

Tony Otero, fire chief since '76, retires Wed.

by Connie Rankin

"On my first fire emergency on post as assistant fire chief, I was issued size 13 boots (I normally wear size 9), an antique helmet that was too small, and pants that we so long, I had to fold them up to be able to walk. I was ready for a transfer," said Fire Chief Tony Otero. Otero retired Wednesday after five years as fire chief and with 30 years of federal service.

Otero came to WSMR in 1976 as assistant fire chief. "For one year my office was the engine room, which included the trucks and their fumes," Otero said.

One year later Otero became fire chief. "I immediately set goals with high standards of professionalism," said the fire chief. "The main goal was to make this fire department the best in fire protection and fire prevention in the Department of Defense."

Emergency equipment was updated for safety and offices were built for the assistant fire chiefs and four station captain positions were established.

Several facilities on post have since been provided new sprinkler systems, manual pull boxes with local alarms, and smoke detectors. Computer rooms are provided with halon extinguishers and all Army vehicles now have chemical extinguishers.

MP Crosby top Sept. troop

PFC Vince Crosby

For the third month in a row a 259th MP Company military policeman has been selected as WSMR's Soldier of the Month.

Only three months after beginning his first assignment 19-year old PFC Vince Crosby has been chosen as Soldier of the Month for September.

"This is the second time that I have been nominated for Soldier of the Month. The first time I was so nervous I just 1981 at Launch Complex 38, near the Orogrande Gate.

The Las Cruces received the Hispanic Supervisor of the Year Award for 1979 from Equal Employment Opportunity for hiring the first female in the first fire inspector upward mobility position.

Otero was the first from WSMR to receive the TECOM Professional Certificate and the WSMR Manager of the Year award. He is a member of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, Inc.

Otero began his federal career at age 21. He was hired by the range's fire department in 1953 as firefighter trainee. In 1963 he was transferred to the Holloman Air Force Base Fire Department as a driver-operator. In 1967 he became crew chief, and in 1974 station captain. He return to WSMR in 1976 as assistant fire chief.

The off-post dignitaries who attended the fire chief's retirement luncheon Wednesday at the Post Officers Club included Fire Chief Walter Henegar and Deputy Fire Chief Juan Ortiz from Fort Bliss, Fire Chief Juan Apodaca from Las Cruces, Tony Gomez, acting city manager of Las Cruces, and Col. Frances Geisel (Ret.), former WSMR Facilities Engineering director.

couldn't sit still. This second time I had more confidence in myself and made it through. I'm looking forward to trying it again," Crosby said.

The young soldier entered the Army in January. He completed his basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala. He was an honor graduate from Military Police School and a squad leader. He came to the missile range in June.

A native of Roseboro, N.C., Crosby graduated from Lakewood High School in 1981. He also attended the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, N.C. "I plan to continue college and get a criminal justice degree. I like this kind of work and plan to work with a law enforcement agency as a state policeman back home, when I complete my service time" Crosby said.

As Soldier of the Month, Crosby received $25 cash, free lodging and food from the city of Las Cruces, two tickets to the post theatre, a letter from the commanding general, a certificate of recognition and a four-day pass.

"The $25 cash, and the free weekend will come in handy," Crosby said. "My birthday is today. I am 19 but still too young to drink."

Crosby lives on post and enjoys boxing, karate, basketball, and the outdoors.

An Installation Reserve Force (IRF) has been established for on call emergencies. The IRF consists of about 150 military troops from Troop Command Headquarters. Classes are given quarterly to keep the IRF updated in firefighting procedures and because of the turnover of military personnel.

Firefighters are required to stay at the fire station on 24-hour shifts. A dishwasher and an ice machine were provided and a pool table was installed for fire personnel morale. The drab-green fire station was also painted white. "The remodeling and painting of the fire station was 80 percent self-help," Otero said.

A fire prevention program was developed with standard procedures and forms. Otero was then asked by DARCOM to give a lecture to all Army fire chiefs at the U.S. Fire Administration, Washington, D.C., on a fire prevention program and reorganization.

During Otero's administration, a 1,500-gallon water truck was converted into a water and foam truck. Besides brush and grass fires, this truck can be used against aircraft and fuel fires.

Because of the range's increasing growth, Station II was established in Fire chief retires

The retired fire chief also received his new "uniform" from his wife, coveralls, and a straw hat to go with a new hoe and a honey-do list.

Otero and his wife Katherine will continue to live in Las Cruces. Their first retirement vacation will be spent in Hawaii, where they will celebrate their 31st anniversary.

Ceremonies, luncheon, picnic planned to honor Nord family

The WSMR Change of Command ceremony will be conducted at the John F. Kennedy Parade Field at 9 a.m. on Sept. 24.

Maj. Gen. Alan Nord will turn over command of the installation to Maj. Gen. Niles Fulwyler. Gen. Donald Keith, DARCOM commanding general, and Maj. Gen. John J. Koehler Jr., TECOM commanding general, will attend.

A post-wide farewell luncheon for Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Alan Nord is scheduled for September 16 at 11:30 a.m. at the WSMR Officers Club.

The luncheon is open to all on a reservation-only basis. Reservations will be first come, first served. Call 678-2055/2057.

A community picnic has been scheduled for Sept. 12 at WSMR's Volunteer Park to say farewell to Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Alan Nord and their children.

The post-wide event represents the combined efforts of the NCO/EM and Officers Wives Clubs, the Morale Support Activities Fund, the Installation Club System, the Troop Command Dining Facility, and other post activities.

The dining facility will serve the even-

The ceremony is open to all. Supervisors of TECOM elements are encouraged to release their employees, if their duties permit, so they may attend. Tenant units are invited to give the same consideration.

A reception after the ceremony for Fulwyler and Nord will be by invitation only because of limited space in the Officers Club.

