with that "super" title. Why not reserve judgment until after it happens? The folks in TV-land could just call it "The Bowl" or "The Championship Bowl" or just leave it "The . . . Bowl." That way, when the game was over, fans could just apply whatever title fits. People could have a lot of fun with that one, you know

But the worst thing about the You-Know-What Bowl is how television takes a 60-minute football game and turns it into the event of a lifetime. In the week preceding the event, we get interviews on everything from the quarterback's favorite receiver to where the middle linebacker gets his shoes resoled. Then on the day of the game, we've got 4½ hours of hoopla (which takes in cheerleaders, a look at the host city's economic problems, the national anthem sung by the worst singer the host stadium could find on a year's notice and taped interviews with people sitting on barstools in 35 cities across the United States.) During the game we get 46 replays on everything from the coin toss to the injury time out, cleverly spaced between the advertisements which cost $699,451 per minute. After the game we get to go to the locker rooms, where we can't understand anything the announcer or the players are screaming at each other. Then for the next six months, we can look forward to highlight films, Super Bowl analysis shows and, heaven forbid, a replay of the entire game.

Thanks, but no thanks.

2. THE WORLD SERIES.

Another poorly-named sporting event. But I won't get into how if it's a WORLD series, they should be playing teams from Katmandu or Minsk, or in lieu of that, they should be playing U.S. teams IN places like Katmandu or

The World Series has many of the same problems suffered by the aforementioned Whatchamacallit-Bowl. But the real problem with the World Series is that it is often anti-climactic. It follows a six-month, 162-game season and if a great baseball team is playing a just-got-by-on-the-skin-of-their-teeth squad, boom, the "series" lasts four whole games. We don't even get to hear the television announcers say "that leftfielder has his future in front of him," the standard 40 or 50 times per series.

And because the World Series is anticlimatic, the television announcers spend most of their time building each play into "the" play of the game in hopes it will add excitement to the contest, instead of just letting fans get excited about whatever they alike. By the time the series is over, viewers are so tired of hearing about "key" plays and "crucial" strategy, they wish THEY were in Katmandu or

Minsk. 3. GOLF.

I may be in the minority, but I think the guy who thought of televising golf matches must be the kind of guy who likes to watch his grass grow or gets a charge out of waxing his car. Golf on TV is BORING.

Watching people hit a ball, chase it, hit it again, etc., is not my idea of great entertainment. Sure, they cut back and forth to different players so we are spared a lot of the chasing part, but it's still a yawn-provoking event. And the worst part of it is how the TV announcers whisper like they're standing right behind the golfer. So you have to turn up your TV to hear them, and when the pro misses the two-foot chip shot for the title and the gallery screams, you lose your ear drums. It's no wonder they have suddendeath playoffs, most of the television viewers have already died . . . of boredom.

4. SUMO WRESTLING.

Sumo wrestlers must weigh at least 250 pounds and are attired in what looks like a cross between a string bikini and a G-string, and that picture isn't exactly what \bar{I} like to see when I turn on my television on a Saturday afternoon. And while television has its problems depicting the sumo wrestler as an attractive athlete, the real difficulty with sumo wrestling is that the whole match takes about 15 seconds. All the wrestlers have to do is get into a circle, lock arms and try to push each other out of the circle. The TV announcers don't even get enough time to tell us where Witsani-Oh or whoever he is buys his cute little uniform.

On second thought, 15 seconds is just about one-quarter of a minute too long for televised sumo wrestling.

5. THE OLYMPICS.

Don't get me wrong, I love to watch the Olympics on television. The problem is: they don't show us what we really want to see. In the winter Olympics, we get to see a lot of slalom events and figure skating. I'd like to see more speed skating, more hockey and more bobsledding - the exciting, dangerous sports — the really interesting sports to watch. The same thing happens in the summer Olympics. We get a lot of archery and rowing and gymnastics when we really want to see gutsy sports like long distance running, swimming or pole vaulting.

