The Negro Motorist Green Book

INTRODUCTION

With the introduction of this travel guide in 1936, it has been our idea to give the Negro traveler information that will keep him from running into difficulties, embarrassments and to make his trips more enjoyable.

The Jewish press has long published information about places that are restricted and there are numerous publications that give the gentile whites all kinds of information. But during these long years of discrimination, before 1936 other guides have been published for the Negro, some are still published, but the majority have gone out of business for various reasons.

In 1936 the Green Book was only a local publication for Metropolitan New York, the response for copies was so great it was turned into a national issue in 1937 to cover the United States. This guide while lacking in many respects was accepted by thousands of travelers. Through the courtesy of the United States Travel Bureau of which Mr. Chas. A. R. McDowell was the collaborator on Negro Affairs, more valuable information was secured. With the two working together, this guide contained the best ideas for the Negro traveler. Year after year it grew until 1941 "PM" one of New York's great white newspapers found out about it. Wrote an article about the guide and praised it highly. At the present time the guide contains 80 pages and lists numerous business places, including whites which cater to the Negro trade.

There are thousands of first class business places that we don't know about and can't list, which would be glad to serve the traveler, but it is hard to secure listings of these places since we can't secure enough agents to send us the information. Each year before we go to press the new information is included in the new edition.

When you are traveling please mention the Green Book, in order that they might know how you found their place of business, as they can see that you are strangers. If they haven't heard about this guide, ask them to get in touch with us so that we might list their place.

If this guide has proved useful to you on your trips, let us know. If not, tell us also as we appreciate your criticisms and ideas in the improvement of this guide from which you benefit.

There will be a day sometime in the near future when this guide will not have to be published. That is when we as a race will have equal opportunities and privileges in the United States. It will be a great day for us to suspend this publication for then we can go wherever we please, and without embarrassment. But until that time comes we shall continue to publish this information for your convenience each year.

The American Railroad

Rail travel has been the standard bearer of travel for years, not only in Europe, but in the United States also. The United States has the most extensive rail system and the best facilities for traveling than any country, hence it has always been the travelers first thought, until the event of the bus and the airplane.

We in collaboration with the Association of American Railroads, herewith present to our readers the things that go to make the American Railroads so much superior to the other railroads of the world.

He will note the improvements for his comfort, with safety and convenience, with a source of knowing that the railroad is one of the safest mode of travel, which will give him the incentive to use the railroads more often.

More than 13,000 passenger trains are run by the railroads of the United States every day. These trains go more than a million miles each day, and carry about one and a half million passengers who travel a total of a hundred million miles.

This is only a part of the story of railroad passenger travel, for the person who makes a trip by rail gets much more than just transportation. Today, every train ticket includes unsurpassed comfort, safety, dependability and convenience.

The railroad passenger is more comfortable for many reasons, but behind it all is the vast program of improvement of all parts of the railroad plant which has cost more than four billion dollars since the end of the war. As a result of this program,

Day-Night Coach "Golden State"

SHASTA DAYLIGHT, Southern Pacific's streamliner, at Odell Lake, Oregon. Inaugurated July 10, 1949, in daily service on the 718 mile scenic run between San Francisco and Portland, Oregon, it cuts three hours off the previous speediest schedule between the two cities, at fares lower than former coach fares. The chair-car train features "sky-view windows" one third larger than the already oversized windows of the other "Daylights," zone heating and feather-touch doors. In addition to nine chair cars, the streamliner also carries a tavern refreshment car, triple unit of full length diner-coffee shop-kitchen cars, and parlor observation.

Individual reading lights may be beamed directly to each seat in Northern Pacific's new streamlined coaches now in service on the North Coast Limited.

about 3,700 new passenger-train cars have been installed, and these are improved in almost every way over those in use even a decade ago.

These cars, along with the other modern cars in service and those being continually installed, go a long way in making rail travel more comfortable and convenient than ever before. Whether the trip be in a coach or a sleeping car, every effort has been made to assure a more pleasant journey.