The menu for the luncheon is open-faced hot roast beef sandwich. Reservations will be handled on a ticket basis with tickets costing $4. Tickets must be picked up at the Officers Club. There will be no ticket sales at the door.

The cost for the meal will be adults, $1.90, and children under 12, $1.15.

Activities will begin at 2 p.m. A slate of family sports activities will start at 2:30 p.m. The meal will be served between 4:30 and 6 p.m.

To help the picnic's organizers estimate attendance, call 678-6789. For reservations. Reservations must be made before the close of business Wednesday.

COMMENTARY

Opinions expressed on the editorial page are those of various writers and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the Department of the Army or White Sands Missile Range. All letters to the editor (except those defaming identifiable individuals or containing obscenities) will be published. Names are withheld from printing upon request; however, all letters must be signed. The newspaper staff reserves the right to edit submissions for clarity and brevity.

From the editor

New Ranger editor offers some old standbys

by Monte Creek

Two weeks ago Vince Ercolano turned his blue pencil and the editorship of the Missile Ranger over to me.

Since 1980 I have spent nine months as a flunky to the editor. Now that the responsibility for the content and style of the newspaper lies in new hands, I need to ask for a little help from the WSMR community.

WSMR residents and employees are encouraged to submit items to the Missile Ranger. If you would like to submit an article or announcement but aren't sure how to go about it, here is a brief guide.

* Include all pertinent information. A good rule to remember is cover the five Ws (who, what, when where and why).

* If photographs are included, be sure to provide complete identification. Avoid "grip and grin" (handshake shots) and large group photos. Large groups come out looking like polka-dots in a newspaper! Black and white photos are preferred. Even clear, black and white Polaroids can be used.

* Avoid acronyms and abbreviations.
* Use standard time style rather than the 24-hour clock. (Say 3 p.m. rather than 1500)

* Include your name and a telephone number where you can be reached in case I need additional information.

All material submitted to the Missile Ranger should be double spaced if possible. This saves time in retyping.

The deadline for submitting articles to the Missile Ranger is close of business Tuesday. Anything received after that will not appear in the Missile Ranger that week. Bring your items to the Public Affairs Office, Building 122, or send it through distribution to: Monte Creek, Missile Ranger editor, DP-P. A DF isn't necessary.

When you see something you have submitted in the Missile Ranger, it may not appear as you originally wrote it. All articles, even the ones from the public Affairs Office, are edited for accuracy, brevity and journalistic style.

The manner in which I edit copy is not a random process. I follow newswriting and editing guidelines defined by the Army. My objective is to make all the material as clear as possible. Also, since there is only a limited amount of space for news copy, editing allows more information that is of interest to the people of WSMR to be included in the newspaper.

A final word of advice -- don't promise someone (your boss, a friend or co-worker) that an article will be in the Missile Ranger before submitting it to this office and talking to me. I'll try to print all articles the week that they are wanted but I can't absolutely guarantee it. Sometimes limited space causes a few problems.

With your help the Missile Ranger will be more able to meet WSMR's needs. I welcome your contributions. If you have any questions concerning the post newspaper, contact me at the Public Affairs Office, 678-2716.

Commander's Open Letter

Happy Labor Day!

I wish every member of White Sands Missile Range a very happy holiday over Labor Day. I also urge everyone to take time to buckle up the auto seat belts. The dramatic and very tragic example of failure to do so in July on this range should be heeded by all: two MPs in a pick-up had a one-vehicle accident; One MP did not wear a seatbelt and was killed - the other buckled up and had NO injuries. Have a safe holiday!

Energy conservation

As we close this fiscal year, I'd like to commend and thank the workforce and the housing area residents for the efforts in energy conservation. July '82 was 6% under the usage of July '81, bringing us for the 1982 fiscal year through July to 1.3% above last year. Early in FY '82, we were more than 5% above the previous year. Our goal is not to exceed last year's usage. With continued exceptional conservation efforts, the goal is within our grasp. I ask that everyone continue the fine conservation efforts of these last several months.

Fiscal year close-out

September is the last month of the fiscal year and a time of exceptionally intensive management of financial resources. In addition to Procurement and Comptroller, all directorates and offices are urged to give special attention to timely and accurate financial action so that our close-out will be as successful as the last several years.

COMPUTER SECURITY MANAGEMENT

by Don Parker

(Reston Publishing Company, Inc., 308 pgs. $24.95)

Reviewed by Chris McDonald

The name Don Parker has become synonymous with the term "computer crime." For the last 11 years Parker has investigated the vulnerabilities of computer systems, with particular attention to the misuse of automatic data processing resources for criminal gain. His latest book, "Computer Security Management," represents the logical end product of his research into the nature of computer security programs as an information security management consultant at Stanford Research Institute International.

The theme of Parker's book is stated in the preface: "If any single conclusion is to be drawn from the 11 years of research and consulting, it is that computer security is not primarily a technological subject. It is a subject of psychological and sociological behavior of people." This conclusion leads him to concentrate on those safeguards or counter measures which are available today to protect computer resources. The emphasis is on the positive techniques which can be employed in any ADP operation.

Parker begins by emphasizing that the computer security specialist must understand the strengths, weaknesses, and politics of an organization. This instruction could also apply to the data processing manager and auditor. Organizational problems not only complicate the effective implementation of safeguards, but also increase vulnerabilities. If people are "unhappy" in an ADP activity, then the potential for the misuse of a computer resource is increased. The potential for human error, even if unintentional, is also magnified, Parker says.

His chapters on risk assessment and on the identification, selection, and implementation of safeguards are particularly relevant for anyone with serious concerns about computer security. It will be the data processing manager, security specialist, auditor, and risk management officer who will find Parker's book of interest. While this book does not require technical knowledge of computer science or of security management, it is doubtful that the general reader will have the curiosity to open a cover which does not exploit the sensational aspects of computer crime.

This is unfortunate. Parker has presented a very measured, rational approach which could be applied to other resource protection programs outside of the ADP arena.