When it comes to the Olympics, the television powersthat-be should realize that viewers want the excitement and drama they just can't find in watching floor exercises or dressage. We can get wimpy sports anytime . . . just by turning the channel.

Evert Lloyd to attend workshop

Talking tennis

Bob Wood and his partner Gary Bodenmiller have done what many before them have tried and failed to do: bring tennis great Chris Evert Lloyd to the area.

But Wood, University Liggett School's athletic director and tennis coach, confesses that Wilson Sporting Goods had a lot to do with getting Evert Lloyd to come to the Eastpointe Racquet Club next weekend for the seventh annual Tennis Workshop.

"The workshop is sponsored by the United States Tennis Association and Wilson Sporting Goods and ULS' Wood.

Grosse Pointe Indoor Tennis Club, and Vork," Wood says. "We've been very successful and, I think, very successful and, I think, very successful and the control of the - and Evert Lloyd is on Wilson's advisory staff," Wood says.

So while various charity groups are wondering how in the world Wood and Bodenmiller got her here, Evert Lloyd will be conducting an open session - part lecture, part demonstration - from 8 to 10 p.m. next Friday, Feb. 11 at the Eastpointe Club. The session is workshop in the U.S., second is part of the popular tennis work- only to the one held in conjunction shop that was the brainchild of with the National Tennis co-directors Bodenmilier, of the Teachers' Conference in New very successful and, I think, very well received.

According to Wood, the workshop is geared mostly to coaches. "People who are not coaches, who simply are tennis enthusiasts who want to hear the great tennis pros speak are certainly welcome. Wood says.

Those who attend the workshop to hear Evert Lloyd, whom many consider the greatest woman player in recent times, will hear a player who has over 100 singles titles to her credit, including those won at Winbledon, the U.S. Open, the French Open, the Italian Open, the U.S. Clay Courts and the Virginia Slims Championships.

She has been a member of the Bonne Bell Cup team, the Wightman Cup team and the Federation Cup team. The WTA ranked her No. 1 in 1975 through 1977, No. 2 in 1978-79 and No. 1 again in 1979-80.

Joining Evert Lloyd in participating in the workshop is tennis great Jack Kramer, winner of several national singles and doubles championships and the 1947 Wimbledon singles title.

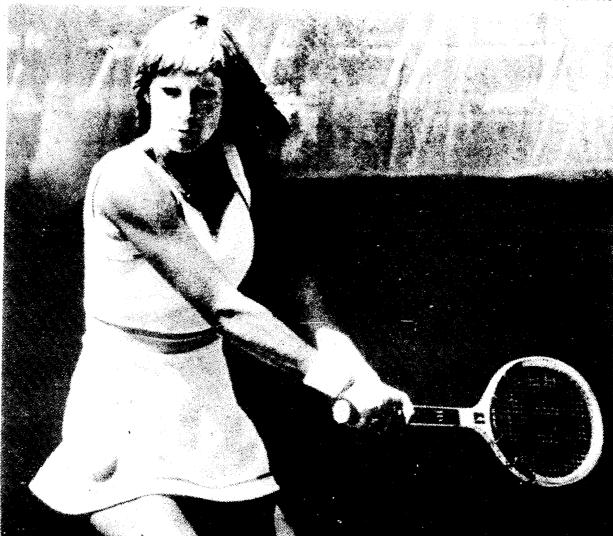

Other speakers for the two-day workshop include Lew Brewer, coordinator of the USTA's clinician's services and speakers' bureau: Jeff Frank, head tennis coach of the Davidson College, N.C. varsity tennis team; Gayle Godwin, women's tennis coach for the UCLA Bruins; Dr. Jack Groppel, assistant professor of Physical Education and head tennis coach at the University of Illinois; and Bob White, veteran trainer at Wayne State University.