Fluorescent lighting bathes the interior of these new cars with glareless, even light, and many cars feature individually controlled lights. Careful attention has been given to interior decoration of cars, and they have restful color combinations such as blue, grey and ivory walls and ceilings and with rose upholstery and carpets.

Seating facilities in the new coaches offer all the comfort that improved design can give them. Reclining seats with adjustable footrests invite relaxation, and many seats can be swung around to provide a clear, unobstructed view of the countryside through wide windows.

Coach lounges are larger and more luxurious, and have comfortable chairs, large mirrors and additional wash basins. Electro-pneumatic devices cause doors to open at the touch of a finger and remain open until the traveler has passed.

Public address systems carry announcements, music and radio programs of interest through many trains.

Spaciousness is the keynote of new coaches. This greater space for each passenger is reflected in such things as more leg room between seats and the greater proportion of total space allocated for such purposes as lounge rooms and lavatories and dining, club, observation and other special purpose cars. Some of these new type cars are equipped with domes from which the passenger can obtain an entirely new perspective as he watches the countryside from a sun-glass-enclosed position at the top of the car.

In sleeping cars, the trend is toward the small type room for single occupancy, but here, too, the range in improvements runs from individual berths to drawing rooms. For instance, a typical drawing room on a new car offers spacious accommodations for three passengers and includes a private, fully-enclosed lavatory. Along one wall is a three-place sofa with adjustable arm rests. There are also two movable lounge chairs, and lighting and temperature controls are all on one convenient panel.

Other typical accommodations in a sleeping car include roomettes which provide complete privacy for one, with a bed which lowers from the wall at the twist of a handle and which folds into the wall in the daytime to become a sofa-seat, and bedrooms which can accommodate two persons and which have an enclosed toilet. Compartments, which accommodate two persons and contain a sofa-seat and a folding lounge chair, also have an enclosed toilet. The comfortable berths are wide seats by day and sleep-inviting beds by night.

While the new cars which go to make up the new trains are the more obvious features—the “show window” of railroad progress—they are only a part of the railroads’ program for improving passenger service. For example, in 1949, the railroads put more new locomotives into service than in any other year in their history. These new locomotives have more “get up and go,” too, and are capable of pulling heavier loads and pulling them for longer distances and at greater sustained speeds. They help to explain why the United States today has the largest number of high-speed passenger trains in the world.

Although they might escape the passenger's attention, there are also many improvements in roadway and structures. Rails are heavier and stronger, and in combination with better ballasted roadbed give the foundation for smoother-riding passenger cars. Reduction of grades and elimination of curves contribute greatly to faster, more comfortable rides. Faster and safer rides also come from improved signals of all kinds, and centralized traffic control, which enables an operator to control train movements over a wide area from a master control board.

Just as constant investment in new railroad equipment means greater comfort and dependability for the traveler, it has also meant greater safety. In 1949, the railroad safety record was better than ever before. There was but one passenger fatality for each one billion four hundred million miles traveled. To travel that far, a passenger would have to ride on a fast train, making a mile a minute, every hour of the day and night, for the next two thousand years.

But even with the much better equipment and roadway which the railroads have in service today, a constant program of research and improvement is being carried on to the end that the railroads can continue to produce more comfortable, dependable and safer transportation at the lowest possible cost.

No travel guide is ever perfect with the changing conditions, not only in the world, but also in the United States. The listings contained in this guide are given to you just as it is given to us from its source. There is a possibility that the address might be a few numbers out of the way—or the business has moved, so that by the time you receive your guide, start to use it you will find some discrepancies. This is due to the fact, from the time that the guide goes to press until you get it a few months have passed and many changes have taken place in the business world. This we can not help and we don't want you to get the idea that this guide is of no value; we try to have it as correct as possible. Each year these listings are checked before we go to press.