Call to 1-800-CAR-POOL can get you rolling

Sunpool is a new community service for southern New Mexico that provides free carpool matching and information. People can sign up for carpool matching by calling Sunpool at 1-800-CAR-POOL. The ride-sharing agency serves the Las Cruces-Mesilla-Alamogordo area.

"Ridesharing is a term that includes carpooling, vanpooling or other alternatives to the one-person-per-car trip pattern," said Stephen Sanchez, director of the Sunpool program.

Ridesharing may not be for everyone. But for many people even part-time carpooling could mean saving hundreds of dollars a year in driving and auto maintenance costs. Other benefits include reducing traffic congestion, reducing carbon monoxide pollution, and the convenience of not having to drive all the time.

The Sunpool program is run from the Offices of the Southern Rio Grande Council of Governments. The program is funded by a federal grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation Federal Highway Administration through the New Mexico Energy and Minerals Department.

"We believe there's a real need for a program like this in our area," Sanchez said. He said that a telephone survey of about 160 persons conducted in May indicated a good deal of support for the ridesharing concept.

"We asked people if they thought a free carpool matching service would be good for the community and 90 percent of those responding to the question favored the idea. Also, about 60 percent of those surveyed said they would consider carpooling," Sanchez said.

The project hopes to involve major employers, community groups, civic leaders, and others in an effort to persuade people to try carpooling, reduce vehicle miles travelled, increase vehicle occupancy rates and reduce auto emissions.

The Sunpool number is open eight hours a day, Monday through Friday.

—VA home loan rate drops to 14%—

The Veterans Administration basic loan-guarantee rate for single-family homes and condominiums fell a full percentage point to 14 percent August 24.

Other VA loan-guarantee rates also were reduced to 14.5 percent for home improvement, including energy loans; 16 percent for purchase of mobile home units; 15.5 percent to buy both a mobile home and a lot, and 15.5 percent for loans to purchase a lot and the cost of necessary site preparation. The interest rate for purchase of properties acquired by VA is now 14 percent.

The drop in the basic home-loan rate was the third since March 2. It put that rate 3.5 percent under that of last September.

The basic home-loan-guarantee-- now set at 14 percent -- is for a maximum of $27,500, or 60 percent of the loan, whichever is the lesser amount.

THE SECOND FRONT

Oktoberfest tradition dates back over 170 years

WSMR's third annual celebration of Oktoberfest will be held Sept. 22 at the Officers Club. All adult members of the post community are invited to attend the six hours of merry - making that begin at 6 p.m.

While the range's observance of the German festival began only in 1980, Oktoberfest is a tradition that goes back more than 170 years in German Bavaria.

In 1810, King Max Joseph of Bavaria threw a wedding reception so enormous for his son Ludwig and his bride Therese that the Munich City Council petitioned the King to repeat the celebration every year.

In Munich, the principal city of Bavaria, Oktoberfest has become the dominant social event of the year, perhaps even surpassing New Orleans' Mardi Gras.

According to scholar of German culture Richard Thonger, "Das Munchner Oktoberfest" gets underway when, "The Burgomaster of Munich (a sort of city council president or mayor) leads a throng of beer - wagons drawn by splendid greys, decorated carriages driven by brewers, and huge floats peopled by strong-armed waitresses, toward the first barrel. . . At noon he downs his mug and thousands of revellers pour in; oxen are roasted whole, chickens turn on the spit and lake fish are grilled over wood fires, while beer flows in a mighty river."

Despite its name, the Oktoberfest is traditionally held in late September, to take advantage of the last warm days of the summer.

While no one should expect "a throng of beer wagons drawn by splendid greys," an evening of elaborate entertainment is planned for WSMR's Oktoberfest. The evening's menu of German food a la carte will include bratwurst, knockwurst, German potato salad, schnitzel sandwiches, and a variety of beers and wines. Dance and sing-along music will be provided by Bavaria's "Lenchenfelder Blasmusik," as well as the folksong duo of Hans and Ellen Kollmannsberge, also of Bavaria. Several contests are planned, and souvenirs will be sold.

Admission to the Oktoberfest will be free. Oktoberfest organizers emphasize that all adult members of the post community are invited to attend -- enlisted personnel, officers, civilians, and adult family members.

Calif. lab tests alternate power source at range

by Debbie Bingham

One of only two alternate energy tests scheduled this year for the WSMR solar furnace was conducted recently.

A team from Lawrence Livermore Laboratory (LLL), Livermore, Calif., was at the facility during the past two weeks experimenting with the decomposition of zinc sulfate in a rotary kiln.

Pam Shell, the chemist with the team, explained their objective was to try to couple solar thermal power to thermochemical cycles to produce hydrogen. In these thermochemical cycles, water is made to react with a series of chemicals plus heat to generate hydrogen.

Hydrogen is used to process some of the available, tarry fossil fuels to more usable products such as gasoline. It also is used to make fertilizers without which food production would drastically fall off. Hydrogen is used to process formaldehyde, a raw material used for making plastics.

The United States uses large amounts of hydrogen today. Most of it comes from fossil fuels. Officials estimate that by the year 2000 the United States will need more than five times the current usage. Fossil fuel sources could be exhausted by then.

Currently, three power sources are envisioned to operate a thermochemical cycle: fission, fusion and thermal solar. According to Shell, fission is possible but currently unpopular and fusion technology is not now available. Therefore solar thermal power is gaining popularity.

"Our experiments are designed to study the advantages of the high temperatures and rapid heating provided by solar thermal power," Shell said. "Many people believe solid sulfates, which are white, won't absorb the solar energy. They feel the energy will either be reflected by, or pass through, the material. Our tests will demonstrate the use of a rotating kiln designed to work with low absorptive materials.