The workshop runs from 9:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday, Feb. 11 and from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 12. Advance, prepaid registration for the workshop is $45 or $50 at the door. Registration for one day is $30 and for the Evert Lloyd/Kramer sessions only, the cost is $15.

lagers bounce back

By Paul Regelbrugge North High

Continuing their topsy-turvey ways, the North High varsity basketball team was outplayed by non-league opponent River Rouge, 67-40, before bouncing back to shock L'Anse Creuse, 48-22. The Lancers were tied for first in the Bi-County League with Lakeview but North's win dropped L'Anse Creuse to second and boosted North into a second place tie with a 5-2 record (5-7 overall).

"We just didn't play well against River Rouge. We expected to do much better than we did," Coach Ray Ritter said. "Fortunately the whole team bounced back and was exceptional in the L'Anse Creuse win.

Senior Mark Davey led North's scorers with 11 points against Rouge, and 12 against the Lancers. The 22 points conceded by the Norsemen against L'Anse Creuse set a school record for the fewest points ever given up by a North team.

"I am very pleased with the offense we had in the game. All five starters scored and they played a very sound defense;" commented coach Al Devine. Caven West scored eight, Doug Hagen had seven and co-captain Jim Dara put in three points. Mark Bente had two points and grabbed eight rebounds. Eric Restum scored two and Chris Pettit put in one point. Earlier in the week, Brownell lost to Warren Lincoln 35-30. The Bullets almost pulled this one out in the final minute but could not control the boards. Kraushaar led the Bullets with 16 points. Brownell is now 5-2 in the league.

them off the boards. We did an excellent job."

Coach Ritter also cited the enthusiastic crowd support as being an important factor in the victory. North's next home game will be at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 8 against Fraser.

Led by a balanced scoring attack of Kevin Weidinger (15), Art Szymanski (13) and Robert Skuras (12), the North junior varsity basketball team defeated River Rouge, 57-46.

The freshmen lost to Oakwood, 57-55, and Kelly, 53-38. Eric Walters scored 15 points and Craig Como 13 against Oakwood. Como scored 14 and Mike Zrimec had 10 against Kelly.

Spikers snap skid

North's varsity volleyball team lost again, 11-15, 4-15 to Southlake before snapping out of its skid to defeat Clintondale, 12-15, 17-15, 15-9. Dawn Dunlap, Liz Seagram and Lynne Barton excelled against Clintondale. The J.V. won both of its matches last week via a 15-9, 15-13 win over Southlake and a 15-5, 15-12 conquest of Clintondale. Paula Harms, Julie Blankenhorn and Heidi Jaeger Brownell cagers starred against Southlake and Blankenhorn, Beth Fuchs, Dawn Lagrasso, Jenna Cook and Heidi Link led the way in the second

The freshmen improved their record to 4-3 with wins over Lamphere, 15-6, 15-10 and Chippewa Valley, 15-10, 7-15, 15-3; while losing to Fraser 15-12, 2-15, 9-15.

Sue Bond, Gina Vento, Brooke Bessert, Virginia Sanders, Ellen Gouin, Sharon Edgar and Shannon Armstrong were instrumental in the team's wins.

overall is the girls' varsity team. The girls have had their share of many close games, including an exciting, 24-21 overtime win over St. Veronica last week. Dana Meredith, Patty Hess, Jill Brozo, Megan Keller, Kate McCarthy and Nicole Rettig have played well. Sporting a current 10-0 record, St. Clare's fifth and sixth grade girls' team has completely dominated its competition this season. The girls have averaged over 30 points per game while allowing an average of just seven points per game to the opposition. Leading the team to its fine season, which includes a holiday tournament championship, are Missy Tisdale, Chris Schulte, Cece Rettig, Sarina Winston, Theresa Vitale, Jenny Sparkman and Heather Hunwick.

basketball team extended its record to 9-2 with two wins on the road last week: a 60-56 victory over Bethesda and a 81-55 win over Huron Valley Lutheran.