Our guides are published for every one, hence we have supplied you with any number of places in cities and towns so that one can select what they want within their price range. We do not recommend any of these places, although hundreds of them could be. But due to the thousands of listings, it is impossible to inspect all, so we leave it to your decision. We would welcome letters from you giving the name and address of any place that you feel that isn't up to our standards of a first class business place. They will be removed, which would give not only you, but other travelers the benefit of only first class places.

In order that you won't find any difficulty in finding the kind of business that you are looking for, we have placed the listings under their proper classification in cities and towns.

The Wonder City

Los Angeles, Calif.

Sometime in everyone's life, there are dreams of traveling either to distant lands, or to see their own land. Some dream of travel by air, some by boat, railway or motor.

Today beautiful highways with conveniently situated stations, bus lines, air-lines and fast trains, make it possible to realize these dreams.

There is much to be seen and more to learn, of this our land which offers everything of beauty, wonder and history.

The city of interminable dimensions, covering some 452 square miles, sometimes alluded to as the "Coney Island of the Pacific," possibly because of its demise attractions, the most outstanding being, its almost perfect climate. It is said that under more than 300 days of sunshine here every year; anything will flourish and develop.

Emigrants to Los Angeles from every Mid-Western State has made it the largest western city of the United States, in fact it is to the west what ROOSEVELT HIGHWAY skirts the Pacific Ocean and passes through the beach cities in Los Angeles county. this view taken from the palisades a few miles north of Santa Monica, shows one of the many fine stretches of beach which parallel the highway.

HOLLYWOOD BOWL, showing the throng in attendance at one of the annual Easter Sunrise services. One of the largest outdoor theaters in the country, it is the scene of the evening summer series of "Symphonies Under the Stars" concerts and many other musical and theatrical events.

New York is to America, a melting pot.

These people brought to Los Angeles their traditions, customs and ideals, which accounts for the various forms of worships and the variety of architectural structures.

The chief industry of Los Angeles is the production of motion pictures, thereby giving it the distinction of being the motion picture Capital of the world.

Its citrus fruits industry places it at the top of the agricultural list, being sixth and brings some $131,000,000 a year. Sportswear is the city's third ranking industry. The production of oil-well equipment and drill tools, puts it in a first ranking position in that field. The city stretches out touching such suburbs as Hollywood, Beverly Hills, Universal City, Glendale and Burbank.

Interesting Places To See:

The famed Forest Lawn Cemetery, located in Glendale—where the crypts of many Hollywood notables are open to visitors daily—and replicas of famous little churches from all Saints of the world, where one can attend services, etc.

There are the studios where by appointment passes are issued to visitors. Small communities such as, Little Mexico and Little Tokyo with their traditional theatres and stores—the splendid shopping centers in the heart of the city and on the Strip—which is Sunset Blvd., and of course the wonderful Huntington Library.

Vacation Resorts:

The most outstanding of which is Lake Elsimore—which is located in the foothill of the rolling San Berdu Mountains, about 75 miles from Los Angeles. Conveniently located near Elsimore are Motels and Traveler parking lots. Mrs. T. J. Mundy's Auto Court offers every convenience at reasonable rates. In connection with Elsimore Inn—there are cabins which are available. Hendricks Auto Court also offers every convenience and both places remain open the year round. There are also cabins available on the beautiful ranch owned by Dr. N. Curtis King and Mr. Clarence Muse.

The famed San Juan Capistrano is also near Elsimore and affords excellent Dove Shooting. Val Verte, another resort, located conveniently to Los Angeles offers horseback riding, hiking, a swimming pool and a dance pavillion. Other popular vacation spots are—Lake Henshaw, which offers good fishing, and Mrs. Murray's Dude Ranch in the desert. Cabins can be obtained on Catalina Island, whose main attractions are its beaches.

Tijuana, Mexico, which is just a few hours across the border, holds many attractions for the tourist, however it is not convenient to remain one night; San Diego being the nearest point to hotels.

Our most modern and largest Motel in Los Angeles is owned by Ray Roberson. The auto is almost a "must" in this section of the country, as most of the places mentioned are distances apart, and transportation is the one poor feature of Los Angeles.