Several thermochemical cycles under advanced development decompose sulfuric acid in the high temperature step of the hydrogen - producing cycle. Shell's experiment modifies the sulfuric acid - based thermochemical cycles. Rather than using sulfuric acid, which is highly corrosive, her experiment decomposes zinc sulfate, a solid, in the high temperature step. She said this eliminates the need to build an expensive corrosive - resistant test chamber.

Commenting on the test results, Shell said, "Other than the rainy weather, we had only one other problem. The zinc sulfate tended to get sticky and wouldn't feed through the kiln properly.

"However, we were able to overcome this problem by both a mechanical and a chemical means," she explained. "Mechanically we hung chains in the kiln to break up the solids continuously. Then the zinc sulfate would feed through the kiln and decompose. Chemically, we added aluminum oxide, an inert material, to the zinc sulfate. This prevented the zinc sulfate from sticking to itself. Again, it could pass through the kiln to decompose.

"We were able to demonstrate we could decompose zinc sulfate using solar power at temperatures between 850 and 1,150 degrees Celsius."

Shell said the WSMR solar furnace, operated by the range's Army Materiel Test and Evaluation Directorate, was selected because it creates the high temperatures needed. Also, because some of the LLL apparatus is ceramic, the experiment required the WSMR solar facility's ability to bring things slowly to high temperatures using the attenuators, or venetian blind - type shutters, which control the amount of solar energy entering the test chamber. The facility also produces a horizontal beam, which is necessary for the operation of the kiln.

Shell was assisted in the experiment by two other LLL personnel: Roberto Ruiz, a mechanical technician, and Conrad Yu, a chemical technician. Their experiment was funded by the Department of Energy.

Engineer refresher course planned at NMSU

A refresher course for engineers and students planning to take the Fundamentals of Engineering examination will be offered by New Mexico State University starting tonight in Room 283, Jett Hall.

The nine sessions, running 7-9 p.m. Fridays through Oct. 22, will prepare senior engineering students, graduates and working engineers for the exam set for Oct. 30.

Currently registered students will pay a $10 enrollment fee. All others will pay a $25 fee. Enrollment will be at the first meeting.

The schedule opens with an introduction by civil engineering professor

Samuel Maggard and a refresher in physics and chemistry by Professor Donald Wilson. Other classes and professors are: Sept. 10, math and computer science, Javin Taylor; Sept. 17, statics and dynamics, Wendell Hull; Sept. 24, thermodynamics, George Mulholland; Oct. 1, mechanics of materials, Leonard Traina; Oct. 8, engineering economics, Arun Walvekar; Oct. 15, electrical theory, Eldon Steelman; Oct. 22, fluid mechanics, Willie Isaacs.

For more information, persons can contact Maggard at 646-3804 or Associate Engineering Dean C. Quentin Ford at 646-2911.

Medicare to take 1.3%
of federal paychecks

The tax revenue bill that President Reagan recently signed places federal employees under Medicare coverage. This coverage will cost civil servants 1.3% of their gross annual pay starting Jan 1. The 1.3% tax will apply only the first $35,100 of salary, however. This would make the maximum annual Medicare payment $456.

Federal retirees will not be covered by Medicare unless they qualify through non-federal employment.

A pamphlet on the benefits of Medicare, "A Brief Explanation of Medicare," is available from Social Security offices in the local area. To request a copy of the pamphlet, call 1-800-432-5900, or the Social Security office in El Paso (541-7490).

Cmd., Gen. Staff College instruction coming to post

The 4153rd Army Reserve School, Albuquerque, will present Command and General Staff College instruction at WSMR beginning the latter half of October. The school is now seeking students. The instruction parallels the resident phase professional development courses that are taught at Fort Leavenworth. It is the equivalent of resident attendance, and prepares commissioned officers of both the Active and Reserve components for duty as field grade commanders and principal staff officers at brigade and higher levels. For certain Reserve Officers it is a prerequisite for promotion and retention.

Course participation is open to all commissioned officers of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps, including those active duty enlisted personnel holding Reserve commissions, and to certain DoD Civilian personnel whose duties require their knowledge of the course material. All officer applicants must hold the minimum rank of captain, have at least seven years commissioned service, and have completion credit for the Army Branch Officer Advanced Course (BOAC) or its equivalent.

Rather than meet in weekly instructional assemblies, the 4153rd consolidates instruction and meets monthly throughout the academic year from October through May. Prospective new enrollments, and transfers from the correspondence option or other USAR Schools can obtain additional information from any of the following faculty mem-

KRWG-TV planning Oct. fund-raising auction

by Nena Singleton

The coordinator of the third annual KRWG-TV auction, to air in October, has assembled a corps of volunteers who have begun soliciting donations for goods and services for the auction.

Heather Pollard, of Las Cruces, said the auction, slated for Oct. 28-30, will help underwrite programing at the public broadcasting station at New Mexico State University.

"My main job right now is to recruit go-getters, people who will contact merchants and others with services and new goods to donate. I am calling people personally as well as visiting service organizations and clubs to make people aware of the auction," Pollard said.

No special expertise is required of go-getters, Pollard said. "I'm just looking for people with a pleasant manner who want to do their part for public TV. They don't have to be sales people or particularly skilled at getting donations. Since this is our third year of auctioning. Most people in town already know about it and most people want to donate something," she said.

"Go-getters are given some 'training' before they make their contacts so they will feel more comfortable talking about the station and its needs and will understand clearly how the auction works, Pollard said. "The training follows a social get-together for all auction volunteers that will kick off the month of go-getting."

Besides helping go-getter chairman Donna O'Connor assemble the go-getters, Pollard has a variety of other jobs as auction coordinator.

"Mainly my job is to help keep people motivated and thinking about the auction. Volunteers need lots of encouragement and they need support because their only reward is knowing they're giving the most valuable thing people can give -- their time," Pollard said.