Junior center Brian Hunt led the way as leading scorer and rebounder in both games, with 25 points and eight rebounds at Bethesda and 23 points and 12 rebounds at Huron Valley Lutheran.

ULS opened a quick, 10-3 lead against Bethesda but the home school rallied to tie the score at 12-12 and the game remained close the rest of the night. It was 18-18 at the end of the first quarter and Bethesda led, 33-28 at the half. ULS slowly chipped away at the lead in the second half, narrowing the margin to one at the end of three quarters. The Knights took the lead for good early in the fourth quarter and increased the margin to seven before withstanding a late Bethesda rally to hold on for victory. Senior guard J.T. Parks aided the ULS cause with 18 points and seven rebounds while senior forward Dave Chamberlin had eight rebounds. The outcome was never in doubt at Huron Valley Lutheran as ULS got its winning game in gear and raced to 23-12 and 46-23 leads at the end of the first quarter and half. The margin was never smaller than 16 points in the second half as each of the Knights logged considerable playing time and everyone on the team scored. Parks was again second in scoring with 16 points while sophomore forward Carl Bradley added 14.

icers play well

The University Liggett varsity ice hockey team found last week to be to its liking.

The Knights first hosted the Titans of Jackson Lumen Christi, a team ULS tied 1-1 early in December. Although the game was only considered a scrimmage. ULS coach Jay Peacock thought it to be very successful. Seven ULS skaters figured in on the scoring, and back-up goaltender Todd Blake put in an outstanding performance.

Then on Jan. 28, ULS traveled to the University of Michigan's Yost Arena to take on Class A power Ann Arbor Pioneer. The game ended in a 1-0 loss for the Knights but it was successful from many other standpoints. The defense played much better than it had in the past couple of games. Senior goalie George Zinn turned

The University Liggett School away 39 shots, rarely leaving a rebound. On January 29, the Knights were more successful. ULS traveled to St. Clair Shores Civic Arena where the Knights were hosted by Lake Shore High School. This time the Knights were victorious, 6-3. The attack was led by a three-goal performance by senior forward Marty Wittmer and the goaltending of Zinn. Lake Shore opened the scoring early but the favor was quickly returned when Ramsey Gouda opened the scoring for ULS. Less than three minutes later, Wittmer tipped in a Brian Valice slap shot to put the Knights ahead. Lake Shore evened the score in the last second of the first period to take the momentum into the locker

Wittmer put the Knights ahead to stay just eight seconds into the second period when Tom Dow took the loose puck from the face off, fed Wittmer who split the defense and put the puck past the sprawling Shorian goalie. Wittmer finished out the scoring in the second period when he tipped a shot by linemate Rob Wood on a power play with just 3:25 left. ULS again dominated play in the third period. Valice scored a power play goal when he redirected a shot by Rick Roberts into the Lake Shore net. Dow finished out the scoring when he hit the twine behind the goalie with less than five minutes to play in the game. Lake Shore answered with a power play goal in the last minute of the game, but it was too little, too late.

ULS outshot the Shorians, 37-28. Coach Peacock noted "It was good to see the boys stay with the game plan and not lose sight of their objectives.

The next game for the Knights is at home on Saturday, Feb. 5, against South Lake.

Spikers win

The last week of January was a winning one for the most part for ULS girls' varsity volleyball team.

On Jan. 25, the team played a doubleheader at Bethesda School. In the first set ULS Knights beat the Eagles, 15-3 and 15-9. Laurie Evans and Lisette Wolfe led the team in serving and the team's bump, set and spike routine went well. Although the Eagles' cheering section was quite enthusiastic, the Knights pulled out of a slump in the second set and came back to beat the Eagles, 15-9 and 16-14.