KRWG-TV serves southern New Mexico communities including Hatch, Alamogordo, Deming, Lordsburg, Silver City, Truth or Consequences, and WSMR. (KRWG)

Photograph your valuables

While a family is away for a weekend or longer vacation, their home could be burglarized or damaged by fire. If such an unfortunate event took place, few people can remember exactly what was destroyed or stolen.

Authorities recommend that photographs of a house's contents be made.

This helps in filing a claim after a fire or other loss. When disaster strikes, it's usually impossible to list all the items a person owns from memory.

A photo inventory of a home is one of those things that we all intend to do one day, but good intentions go astray. One way to get this job done is to use the end of a roll of film to photograph one or more rooms after you have been taking pictures of something else.

Photographing one or two rooms at a time also cuts down the size of the household inventory project. Another advantage to this system is that old photos are regularly replaced with new photos that show new items in a room or other changes.

In addition to the photographs, a family should make a room-by-room written inventory.

Such an inventory helps you decide if you need insurance on specific items such as silverware, jewelry, guns antiques or artwork. Copies should be made of these room lists. One copy should be kept at home and one should go into a safety deposit box.

Write detailed information about items in the photograph on the back of the photo. This could include things like date of the photo, purchase dates, serial numbers, brands and quantities. (NMSU)

We're answering to a new name!

We've got our act together in Alamogordo, New Mexico. In fact, we've gotten so many acts together we need a new name.

After all, it's just not practical to answer the telephone "The International Space Hall of Fame and the Clyde W. Tombaugh Space Instruction Center."

So just call us the SPACE CENTER!

The International Space Hall of Fame is still the only facility in the world honoring those individuals who have contributed so much to making tomorrow's fantasies today's reality — the true pioneers of space exploration.

And, the Clyde W. Tombaugh Omni Space Theater will continue to surround you with breathtaking realism with its "only one of a handful in the world" Omnimax Theaters. Featuring the largest projector in the world, 70mm film and a 40-foot wide wrap around screen, the Omnimax Theater magically transports you into the entertainment of the future.

And, coming soon — Laser Light Shows! The Space Shuttle Experience! The Computer Experience Microvan!

Space shuttle, gourmet cooking coming together

What do Peaches Romanov, Ratatouille, Fettucine Alfredo, space shuttles, and computers have in common? Nothing -- unless an innovative producer puts them all together in a special television production.

September 9, at 7 p.m. KRWG's "Que Pasa with Dolores" show does just that. While International Space Hall of Fame Director Bob Content discusses space shuttle exhibits and computer education programs, Chef Lynn Nusom prepares a delicious dinner of famous international dishes.

According to Content, there will be two "Space Shuttle Experience" exhibits. One will be a permanent display on the fourth floor of the Space Hall. The other will be a traveling exhibit to be shown at science centers throughout the world.

Content said, "The objective of the exhibit is to provide science center visitors with a space shuttle experience."

"Using laser videodisc controlled by a microcomputer, we will provide visitors an opportunity to select a short flight sequence, including a liftoff from Kennedy Space Center, a space flight, and landings at one of four sites (White Sands Space Harbor, Edwards Air Force Base, Kennedy Space Center or Rota, Spain)," he said.

The exhibit structure will be a copy of the cockpit of the Space Shuttle Columbia. Visitors will be able to select one of four flight opportunities. A short, two minute flight will then be shown on a video projection system, representing actual flight films. The "passenger" will have the realistic feeling of a trip into space.

Chef Nusom's grand finale, served to special guests Lenko, Content, and Ryita Price, consists of Peaches Romanov served with champagne. This recipe, included in a complete international dinner menu created by Nusom, is available free-to-the-public.

According to Lenko, complimentary copies of these recipes may be picked up at the Space Hall of Fame in Alamogordo or at Brockwood Furniture in Las Cruces.

VA researches think aspirin may be linked to cancer cure

Aspirin has provided a clue which may help medical researchers seek new forms of treatment for certain chemically-induced cancers, according to a Veterans Administration investigation.

In a clinical research meeting report, Dr. Terry Zenser of the Geriatric Research, Education and Clinical Center at St. Louis VA Medical Center said that aspirin was shown to block development of bladder cancer in rats fed such cancer-causing chemical. He noted that the experiment grew out of a theory of how certain chemicals interact with body enzymes to cause cancer and other toxic reactions in specific organs.

The kidney and urinary system are particularly susceptible to these effects, so Zenser and his co-workers, Drs. Bernard Davis and Michael Mattammal, concentrated on this area.

They selected one of the three enzyme systems known to activate carcinogens, then studied the mechanism by which it metabolized and activated the FANFT carcinogen, known to cause bladder cancer in rats.

Results indicated this mechanism may be blocked by administration of certain nonsteroidal, anti-inflammatory drugs such as aspirin and indomethacin.

concentration in the diet. No lesions were found in control rats or those whose diet contained aspirin without FANFT.

"The key to our observations," Zenser noted, "is not that we can now use aspirin to prevent bladder cancer, but that we have mapped a pathway by which a certain chemical causes a specific cancer and have found a way to block it. Now that we know this pathway we can use it as a model to study similar enzyme systems in other parts of the body and perhaps design some new strategies for cancer prevention."

Simpson wins Ch. 1 logo contest

Elizabeth Simpson received a check for $25 earlier this week for winning the Channel One logo design contest.

Elizabeth is 17 and is under the guardianship of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mullins, of 209 Loki, WSMR.

Range Commander Maj. Gen. Alan Nord made the presentation during a channel One partnership party Monday evening in the Public Affairs Office conference room.

Channel One is a non-profit organization funded by the New Mexico Behavioral Health Services Division. Channel One is a partnership of community youth and adults working together in projects and activities to promote community awareness and self-esteem. These projects and activities are designed to enable young people to learn problem-solving, decision-making, and team work. All teenagers are invited to participate. Adults of the post community are invited to become partners.

The Channel One Youth Task Force meets Sundays at 3 p.m. at 215 Loki. The youth of the community are invited to participate.

The joint Youth - Adult Task Force meets monthly.

Channel One youth earn points toward participation in off-post community activities by voluntarily working in community and other organization projects.

The Channel One offices are located at 215 Loki. Royer Warwick is Channel One chairman. He can be reached at 678-6670.

Volksmarching striding into cooler weather

by Doyle Piland

With the coming of fall and cooler temperatures, volksmarching will be getting back into full stride in the Southwest.

There are two events coming up next month. One is in Cloudcroft and the other is in Las Cruces. Both will feature 10 kilometer (6.2 miles) and 20 kilometer (12.4 miles) courses. Pre - registration fees for both walks will be $4 for those who want a medal. Late registration will be $5. The fee for IVV stamps only (without medal) will be $1.50. Persons who do not want a medal or IVV stamp can participate for free.

The Cloudcroft walk on Sept. 25 and 26 is named Global II. It is sponsored by Air Force recreation centers from around the world. The start - finish point will be the outdoor pavilion in the center of Cloudcroft. Start time is anytime between 7 a.m. and 1 p.m., finish by 5 p.m.

In addition to the 1982 Global II medal, there will be a "B" medal available from Global I held in 1981. Pre - registration is until Sept. 15. Register by sending participant's name, address, telephone number, date of birth, distance and award desired to: 833CSG/SSRC, Holloman Air Force Base, N.M. 88330. In-close fee and make checks payable to: Recreation Center. For more information on Global II call Bob Turner at 479-6667 evenings and weekends.

The Las Cruces volksmarch will be held Oct. 2 and 3 in conjunction with the annual Whole Enchilada Fiesta. The start - finish point will be at the downtown mall on Griggs Avenue.

Starting times are between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m. for the 10 kilometer course. For the 20 kilometer course, starts are between 8 a.m. and noon. Both courses must be completed by 5 p.m.

In addition to the colored enamel medal "A" featuring the While Enchilada Fiesta logo, a limited number of road-runner "B" medallions from the May volksmarch will be available.

Registration on or before Sept. 10. Mail payment with participants name, address, age, distance, sex and award desired, to: Sun Country Striders Volkssport Club, 1910 Camelot Drive, Las Cruces, N.M. 88005. Make checks payable to: Sun Country Striders. For more information call me at 678-9637 (work) or 523-7034 (home).

Racin'

Valley runners do it again

by Uncle Fredward

The Mesilla Valley Track Club put on another successful run last weekend. It was a grueling event.

The 24-hour relay had only one 10-person team this year, but the team ran the third longest distance in the four years the event has been run, 196½ miles. The AAMCO Powergildes (shiftless runners) received winners' t-shirts from AAMCO in Las Cruces and the team expressed its thanks. I was fortunate to see the end of the race where the whole team ran the last lap on the NMSU track. The team members were tired, but very proud and happy. I hope next year there will be more teams participating.

The team expressed special thanks to Gary Clark, who organized and has run in the event all four years that it has been held.

Moto-x action was hot and heavy last weekend with 68 riders at the Las Cruces Moto-X Track. Some of our local riders did quite well. Scott Logston won the 125cc expert class and placed second in the 250 expert class. Will Garcia was second in the 125 novice class, "Fightin" Joel Craig was second in the open expert class, and "Flyin'" Ryan was third. Josh Ross of Holloman was third in the mini novice, and Jimmy Cresellius of WSMR put in a terrific ride, with a second in the 125 amateur class he won the 250 amateur class. Great racin' Jimmy!

My roadracing fans will be thrilled to know that their favorite kind of racing will be held this Sunday at the Super Track Southwest, sponsored by the Las Cruces Kneedraggers Association. They will offer two first - time features: a $300 purse for expert racers, and the sale of beer on the premises. They will also feature a go-kart race during intermission, so those of you who have a kart, bring it out. Admission is $2.50 for adults, students and military $1.50, kids $1 and kids under 10 free. They will also feature door prizes, so keep your ticket stubs. The gate opens at 9:30 a.m., practice is at 10:30 a.m., and racing starts at noon. Practice will also be held tomorrow from 12:30 to 4 p.m., for only a $2 practice fee.

So come on out and enjoy exciting roadracing action. The track is three miles east of Las Cruces on Highway 70. Be there!

Not Italian? WSMR soccer still wants you

Volksmarching striding into cooler weather

by Doyle Piland

With the coming of fall and cooler temperatures, volksmarching will be getting back into full stride in the Southwest.

There are two events coming up next month. One is in Cloudcroft and the other is in Las Cruces. Both will feature 10 kilometer (6.2 miles) and 20 kilometer (12.4 miles) courses. Pre - registration fees for both walks will be $4 for those who want a medal. Late registration will be $5. The fee for IVV stamps only (without medal) will be $1.50. Persons who do not want a medal or IVV stamp can participate for free.

The Cloudcroft walk on Sept. 25 and 26 is named Global II. It is sponsored by Air Force recreation centers from around the world. The start - finish point will be the outdoor pavilion in the center of Cloudcroft. Start time is anytime between 7 a.m. and 1 p.m., finish by 5 p.m.

In addition to the 1982 Global II medal, there will be a "B" medal available from Global I held in 1981. Pre - registration is until Sept. 15. Register by sending participant's name, address, telephone number, date of birth, distance and award desired to: 833CSG/SSRC, Holloman Air Force Base, N.M. 88330. Include fee and make checks payable to: Recreation Center. For more information on Global II call Bob Turner at 479-6667 evenings and weekends.

The Las Cruces volksmarch will be held Oct. 2 and 3 in conjunction with the annual Whole Enchilada Fiesta. The start - finish point will be at the downtown mall on Griggs Avenue.

Starting times are between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m. for the 10 kilometer course. For the 20 kilometer course, starts are between 8 a.m. and noon. Both courses must be completed by 5 p.m.

In addition to the colored enamel medal "A" featuring the White Enchilada Fiesta logo, a limited number of road-runner "B" medallions from the May volksmarch will be available.