Center Ice in the GPHA

In recent Grosse Pointe Hockey Association Mite divison play, the Chargers took an early lead over the Flyers when Brad Eickhorst scored after taking a Peter Megler pass. The Flyers fought back and tied the score on a goal by Marcel Chagnon, Ty Telegadas assisting. The Flyers took the lead on Telegadas' unassisted goal, but Megler fed Eickhorst for the tying Charger goal. The Flyers' pulled away in the third period for a 4-2

FLYERS-COUGARS

The Flyers' Chagnon opened the scoring when he converted a pass from Jason Chevalier, but the Cougars' Mike Klobuchar quickly tied the game. C-liner Jim Andary scored twice to give the Flyers the lead. Klobuchar scored again for the Cougars before the Flyers exploded to take a 6-2 win on goals by Chagnon and Telegadas.

half of the season with a 2-1 victory over the Cougars as Tommy an early 2-0 lead. Jay Berger drew an assist on the second goal. The Cougars made it close when Matt Spicer took a Chris Crain pass and scored. The Cougars kept the pressure up but the Wings held on for the win.

RED WINGS-BLACK HAWKS In an exciting game typical of Mite division play, the Red Wings and Black Hawks skated to a 2-2 tie. Chuckie Schervish opened the scoring for the Hawks, Mike Anway assisting. A quick wrist shot by the Wings' Kenny Briere knotted the score before Sean Darke put the Black Hawks on top. The Red Wings' continued hustle paid off as Teitge scored the tying goal.

BLACK HAWKS-SEALS The Black Hawks edged the seals in a hard-fought, close-checking game, 2-1. The Hawks' Darke fired in a goal in the first period after taking passes from Kip Gotfredson and Joev Provengals of the season with a 2.1 via sano, then added the winning goal in the third period; Gotfredson Best and Stefan Teitge scored for and Julian Shaya assisting. Grosse Pointe Marlboro Bantam score league victories

Bantam AA hockey team skated to two league victories, an exhibition'tie and one loss in recent action.

The Marlies, playing excellent hockey since the holiday break, started the week with a disappointing last-minute league loss to Port Huron, 3-2. The Marlies had controlled the game and led on goals by Richard Pesegna and Joe Sullivan, before the visitors tied the contest late in the third period and won the game in the final moments. Bob Alcott and Craig Donahue earned assists on Pointe

Grosse Pointe then traveled to

The Grosse Pointe Marlboro Royal Oak and came away with a son for Grosse Pointe. The penalty well-deserved 3-1 victory. Royal Oak took an early lead and held on to it until the third period. Kevin Tisdale started the Grosse Pointe comeback when he took passes from Alcott and Donahue and stuffed in a shot from the crease. Scott Neid blasted home the winning goal from the blue line after taking a set-up pass from Jamie Parker. Sullivan iced the victory when he converted passes from Tisdale and Parker.

> The Marlies bested tough league contender Flint, 3-0, in a penalty-marred home contest last Sunday. Goaltender Coley Connolly was spectacular in registering his fourth shutout of the sea-box was filled to capacity for most of the evening as referees doled out a total of 33 penalties.

Grosse Pointe scored late in the first period when Len DiGiuseppe banged home a rebound on set-up shots from Nied and Eric Warezak. The Marlies put the close contest out of reach when Tisdale fed Donahue a perfect goal-mouth pass and Donahue put the puck in the net. Brian Hein also assisted on the play. Nied completed the Pointe scoring when he took a pass from Parker and shot from the point.

The Marlies played inspired hockey in a 2-2 tie against 1981 state champion Westland. The exhibition game featured Grosse Pointe taking a 2-0 lead and forcing Westland to play catch-up hockey. Westland did just that, scoring the tying goal with 20 sec-

Alcott started the Marlies scoring with his goal on a hard slap shot. Sullivan and Nied drew assists on the goal. Donahue was credited with the second Marlie tally; Tom Ugval and Tisdale assisting. Marlie goaltender Heath Cloin played well in the nets for the Pointe, repeatedly foiling the Westland attack. The Marlies' four league victories in the month of January substantially improved the team's position in league standings