Registration on or before Sept. 10. Mail payment with participants name, address, age, distance, sex and award desired, to: Sun Country Striders Volkssport Club, 1910 Camelot Drive, Las Cruces, N.M. 88005. Make checks payable to: Sun Country Striders. For more information call me at 678-9637 (work) or 523-7034 (home).

Racin'

Valley runners do it again

by Uncle Fredward

The Mesilla Valley Track Club put on another successful run last weekend. It was a grueling event.

The 24-hour relay had only one 10-person team this year, but the team ran the third longest distance in the four years the event has been run, 196½ miles. The AAMCO Powergildes (shiftless runners) received winners' t-shirts from AAMCO in Las Cruces and the team expressed its thanks. I was fortunate to see the end of the race where the whole team ran the last lap on the NMSU track. The team members were tired, but very proud and happy. I hope next year there will be more teams participating.

The team expressed special thanks to Gary Clark, who organized and has run in the event all four years that it has been held.

Moto-x action was hot and heavy last weekend with 68 riders at the Las Cruces Moto-X Track. Some of our local riders did quite well. Scott Logston won the 125cc expert class and placed second in the 250 expert class. Will Garcia was second in the 125 novice class, "Fightin" Joel Craig was second in the open expert class, and "Flyin'" Ryan was third. Josh Ross of Holloman was third in the mini novice, and Jimmy Cresellius of WSMR put in a terrific ride, with a second in the 125 amateur class he won the 250 amateur class. Great racin' Jimmy!

My roadracing fans will be thrilled to know that their favorite kind of racing will be held this Sunday at the Super Track Southwest, sponsored by the Las Cruces Kneedraggers Association. They will offer two first - time features: a $300 purse for expert racers, and the sale of beer on the premises. They will also feature a go-kart race during intermission, so those of you who have a kart, bring it out. Admission is $2.50 for adults, students and military $1.50, kids $1 and kids under 10 free. They will also feature door prizes, so keep your ticket stubs. The gate opens at 9:30 a.m., practice is at 10:30 a.m., and racing starts at noon. Practice will also be held tomorrow from 12:30 to 4 p.m., for only a $2 practice fee.

So come on out and enjoy exciting road-racing action. The track is three miles east of Las Cruces on Highway 70. Be there!

Not Italian? WSMR soccer still wants you

The WSMR post soccer team begins organized practice today at 5:30 p.m. on the post soccer field opposite the school. Anyone over 16 who resides or works on post and is interested in playing soccer is eligible to join the post team.

Anyone interested in playing should come to one of the practice sessions scheduled, at present, for Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 5:30 p.m. Questions may be directed to Hank Gardner, 678-1331, or Gerry, 678-1030.

Baby toy pulled off shelves

Toy rattles that could pose a choking hazard for babies are being recalled by two firms. While no injuries have been reported from them, those being recalled do not meet the Consumer Product Safety Standards.

The rattles entered the market in the last year.

Rattles that could become caught in the throats of children were banned by the commission in 1978.

Montgomery Schoolhouse Incorporated of Montgomery, Vt. is recalling about 61,000 hardwood rattles. Some have colored parts, while others have a clear varnish finish.

Some of them were sold in plastic packages labeled "rattle, heirloom quality, hardwood, childsafe color." Others came in plastic bags with a paper insert and others were sold without packaging.

The rattles should be returned to the place of purchase for an exchange. Or, they can be sent directly to Montgomery Schoolhouse Incorporated, Montgomery, Vt., 05470.

Also being recalled are about 2,900 rattles imported by Schowanek of Amev. These should be returned to the place of purchase for a refund or exchange.

The rattles involved are: number 10875-2, a duck on a handle; number 10875-33, dumbbell shape; 10876-17, bowling pin; 10876-3, dumbbell shape with pieces of wood on a shaft; 10876-26, barbell with four wooden rings on the shaft; 10876-8, handle with the head and arms; and 10876-19, cylinder with six holes and bell inside.

The WSMR PX does not carry any of these rattles.

Enlist now, report after graduation

A lot of parents think the Army's great -- for somebody else's son or daughter.

According to Lt. Col. Robert Karlseng, commander of Army recruiting activities in New Mexico and West Texas, there's a program which allows young men and women to join the Army now and report for duty after their high school graduation. When parents understand its provisions, they rest a lot easier.

It's called the Delayed Entry Program (DEP). It works like this: a young person signs up now, even if they're still in high school. They get to choose either the skill training they want to learn or the first place they'd like to be stationed. An Army guidance counselor will work out a suitable date for them to report for duty after graduation.

College is still in the picture. Through the Army College Fund, soldiers can accumulate up to $15,200 during a two year enlistment, or up to $20,100 for three years. The fund combines qualified soldiers' savings with government matching funds and Army supplements.

"Young people can have the times of their lives in the Army. Choice of location, for example, could allow them to travel to West Germany, or stay near home if they prefer. Qualified soldiers can be trained in their choice of over 300 skills taught in today's Army. Many of those skills can also be used in civilian life," said Karlseng.

There's no rush. The DEP gives young people time to prepare for what the Army has guaranteed them.

No disability pay for users of excess leave

According to a recent decision by the U.S. Comptroller General, service members who suffer a physical disability while on excess leave will not receive disability retired pay.

A soldier is in "excess leave status" when he or she takes more leave than has been accrued, but does not have enough time remaining the current term of service to earn the extra leave. This is different from advance leave, when a soldier goes "in the hole" but has enough time in service to earn the leave days.

The disability ruling was made on the basis that soldiers are not entitled to pay and allowances while on excess leave, and must therefore forfeit disability entitlement as well. (ARNews)

Know your command chain

Gen. Donald R. Keith is commanding general of the U.S. Army Materiel Development and Readiness Command (DARCOM). With headquarters in Alexandria, Va., DARCOM is the superior command of the U.S. Army Test and Evaluation Command (TECOM). WSMR is one of the nine installations and activities of TECOM. DARCOM is one of the "Big Three" U.S. Army commands. The other two are FORSCOM (the U.S. Army Forces Command) and TRADOC (the U.S. Army Training and Doctrine Command).

Club offering international foods

Tonight at the Officers Club the dining room special is steak and seafood.

The Officers Club will be closed Monday in observance of the Labor Day holiday.

Tuesday's special is German Jaeger-schnitzer for $4.95. Wednesday evening is Italian night with minestone, spaghetti and meatballs, and Italian sausage for $4.95.

Steaks are 50 percent off the regular price with a club card on Thursday evening.

Sept. 10 enjoy steak and seafood.

The ARMTE Luau is Sept. 11. All club members are invited. The menu includes: a free Hawaiian cocktail, Hula Hula chicken, Pau's Kalua (roast pig Hawaiian style), broiled white fish, coconut bread, coffee and ice tea. Price is $9.85 per person. Call 678-2057/2055 for reservations. Raintree will provide entertainment.

Travelers must prove POV most practical

Persons marking block 12 of DD Form 1610 (Tequest and Authorization for TDY Travel) supply a cost comparison between the use of a privately owned vehicle and the least expensive form or commercial transportation.

This cost comparison is required for both military and civilian personnel.

When the use of a privately owned vehicle is authorized for travel within the limits or immediate vicinity of a temporary duty station, a statement of the circumstances justifying the mileage must be included in the "remarks" portion of the form.

Persons failing to supply this information on travel requests may be denied payment.

Call the Travel Section, 678-3630 or Appropriate Accounting Section, 678-2350 for more information on travel requests.

Championship golf starts

The annual Labor Day Post Golfing Championship gets underway tomorrow at 7 a.m. with more than 50 golfers participating. This three - day, 54 - hole championship features the best golfers and the duffers at WSMR. There will be five flights, a flight being a group of golfers with about the same handicap, getting started tomorrow.

Returning champion Cal Fischer will be back to fight off a challenge to the crown. But the net Championship will be up for grabs, according to course professional Matt Pinter, because Col. R.S. Saddoriss is in Germany shoveling snow.

"The top contenders for the net crown are Jim Kelly, Brad Boyers, David Olmsted, and Tsutomu Kita," Pinter said. He also mentioned a dark horse candidate for the championship, Robert Johnson, the post command sergeant major.

An awards ceremony will be held Monday about 1 p.m. at the golf course club house. The winners of each flight will take home a gift certificates of between $75. and $100.

E-Z CREDIT AUTO SALES

WE HAVE OLDER TRANSPORTATION CARS THAT WE WILL FINANCE WITH 1/3 DOWN

524-1652

Directly across the street from the Triple R Bar on Valley Drive Las Cruces

TIME IS RUNNING OUT

Thinking about a new VW Diesel Rabbit or pickup? Let us give you reasons to consider a new VW:

- Highest Mileage Diesel Engine Available
- Front Wheel Drive
- Unitized Body Construction
- American Made, Not Japanese
- Fuel Injection Is Standard
- Handles Like A Sportscar

But the best reason of all - from now until September 30, we will sell all our diesel rabbits and pickups at cost (no hidden costs, no dealer prep, etc.). Just pick out the VW you want to drive and we'll show you the cost.

We don't plan on ever doing this again.

Training notes

The first NCO Development Program (NCOBP) class of Fiscal Year 1983 (Class 1-83) will be held the week of Oct. 4-8.

Personel responsible for providing instructors for the course should make sure the instructors call SSgt. R.G. Taylor the day before their course begins.

A General Military Subjects (GMS) class will graduate today at 3 p.m. in the GMS classroom. The classroom is on the second floor of Bldg. 143. Supervisors, commanders, and first sergeants are invited to attend the graduation ceremony.

Former employee to show art work

The Women of St. James Episcopal Church are sponsoring a one person art show featuring the art work of Ann Zohn. Zohn will have mostly acrylics, some oils and some watercolors on display.

Her paintings are mainly of mountain landscapes. Her paintings have been in shows in New York City, Dallas County, Santa Fe, and at the museum in El Paso. She was formerly an illustrator at White Sands Missile Range and was a graphic artist at NMSU for 24 years.

The show will be at St. James' Parish Hall (corner of St. James and Main St.) on Sept. 18 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. and on Sunday, Sept. 19 from 1 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Handicapped cmte.

The Las Cruces Committee on Concerns of the Handicapped will hold its September meeting Thursday at noon in the Desert Room at Fat Eddie's Restaurant, Best Western Hotel, Avenida de Mesilla, Las Cruces.

The speaker will be James Robles, acting chief of police, Las Cruces Police Department. He will talk on the handicapped parking program in Las Cruces.

The topic of this meeting will be the Las Cruces Accessibility Guide Book for the Handicapped. Preparations have been made and work has been started on its up - date.

All persons interested in the committee's programs are invited to attend. For further information, contact Ruth Jones, 524-4686. (CCH)

WOC to hold tea

The Protestant Women of the Chapel are having a Get Acquainted Tea on Sept. 15, 1 to 3 p.m. in the Post Chapel Fellowship Hall.

A nursery will be provided. For more information call Margie Osborne, 678-3000.

Virgin Mary birthday

The Catholic parish at WSMR will celebrate the birthday of the Blessed Virgin Mary Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Following Mass, there will be a reception in the activity room of the post chapel.

Tradition has it that Mary was about 18 when she gave birth to Jesus. According to the Christian calendar, that would make this the 2,000th observance.

All are invited to attend the Mass and reception.

Wintersize your engine

The WSMR Auto Craft Shop will hold a class on "Winterizing Your Car Engine" Sept. 10, 6 to 8 p.m. This class is open to military and their dependents. For further information call Bob Miller, 678-5800.
